Mr. Carbone spends several months abroad each year looking up novelties. Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Sweden, Egypt and Japan all are drawn from. This store is quite unlike any others in Boston, and probably in America. There is never any overcrowding in windows or store. Each plant or bunch of flowers is displayed so as to show individuality, and the wonderful variety of stone, china and other ware is used to show them off to the best advantage.

Miss Carbone, Mr. Carbone's sister, has charge of the offices. Some members of the staff have been here a long time. Seymour Grose has served sixteen years; B. F. Letson, fifteen years; S. Gerard Smith, eight years, and T. M. H. Spears, in charge of the wholesale house, ten years. Forty employees are constantly on the payroll.

rying orders to "Seeery" from all parts of the world. Orchids, gardenias, lilac, violets and roses arranged in the bottom of the window showed the kinds of floral valentines that could be sent to places far and near.

WISCONSIN RETAILER'S STORE.

Situated in a city that is both the capital of the state and the seat of the state university, the Rentschler Floral Co., at Madison, Wis., has a double opportunity for handling a high-class trade. To make the most of it, the company recently opened a new store tor & Ice Machine Co. This concern also installed a one and one-half-ton ice machine, which cools the present equipment and will take care of a large storage refrigerator in addition.

TWO KINDS OF ADVERTISING.

We have noticed for a long time that The Review persistently advises florists to advertise in the newspapers, as, for instance, in the issue of February 12, pages 13 and 14, in the conversation between Messrs. Brown, Smith and Knoble. Smith asks Knoble if newspaper advertising will reach the flower-old mossbacks how to run a florists' business. He ran advertisements in the three daily papers, covering a 4-inch space; then he cut prices. In about two years he opened a store. He seemed to get business, but after a time he got into financial troubles, failed, tried working for other concerns and finally died in the insane hospital without paying his printer's bill.

Two florists entered the business and advertised in the three daily papers. They got a good trade without cutting prices, but could not keep going. Too much advertising did it. Again, another man started a store and ran advertisements in all the papers. He is now in the Binghamton insane hospital, while the florists who never advertise run greenhouses and, in our case, have two stores and have no big advertising bills to pay. It looks to us as though the writers have an advertising scheme to sell.

J. C. Bigelow & Son.

There are several reasons for printing the foregoing communication. One is, to assure Bigelow & Son that neither Mr. Knoble nor Mr. Seligman has advertising schemes to sell; The Review did not suppose it necessary to explain in the article, but Mr. Knoble is one of the most widely known retail florists in Cleveland, at present president of the Cleveland Florists' Club, and Mr. Seligman is a ribbon salesman, interested in the success of his customers, the retail florists. Each believes, with The Review, that the way to sell goods is to tell possible buyers what one has to sell.

Bigelow & Son are well known and successful florists at Utica, N. Y. Their standing entitles their views to respectful consideration, but the fact is they, and many others, base their opinion on wrong premises: Advertising is not wholly responsible for any man's success, nor wholly responsible for any man's failure. The same lack of judgment that would lead a man to over-advertise would lead him to other business extravagances, and the same discrimination that would enable a man to pick out the one or two best adver-which in design and fittings is one of the handsomest and most up-to-date in the state. The latest introductions in store fittings give it distinction. The system of indirect lighting which has been installed softens, without decreasing the clearness of, the effect. A tile floor also helps the appearance of the interior.

All the woodwork is of oak, stained a forest green, with white marble trimmings. The ceiling is crossed by oak beams, stained to match the woodwork. The side walls are paneled and fitted with full-length plate mirrors. There are two large, glazed wall cases, a marble-topped working counter and a refrigerator display counter for showing small cut flowers, as well as a desk for the convenience of customers, with plate-glass stationery compartments. These are well shown in the illustration giving a view of the front of the store.

Across the rear of the store is a large refrigerator display case with three full-length doors. The interior is lined with French plate mirrors except for the top and floor, which are of white enamel and white tile respectively. At one end are five large drawers for the storage of ferns and violets. The refrigerator, as well as the art glass partition above it, may be seen in the illustration showing the rear of the store. Back of this partition is a large workroom, entered by a rear door, so that supplies do not need to be carried through the show room. The store fixtures, as well as the refrigerator and refrigerator display case, were furnished by the United Refrigera-buying public. Knoble asks in return, "Did you ever know of a florist who started advertising, who stopped?"

In answer to Mr. Knoble I will tell him of a man who came here from Minnesota and bought out a greenhouse business. He started out to show us tising mediums and use them wisely would no doubt enable him to do a profitable small business without spending a cent for printers' ink.

Bigelow & Son say they have no big advertising bills to pay. But they have greenhouses on the edge of town and two stores in the business center. Why two stores? Why one store? Just to get before the public—to let people know what they have for sale. Just what advertising does!

Perhaps Bigelow & Son are spending more than they think for advertising.

CARBONE'S FLOWER STORE.

The store of Philip L. Carbone, on Boylston street, Boston, is in many ways unique and original. The genial and cultured proprietor started in business in a small way nineteen years ago, with a flower stand at the Young Woman's Union, where he stayed about two years. He next opened a small basement store at 258 Boylston street, which he left after about four years to occupy the present beautiful and commodious store at 342 Boylston street.

Mr. Carbone was ever on the lookout for new, rare and unique flowers or plants and in this way built a large trade among the wealthier class of buyers. For some years Mr. Carbone conducted a flower store at Harvard square, Cambridge, also, but this was discontinued ten years ago, as his Boston business developed.

In addition to plants and cut flowers, Carbone's store is noted for its choice collection of imported baskets, garden pottery, glass, china and stone ware, an immense yearly business being now done in this department, which was started in a modest way twelve years ago. A large wholesale warehouse at Milcher street, near the South Terminal station, is devoted to this end of the business. Five men are employed here, and two salesmen are kept on the road all the time.

A few weeks ago the store adjoining 342 Boylston street was taken over. This gives the store 150 feet in depth and forty-five feet in width, with four large show windows. A balcony is reached by a broad stairway, and half the depth on the second floor is used for show room purposes. There also are commodious basements, and plans are well matured for a model Italian garden in one of these, which will have mural paintings, concealed electric light, several fountains and pools, statuary, and all the features which go to make up an Italian garden. Competent artists will do the painting, and this will be retained as a permanent feature.

Mr. Carbone spends several months abroad each year looking up novelties. Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Sweden, Egypt and Japan all are drawn from. This store is quite unlike any others in Boston, and probably in America. There is never any overcrowding in windows or store. Each plant or bunch of flowers is displayed so as to show individuality, and the wonderful variety of stone, china and other ware is used to show them off to the best advantage.

Miss Carbone, Mr. Carbone's sister, has charge of the offices. Some members of the staff have been here a long time. Seymour Grose has served sixteen years; B. F. Letson, fifteen years; S. # CARNATIONS

HERR'S HELPFUL HINTS.

If one cannot attend a big meeting of growers, the next best thing is to hear a man like Albert M. Herr tell about it. In addressing the Lancaster County Florists' Club, a few nights ago, Mr. Herr said in part:

"I want to say right here that you men who make your living from carnations could not have expended $50 to any better advantage than in attending the Cleveland meeting of the American Carnation Society. You may think that you get the benefit without the expense, through the trade papers. They do their part nobly, but let me tell you that for your own welfare you had better loosen up a bit, join the society that represents the flower you grow and attend its meetings. It is being there, going over and over the show, mingling with the men who grow these show flowers, that fills your subconscious mind with carnation knowledge, a knowledge it is impossible to obtain in any second-hand manner.

"Next year the meeting is at Buffalo and an economical man can go from here and have everything for $35. Make up your mind right now to go and then, for your own sake, don't say at the last minute, 'I can't go; I have too much to do.' If you do not stop this habit of having so much to do that you can never go anywhere you will turn into a perpetual grind until you lie down to die, and then you will worry as to how the work will get done without you, and have no rest even on your deathbed.

"President Brown, like those who preceded him, spent a great deal of time and gray matter to bring before the society, through his address, some suggestions for improvement both of the society and the flower it represents. And, like all of his predecessors, his suggestions were reported good and at some time and some day they will be acted on and worked out. There is this consolation for our presidents, past and future, that 'a good thought never dies'; it may lie dormant for a number of years, but eventually it will bear fruit. Take our own club for an example: we have always been good florists, but we lay dormant until we organized, and now we are up and doing.

"Mr. Brown's remarks on packing carnations are right up to date and it is up to us growers to produce blooms that will warrant this extra care and expense in packing. Then it will be only a matter of time until the carnation is pushed forward as a cut flower in a manner that we scarcely dream of today. Having good flowers to pack, handle them the same as roses, laying them in the box individually, so that they do not crush or bruise. Pack fifty or 100 to a box. Eighty per cent of the cut of the Cottage Gardens is handled in this way. The name of the variety is placed on the box, the number the box contains, and the name of the firm. These boxes are sent into the wholesale house, the retailer comes in, selects what he wants from the label on the box, and takes them direct to his store, where the flowers are unpacked with the care a good flower deserves. The consequence is that the flowers reach the consumer in first-class condition and give value for value received, a thing impossible where the flowers are consigned in bunches and thrown around like old shoes, as they often are, both in the wholesale and retail establishments. Of course, when the grower gets $2 per thousand for them and the consumer gets a bunch of twenty-five for a quarter of a dollar, it is giving value for value received, but who of us wants this condition to represent the carnation trade?

"Joe Hill's paper, boiled down, gives us as an average cut fifteen flowers to a plant and the cost of producing those fifteen flowers, from the cutting to the plant thrown out in the following summer, as 23 cents per plant; the space occupied by that plant as three-fourths of a square foot, this space allowing for walks and all unused room in the house. These figures are valuable for comparison on your own place, but you must remember that the Hill establishment is right up-to-date in every respect. Some of us might cut the cost per plant in two and most of us can cut the number of blooms produced per plant in two and the quality of bloom in three, when compared with the Hill establishment.

"Mr. Pyfer's paper on carrying carnations over into the second year does not apply to this neck of woods; it applies to some sections fairly well, but, taking a series of five years, the man who tries it here is going to lose out.

"President Brown brought out another point: that the average price for carnations for a period of seven years for the Cottage Gardens was 3¼ cents per flower, which certainly is not a high figure when we consider the kind of flowers they produce. In England the varieties we grow for forcing do not go below 6 cents and often reach 15 cents. There is no reason why we should not do as well.

"Among the reds or scarlets in the Cleveland show there was nothing to anywhere near touch Beacon. In the light pink shade, Alice seemed the one to watch, although the others averaged up good. In the Gloriosa type, Alice Coombes looked a winner. In the dark pink, Gorgeous overtopped them all. In white there was, of course, nothing but Matchless; in crimson, Princess Dagmar, and in yellow, Yellow Prince.

"Two pinks deserve a little more mention, as they are badly needed. Philadelphia took all the laurels, and deservedly so. Mr. Browne, the originator, and Mr. Breitmeyer, the grower of this variety, both are enthusiastic over it, and Mr. Breitmeyer is the last man to get enthusiastic over anything that is not up to the mark.

"Mrs. C. E. Akehurst I happen to have known from its babyhood up to its present debutante age, and I feel safe in predicting that it is going to be the commercial pink in its class, which is enough different in color from Philadelphia so that the two do not conflict a great deal. Another thing I am going to predict for Mrs. Akehurst is that it will pretty nearly double the Hill estimate of blooms per plant in the hands of any ordinarily good grower."

A MISSOURI CARNATION RANGE.

The finest carnations in the country may not all come from the southwest, but the fact that they can be grown to a high standard of excellence in this section is fully demonstrated by the products of the Stuppy Floral Co., of St. Joseph, Mo. The Enchantress family takes precedence in both quality and quantity here. White Enchantress is the first in rank; 15,000 plants of this variety are grown. Of Enchantress, 10,000, and of Rose-pink Enchantress, 3,000 plants are grown. Victory numbers 2,000 and a few hundred of some other varieties, such as The Herald, Commodore, Scarlet Glow and Pink Delight, are being tried out. Pink Delight has here proved to be a good all-around carnation; its keeping qualities are of the best and it is a good producer and has an ideal stem. New varieties the company will grow next year are Matchless, Philadelphia, Gloriosa, Joy and Princess Dagmar. Beacon also will be grown.

The company plans to build a large house this coming spring, which will be an addition to the carnation range. A large tank has been built for liquid manure. Lucien Le Clere, who has charge of the carnation range at this plant, has had experience with some of the leading establishments of the country, among them the E. G. Hill Co., Richmond, Ind.; Cottage Gardens Co., Queens, N. Y., and Poehlmann Bros. Co., Morton Grove, Ill.

WHITE SPOTS ON CUTTINGS.

Enclosed you will find a few rooted carnation cuttings. When placed in the sand they were clean cuttings; now they are covered with white spots. They have neither red spider nor thrips. What is the trouble? R. O. H.

At the present time there seems to be some doubt as to just what might be the cause of those light spots on your cuttings. For several years our scientist friends have felt positive that such discolorations were invariably caused by the punctures of insects. So positive have they been, that many of us have come to accept their theory as correct, against our own judgment. Several years ago the writer expressed an opinion on this point in The Review, to the effect that this disease, then known as bacteriosis, may sometimes be caused by improper nourishment, especially if the vitality of the plants has been impaired, so that the roots are unable to supply the various elements required in building up plant tissue. The writer was not equipped to make the analyses or the microscopic examinations necessary to prove the theory and so the theory was set aside without much consideration. It is pleasing to see that our friend Mr. Peltier is working on this theory and we expect him to arrive at conclusions that will prove its accuracy.

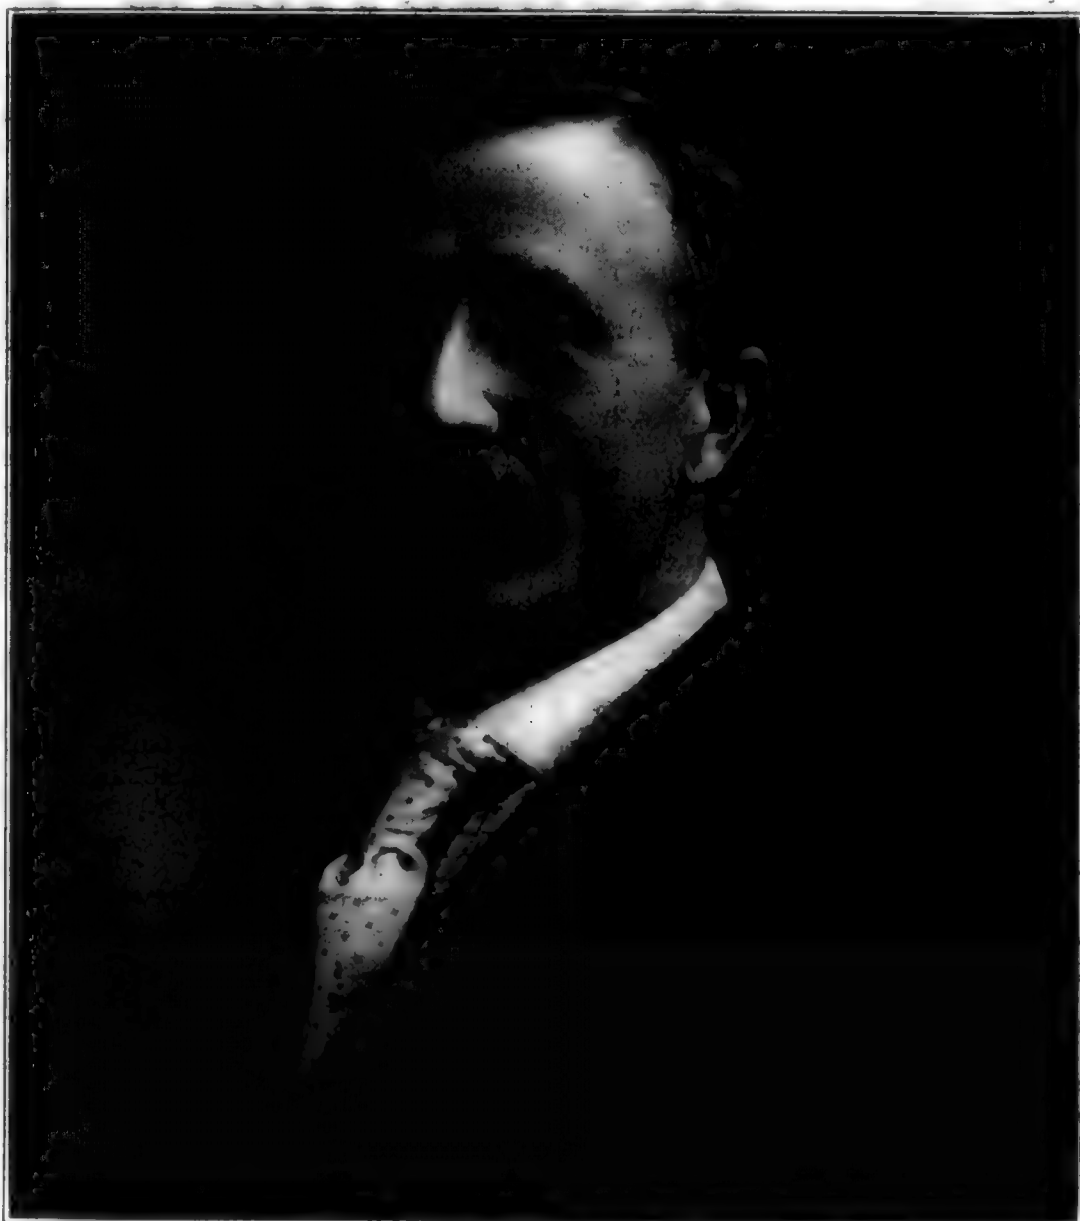

However, this much is certain: You can eliminate the trouble in only one way and that is by selecting your cuttings. Select cuttings which are free from these spots and keep culling out those which show the spots as fast as they appear. Keep the plants free from insects, as there is no doubt that they will inoculate the plants by their punctures. A. F. J. B.

MALMAISON CARNATIONS.

Will you please publish in the near future an article on the propagating and growing of Malmaison carnations? I am expecting a shipment of this variety about April 1, from James Veitch & Sons, England. They are 2-year-old stock plants. Any information you may be able to give me will be appreciated. C. H. B.

Men You Ought to Know

NICHOLAS P. MILLER.

THE new president of the Cook County Florists' Association, Nicholas P. Miller, is a native of West Bend, Wis. He was born December 22, 1859, his parents removing to Chicago in 1861. Mr. Miller usually says he is a florist by marriage, because, September 15, 1885, he wedded with Miss Anna Felke, daughter of John Felke, at that time in business on Mohawk street. The firm was Felke & Wagner, but in 1887 Mr. Miller bought the Wagner interest. The firm moved to Wilmette in 1888, dissolving ten years later, at which time Mr. Miller built a place of his own, now conducted by his sons. Since turning the place over to the boys, Mr. Miller has been connected with Kennicott Bros. Co., one of the pioneer wholesale houses of the country.

popular there, does not take kindly to an American climate; at least, such has been my experience with it. In 1900 I imported a batch from Messrs. Veitch. They carried over well, only one plant dying. After growing on for some time in pots, these were benched in August. The following spring they gave a nice crop of large flowers, but practically all burst. Attempts to carry these plants over a second season failed. Possibly, had I tried pot culture, it might have proved more successful. Harry Turner, while at Castle Gould, Port Chester, N. Y., grew some fine Malmaisons. I do not know his mode of culture, or how successful he was in propagating or in carrying them over.

Perhaps some other readers will favor The Review with their experiences here with Malmaison carnations. Their size, far exceeding that of our finest American varieties, and their delightful fragrance, are strong points in their favor.

If any American florists are growing them successfully, an account of their cultural methods would, I am sure, be welcome reading to many Review readers. C. W.

CARNATION RUST.

Will you tell us the cause of the rust-like spots on the enclosed carnation leaves? What shall we do to prevent the trouble? J. G.

Too much moisture on the foliage, especially when the plants are damp over night, and a damp, clammy atmosphere will soon start carnation rust. Dust the affected plants with air-slaked lime. Fungine, applied in liquid form, is an excellent remedy for rust. Bordeaux mixture is also sometimes used. Drier atmospheric conditions and greater care in spraying will soon cause rust to disappear. C. W.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS

Canterbury Bells.

While Canterbury bells make beautiful pot plants when well grown and judiciously staked, they are impatient of hard forcing, and, to have them at their best, an average of 50 degrees for a minimum temperature is ample. It will be found that while there is a somewhat limited sale of these at Easter, they produce vastly better plants in the last half of April and through May, being grand for cutting for Memorial day when not sold in pots. Do not give too much water to Canterbury bells until you are sure they have their pots full of active roots; then there is little probability of damage from excess. Sometimes thrips will attack the young growths as they come up, especially when the plants have been growing in too warm a house. Spraying with nicotine, or, better still, dipping the plants is the best remedy.

Gardenias.

If gardenia cuttings for next season's crop are not yet taken, get them into the sand at once. Provided a close case is used and there is a brisk bottom heat, the cuttings should be rooted in three weeks. They need an abundant water supply all the time. Newly potted cuttings do best if kept in a case a few days, or in a house where they can have plenty of heat and moisture and be protected from sun and currents of air.

Plants grown for winter blooming, which may have proved somewhat disappointing so far, should from this time on give a nice, steady crop of cut flowers. Do not allow the foliage to become yellow; there is absolutely no need of it. If the compost in pots or benches is sufficiently porous, and some high-grade fertilizer is used as an occasional top-dressing, the foliage will keep a dark green color.

Camellias.

The flowering period for camellias will soon pass, and, with the increasing interest being taken in these plants, it is probable that a good many florists have a few plants unsold. It pays to carry these over. On the imported plants the loss in flower buds is usually heavy, while it is otherwise with home-grown stock. Camellias love cool treatment, but with the flower season over it is a good plan to give the plants, if space permits it, a warmer house where they can be freely syringed. It will be found that plants thus treated will set buds earlier and more freely than if kept in a cold house all the time. In summer they can be planted out or, if preferred, plunged over the pots where they can be freely syringed and watered.

Dutch Bulbous Flowers for Easter.

At this season queries reach The Review almost daily, stating that hyacinths, tulips or narcissi, which are buried outdoors and protected with straw or leaves, or in a cold cellar, have sprouted considerably, and asking how they can best be retarded. For Easter blooming no fire heat is needed at all this season, since Easter comes moderately late. If a good, close cold-frame is at command, place a good layer of coal ashes in the bottom before setting in the pots, pans or flats of bulbs, and, if they are left where they are until a month before Easter, they will be in ample time. Grown in frames they are much stockier than when placed in greenhouses, and in such positions it is easy to retard them by shading the glass, or, better still, by covering with mats during bright sunshine, particularly in the case of tulips.

Rhododendron Pink Pearl.

Rhododendron Pink Pearl is the queen of forcing rhododendrons. Its immense trusses of beautiful pink flowers make it easily the most popular variety of the day. It cannot yet be sold at a low price, and it will be several years before it will become sufficiently abundant to fully meet the demand. For Easter flowering, allow six to seven weeks. It is better to let it come along moderately cool than to try to force it. If heat is given, be sure to open the flowers in a cool house, or much of their delicate coloring will be lost. Other rhododendrons can be flowered a little earlier than Pink Pearl, but it is well to allow all of them at least six weeks.

Genistas.

No forcing is needed to flower genistas for Easter. They should never have any more fire heat than is absolutely necessary; the cooler they are grown the better they will be. For Easter, move the plants into a cool house about the end of February. Cytisus Andreanus and C. scoparius need about a month in a temperature of 45 to 50 degrees at night to be in condition for Easter. They are not much seen nowadays, but, if well grown, are charming subjects. By the way, if genista cuttings are not yet put in, now is a good time to start them. A cutting bench such as suits carnations will be all right for them.

THE BEDDING STOCK.

The bedding geraniums are now growing fast and will need frequent spacing apart. Keep the plants potted on from the cutting bench to 2-inch pots, from 2-inch to 3-inch and from 3-inch to 4-inch, as occasion requires. Always avoid letting the balls become matted with roots before giving any shift. If they do become potbound from any cause, loosen the roots around the ball with a pointed stick before repotting. Do not use anything in the nature of fresh manure in the soil. Some old cow or horse manure, well pulverized or screened, is all right, and add a 4-inch potful of fine bone to each barrow load of loam. Geraniums want all the sun and light possible, with plenty of fresh air, and they must not be kept too moist at the root. Any plants showing diseased foliage should be regularly picked over; also remove decaying leaves at least once a week.

SOIL FOR GERANIUMS.

We are about to shift our geraniums from 2½-inch pots to 4-inch pots. The soil is taken from the mum benches. In what proportion should we use bone meal. In the first place, the soil for the mums consisted of loam and cow manure; then in the 2½-inch pots we used mum soil with about a 4-inch pot of bone meal to a wheelbarrow of sifted mum soil.

F. & F.

Use a 4-inch potful of fine bone to each bushel of the chrysanthemum compost. As you probably used a good proportion of cow or horse manure in the compost, this bone should provide sufficient additional food. If the plants, a little later, do not appear to make as much growth as you could wish, give the pots a light top-dressing of fine bone mixed with finely sifted loam.

C. W.

GERANIUMS FOR MEMORIAL DAY.

When must we cease pinching 2¼-inch, 3¼-inch and 4-inch geraniums in order to have blooms for Memorial day? How many weeks are required for buds to show after pinching? Then, how much time is required for the buds to be in full bloom?

H. & C.

Stop pinching the geraniums by March 1. It will take six to eight weeks for the buds to show after pinching, as a rule, but a good deal depends on the soil your plants are growing in. If the soil contains much animal manure, the buds will be slower in showing than where a small quantity only has been used and more bone has been added. The ranker the plant growth, the slower will be the production of buds. From the time the buds show to the time they are in bloom, you should allow a month, as we have many vagaries of weather even in May. A temperature of 45 to 50 degrees at night is sufficient. Do not exceed the latter figure if stocky plants are wanted. Air freely, give all possible sunlight and keep the atmosphere dry rather than moist at all times.

C. W.

COVERED WITH RED SPIDER.

Enclosed you will find two rose plants that have some kind of root disease. I shall be thankful if you can tell me what is wrong with them and what I can do to remedy the trouble. I have handled roses for several years, but have never seen the roots act in this way before. The soil that I used was new soil, with a little rotted cow manure in it. The plants are in a good house, with a temperature of 60 degrees.

C. K.

The two plants received were carefully examined and, as far as I could see, there was absolutely nothing the matter with the roots; they were as healthy as they could be for plants of that size, from 2-inch pots. One of the stems had been bruised when the cutting was made and the surface had turned black, but this would not affect the growth. The other plant was green to the roots and the roots were perfect.

There was one serious defect in the condition of the plants and this, no doubt, was the cause of the whole trouble; the plants were completely covered with red spider. They were so badly injured by this pest that even the youngest leaf had started to turn gray. It will take a continuous application of water under high pressure, for some time, to get the plants clean again, but if this is done I can see no reason why the plants should not make a good, healthy growth. As long as the spider sucks the sap out of the plants, however, they cannot make much growth.

EXPERIMENTAL ROSE GARDENS.

The American Rose Society, through its committee in conjunction with a committee appointed by the Society of American Florists, now feels ready to launch the establishment of two experimental rose gardens, one in connection with the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., and one at the College of Agriculture, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and in this connection they ask the cooperation of rose growers throughout America.

Appended to this invitation will be found statements from both these institutions, indicating their readiness to proceed with this proposition.

It is proposed that credit shall be given in each garden to all firms contributing to its success, but it is not proposed to make public any statement showing which varieties were contributed by any firm. In this way it is hoped that all rose growers in America may be placed on the same footing, without favoritism being shown to any one or any group of growers.

Rose growers everywhere will be quick to see the advantages likely to spring from these experimental gardens. We are fortunate to have one in a district representative of the colder sections, while results in the other may be taken as a criterion for the warmer sections of our country.

We are fortunate in each case to have the backing of institutional care that shall be impartial in its cooperation and insure the continuity of effort so essential to an enterprise in which real success can be measured only after a term of years. Furthermore, both institutions are in position to issue bulletins, and, for the benefit of all concerned, spread dependable information regarding roses.

Therefore, the American Rose Society and the Society of American Florists, through their committees, hereby appeal to the rose growers of America for contributions of all such varieties as they are willing to present for these two gardens. The committee asks that each firm furnish a list of such varieties as can be supplied this spring, such list to be in the hands of Alex. Cumming, Jr., chairman of the Rose Society's committee, not later than March 15. The committee requires good, strong dormant stock where available, otherwise stock well established in not less than 4-inch pots. Dormant stock must be in Washington not later than April 1, and at Ithaca April 15; roses from pots, not later than May 1 at Washington, May 15 at Cornell. There will be required eighteen (18) each of the bedding types of roses, including the H. P.'s, P.'s, H. T.'s, bourbons, Chinas, polyanthas, etc., and of the rugosas, sweet briars, or any of the climbing types, five (5) each.

Delivery instructions will be issued later. It is the earnest desire of the committee, if possible, to have every firm of rose growers in America represented by plants in these gardens.

FROM U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14, 1914.

With further reference to the letter of the acting secretary to your committee, addressed to W. F. Gude, under date of August 16, 1913, the ground proposed to be devoted to a rose garden at Arlington Farm in conjunction with your societies is now available for that purpose and the Bureau of Plant Industry stands ready to push the work of planting as soon as the stock arrives and the weather is suitable.

The objects to be gained from the Department's standpoint are the possibility of researches in the heredity of cultivated roses, and also the adaptability of roses to climatic conditions similar to those of Washington.

(Signed) L. C. Corbett,
Assistant Chief of Bureau.

FROM NEW YORK COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1914.

The rose garden area on the grounds of the department of floriculture at Cornell is in excellent condition to receive the plants this spring. The department has the facilities to properly care for the stock immediately upon arrival and to plant as soon as weather conditions permit. The undersigned will give his personal attention to the details of the rose trials. An investigation of the botany, evolution, breeding, etc., of the hybrid, Wichuraiana and rambler roses is already in progress. It is proposed to make similar studies as to the adaptability of all classes of roses suitable to the climate of central New York. Particular attention will be given hybrid perpetuals, hybrid teas, polyanthas, rugosas and the hardy climbing types.

MUMS TO FOLLOW TOMATOES.

Will you kindly inform me what are the best chrysanthemums for late flowering and by what date they ought to be put in the greenhouse beds or benches? We wish to use our beds for a second crop of tomatoes and then to follow these with mums for the first winter crop, so that early mums would probably be out of the question. I am located in southern Ontario.

R. N. W.

Late mums can be planted on the benches as late as August 1, if one can propagate nice, soft young plants so late in the season. The middle of July would possibly be better. By this time the spring crop of tomatoes should be out of the way, or the price, owing to the outside plants coming into crop, would be cut down below a lucrative figure. I know florists who are making good use of their houses by running a spring crop of tomatoes, getting them out of the way by July and then planting with mums to follow. It is not necessarily implied that R. N. W. has to plant the latest varieties for this purpose, as the plants can be carried along to 4-inch pots and planted from these, or could even be planted outdoors, lifted carefully and transplanted into the house. There are many ways of economizing on greenhouse space when one has to do it.

A good list of late varieties is as follows: White—Thanksgiving Queen, Timothy Eaton, White Chadwick and Jeanne Nonin. Yellow—Nagoya, Yellow Chadwick and Bonnaffon. Pink—Chadwick Supreme, Maud Dean and W. R. Brock. These varieties will give flowers until Thanksgiving and some of them, like Brock, till Christmas. The last mentioned variety may appeal to R. N. W., since it is a Canadian seedling which we introduced several years ago and ranks first as the latest true pink.

DETAILS TO WATCH.

Hints for Builders of Greenhouses.

Much has been said about practically every part of the greenhouse, what to buy, how to buy, and where to buy, all for the education of the grower. Little has been told him, however, about the erection of the house after the materials have been secured, and, after everything else is considered, the best greenhouse materials improperly erected could not make a good greenhouse.

One of the common errors of those inexperienced in building greenhouses is the extravagant use of the carpenters' level. Generally speaking, all greenhouses should be built with a slight pitch in the length to allow for water drainage and assist in drying the gutter bottom. Not long ago, my attention was called to a greenhouse, the erection of which had caused the owner considerable trouble and expense. The carpenter, in setting the gutter posts, had allowed correctly for a pitch in the gutters to drain the water. After setting up the forms for the concrete wall, building the wall and removing the forms, he discovered that he had built the walls level instead of allowing the same pitch as he had for the gutters. The material in the side wall between the concrete wall and the gutters of course did not fit. In another case a man ordered iron gutters five feet six and three-quarters inches in length and, without waiting for their arrival, set up all the posts for the walls. As the gutter hubs on the cast-iron gutters are not evenly spaced, he was compelled to reset nearly all his posts to conform to the position of the post hubs on the gutters.

Too Much Carpenters' Level.

Many cases of the too frequent use of the level and plumb-bob occur in setting up the roof sashbars. The sashbars should be set on the square with the gutters, but not infrequently a carpenter will build the sashbars plumb and, after everything is nailed tight, discover that the glass does not fit, but rests on two corners instead of flat. It is often the case that a man, if he is careful and uses good judgment, gets his house up in good shape, but, by the time it is up, he has become so obsessed with the idea of avoiding the use of the level that he builds the benches with the same pitch as the greenhouse. As benches should be built level, it may cost the owner a considerable sum to correct the error, especially if the heating pipes were installed before the discovery of the error.

Most manufacturers send full instructions for setting up boilers, but to one not familiar with them, they are not easy to understand completely. A boiler not properly bricked up and cemented, or improperly connected, however, usually is the cause of an unjust tirade against the boiler manufacturers, or if nothing worse, in the abnormal consumption of fuel.

Installing Heating Pipes.

After the boiler is set up, the heating pipe is installed, a work which presents a hundred and one difficulties. In connecting the pipe, several things must be borne in mind. The pipe should be laid straight, not wavy; all pipe ends should be reamed; all pipe joints should be red-leaded before being connected; as few turns and angles as possible should be made in the layout of the heating system. All pipe should have a uniform pitch; it should never be set level. The judicious placing of the air vents and valves sometimes determines the efficiency of a heating system. Many times, in a defective heating system, the substitution of one fitting for another will cause the system to work properly. A twin ell instead of a tee fitting has at times been the sole remedy necessary for a system which has generated sufficient heat in some coils and little or none in others. Occasionally some one who is installing a mercury generator for a hot water heating system for the first time revolves the generator around the pipe, and the consequent loss of mercury makes the generator worthless.

Construction Details.

Often when the manufacturers of greenhouse supplies and boilers are blamed for the grower's trouble, it is really due to faulty construction. There are many things to be considered, so many that those who put up glass for the first time have more than their hands full. The size and number of nails should be figured out carefully; lumber that is split by too large nails will not make a strong, decay-resisting greenhouse, but it is almost as bad to use nails that are too small. Glazing points must actually hold the glass, not be just stuck in. It is best, both for appearance and economy, to scrape away all surplus putty. All material should be evenly painted, especially the roof sashbars, so that the condensation on the bar will flow properly. It pays to see that the concrete for post and purlin support footings is mixed properly. All joints and splices ought to be thickly white-leaded. The closer the plans are followed the better.

It is the business of a good builder to check every article carefully before starting erection and to notify the manufacturers at once of any error, so that it can be rectified without delay to the work. If this is neglected, as it often is, the error will not be discovered until the article is needed. The result is much inconvenience and delay.

Out of curiosity I have several times asked growers who had erected their own houses, what were their expenses. I found that in every case the amount was more than the cost of securing a first-class builder. Generally speaking, the grower will find it quite difficult to apportion the work to inexperienced help so as to gain the full benefit of their time, and he will find it as cheap or cheaper in the end to secure the services of experienced builders, at least on his first greenhouse.

STARTING TUBEROUS BEGONIAS.

Can tuberous begonias be started in a hotbed?
F. H.

Tuberous begonias can be started to good advantage in a hotbed. Water sparingly at first, or there is danger of the tubers decaying.

STATE FLORISTS' ASSOCIATION.

While the florists of Danville have been busy with plans for the entertainment of those who are to be their guests March 10 and 11 and with the arrangements for the decoration of the Armory hall for the exhibition, the officers of the Illinois State Florists' Association have been busy preparing the program of the meeting and sending letters to the florists of the state to urge their strong participation in this banner meeting of the organization. The Indiana florists are showing their appreciation of the event and will be present in large numbers. The exhibits are expected to be of better than usual quality. Exhibitors may either bring their displays or ship them to W. J. Anker, at Danville, who will take care of their staging. The life membership buttons are ready and Secretary Ammann is expecting and hoping for a run on them at the meeting.

The opening session will begin at 2 p. m. Tuesday, March 10, and the business will be concluded at that meeting. At 8 p. m. Tuesday will be the annual banquet, at the Plaza hotel; tickets for this should be secured at the secretary's desk upon arrival. Wednesday at 10 a. m. the visitors will board special cars for the experimental station at Urbana, and an enjoyable trip is assured as a result of the efforts of the Danville Florists' Club. The official badge of the meeting is the Beacon carnation. The Armory hall containing the exhibition of cut flowers and plants will be thrown open to the public Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Introductory remarks, by H. E. Smith, president Danville Florists' Club.
Address of welcome, by Mayor Lewman.
Response and welcome to the Indiana State Florists' Association, by A. C. Kohlbrand, Chicago.
Response by W. W. Coles, Kokomo, Ind.
President's address, by Charles Lovridge, Peoria, Ill.
Report of secretary, by J. F. Ammann, Edwardsville, Ill.
Report of treasurer, by F. L. Washburn, Bloomington, Ill.
Unfinished business.
New business.
Public exhibition.
Remarks by visiting Indiana florists.
General discussion.
Nomination and election of officers.
Adjournment.

COÖPERATIVE MEETING.

At last our hopes are being realized. We have read and talked a great deal about coöperation and fellowship in floriculture. Is it possible? Yes! Also, it will be proved in the near future. March 10 and 11 the state associations of Indiana and Illinois will hold a joint meeting at Danville. After many years of insistence and persistence the goal of coöperation is in sight.

You say we have had coöperation through our national body for many years. That is true, but it does not come close enough to us. We could not get along without the coöperative help we derive through the national society, but at the same time it does not touch us vitally, because this body's actions are nation-wide, and for its usefulness cannot be otherwise.

Our hopes for the future must depend, if I may use my own phrase, on localized coöperation. The man or men in your locality are the ones with whom you want a complete understanding. The man a thousand miles away may be working in coöperation with you, but at the same time you will derive no appreciable benefit. It is the man with whom you have dealings, whose business you come in contact with, or who may have no dealings with you, but at the same time has an influence on the trade in your locality, with whom you want to coöperate, to have a helpful understanding.

The florists of the two states will gather at Danville with the firm intention to help each other. Is this not what we have been striving for these last few years? Who can say what benefits will be derived from this important meeting? I know of no other occasion on which two states have held a joint meeting for the simple and vital reason of advancement. I want to urge in closing that every florist in the two states make a special effort to attend this coöperative meeting. Only good can come from such a meeting, and every florist should make it his duty to be there, if only for one day.

NEW YORK.

The Market.

Premonitory symptoms of the approach of Lent were evident during the last week; the tendency of prices for the whole market was downward. The snowdrifts and uncertain weather interfered with business in every line and the florists' trade seemed to suffer most of all. The week closed with rising temperature and prospects of clean streets and normal conditions. The Saturday trade was more encouraging, and there was a fairly good clean-up at steadier prices except in bulbous stock.

From this date shipments of roses and carnations will undoubtedly increase. American Beauties have held their high range of prices wonderfully well this season, but they have now sounded the retreat. Naturally, all other varieties are joining the procession, even the novelties of the year participating in the retrogression. A cut of twenty-five per cent from last week's best rates is a fair indication of present prices. The carnation shipments are increasing. Most of the stock is superb this year, but prices are low enough to warrant no faultfinding by the buyer. The cream of the novelties maintain the regular higher range and prices for these depend upon the supply.

Lilies are not overabundant and the rates of the last month are sustained. Valley is in oversupply and prices are the lowest of the year. Gardenias maintain their average, the best of them seldom selling above $3 per dozen. Orchids are handled by all the leading wholesalers and all seem to have enough of them to offer. In only the best and largest selected flowers is there any competition. Violets do not seem to make any advance in popularity and prices are at the low range that has prevailed since the holidays. Of bulbous stock there is evidently no end. Prices for daffodils, tulips and narcissi are down to half the standard of former years. Only the selects of the tulips meet with any appreciation. Some of the sweet pea stock now arriving is above the average in quality, especially the winter-flowering Spencers. Pansies are here, another harbinger of spring. Daisies, mignonette and forget-me-nots are arriving daily in sufficient volume to cover all possible demand.

Various Notes.

March 9 the final meeting of the New York Florists' Club before the spring flower show will be held in the Grand Opera House club parlors, at Eighth avenue and Twenty-third street. Because of the exhibition March 21 to 28 in the Grand Central Palace, this meeting will be of especial interest and a large attendance is requested. The essay committee will do its share to make the evening entertaining. There will be exhibits, luncheon and final instructions in regard to the show. Chairman Nugent, of the annual dinner committee, announces the date for the banquet to be March 26, and the place the same as last year, the Hotel Astor. Tickets are $5 each.

Saturday, February 28, Charles Milang's annual beefsteak dinner will be held at Bayside. Every lady present will be presented with an armful of Killarney roses. Dancing will follow the banquet.

Moore, Hentz & Nash were exhibiting last week some Hadley roses in perfect condition ten days from cutting.

The new offices of Roman J. Irwin in the Masonic building, on West Twenty-third street, are now decorated with trophies of his hunting, the most striking of which is the head and antlers of a huge elk, which he shot in Maine last fall when he and Wallace Pierson, of Cromwell, Conn., roamed the forests of the northland.

L. J. Kervan is sending his friends seductive greetings from Jacksonville, Fla., where he will enjoy life until spring.

George Maunz, representing Reed & Keller, has left the city on his annual western trip.

The annual dinner of the Nassau County Horticultural Society was held at Glen Cove, L. I., Thursday, February 19, and in attendance and enthusiasm led all its predecessors. The dinner was excellent. The society was never in so flourishing a condition.

M. C. Ebel, secretary of the National Association of Gardeners, met with a painful accident last week, putting his knee out of commission. Because of this he was unable to attend the Glen Cove banquet.

The Monroe County Horticultural Society held its annual dinner at the Globe hotel, Red Bank, N. J., February 18, only members of the society receiving invitations. Ladies were welcomed this year and the affair was much to the credit of the organization. John A. Kennedy was chairman of the dinner committee, and Chas. E. Henderson, Jr., toastmaster. Walter Mott, of Newburgh, was a visitor at Red Bank on his way to southern patrons.

E. S. Miller, of Wading River, L. I., was in the city February 21, having just returned from a three months' trip to Tacoma and other coast cities.

Wm. M. Hunt, of A. T. Boddington's force, represented the house at the Oyster Bay banquet.

Adam Müller, formerly manager of the flower department of the Hotel Astor, is now acting in a similar capacity at the new Hotel McAlpin.

Benjamin A. Ramaker, of Rochester, and wife were at the Hotel McAlpin last week on their wedding trip. Mrs. Ramaker is a daughter of John Campbell Shaw, the nurseryman, of the Flower City.

John J. Gunther, of Gunther Bros., is one of the committee appointed to welcome the Giants back from their world tour March 7.

T. B. Collie represented Burnett Bros. at the Glen Cove banquet.

Maurice Fuld, of the Knight & Struck Co., is on a lecture tour in the west, including in his itinerary the cities of Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Grand Rapids and Ann Arbor. His subject is "The Right Way of Gardening."

Fred Smythe is in Europe, combining business and pleasure. Fred Gardiner, of his office force, is enjoying his annual vacation in Bermuda.

H. E. Froment will continue to make 57 West Twenty-eighth street his wholesale headquarters.

Robert Berry, of Chatham, N. J., has been appointed manager of the Shrewsbury Nurseries, at Eatontown, N. J.

All the retail flower shops of any account featured St. Valentine's day with appropriate window decorations and most of them report an excellent increase in volume of business for the day. Some interesting windows were prepared in commemoration of Washington's birthday. J. Austin Shaw.

Myer Heller, of the South Park Floral Co., New Castle, Ind., was one of last week's visitors. Mr. Heller is at the head of a big department store, as well as the greenhouses, and when he comes to New York is on the go from early until late.

SWEET WILLIAMS IN POTS.

Do sweet williams do well in pots, and how should they be handled? F. H.

Sweet williams can be successfully grown in pots. They can be potted late in the fall or in the spring, and succeed particularly well if left plunged to the brim in a coldframe, with the sashes removed entirely. As the flowers expand, a light shade of cheesecloth during the daytime will keep the flowers fresher and prolong their beauty. Move them into a cool, shady and well ventilated greenhouse, in order to keep them in good condition as long as possible. They need an abundant water supply. C. W.

HARDY PHLOXES IN POTS.

Are hardy phloxes successfully grown in pots, and what size of pots should be used? F. H.

Phlox clumps can be potted in fall or spring. They should be plunged outdoors and freely watered. A good way to get nice, single-trussed plants is to put in a batch of cuttings as early in spring as possible. Put them in 3-inch pots when well rooted; later shift into 5-inch pots. Keep them plunged outdoors where they can root into some good compost. Such plants will carry splendid trusses the following summer, and many people would be glad to buy them to plant out. C. W.

PLANTING GLADIOLUS BULBLETS.

Should gladiolus bulblets have the shell removed before planting? F. H.

There is no need to remove the shell covering from the bulblets before planting. Too much peeling is done with gladioli. C. W.

LANCASTER, PA.

Club Meeting.

About fifty florists attended the monthly meeting of the Lancaster County Florists' Club, Thursday evening, February 19. Albert M. Herr gave us his impressions of the Cleveland carnation show, which are given briefly in another column, and urged the members of the club to become active supporters of the society that is doing so much for the carnation. S. S. Pennock, of Philadelphia, also talked about the show, speaking particularly of the interest taken by the Cleveland retailers and their showing of fine table decorations with carnations.

The vase that probably attracted most attention on our exhibition table was that of Mrs. C. E. Akehurst, shown by Pennock-Meehan Co. It is a pleasing shade of pink, similar to Mrs. C. W. Ward. Its keeping qualities are excellent, and, with its record of twenty-eight blooms per plant last season, it promises to become a winner commercially. H. D. Rohrer showed a vase of his fragrant, non-bursting, brilliant scarlet, Scarlet Wonder. W. B. Girvin, of Leola, showed vases of some of the standard varieties, which showed excellent culture. Charles B. Herr showed a large vase of Beacon, which he grows with much success. B. F. Barr & Co. had an exceptional showing of Alma Ward. Rudolph Nagel's vase of Silver Pink snapdragon was fine.

Coöperative buying was taken up at the meeting and a discussion of the quality of goods sent into this section ensued. The committee at length recommended that the members give their trade so far as possible to the concerns that offer inducements for it; that they attach their membership stickers to all orders, and that they use the membership cards in dealing with local dealers who have offered discounts to members on certain lines. The committee which is trying to arrange with the local traction company for the passenger cars to carry flowers, so that they will not have to wait for express cars, reported progress, and anticipated success in the movement. A question box was instituted toward the close of the evening, and as the result of a discussion thus brought forward, A. M. Herr, Charles F. Edgar, Rudolph Nagel and H. K. Rohrer were appointed a committee to consider the advisability of holding a flower show next fall. At our club's request, our congressman, W. W. Greist, will support the bill before congress appropriating $50,000 for erecting a memorial to W. R. Smith.

Before the meeting members of the club visited W. B. Girvin's greenhouses at Leola, Pa., where he has a number of large, modern houses filled with carnations. His principal varieties are Pink Delight, Gloriosa, Beacon and Mrs. Ward. His benches of Beacon showed evidence of an extra heavy cut over the holidays, and will be thrown out shortly and the space planted to Silver Pink snapdragon for spring crop. About 2,500 Matchless will be grown here next season. John H. Schoenberger is the efficient foreman at this place.

Our next meeting will be held March 19, when a series of lantern slides from J. Horace McFarland Co., Harrisburg, Pa., will be shown. The ladies are invited. On the same date, at 2:30 p. m., the club will leave Lancaster to visit the Hostetter establishments at Manheim, Pa.

Visitors at the meeting included Jas. Brown, Jr., of Coatesville; Mr. Nolan, of the King Construction Co., North Tonawanda, N. Y., and S. S. Pennock, of Philadelphia.

Various Notes.

At the store of B. F. Barr & Co. was noticed a number of floral arrangements especially made up for Washington's birthday. Baskets of plants, as well as cut flowers in red, white and blue, sold well. Cherry trees in bloom and aucubas loaded with fruit went at good prices. H. K. R.

BALTIMORE, MD.

The Market.

Baltimore has at last got some winter weather. The first snow of the season fell February 13 and continued for two days, while the temperature fell to zero, necessitating constant watching on the firing line, with a constant shrinkage of the coal pile. Stock of all kinds is to be had in quantity, with business fair but not up to expectations. There was a brisk demand for the smaller type of cut flowers for St. Valentine's day, such as violets, sweet peas and valley. Myosotis was to be had in limited quantity, with buyers for all in sight. Roses and carnations are becoming more plentiful, with a corresponding drop in the prices which have prevailed since the first part of January. Bulbous stock is plentiful. Good jonquils are offered at one of the local wholesale houses for $2 per hundred and tulips as low as $1.75 per hundred. Hyacinths and Paper Whites can be had in any quantity at a low figure. The cloudy weather of the last week had its effect on roses and carnations, but in spite of this they were plentiful and met with a good demand.

Club Meeting.

Owing to the snow storm which was raging February 23, there was a comparatively small attendance at the meeting of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club. President Johnston quickly disposed of the routine business, which was followed by an interesting talk by Adolph Farenwald, of Roslyn, Pa., on the affiliation of local clubs with the S. A. F. Mr. Farenwald presented some good reasons for affiliation. The matter was discussed, but, owing to the small attendance, it was decided to make this the subject for the first meeting in April, when a larger attendance is hoped for and the matter will be entirely gone over and threshed out.

A. N. Pierson, Inc., of Cromwell, Conn., sent twelve blooms of the new crimson rose, Hadley, which this firm is distributing to the trade. R. T. Beers, the Pierson representative, was present and described the habit and gave directions for growing the variety. The blooms shown were fine, both in color and stem. The foliage was large and of a fine color, with no trace of mildew.

John Severin was elected a member of the club. The banquet committee reported that the affair to be held at the Hotel Emerson, March 9, promises to be the best banquet the club has ever had. Some of the most prominent florists of the eastern section of the country have been invited and have signified their intention of attending; among others Wm. F. Gude, of Washington, will be present and address the members on the subject of a memorial to the late Wm. R. Smith.

Owing to the large amount of business and the annual election of officers to be held on this night, it was decided to call the club to order at 7 p. m. sharp, instead of 8 p. m., the usual hour. It is of the utmost importance that all members attend this meeting, as an unusual interest is being shown in the election.

Various Notes.

Chas. M. Wagner, manager for Jas. Hamilton, of Mount Washington, reports that roses and carnations are blooming well, with a good demand and fair prices.

Chas. Siegwart, whose greenhouses are located on the Old Frederick road, lost a lot of glass by sliding ice, February 14. It seems that the ice formed on the edge of the ventilators, and when these were raised the ice was broken loose, sliding down the bars and crashing into the adjoining house. The damage was repaired in time to keep frost out; hence, aside from the glass, the loss was slight.

Halliday Bros. had an especially artistic window decoration last week. This firm has ample space for display purposes and it is used to the best advantage to show a first-class line of seasonable stock.

On St. Valentine's day, with the thermometers registering 10 degrees, the street venders were seen on Lexington street with glass cases which sheltered a good line of cut flowers, which were being offered at a low figure, with few buyers.

Harry Ekas, on Frederick road, has some excellent Primula obconica. He also has a fine lot of seedlings from Lilium Harrisii, which look promising and are said to be a decided improvement on the parent.

J. A. Harmon, formerly gardener at Mount De Sales Academy, expects to erect two houses this spring at his place near Catonsville and will engage in the florists' business, growing a general line of cut flowers.

The recent cold spell made safe delivery of flowers a perplexing problem and many of the stores suffered losses from frost, both on incoming and outgoing delivery.

Black Bros. had the decorations for the recent ball given by Francis B. Cochrane at the Belvedere hotel. In these decorations, which were extensive, the new carnation, Mrs. C. E. Akehurst, was used for the first time at any public function in this city.

Samuel Feast & Sons are receiving some fine orchid-flowering sweet peas from a local grower. The stems average twelve inches in length, with from four to six flowers on a stem.

W. F. E.

Saginaw, Mich.—Grohman, the florist, is enjoying a good run of business at present. E. A. Grohman, head of the firm, has completed a quarter-century in his retail store business here. He occupied a store on Fitzhugh street for twenty years before he moved to the present location on South Jefferson avenue. Stock is in good shape at the greenhouses on South Washington avenue, opposite Forest Lawn cemetery.

OBITUARY.

John M. Foss.

John M. Foss, aged 49 years, died at his home, 902 Main street, Sharpsburg, Pa., after a lingering illness. Mr. Foss came to this country in 1887. In 1891 Mr. Foss embarked in the florists' business, which he continued until his death. In September, 1892, Mr. Foss married Miss Bertha Cook, who, with three children, survives. He was a member of the German Evangelical church, Etna Lodge of Elks, Sharpsburg Aerie of Eagles, and Banner Circle P. H. C. The funeral took place February 18 in the German Evangelical church.

Mr. Foss was well known to the trade in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, where his plants have been sold for many years. He had a stand in the Pittsburgh market and a store in Sharpsburg. He was a genial gentleman of wide personal popularity.

James P. Copeland.

In the death of James P. Copeland, February 19, the city of Marion, Ill., lost its best known and best beloved citizen, as was attested by the attendance and the number of floral remembrances at the funeral February 21, which exceeded anything ever before seen in Marion.

Mr. Copeland was 68 years of age. He was a pioneer newspaper man, having begun work in that field at Vienna, Ill., in 1857. He served the Union through the Civil war and on his return founded the Marion Leader, which he published until 1901. Selling out his newspaper interests in that year, he established the Marion Greenhouses, in partnership with his wife, Minnie Lilley Copeland, who will continue the business. Mr. Copeland contracted a severe cold while working in the greenhouses early in February, which developed into pneumonia. He leaves, besides his widow, two sons and a daughter.

THE MASS OF EVIDENCE.

The favorable opinion of one person may or may not carry weight with it; if the person is unknown it probably more often does not. But when a similar opinion is voiced by a large number of persons, known or unknown, there accumulates a "mass of evidence," as the lawyers say, which is too weighty to be brushed lightly aside. You have read many such before, but the following is one more contribution to the already large "mass of evidence" on behalf of the use of The Review's Classified Ads:

Please cancel my ad for cinerarias in your paper, as I am all sold out. It certainly does the work.—Emil Metzmaier, Columbus, O., February 10, 1914.

CRUDE OIL IN SOIL.

A few days ago a pipe, carrying crude oil for the Standard Oil Co., burst and the oil ran into a creek which flooded the meadow from which I take the soil for my greenhouses. After the water settled, it left the oil on my land. Would you advise me to use that soil for my compost? J. W.

If you can get compost elsewhere for one season I would advise you to do so. By that time any liability of damage from the crude oil will have passed. I would not advise using it now.

C. W.

.....BUSINESS AND OTHER NOTES.....

Morrison, Ill.—John H. Dykema, who has been employed by the R. R. Davis Co. for the last eleven years, is planning to erect a $10,000 plant of his own at Fulton.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Wallace R. Pierson was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Syracuse Rose Society. His subject was "What Americans Have Done to Develop the Rose."

Great Falls, Mont.—St. Valentine's day shows great prospects of being a good flower day. The Electric City Conservatory advertised the use of violets for valentines and as a result many violets were sold.

Dayton, O.—As a result of the small amount of sunshine, the rose supply is almost too short to meet the demand, says Horace Frank, of the Heiss Co. Carnations are in heavy demand and the supply is large.

Princeton, Ill.—To provide an ice supply for the greenhouse refrigerators and for shipping cut flowers, the W. E. Trimble Greenhouse Co. has just completed an ice house of 100 tons capacity. It is being filled this week.

New Haven, Conn.—John H. Slocombe's exhibit of sweet peas, of a variety recently introduced by A. C. Zvolanek, at the last meeting of the New Haven Horticultural Society drew much favorable comment.

Galva, Ill.—G. F. Pearce has purchased the greenhouses of A. G. Larson, at 704 West Division street, and finds business excellent this season. Mr. Larson has bought a farm about sixty miles from Minneapolis, Minn., and will try his hand at farming.

Omaha, Neb.—The Morgan-Shawler Co., 1903 Farnam street, has opened one of the most thoroughly up-to-date stores west of the Mississippi. Both H. R. Morgan, president, and J. W. Shawler, secretary, are former employees of J. F. Wilcox & Sons, at Council Bluffs, although Mr. Shawler has for some time been engaged in another line of business.

Rochester, Minn.—Ross Bragg, who not long ago purchased the store in the Zumbro hotel from John Fuhlbruegge and later the Peterson greenhouses, is planning to make a number of improvements in both pieces of property. The store will be enlarged and refitted to handle a larger trade, and the greenhouses will be remodeled so as to increase the production of the plant.

Albany, N. Y.—At the request of Buffalo florists, Assemblyman Horton, of Erie, has introduced a bill in the state legislature amending the law prohibiting the employment of women and children for more than fifty-four hours a week. There are exceptions now for the week before Christmas covering department and other stores, and the amendment introduced makes an exception of the week before Easter for florists' stores.

Rutland, Vt.—Sidney A. Baker, proprietor of Baker's Seed House, 117 Park street, will add a greenhouse, 45x110 feet, to his plant next April, increasing his glass area to over 15,000 square feet.

St. Paul, Minn.—John D. Ramaley, proprietor of the Ramaley Floral Exchange, celebrated his eightieth birthday St. Valentine's day and gave flowers to his friends and customers in honor of the occasion.

Utica, N. Y.—C. Brown & Sons, for some years in business at Rochester, N. Y., will open a store here, under the name of the Utica Floral Co. The store is almost completed and the company will begin business about March 1.

Warren, Pa.—Lester Graham is engaged with plans for enlarging his greenhouse plant just outside of town, on Conewango avenue. Additional houses as well as improvements to the present range are contemplated. The work will probably be started this coming spring.

Tampa, Fla.—For Gasparilla week, and especially for the Bachelors' ball, King's reception and Coronation ball, which occurred February 18 to 24, the Knull Floral Co. reports excellent business. A unique piratical mailing card was sent to customers and is thought to have brought good results.

Rock Island, Ill.—On his way home from a meeting of the Tri-City Florists' Association on the night of February 13, Henry Gaethje was attacked and beaten by two men, who took his hat, overcoat and the small amount of change he carried. The attack was made just outside his boiler room and his son-in-law, Axel Hokinson, found him when he came out after hearing his groans. Although the condition of Mr. Gaethje was serious for a time, he will recover.

Charlotte, N. C.—A certificate of incorporation has been granted to Scholtz the Florist. The capitalization is $50,000 and the incorporators are E. P. Scholtz, Mrs. Nellie Scholtz, W. W. Scholtz and J. I. McCallum. The incorporators are authorized to do a general horticultural business, to deal in real estate and to engage in any line of business enterprise needful to the prosecution of the main business of horticulture.

Sheridan, Wyo.—The greenhouses on North Badger street, which were built three years ago by the Sheridan Greenhouse Co. and are now the property of the L. M. Best Floral Co., have been leased to M. E. Leland, of McCook, Neb., with an option to purchase. The Best Floral Co. will confine itself to growing vegetables, and Mr. Leland will grow a general line of flowers and plants, conducting the business under the name of the Glendale Floral Co. He may open a branch store at Billings, Mont., to be supplied with stock from the greenhouses here.

request. Only strictly trade advertising accepted.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.
Incorporated by Act of Congress, March 4, 1901.
Officers for 1914: President, Theodore Wirth, Minneapolis; vice-president, Patrick Welch, Boston; secretary, John Young, 54 W. 28th St., New York City; treasurer, W. F. Kasting, Buffalo.
Thirtieth annual convention, Boston, Mass., August 18 to 21, 1914.

Results bring advertising.
The Review brings results.

FROM all appearances the florists' business is at least as good as trade in any other line.

ABOUT the most difficult thing the average florist is called on to do is to refuse to sell to the big buyer who is slow pay.

"ALL other things being equal," as the saying goes, reciprocity is a fine platform. But how often are other things equal?

NOT a few subscribers save themselves the bother of annual renewal by sending The Review $2, $3, or sometimes $5, instead of the dollar-bill that insures fifty-two visits of the paper.

THOSE who complain that selling expenses constantly increase may as well become reconciled to the fact. Costs are increasing in every line, and like the price of beefsteak, they are not likely to go down again. Florists as a class have not developed their sales departments to the costly point that has been reached in most other lines.

LAST week Secretary John Young distributed among the members the annual volume issued by the Society of American Florists. It consists of 315 pages, printed in a style to conform to those that have preceded it in the series, and contains the report of the twenty-ninth convention, lists of members and brief proceedings of the special-field societies that met at Minneapolis the same time as the S. A. F.

THERE is only one way to establish a permanently successful business, small or large, and that is by the employment of system. The larger the business the more necessary the system. The employer who can not inaugurate system can not succeed in any large way, and the employee who can not adapt himself to a reasonable system is useless to the business. In the unfeeling words of Fra Elbertus, it is a case of "Get in line, or get out." There is no business in which system is more vitally necessary than in selling flowers.

THE NEW WHITE BUDDLEIA.

A subscriber wants to know where he can procure stock of the "new white buddleia." The man who has it can make money by advertising in The Review.

TORENIA ASIATICA.

Replying to the inquiry in The Review for February 12 for a source of supply of seeds or plants of Torenia Asiatica, I do not find seeds listed in any of my fifteen or more continental and English catalogues, but plants are catalogued by James Veitch & Sons, Chelsea, London, England.

BUDS DRIED IN BULBS?

The reason that Golden Spur narcissi do not flower is that they are heated when being transported, and the buds are dried up in the bulbs. This is generally the case with early flowering bulbs. I have the same trouble with my bulbs that J. G. L. told of in The Review for February 17. I did not take my bulbs in before the middle of January and every one came blind, not only Golden Spur, but Victoria as well. I took in a batch the other day, and there is no sign of getting any flowers. I planted some Emperor bulbs, but doubt if they will bloom. Even tulips, such as White Hawk, Keizerskroon and Yellow Prince, do not bloom. The bulbs should be examined before planting, and a lot of trouble would be saved. You can split a few bulbs and see if the bud is dried up or not. Vermilion Brilliant tulip does all right with me. I split a few of Rose Luisante tulips and they seem to be all right. There is one steamer that is heated by steam and bulb growers should look out for that one.

Paul Dieball.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

Here is a New Jersey florist who has found that it is not where a paper is PRINTED, but where it is READ, that determines its value as an advertising medium:

A word of appreciation may not be out of place. For the 50 cents we spent on a 5-line classified ad of geraniums we could have sold $100 worth of stock if we had had the plants. We certainly will use The Review again when we have stock to offer.—Evergreen Nurseries, K. M. Van Gelderen, Prop., Long Branch, N. J., February 21, 1914.

CHICAGO.

The Great Central Market.

The market for the week between St. Valentine's day and Washington's birthday was good—fully as good as anyone expected, perhaps a little better. Weather conditions were such as to hold down the supply of stock, but there was no general shortage, while the demand was strong enough to clean up all the first-class flowers at good prices. There were some exceptions, but not important enough to affect the satisfactory condition at the close of the week, for Washington's birthday brought some extra business for three days, February 21 to 23.

This week the market eased a little as Ash Wednesday arrived, but the weather has been such as to hold off the expected deluge of flowers. For the last fortnight nearly everyone has been looking for a few bright, spring-like days to result in a big increase in

WINTER-BLOOMING SPENCER SWEET PEAS

WE CAN OFFER THIS GREAT NOVELTY IN QUANTITY

EVERYBODY knows the Spencer type of sweet pea, but not everyone knows that it can be had in quantity in February—by ordering of us. We introduced this splendid new type of winter sweet pea in this market last season—but we could not anywhere near meet the demand. This year we have them by thousands—light pink, Blanche Ferry pink, dark pink and lavender. They are splendid sellers. Try them.

VIOLETS

A large supply, home-grown singles, home-grown doubles and Hudson River doubles. The cream of the crops.

BULB STOCK

We have a full line—Jonquils, Daffodils, Tulips—the best grade procurable. A large supply.

FANCY CATTLEYA ORCHIDS

Our Cattleyas are home-grown and will give better satisfaction than the lower priced stock that is reconsigned by Eastern commission houses.

VALLEY

You always can get fine Valley here. We handle the Chicago Market brand exclusively.

FREESIA

We have a novelty in fancy pink and yellow Freesia, as well as white.

CARNATIONS

For years it has been recognized that we have the highest average quality of any large supply of carnations—almost all of our stock will meet the needs of the most exacting buyer. It not only is good stock when it leaves us, but it is good stock when it reaches the out-of-town retailer—and it pleases HIS customers.

FANCY ROSES

You can get all the roses you need if you send your order to us. Not many short roses—ours are mostly long roses, stock that is second to none. If you want the best, order our SPECIALS. A full line the supply. But the bright, springlike weather has not come.

Peculiarly, short Beauties became plentiful last week; usually there are not many in midwinter. The buyers had got out of the habit of asking for them, so there was no special demand and the stock required pushing. The better quality of long Beauties sold well. There have been enough of the long Killarneys for some time, but all last week it was difficult to find enough of any variety of rose in the medium lengths, and short roses were far short of the demand, especially White Killarney. For months the supply of the so-called novelty roses has not been equal to the selling possibilities.

While there has been some improvement in the quality of carnations, there continue to be too many split and soft, weak-stemmed flowers and last week there was a shortage of strictly fancy stock. While the bulk of the receipts were selling at $1.50 and $2 per hundred, the fine Ward and Pink Delight were quickly sold at $3 to $4. It seems strange that so many growers are content to produce the low grade stock. The same thing was true of jonquils, which increased in supply probably more than anything else last week. Golden Spur of the ordinary grade was well sold at an average of $2 per hundred, while Emperor, well grown, brought $3 to $4. Daffodils of common quality also were cheap.

The local growers of single violets had a streak of luck last week. Some of them got into crop for St. Valentine's day and the fraternity as a whole had its first full pick of the season last week. The storm in the east shut off the supply of Hudson river stock for three days, so that the local growers were able to market their stock to good advantage. The market had been so starved for doubles that the first day's receipts cleaned up well and it was not until February 19 that violets again accumulated.

Tulips are doing poorly this season. There is a fair sale for good stock, but the bulk of the flowers are poor and short-stemmed, fit for nothing but cheap funeral work. Most of the La Reine are so lightly colored that this popular variety, probably grown here in quantity nearly if not quite as great as all others combined, is of little use except in designs. Sweet peas are coming stronger. Some of these, too, are short-stemmed and of little value, but the long-stemmed stock of the winter-blooming varieties sells well and the new winter Spencers, being among the finest flowers in the market, are in wide request. In addition to the local demand, a big shipping trade is being worked up on these. Lilies are not overabundant, some of the large growers being cut out for the time being. There are not many callas. Snapdragon is scarce. Freesia is plentiful, but Paper Whites and Romans are about out of the market.

There is nothing special doing in greens. Smilax is scarce.

Credit Association Reorganizing.

There was a well attended meeting of local wholesalers last week, at which plans were discussed for a new credit association, to be under the management of F. S. Webb, who had charge of the one that expired last year. The new plan is radically different; the idea is to gather and exchange information, leaving the seller free to use his own judgment in the matter of granting credit. After the meeting fourteen members signed at once. John Zech, whose firm, Zech & Mann, foots all alphabetical lists, said it was his chance to head the line and was the first to sign. All the houses in this market, with only one or two exceptions, are expected to subscribe.

The plan contemplates taking as members florists all over the country, the fees for out-of-town subscribers being slightly less than for local members. It is proposed to gather information as to the financial standing of every florist in the United States and place it at the disposal of all who contribute to the fund of fact and money.

Association Elects Officers.

The Cook County Florists' Association held its annual meeting February 19. The election was unanimous, except in the case of the trustees, and resulted as follows:

FANCY BUTTERFLY PEAS

TO TRY THESE ON YOUR TRADE IS TO INCREASE YOUR SALES

Our supply of these splendid Sweet Peas has increased so that we are able to supply them every day in quantity. Don't be afraid that when your trade gets to calling for them you can't supply them—you can, if you send your orders to us.

ORCHIDS

VALLEY

There are no finer Cattleyas anywhere in the country; our supply is home-grown.

We always have fancy Valley and can fill your orders on short notice.

FANCY KILLARNEYS

If the Roses you are using are not satisfactory, order some of these.

These Roses sell fast, because they are of specially good quality, but we aim to have some in the store at all times for rush orders. Splendid color; good solid heads on medium to long stems. We want you to order some of these because we know you will like them.

Carnations

Lilies

Can fill the largest orders. Supply greatly increased.

A full line. Double and single, home-grown; doubles from the east. Enough for all.

You can get here all the Giganteums and Callas you need. Good stock.

A Good Supply of Spring Flowers

We have a fine supply of Jonquils, Daffodils, Tulips, Freesias, etc.—excellent quality—and a larger quantity than at any time this season. These Spring flowers are popular and are moving rapidly, but we can fill your order.

St. Patrick's Day Dye

Various Notes.

There is to be a new rose grower at Elmhurst. Fred C. Meyer, foreman of the Wendland & Keimel Co., and Eugene Dramm, one of the Wendland & Keimel section men, have purchased three acres of ground from August Timke, in South Elmhurst, on South York street, adjoining the Illinois railroad, and have given an order to the John C. Moninger Co. for a greenhouse 40x400 feet. They intend to break ground as soon as the weather permits and as soon as completed the entire house will be planted with Killarney Brilliant. Jerry Jorgenson, for some years with the L. S. Donaldson Co., Minneapolis, will take Mr. Meyer's place as foreman for the Wendland & Keimel Co.

There will be fewer single violets in Park Ridge next season unless the growers change their minds, several of them having stated their determination to plant part of their space to carnations.

That former florist, Albert Fuchs, continues to do things with north side real estate. He has just borrowed $150,000 on the property at the southwest corner of Broadway and Sheridan road, 252x343, improved with six stores and seventy-two apartments.

After a stay of almost two months in the Rhodes Avenue hospital, his recovery at one time being despaired of, Anton Then made his first visit to the wholesale cut flower district February 21. The welcome he received must have done him good. Mr. Then suffered for years with a tumor on the right side of his face. January 3 lock-jaw set in and he was taken to the hospital for an operation. Erysipelas set in four days after the tumor was removed and Mr. Then's condition was serious, but now he is in better health than in many years, although not back to normal strength. He leaves this week for Magnolia Springs, Ala., to recuperate.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," is the motto of W. F. Schofield, 734 North State street, who won the democratic nomination for alderman in the Twenty-first ward February 24 on his third attempt. Jean E. Franke, retail florist at 760 Milwaukee avenue, was not opposed for the republican aldermanic nomination in the Seventeenth ward, so there will be two candidates representing the trade in the April election.

The real estate sections of the Sunday papers reported the sale of the plant of the Star Floral Co., in the February 22 issue, in the following language: "Herman F. Schuettler, first deputy superintendent of police, has sold to Aaron T. Pyfer and Peter A. Olsem a tract of a little less than ten acres on Wilmette avenue for $53,000. The improvements comprise a residence, barns and greenhouses. The grantees agree not to convey the six acres in and around the buildings now erected on said premises prior to the payment of eleven notes aggregating $43,000 and the release of trust deeds of even date therewith."

About ninety per cent of the cut flower shipments of Bassett & Washburn now go out in the waterproof corrugated fiber board boxes made by the Sefton Mfg. Co. The boxes are rigidly stapled by a foot power machine manufactured by the Judson L. Thomson Co., Waltham, Mass. The flowers are cleated into the paper boxes the same as in wood boxes, simply using a special large-headed nail, and the boxes are iced the same as was the custom when wood boxes were used exclusively. Most of the firm's customers are said to prefer receiving their stock in the paper boxes, because of the lighter weight, but the ten per cent of the customers who want their shipments to arrive in the old style wood package are accommodated.

The new Maryland carnation, Mrs. C. E. Akehurst, shown at Cleveland looked as good as anything in sight. Among those who placed orders for it,

That the call for American Beauties has fallen off materially in the last three years is the opinion of A. L. Vaughan. He says he believes the flower is as popular as ever with the public, but that neither retailers nor growers find in it the good profits of ten years ago.

As showing what the blizzard of February 22 did to the market, the F. J. Benthey roses, which ordinarily reach Zech & Mann at 8 a. m., were received just before 6 p. m., February 23, ten hours late in coming a little over 200 miles.

Will the Easter lilies be off grade, the same as other bulbous stock, this winter? Charles Erne, of Erne & Klingel, says several growers have told him the lilies have come blind during the dark weather.

Ont., ran over to Chicago to have a look at the things of trade interest here, spending February 22 and 23 in visiting florists.

One of the week's visitors at the store of the A. L. Randall Co. was George Schlecht, manager of the Northern Evergreen Co., of Duluth, on his way east.

J. C. Steinhauser, of Pittsburg, Kan., spent February 23 visiting numerous wholesale houses in this market. He came from Pittsburg to Galesburg February 20, accompanying the remains of W. L. Packard, who died in Pittsburg, and who was buried at Galesburg February 20 by the Elks. Mr. Packard was 48 years of age, and until 1913 had been associated with the Steinhauser Florist & Nursery Co.

Among those noted in the market last week were B. Jurgens, Peoria, Ill.; S. W. Pike, St. Charles, Ill.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

The Market.

This city is enjoying a trade that is extremely good for this time of year. The retailers had a large business for St. Valentine's day, and all are well satisfied. Trade would be increased to a great extent if it were possible to increase the cut of roses. This stock is still scarce, and it is next to impossible to meet the demand. The quality of the stock, however, is fine, especially Killarney, which has a good color, considering the existing conditions.

Carnations have shortened up considerably, but the cut is still sufficient to supply the demand, which is always strong for this stock. Bulbous stock is arriving in quantity and is mostly in fine shape. The cut is in every way large enough for all requirements. The Milwaukee market is getting some exceptionally fine Wisconsin grown violets at this time. The supply of these is quite heavy. There seems to be plenty of other stock on the market to take care of all demands.

The Market.

Trade conditions are about the same as last week. There is, however, an accumulation of bulbous stock, such as tulips, daffodils and hyacinths, which necessitated Saturday sales at greatly reduced prices. Violet sales have also begun. The demand for George Washington novelties was not so great as was expected. A few artificial cherry trees, ardisias and red, white and blue flowers were used mostly. There are a large number of funeral orders at present, but general trade is only fair. The weather continues cold and shipments from long distances are received partly frozen.

Various Notes.

W. J. Palmer & Son report that valentine business was fine. Corsages sold best, with boxes of flowers and plants next in order. The branch store reports its business the biggest ever, with violets entirely cleaned up.

S. A. Anderson had a busy week with funeral designs and clusters for the funeral of Dr. Roswell Park, and J. J. Kennedy, treasurer of New York state. Many large, handsome and costly designs were sent by the city and state officials. S. A. Anderson made a business trip to Rochester recently.

William Greever did a fine wedding decoration at Depew, N. Y., February 18.

Joseph Sangster has had a brisk business recently. He has had a number of funeral pieces, besides fancy valentine orders.

Business with L. H. Neubeck is excellent. He is the great plant specialist of our city and always sells more plants than cut flowers February 14.

Slattery & Beyers say that trade is good with them.

Former Assemblyman Lafayette C. Wilkie, appearing for the Wm. F. ### PHILADELPHIA.

The Eastern Market.

The pre-Lenten season has closed with a lull in the demand, rather than the accustomed rush. The out-of-town orders have held up fairly well, but the city business has been affected by the heavy snow storms and the cold weather that has accompanied them, interfering with transient trade. Carnations have been the most unsatisfactory flower on the list. More carnation orders have gone out partly filled, or have been turned down entirely, than at any time this season. This is due to lighter cuts with nearly all the growers. Roses, on the contrary, have increased in numbers and, as is usual when the crops come in heavily, the quality is good. Killarney, White Killarney and Maryland are plentiful in all the grades. Richmond can be had in moderate numbers and even Beauties are a shade more numerous, though only a trifle. Valley is not selling well. Violets continue to suffer from the glut. Sweet peas have fallen off a little in supply on the dark days, though on sunny days the cuts are excellent and the quality high. Gardenias are hardly so plentiful. Cattleyas average a little higher in price. The mixed orchids are nearly over. There represented the advanced building ideas of men who are ahead of their time. Each was carried into execution by mechanics employed by these brainy men, with material and ideas furnished by the two leading horticultural building concerns of the east. Assembly Night.

Walnut street is quiet, save for the occasional rumble of a passing trolley. It is half past ten in the evening, and the rush of cars for the great ball is still a half hour away. Inside the Bellevue-Stratford flower shop the scene is bright and active as though it were morning instead of night. Six or eight figures are moving about noiselessly, intent on their work. Only an occasional word is spoken, in low, earnest tones. The center of the room is filled with vases of flowers. Beauties, scarce as they are, pink roses, tulips, daffodils and, beyond, covering all one side, is the handsome showcase filled with rich beauty. Work tables, desks, mirrors and telephones complete the picture. But one of the figures is speaking; it is John P. Habermehl himself. It is wonderful how a kindly word of greeting can be spoken so naturally in such rush after a long day. All his lieutenants are about him. Here is George Faulkner, drawn in from Twenty-second and Diamond streets for the occasion. He is blithe and debonair, as his friends like to see him. There is Harry Jones, with that happy smile that recalls his quizzical look when he once said, "Poor as I am, I am married," for Mr. Jones has been one of the Bellevue's mainstays for several seasons, and is deservedly prosperous. Then there is Fred Leavey, from the Orchid. But George Faulkner is speaking: "Mr. Habermehl wants you to see the ballroom." Mr. Faulkner leads the way through the crowded lobbies, past the acacia-filled case upstairs to the ballroom. The approach is bordered by a smilax-covered trellis. It is beautiful smilax, with glossy foliage and handsome berries. It is skillfully trained, so that its perfections show. The reception room, where the patronesses stood between the top of the stairway and the entrance to the ballroom, was tastefully, not lavishly, adorned. The palms were perfect specimens. Their selection evidently was made with care. There was a touch of color, scarce more; just enough to heighten the effect of the handsome gowns.

The ballroom is a beautiful room in itself. The decorations were of palms, ferns, azaleas, rhododendrons and spring flowering bulbs. Colored electric fountains and wild smilax lent their aid to enhance the loveliness of the scene. So admirably was the material arranged that the assembly ball committee, who know what's what as well as who's who, pronounced it the best decoration that had ever been arranged for this historic event.

heavy shipments on three steamers, the Maine, the Prinz Adalbert and the Barcelona. The Rugia, from Rotterdam, is overdue.

Max H. Fierstein has returned from a month's trip through the state.

Henry Meyn, 2032 Germantown avenue, for many years a retail florist, has joined the great majority.

John Beck, brother of Edward Reid's former bookkeeper, met with a shocking death in an automobile accident.

Charles Brookley, formerly with Henry C. Heilemann, now is with Frank R. Hastings.

William J. Stewart, the talented Boston journalist, was here on Washington's birthday.

William J. Baker is receiving the Christie brand of sweet peas, a superior article.

A letter from Mrs. Robert Craig, written from the Isle of Pines, brings the good news that Robert Craig is feeling ever so much better. His trip to the island was taken to ward off the ill effects of a severe cold.

John P. Habermehl says that we admire most the man who attempts something that no one else had dared to do.

J. Otto Thilow returned from a delightful trip to Jamaica to find it zero here.

Samuel Aiken, the successful Columbia avenue florist, says that after the weather that favored us at Christmas, we should not complain of a little cold.

M. J. Brinton, of Christiana, Pa., will grow Lilium giganteum extensively for cut blooms during the summer months. Mr. Brinton, who ships to the Leo Nissen Co., has been quite successful with these and will grow them in place of some of his miscellaneous stock. Phil.

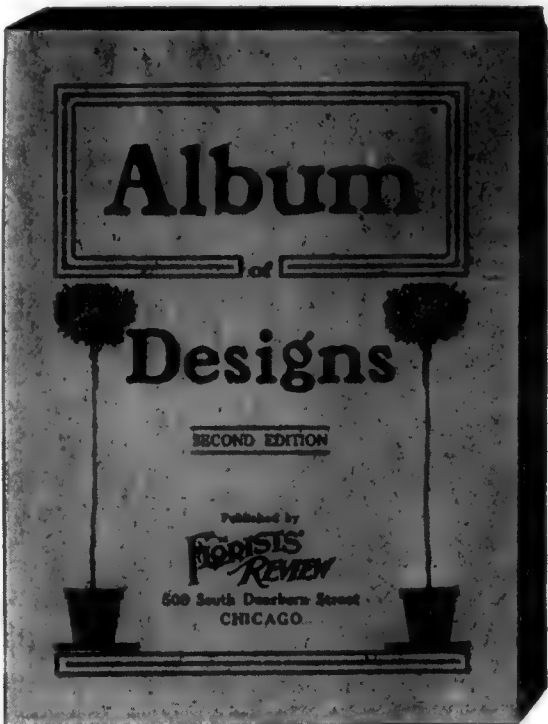

Ernst Ebinger has bought the establishment of J. Chr. Frasch, at Erie avenue and Richmond street, and will continue the business.

ST. LOUIS.

The Southwestern Market.

The cut flower market last week was in good condition, there being plenty of stock, most of it of excellent quality, with prices much lower than the week previous. The retailers say they put in a busy week with a lot of good social work. Work of this kind is almost all confined to the west end florists, but the downtown florists, and also the north and south-enders, report good business all through the week. In looking over the different markets during the week ending February 21 we found them well supplied daily, especially with violets and sweet peas. Excellent stock sold as low as 25 cents per hundred, with extra fancies at about double this price. The downtown florists bought many thousands daily, and sold them as low as 10 cents per bunch. The prospects for this week are about the same.

Carnations in the fancy grades are about equal to the demand, but the lower grades are overplentiful. Roses are holding their own. The new crop is just beginning to come in, and, with the Lenten season before us, it looks as if they will crowd the markets soon. Bulbous stock, too, is in quite heavy supply, and there are plenty of tulips, jonquils, Von Sions and valley; more than enough for the demand last week. The dark weather, with lots of snow seed houses last week. The help, though, was kept busy preparing for the rush that is not far off.

George Waldbart, M. M. Ayres and the Metropolitan Floral Co., who are located at Grand avenue and Olive street, say their St. Valentine's day business increased greatly by comparison with the previous year. Many thousands of violets were disposed of by them that day.

John M. Walther, the well-known south side florist, who was one of the victims of August Pajonk, alias August Miller, to the extent of $7, was much pleased when the last issue of The Review announced the capture of this alleged swindler, and at once made known his loss to C. H. Clarahan, post-office inspector at Chicago.

William Bouche, Charles Fullgraf, Muskhopf & Irish and L. Bauman, landscape architects, say they have plenty of orders ahead and are only waiting for the weather to open, so they can get to work.

The Ellison Floral Co. and Kalisch Bros. report a good week in social work. They say Lent will cut off some of this, but that the sale of cut flowers and plants should be as good as ever. Their St. Valentine's day business was quite large.

Among the Kirkwood florists who will build this spring are A. S. Cerny, W. A. Rowe, F. W. Ude, Jr., and W. J. Pileher.

The Retail Florists' Association, at its last monthly meeting, February 16, elected the following officers to serve one year: President, Harry Young; vice-president, Theodore Miller; secretary, A. Geranios; treasurer, F. H. Weber. A lunch followed the meeting.

The tree planting committee of the Civic League held a meeting recently and the following names were added: Charles Fullgraf, Frank A. Weber, Julius Koenig. All three are well known in the trade.

He reports that Julius Schaeffer, who helped out during his absence, is now on the regular payroll of his department, and that W. S. Wells will open a nursery department at Vandevort's March 1, in which everything in this line will be handled.

Beyer Bros., on South Grand avenue, had a hard time last week to keep from being frozen out. Their boiler, which the Kewanee Boiler Co. installed eight years ago, burst the early part of the week. Their decorative and blooming plants all were removed to the rear houses. A new boiler from the American Radiator Co. was supplied and installed at once. Two dozen oil stoves kept the temperature above the freezing point.

Stock has not been plentiful, because of the cloudy weather, and the demand far exceeds the supply.

S. Bryson Ayres Co. has added a notable improvement in the use of electricity in the sweet pea houses. The wires have been sunk in the soil and thereby make the plants work twenty-four hours per day. Mr. Bryson states that by this process he has doubled the number of blooms and increased his profits materially. Of course this method has been tried in other countries, but this is the first experiment of the kind in this locality, and therefore has created great interest among local florists.

A. M. Sourdry is cutting a fine crop of lettuce at his large house at Adams Station.

Department of Plant Registration.

Public notice is hereby given that George Giatras, 463 Summit street, West Hoboken, N. J., offers for registration the nephrolepis described below. Any person objecting to the registration or to the use of the proposed name is requested to communicate with the secretary at once. Failing to receive objection to the registration, the same will be made three weeks from this date.

New York—Originated as a sport of Nephrolepis Giatrasii; resembling this variety in its light green color, but with long, gracefully recurving fronds; in habit of growth like Bostoniensis, but far more graceful.

John Young, Sec'y.

February 21, 1914.

LILACS FOR EASTER.

How long does it take to get lilacs in bloom for Easter, and what is the best temperature for them? A. G. S.

Place your lilac plants in a cool house now; a temperature of 45 degrees at night is sufficient. The cooler these are grown, the better they will be. If given 60 degrees they will easily be in full flower in six weeks, but by starting at 45 degrees, later giving 50 degrees, and, as flowers open, giving the lower temperature again, you will have plants which will not wilt as do the hard forced ones. You have ample time to flower your plants if you start now.

C. A. HORST, Trustee, BELLINGHAM WASHINGTON

A VERY ATTRACTIVE OFFERING

for immediate sale, at reasonable price, with possession May 15:

GREENHOUSE PLANT, consisting of 5 Lord & Burnham, iron frame, all-glass greenhouses, 150 x 32 ft., side walls 8 ft., approximately 15 ft. peak.

1 two-story seedling house, 100 x 30 ft., with cement floor and office and steam plant.

1 new modern residence, built 1913, which has never been occupied.

The greenhouse heating plant consists of two 80 h.-p. Ames boilers and one Dean steam pump and receiver. Main line steam pipe, 6-inch iron in underground cement pit; removable covers at one end of house. Houses thoroughly and adequately heated. This plant was erected in 1912 and is thoroughly modern. The houses are 20 feet apart, facing north and south, located on under-drained land on slight elevation. The construction and location of the houses are excellent for the successful growing of roses, etc. They are situated approximately thirty miles from Rochester, N. Y., in the climatical, amenable Great Lakes District.

IF A LESSER INVESTMENT is desired, we can also offer 4 houses and small seedling building, situated thirteen miles from the above offering, without a residence or a boiler plant connected with it. Construction arrangements of house and prevailing weather conditions over previous years also excellent for growing roses, etc.

The Market.

Pittsburgh has certainly been having old-fashioned winter weather, and the last week brought samples of everything in that line one could think of—snow, zero and more snow. The weather bureau reports that we have had more snow, and it has lain longer, than in any winter since 1870.

There has been a continued increase in the cut of flowers. Roses, especially, have become more plentiful every day. The only stock of which there has been a real shortage is lilies, and the reason for the small supply of them is the unusual amount of sunless weather, which prevented the new crop from coming fast enough to catch up with the storage bulbs, which are now done. It will probably be two weeks before we shall have the usual supply of these from local growers.

The wholesale houses have been handling quantities of bulbous flowers and the stock has been exceptionally fine, but they have been able to move them all. There has been a good deal of trouble for some time about the violets, as for over a week the trains have been late, on many days from six to ten hours, and this has caused considerable loss, aside from the fact that part of the stock received has been frozen black. A shipment of Beauties from Scarborough, shipped on Saturday, February 14, did not arrive until Tuesday night, being more than forty-eight hours late. Though the extremely cold and disagreeable weather last week interfered with the counter trade, there was enough work for social affairs and funeral trade to keep the retailers quite busy, and some of them were more than

Various Notes.

Every man must have a hobby, and one of P. S. Randolph's is pigeons and chickens—the feathered kind. He took a number of first and second prizes on these.

David Geddes, of Vandevort's flower department, was called home last week on account of the death of his father.

De Forest Ludwig, son of E. C. Ludwig, is in the Allegheny General hospital suffering from stomach trouble. Though his illness is serious, it is hoped an operation will not be necessary.

Fred Burki left last week for Tucson, Ariz., with his son, Fred Burki, Jr., who has been in bad health for some time. He will remain with his son a short time, until he becomes settled, as it is hoped the change of climate will restore the young man's health.

President Neil McCallum, of the Florists' Club, reports the following program for the meeting of March 3: Roses, with exhibits from Richmond, Ind., Philadelphia, Pa., and Baltimore, Md. Some of the newer orchids, including cypripediums and odontoglossums, will also be on display. Arthur Coggeshall, who is Dr. Holland's assistant in the natural history department of the Carnegie Museum, will deliver a stereopticon lecture on "The Capture of the Terrible Lizard."

selling well, but it behooves the growers to get them off in the next ten days. Roses are coming more freely now, though they are by no means plentiful yet. Carnations remain the stand-by, for they are abundant and the quality good. Wholesale prices on both roses and carnations are higher than they have been most of the time this winter, but there is little sold at wholesale, as everyone has a demand for his own stock. Violets are plentiful, and they are coming with long stems.

A week ago it looked as though the St. Valentine's day business was to be a disappointment, but it turned out to be the best ever, all having a good increase over last year and some reporting almost double the business. At the 10-cent stores the paper valentines did not sell so well as formerly, we are told. Sweet peas sold as well as violets, and other flowers came in for a full share of the business, though corsage bouquets sold best.

There is a scarcity of pot plants of moderate price; cinerarias are about all that is left. Made-up boxes are still seen in plenty, and Dutch bulbs in pots are as plentiful as they will be this year. They have done well, but florists say that they cost too much, and there will be a great slump in the business here next season. Some of the growers are canceling a good share of the orders already given. It is a fair wager that Roman hyacinths will be cheaper a year from now than they are at present.

Paper Whites and Soleil d'Or are both being cut down, not so much on account of the price as of the fact that there are more flowers that can be used in their place than there were a few years ago.

Various Notes.

At the store of the Joy Floral Co.
three of the fastest workers were kept busy all of St. Valentine's day making corsages. The company had prepared for the business and had advertised well and secured several extra clerks, but all were kept on the jump. They found their Spencer sweet peas were the best sellers, though violets and valley both sold well. They are putting in a new front to their store that will not only give them much more floor space, but a much better show window. The new front is about five feet nearer the street than the old.

Leonard Vaughan was in the city
Thursday, February 19, on his way home from Florida, where he has been for some time on account of his health.
He spent the day shaking hands with the trade.

Geny Bros. had one of the heaviest cuts of violets in their history for St.
Valentine's day, and they sold them, too. They have been unusually busy with funeral work during the last week.

McIntyre Bros. have a fine display of pot plants at present. Their rhododenin the city. They are cutting a pretty well balanced line of cut flowers. They are getting another supply of orchids, we understand, and will devote more space to them in the future than ever before.

Haury & Sons report the St. Valentine's day business as the best they have ever had. Sweet peas and carnations are their heaviest crops at present.

We understand that a Mr. Latel has bought property near the city on one of the car lines and is building greenhouses. He will grow vegetables this spring and stock up with flowers by fall. He comes from Texas.

The Hillcrest School Farm reports the heaviest business this spring that they have ever enjoyed. They will have a full line of bedding stock for the first time this coming spring. They plan to double their planting of shubbery.

The Mount Olivet greenhouse force was busy last week getting things into shape for the spring. They will be selling bedding plants soon. In fact, they have already begun selling pot plants of the hardier sorts freely.

stores are all well filled with good displays of potted blooming plants, palms and ferns. St. Valentine's day proved to be a record day and provided a good chance to clear lots of bulbous stock which had accumulated. Now we are headed toward Easter and our greenhouse men are planning accordingly. The final dances and larger social affairs of the season have been crowded into the last few days, in anticipation of the quiet Lenten season.

The market in general has been good, with an even amount of stock arriving each day. Prices are firm and the quality is of the finest. Roses have suffered somewhat on account of the extreme weather, but are regaining their color and freshness. Some good Richmonds and Sunbursts are on the market. Other varieties are all quite plentiful. Violets are selling well and arrive in good condition; most of them are retailing for $1 per hundred. Daffodils and jonquils are good stock and are cleared out fast. Harrisii lilies and callas are increasing in quantity. Valley is at its best. Sweet peas are arriving about as fast as they can be used. Carnations are plentiful in about all shades. The supply of greens meets all requirements.

Buffalo Wins First Game.

More than thirty members of the Buffalo Florists' Association visited Rochester February 20. Upon arrival, they called at a number of the Rochester greenhouses and stores. At 7 o'clock the florists of the two cities sat down to dinner at the Hotel Eggleston. The tables were prettily arranged with Asparagus plumosus and vases of jonquils. Music was provided by the orchestra and cabaret singers.

The address of welcome was given by President John Dunbar, of the Rochester Florists' Club.

The bowling trophy is of silver and stands about twenty inches high. It is the gift of the Lord & Burnham Co. and will become the property of the team winning in three of five matches, best two of three games to count. It is related that Buffalo won the first game by fourteen pins and the second by 116. "We'll bowl you again in Buffalo, March 4," challenged Harry Neubeck, former president of the Buffalo club. "That's the date of the inauguration," said Harry E. Bates, who was the master of ceremonies. The Buffalo florists got about everything that wasn't nailed down and gave Rochester a good licking. The teams consisted of the following players: Buffalo—Charles Sandiford, captain; Joe Spidel, Ed. Walthers, Al. Vick and Joe Streit. Rochester—Al. Salter, captain; C. H. Vick, J. H. Lewis, C. F. Boland and J. M. Keller.

Messrs. Neubeck, Legg, Streit and Rebstock were among those who spoke at the dinner. Robert Barr, of Syracuse, was present, as was S. A. Anderson, vice-president of the S. A. F. for western New York. Rochester florists will return the visit March 4.

Various Notes.

The decorations for the policemen's ball, held at the Armory, were fixed up attractively by Geo. T. Boucher. Business at his place is good and is steadily increasing. The store is always neatly arranged and is large enough so that there is room for elegant displays.

Visitors last week included C. G.

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.

President, C. C. Massie, Minneapolis; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O. Thirty-second annual convention, Washington, D. C., June 28 to 29, 1914.

THE 1914 edition is the twenty-fifth annual general catalogue issued by the W. W. Barnard Co. It was set and printed by Ihling Bros.-Everard Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.

THE estate of Martin J. Sutton, head of the well-known English seed house, who died recently, has been probated at $569,000, on which the British inheritance tax was $60,000, or nine per cent and interest.

SINCE last week's issue two more bills have been introduced in Congress to bring seeds, plants, etc., into the parcel post, one of the bills fixing the rate of postage on these articles the same as on catalogues after March 15.

THE seed trade in general has endorsed the suggestion made by The Review, issue of February 5, that the best arrangement will be one under which the postage on seeds and plants will be the same as it will be on catalogues after March 15.

REPRESENTING a seed house at Washington, Ia., Werter De Vaughn has opened a seed store at Omaha, Neb., on Harney street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets. A full line of nursery stock will be handled in addition to seeds.

ENDORSE THE REVIEW'S VIEW.

When it became apparent that the public will insist that seeds, etc., be included in the articles that take the parcel post zone rates, The Review suggested that the trade ask for rates the same as the new rates on catalogues. Some opposition has developed in certain quarters, against the general proposition of changing the law, but seedsmen, with some important exceptions, agree with the view of the public, that it will be an all-around advantage to have seeds mailable under the zone rates. A number of seedsmen, also, have endorsed the suggestion made by The Review, that if the rates on seeds and on catalogues are made the same it will be favorable to the trade interest. The following statement, made February 14, is by Northrup, King & Co., Minneapolis. It is of special interest because C. A. Massie, president of Northrup, King & Co., also is president of the American Seed Trade Association and because Minneapolis is located close to the northern boundary and therefore is in a position not dissimilar from the firms located on the Atlantic seaboard. They say:

"In our opinion, the placing of seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants under the same parcel post regulation as will apply to catalogues on and after March 16 would be the most satisfactory plan for the seed trade in general. This would mean that packages weighing eight ounces or less would take a flat rate of two ounces for 1 cent, regardless of distance; packages weighing over eight ounces would take zone rates. We believe that this would effect a saving to nearly every seed house in the United States.

"There is no plausible reason why the mailing of these packages would be any more complicated or expensive than is at present the case. Every town on the mailing list would have marked on it the zone number. This number could be transferred to the order as it was entered. By the use of dial scales similar to those used in the postoffice, the exact amount of postage could be determined as readily as is at present the case, and we believe that greater accuracy would result. It is, of course, possible that to some points and on certain weight packages the express would be cheaper, but as a large proportion of the customers with whom the seed trade has to deal are located on rural routes and inland postoffices, the mails afford a much more convenient means of delivery. We believe, also, that the day is not far distant when the number of zones will be decreased, with a further advantage to those using the mails. We fail to see any great disadvantage in including seeds in the parcel post, and the benefits are many."

FREE SEEDS TO CONTINUE?

It will be a matter of no great surprise to most seedsmen that the agricultural appropriation bill, just reported from committee, contains the usual appropriation for the congressional free seed distribution. The recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, that the free seed distribution be discontinued, was ignored.

The appropriation for the congressional distribution, however, is cut to $257,000. The committee report on the subject is as follows:

Purchase and distribution of valuable seeds: For purchase, propagation, testing and congressional distribution of valuable seeds, bulbs, trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants; all necessary office fixtures and supplies, fuel, transportation, paper, twine, gum, postal cards, gas, electric current, rent outside of the District of Columbia, official traveling expenses, and all necessary material and repairs for putting up and distributing the same; for repairs and the employment of local and special agents, clerks, assistants and other labor required, in the city of Washington and elsewhere, $257,000. And the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby directed to expend the said sum, as nearly as practicable, in the purchase, testing and distribution of such valuable seeds, bulbs, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants, the best he can obtain at public or private sale, and such as shall be suitable for the respective localities to which the same are to be apportioned, and in which same are to be distributed as hereinafter stated, and such seeds so purchased shall include a variety of vegetable and flower seeds suitable for planting and culture in the various sections of the United States: Provided, That the Secretary of Agriculture, after due advertisement and on competitive bids, is authorized to award the contract for the supplying of printed packets and envelopes and the packaging, assembling and mailing of the seeds, bulbs, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants, or any part thereof, for a period of not more than five years nor less than one year, if by such action he can best protect the interests of the United States. An equal proportion of five-sixths of all seeds, bulbs, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants shall, upon their request, after due notification by the Secretary of Agriculture that the allotment to their respective districts is ready for distribution, be supplied to senators.

is one who makes two "ha ha's" grow where before there was only a "huh."

When a prospective lily bulb buyer is recommended Horse-shoe Brand Giganteum, he may say "huh"—but after he has given them a fair trial there will be a "ha ha" in place of a "huh."

Now all products of the soil are subject to quality fluctuations, due to conditions beyond human control. It is at such times Horseshoe Brand Giganteum are most valuable to you. In times of bad weather or other adverse crop conditions this brand best demonstrates its good value.

Since you cannot foretell the season, isn't it safer and wiser to buy this brand, especially as they cost no more than other brands?

Buy them because they are better bulbs.

however, That upon each envelope or wrapper containing packages of seeds the contents thereof shall be plainly indicated, and the secretary shall not distribute to any senator, representative or delegate seeds entirely unfit for the climate and locality he represents, but shall distribute the same so that each member may have seeds of equal value, as near as may be, and the best adapted to the locality he represents: Provided, also, That the seeds allotted to senators and representatives for distribution in the districts embraced within the twenty-fifth and thirty-fourth parallels of latitude shall be ready for delivery not later than the tenth day of January: Provided, also, That any portion of the allotments to senators, representatives and delegates in Congress remaining uncalled for on the first day of April shall be distributed by the Secretary of Agriculture, giving preference to those persons whose names and addresses have been furnished by senators and representatives in Congress, and who have not before during the same season been supplied by the department: And provided also, That the secretary shall report, as provided in this act, the place, quantity and price of seeds purchased, and the date of purchase; but nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to prevent the Secretary of Agriculture from sending seeds to those who apply for the same. And the amount herein appropriated shall not be diverted or used for any other purpose but for the purchase, testing, propagation and distribution of valuable seeds, bulbs, mulberry and other rare and valuable trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants.

The bill also appropriates $74,600 "for investigations in foreign seed and plant introduction, including the study, collection, purchase, testing, propagation and distribution of rare and valuable seeds, bulbs, trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings and plants from foreign countries and from our possessions and for experiments with reference to their introduction and cultivation in this country."

It also provides $166,500 "for the purchase, propagation, testing and distribution of new and rare seeds, and for the investigation and improvement of grasses, alfalfa, clover and other forage crops; provided, that of this amount not to exceed $100,000 may be used for the purchase and distribution of such new and rare seeds." In explaining this item the committee says:

This item is new and takes the place of the paragraph for forage-crop investigations, $25,000, and the proviso in the present congressional seed item for drought-resistant seeds, $39,000. There is, accordingly, an increase of $102,500. It also provides for the purchase, propagation, testing and distribution of such other rare and new seeds as may be found valuable for agricultural purposes. Under the provisions of this item there will be conducted investigations looking to the securing of varieties of seeds of special merit for particular uses in special localities, either through selection and breeding or by means of purchase; testing of the value of improved strains or varieties for particular purposes in special crop areas; the propagation of new and valuable seeds which have special merit in sufficient quantity to meet the requirements of the distribution; the distribution of new and rare seeds of crop plants of known value in quantities sufficient to enable the cooperating recipients to determine the adaptability of such crops and their usefulness through practical field plantings. The present forage-crop work will be continued, including the study of problems affecting the establishment of alfalfa as an important hay crop in the eastern states, the development and establishing of suitable varieties of alfalfa for the severe conditions in the west and northwest, the development of agronomic methods to increase the alfalfa-seed supply; the determination of the best methods of growing clover seed and hay, and the solution of important problems in clover-seed production which render the present supply inadequate for the needs of the farmers; also the production by breeding and selection of improved strains of clover adapted to the particular needs of the different sections of the country; to increase the returns from pastures and meadows of the country by bringing hay and pasture crops more generally into cropping systems on farms where they have been neglected; to test and develop varieties of forage crops suited to the dry-land regions of the west, and to determine the best species for each locality; to establish forage crops in a general system of farming, and to study the best methods of culture of these crops for dry-land conditions; testing new varieties of soy beans, cowpeas, velvet beans, vetch and numerous other forage crops, the development of improved varieties of these crops, the thorough testing of them in sections where they seem to be adapted, and the proper placing of them in established cropping systems, also the working out of the best methods of culture with special reference to harvesting and curing.

The total amount appropriated for this work is $166,500, with a proviso that of this amount not to exceed $100,000 may be used for the purchase and distribution of such new and rare seeds.

ARCHIAS SEED STORE, Box 34, SEDALIA, MO.

Improved strains of sorghum, wheat and Tepary beans. The most promising and immediate results that are expected from the distribution of seed of dry-land field crops are the establishment in general use of the two valuable crops of feterita and Sudan grass, the making available of hardy and drought-resistant strains of alfalfa, the introduction of new and highly promising crops, among which may be mentioned a new sorghum, the Freed variety, and the Tepary bean for human food.

OPPOSE MARYLAND SEED BILL.

Considerable opposition is beginning to develop to Senator Collier's so-called pure-seed bill, which he introduced in the Maryland state senate recently. Baltimore seedsmen are said to be leading the fight against the measure.

The bill provides that bags of seed shall be plainly marked with a label showing the percentage of purity, inert matter, foreign seed and also the percentage of germination, as proved by a laboratory test of the contents of the bag.

It also authorizes the seed inspector and analyst, appointed by the state board of agriculture, or a deputy selected by him, to enter any warehouse, storeroom or building, railroad station or steamboat wharf where seed may be offered for sale, stored, waylaid in transit or held for delivery, and inspect the labeling, collect samples for analysis and obtain other needed information.

The inspector is required to pay the owner for any samples taken at a price not to exceed the local market rates for the same class of seeds, but he is not to be delayed in his work or forced to go out of his way to consult with any owner or reimburse him for any seed sampled when he is not with the goods at the time of the inspector's visit.

PACIFIC COAST DEPARTMENT

THE great storms that have interrupted railroad operation in central and southern California are responsible for the non-appearance of the usual Los Angeles and San Francisco news-letters this week.

FARFUGIUMS WANTED ON COAST.

Early last fall I ordered from a local seed firm fifty roots of Farfugium grande, the common leopard plant. After several months the firm reports it cannot find them. I find plants in 4-inch pots listed in American catalogues, but the expense of transporting the plants to this place, on the Pacific coast, added to their initial cost, places them out of the question.

This plant is so well known and is such a good seller in this city that it is a desirable one to keep in stock. Other growers with whom I have talked would be glad to get a supply. No doubt several hundred roots could be sold here at once if they could be had. I cannot understand why the big firms do not have them listed in sizes small enough to warrant shipment to the Pacific coast. If you will call attention to this matter, possibly it will induce someone with a stock of these plants to propagate a supply. S. W. Walker.

HOLLAND TO DISPLAY BULBS.

Exposition Plans Are Laid.

The lure of California's perpetual May—when it isn't perpetual October—coupled with the desirability of snug-gling up to the vast new markets to be developed along the Pacific coast by the opening of the Panama canal, is responsible for the coming to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of a world-beater in the way of a foreign exhibit. This is Holland's array of bulbs and flowering annuals and perennials, in the production of which the Netherlands stands supreme.

Announcement of the completion of arrangements to secure this attraction was made recently by George A. Denison, chief of the department of horticulture, following a meeting with Holland's exposition commissioners, W. H. de Graef, A. Van Vliet and H. A. Van C. Torchiana, consul-general at San Francisco from the Netherlands. At the conference final details were worked out covering the location of the displays, both inside the horticultural building and in the open-air gardens, where an acre will be devoted to a display chiefly of rare Holland bulbs. It was also decided to plant a series of supplementary gardens surrounding the pavilion of the Netherlands government, located a short distance to the west.

Complete Line of Dutch Bulbs.

It is promised that this floral display will be the most extensive, varied and beautiful of any ever made by a foreign country at any exposition. While the bringing of an acre or two of bulbs and blooming plants to California may seem like "carrying coals to Newcastle," it must be remembered that the low, moist lands of Holland are the principal source of most of the lilies, tulips, narcissi, gladioli and other flowering bulbs, corms and tubers, for the whole world. The fact, demonstrated within the last few years in the redwood section of California, that this state has every qualification for competing with the Dutch bulb products, will make this foreign exhibit one of exceptional interest to florists and seedsmen.

That the landscape gardening effects attained by the Holland exhibits will be things of artistic beauty, unique in design, is certain. The laying out of these gardens, so that there will be a rotation of plants and a constant blooming period throughout the ten months of the exposition, as well as the arrangement of the special display in the horticultural building, is in the hands of the noted Dutch landscape expert, A. Van Vliet, who will be on the job until the close of the exposition. He is the artist who planned the wonderland gardens surrounding the Peace Palace at The Hague. Mr. Van Vliet, with Commissioners de Graef and Torchiana, has inspected the sites and, like the English floral experts who recently visited San Francisco, expressed amazement and delight at the opportunities afforded by the exposition site and by the climatic conditions for a horticultural display such as the world has never seen.

Accompanying the Netherlands commissioners are two other noted color artists, Herman Rosser and Mrs. Rosser. The latter, known to the world of

A Careful Selection of Seed From the Best Asters for Cutting

The H. & F. Quality Select Aster Seed is the safest to plant, because it reduces the element of chance to your crop, and it is the most economical, because it produces more salable flowers.

Mr. John Gerard, New Britain, Conn., in his letter to us, dated January 18th, said. "During 1912 I have had reports that many first prizes have been won from the products of your seeds, and I feel confident that your climate, soil and skill will add annual improvements."

art as Suz Laut, was one of the landscape architects of the Hague Peace Palace. Mr. Rosser, who did the decorations for the same building, has been delegated to supervise the decorations and color work for the Netherlands building at the Panama exposition, working along the lines of the general color scheme laid down by Color Director Jules Guerin.

PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

Business last week was rather brisk. There was considerable entertaining on the social calendar. Table and house decorations and corsage work were in great demand, and funeral work also was a considerable item. Flowers in general are improving in quality as well as increasing in quantity. Though there has not been a surplus of roses, there has been a good cut of them, considering the weather. Carnations are cleaned up daily. Tulips, daffodils and freesias prove the best sellers among the spring flowers. There is no deluge of these, but the indications are that the prices will gradually decline, as there has been an increase of sunshine in the last week or two. Local violets are plentiful and are more satisfactory to the general public than the California product.

There is general complaint on the increased express rates on flowers shipped from California, as the merchandise rate must now be paid, an increase of almost 50 per cent.

time clearing land on his ranch, near Oregon City. He is also putting up one house 24x150, which will be a nucleus for his future range. He will grow sweet peas, pansies and bedding plants.

The writer wishes to correct a recent report regarding the sale of the Bodley tract of land. The name should have been W. T. Bodley, instead of R. M. Bodley, as stated.

Max M. Smith, one of our most enterprising florists, runs some fine special features in his windows. He was the first to have a daffodil window; last week he specialized in hyacinths and azaleas, with stunning effects.

A call at C. A. Epperson's nursery proved that everyone there was busy. This is Mr. Epperson's second year of business. He says he is entirely satisfied with trade to date, and that there is a big future outlook.

Wilkinson & Baxter, of Gladstone, Ore., have been shipping a nice lot of Asparagus plumosus to this market. The local growers have about exhausted their cut.

Hans Niklas has returned from his honeymoon trip to Canada.

Frank Luepke, of Vancouver, Wash., reports an exceedingly busy week, with an amount of funeral work and decorating that made it necessary to call on the local market for additional stock.

O. C. Hughes has opened a butcher shop at Washougal, Wash., as a side line. He has a good man in charge of his greenhouses at Camas, Wash., where he grows carnations, greens and vegetables.

John Gower, of Newberg, Ore., is shipping a fine lot of callas to this market.

M. G. Coe, of Bend, Ore., is shipping in some fine sweet peas. E. R. C.

NEWS OF THE NURSERY TRADE

JOHN D. BENSON has bought a half interest in the Waldron Nursery, at Waldron, Ark.

It is reported that no free grapevines will be distributed by congressmen this year, as the Federal Horticultural Board has condemned the supply available for congressmen's use.

IN the agricultural appropriation bill, now before Congress, the appropriation for the enforcement of the plant quarantine act is increased $10,000, to $50,000 for the fiscal year.

H. G. MONCE, who formerly operated the Idaho State Nursery, at Nampa, Idaho, is now in business at Nyssa, Ore. He will have a branch sales yard at Nampa, in charge of J. H. M. Edwards.

THE Yager Nursery Co., at Fremont, Neb., has decided to handle field and garden seeds in connection with its nursery business and will add them to the list of nursery stock in the company's catalogue.

REPORT comes of the death of Wendel Hempel, manager of the Western Missouri Nurseries, owned by James A. Bayles, at Lee's Summit, Mo. Mr. Hempel was 62 years old and was born in St. Louis.

C. A. TONNESON, of Tacoma, and John Stewart, of Christopher, are respectively first and second vice-presidents of the Western Washington Horticultural Association, which met at Everett February 18 and 19.

A CATALOGUE of eight pages and cover has been sent out by John Y. Chisholm, receiver for the Phoenix Nursery Co., Bloomington, Ill. It contains a price list of the stock on hand, which Mr. Chisholm is trying to dispose of in order to obtain money enough to meet the entire debts of the concern.

A CARLOAD of oak trees from the Texas Nursery Co., at Sherman, Tex., has been received at the Louisiana state hospital at Shreveport, and the trees will be set out by Dahlken Bros., landscape gardeners. A layer of rock on the hospital grounds, which has prevented the growth of trees, will be dynamited for the planting of the trees.

A COMMITTEE of the Nebraska State Horticultural Society is revising the society's list of recommended fruit trees. The committee, which compiles the list of selected varieties from the records of orchards of the state, is composed of the following members: G. A. Marshall, of Marshall Bros., Arlington; W. A. Harrison, of the Harrison Nursery Co., York; Peter Youngers, of the Geneva Nurseries, Geneva; D. C. Bliss, of Minden; G. S. Christy, of the Standard Berry Nurseries, Johnson, and W. H. Dunham, of Lincoln. The last-named, who is the secretary, is now engaged in tabulating the findings of the committee.

TEXAS NURSERYMEN AT DALLAS.

The Texas Nurserymen's Association met at the Oriental hotel at Dallas, Tex., Thursday, February 19, for an informal luncheon and discussion of the work of the association and matters of interest to the trade of the state. The meeting was in conjunction with that of the state horticultural society and the national corn exposition. The program for the meeting was as follows:

"Opening the Ball," by President J. S. Kerr, Sherman.
 "Broadening the Horizon," by J. R. Mayhew, Waxahatchie.
 "System," by H. E. Hall, Sherman.
 "Voice from the Alamo," by E. W. Knox, San Antonio.
 "Home Beautifying," by J. B. Baker, Fort Worth.
 "The Commission Hearing," by H. I. Martin, Port Arthur.
 "Greetings from Louisiana," by A. K. Clingman, Keithville, La.
 "The Orange," by W. A. Stockwell, Alvin.
 "Under Your Own Vine and Fig Tree," by F. T. Ramsey, Austin.
 "Princely Fortunes of Nurserymen," by E. W. Kirkpatrick, McKinney.
 "Apples," by Will B. Munson, Denison.
 "The Salesman," by M. G. Black, Mount Pleasant.
 "Our Growing-Up Sister, Oklahoma," by J. T. Foote, Durant, Okla.
 "Nutlisms," by C. L. Edwards, Dallas.
 "Horticultural Journalism," by L. J. Tackett, Fort Worth.

WHAT COUNTY INSPECTORS DO.

An idea of the work done by county inspectors of nursery stock may be gained from the following from the report of the commissioners of Sonoma county, Cal., for January, 1914, as well as of the thoroughness of the work when an average of over 2,000 trees per working day pass through the inspectors' hands, not all of them with clean roots.

"It is seldom," the report reads, "that anything is found wrong with the tops of the trees; so our examination is given mainly to the roots of the plant, and when they are covered with mud it is difficult to discover the defects. Of the stock which we find it necessary to condemn, most is rejected on account of crown or root gall, woolly aphis, root borers or root fungi. It is not an easy matter to discover some of these, even when the roots are clean, and almost impossible when they are muddy."

For the month of January the record of the nursery stock inspected by the county inspectors was as follows:

Peach trees	5,715
Pear trees	2,855
Plum trees	2,295
Apple trees	151
Cherry trees	4,706
Prune trees	35,319

BOARD SPEAKS PLAINLY.

The Federal Horticultural Board has inaugurated a series of news-letters, in which it "names names" in such a manner that it is expected the effect will be salutary; those whose stock is complained of will make haste to correct the condition. The following is No. 2 of the series, sent out over the signature of C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the board:

We are advised, through the office of the De-

Department of Agriculture of the State of New York, of the finding of considerable infestation with brown-tail moth nests containing living larvae in shipments of seedling stock from France, notably from the Angers district, several of these shipments coming from the Franco-American Seedling Co., and others through Irving Rouse. A single box has contained as many as seven brown-tail moth nests. This indicates very careless inspection of the material from this quarter of France, and action has been taken to remedy this state of affairs.

All inspectors are strongly urged to make a thorough examination of all seedling stock from France, for it must be true, that if such infestation is found in shipments coming to New York, similar infestation is likely to occur wherever such seedling stock is received.

PESTS INSPECTORS MEET.

A list of the pests and fungous diseases found on imported nursery and florists' stock by the federal and state inspectors has been prepared by E. R. Sasser for the federal horticultural board from reports received for the period from July 1 to December 31. The total number found was 371 and the largest of a single kind was 38. These were of aleurodes on azaleas from Belgium. The list by states of the pests found shows that the inspectors of the District of Columbia, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania were the busiest, in the order named. It is quite plain that Belgium and Holland send the largest number of infested shipments, but this is only to be expected, as these two countries send by far the greater part of all the stock we import.

It is of interest to note that there was no one pest found in large numbers. There were, in fact, 140 instances of a pest being found only once, while forty were found twice. Those found more than twice on one species of plant on shipments from a foreign country number only twenty. Azaleas, boxwood, bay trees and palms were found to be the kinds of stock most infested.

FORBIDS IMPORTING BY MAIL.

The importation of nursery stock into Canada through the mails has been prohibited by a recent regulation, which takes effect March 1. It is doubtful if this will have any effect upon the trade in this country, as by far the greater part of the stock shipped into the Dominion is forwarded by freight, much of it in carload lots.

The new regulation is an order of the

Under the regulation the importation of "all nursery stock, including trees, shrubs, plants, vines, grafts, scions, cuttings or buds," through the mails is prohibited, excepting greenhouse-grown florists' stock, cut flowers, herbaceous perennials and bedding plants, "which will be admitted provided that a detailed statement of the contents is attached to such parcels."

NEW ENGLAND DEPARTMENT

NEWPORT, R. I.

The joint committee of the Newport Horticultural Society and Newport Garden Association, in charge of the arrangements for the flower show on the Wetmore lot, has decided to hold the show June 24 to 26, and W. A. Manda, of Short Hills, N. J., who had charge of the outdoor show last summer, has been engaged as superintendent.

The plan provides for a driveway from Bellevue avenue ending at the main tent, which will be extended across the lot from north to south, and be open to the west. The driveway will be bordered by trees in tubs and at the end near the tent will be a sunken lily pond. On either side of the main driveway there will be an arrangement of small gardens.

BOSTON.

The Market.

Business, while not brisk last week, was better than could have been hoped for. The cold weather restricted the output, and fairly good clearances were made. There still are few American Beauty roses coming in, but other varieties are arriving more freely. Killarney Queen, Taft, Russell, Killarney and Richmond all sell well. The last named is not yet seen of its best quality. Killarney, however, is coming in fine. Mrs. Ward cleans up the best of the yellow roses, but some good Sunburst and Hillingdon also are seen. Carnations hold up well, and prices are fully as good as a week ago. The same holds true of violets, although there is a noticeable increase in numbers.

Sweet peas are abundant and good. There is a great range in prices. The finest Spencers make $2, while short-stemmed grandifloras do not bring more than 25 to 35 cents per hundred. Bulbous stock is increasing steadily in numbers and variety, but there has not been any particular surplus except in Paper Whites and daffodils. Murillo tulips make $4 per hundred; fancy Golden Spurs, $3; the bulk of other sorts, $1.50 to $2 per hundred. Mignonette is good, but a little overdone. Freesia is still good. Of lilies and callas the supply is, on most days, in excess of the demand. Yellow marguerites sell from $1.50 to $4 per hundred, and thousands more could be sold daily. Several prominent growers failed to carry their plants over the summer, and this has reduced the output. There are calls from New York and Philadelphia for both marguerites and bachelor's buttons. Such snapdragons as are of salable color go quickly. Good calendulas, wallflowers, anemones, tritonias, English primroses, dimorphothecas, and pansies are seen among the miscellaneous flowers.

Lily of the valley, which is now all from last season's pips, is unusually good and has sold well. Cattleyas continue to sell somewhat low; they still stock now shows up prominently, in addition to genistas, acacias, ericas, azaleas and cyclamens. A few polyantha and rambler roses have also made their appearance. There are also a number of lilacs, prunus, malus and other forced deciduous shrubs.

Club Meeting.

Severe weather and deep snow perceptibly reduced the attendance at the meeting of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club February 17, but over 100 members were present. The lecturer of the evening, L. W. C. Tuthill, whose topic was to be "Advertising, the Gasoline of Business," failed, however, to materialize, much to the disappointment of many present and would-be advertisers. President Kennedy appointed the following committee to serve with him to represent the club with the general committee of fifty, which will have charge of arrangements for the coming S. A. F. convention: W. N. Craig, William Sim, Duncan Finlayson, Peter Fisher, George M. Anderson, William Downs, H. H. Bartsch and J. G. Duguid. Two new members were elected. An invitation from the W. W. Edgar Co., for the club to hold a field day at Waverley March 28, was referred to the executive committee.

The severe cold reduced the number of exhibits materially, but there was, nevertheless, a good display. Hadley rose, from A. N. Pierson, was grand and received a report of merit. Everyone predicted grand things for this new-comer. E. H. Borowski showed superb commercial cyclamens, such as he wholesales quantities of at $4 each. No finer commercial plants were ever shown in Boston. They were awarded a cultural report of merit. S. J. Goddard had splendid vases of Pink Delight, White Perfection, Rosette and Beacon carnations. Edward Winkler showed his new light pink seedling, Morning Glow, and a fine vase of yellow marguerites. Peter Fisher had Gorgeous, and a new light pink seedling, No. 144. Mr. Fisher predicted that Gorgeous will be much more heavily grown in 1915, and said it will give three-fourths as many flowers as ordinary carnations, and realize much higher prices. W. R. Thornhill had splendid vases of Euphorbia jacquiniæ-flora and Leptosyne maritima. Patten & Co. had a vase of Princess Dagmar that loomed up finely. Thomas Roland had splendid vases of the new winter flowering Spencer sweet peas, and William Sim a good selection of grandiflora sweet peas. Several shipments of carnations came too late for the meeting. Philadelphia arrived twenty-four hours late from Detroit, in good condition.

There was an animated discussion on yellow marguerites and how to bloom them in winter; pot, bench and bed cultures were all suggested. Edward Winkler said he readily got $4 per hundred for his best flowers. P. Welch said many thousands more could be sold. James Wheeler, F. W. Fletcher, H. H. Bartsch, M. P. Haendler and others joined in the discussion. F. W. Fletcher offered $10 to anyone who could produce seeds on yellow marguerites.

Patrick Welch and others spoke on the coming S. A. F. convention and the arrangements being made. The full list of committees will be ready shortly. A communication from M. C. Ebel, secretary of the National Association of Gardeners, was read, asking the coöperation of the club with other similar clubs for the advancement of horticulture. F. E. Palmer thought the S. A. F., as the strongest horticultural body, should be the one to coöperate with. Other members, however, dissented from these views. After considerable discussion a resolution, sympathetic with the coöperative plan, but awaiting more details before definite action was taken, was adopted. Tickets for the annual banquet, February 24, sold at a lively rate during the evening.

Various Notes.

George E. Buxton, of Nashua, N. H., is sending some grand spikes of antirrhinum to the wholesale markets. Mr. Buxton is trying fifty plants each of all the best known varieties of snapdragons, and when in crop they should make an interesting study. He had no trouble during recent severe weather in keeping all his houses comfortable.

J. T. Butterworth's Cattleya Triang are fine. From one plant he cut several stalks carrying six flowers each. He has a fine show of white Lælia anceps, dendrobiums and phalænopsis, in addition to his valley and general line of bulbous flowers.

N. S. Chandier & Son are now picking 35,000 Princess of Wales violets weekly, of unusually fine quality.

L. E. Small, of Tewksbury, in addition to knowing how to grow carnations well, can produce the finest double bachelor's buttons in this section. These he has no trouble in disposing of through his salesman, Walter Holden, at $3 per hundred.

The new market of the Boston coöperative Flower Market, at 260 Devonshire street, now has the stalls practically all completed, and it will be ready for occupancy within a few days. The management continues to receive new

We are growing this splendid rose this season with most gratifying results. As a free and vigorous grower and great producer it has no equal. It has not shown the slightest symptoms of mildew with us. It sets buds freely in the short days of winter and is now coming in with a fine midwinter crop. It does equally well on grafts or own root.

The Market.

Notwithstanding bad weather, business has been fairly good. The exceedingly cold spell following that of a month previous is believed to have caught the greenhouse men the hardest ever, and already reports of shortages at Easter are being heard.

Various Notes.

George Johnson, who is the oldest active florist in the city, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary recently.

James B. Canning, who has been confined to the house more or less of the time for several months, has so far recovered as to be able to be at his business every day.

A. Cohen, father of Aaron Cohen, who is with Joseph Koppelman, and William Cohen, who is with Smith the Florist, died last week.

An attachment for $500, placed by F. Rynveld & Sons, upon the property of Mrs. William Butcher has been discharged.

Edward G. Brookes is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends on the recent addition of a son to his family circle.

F. E. Nelson, of the Burlington Willow Ware Shop, Burlington, Ia., was in the city last week, displaying his novelties.

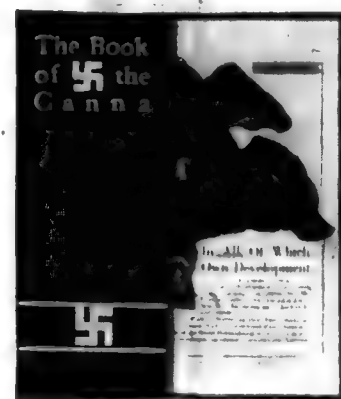

William E. Chappell, who fractured a couple of ribs a few weeks ago by a fall in his greenhouses, is able to be out again.

James B. Canning has been appointed chairman of the committee on decorations for the annual banquet of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

George Herrmann, representing A. Herrmann, New York, showed his line here last week. W. H. M.

We want to send you this Book on Canna Information

THOSE who saw the advance sheets say there has nothing equal to it ever been published, containing such a collection of valuable, dependable Canna information.

It's not alone informative—it's decidedly readable, without being a lot of floriated gush.

It stands for the Canna where Vincent's book does for the Geranium.

Antoine Wintzer, you will agree, comes pretty close to being the leading Canna authority in this country, and he had put his stamp of approval on every word in the book. This means the book is an authority.

COLOR CHART.

This is the first time to our knowledge that so complete a color chart has been published. Those of you who know Cannas, fully appreciate what a difficult task it has been to compile this chart, and how invaluable it will be. We will send you this book at our own expense. There are no strings to our offer. Simply let us know you want it, and one of the very first copies coming from the press will be sent you.

NEW PINK ROSES

Mrs. George Shawyer One of the best Roses that has been introduced in years. It is a very rapid, strong grower and with us produces more flowers per plant than Killarney. It is exceptionally well adapted to the grower that retails his stock.

Grafted Plants only, $12.00 per 100. Ready by March 15th, in 2½-inch pots.

CECILE BRUNNER, the Baby Pink Rose This is a beautiful little Rose coming in sprays of three to five buds and has been a great success with the retail florists of this city, as it combines in beautiful effect with so many other flowers in all kinds of work. Every grower should try some of these—not only in the greenhouse but in his garden. It is a very prolific bloomer and if carefully protected in the winter, should be a money-maker both outdoors and under glass.

Grafted Plants, $12.00 per 100. Own Root, $8.00 per 100; $35.00 per 500; $60.00 per 1000.

Both of the above varieties are not novelties but have been thoroughly tried out.

Rhea Reid, Killarney, White Killarney, Bulgarie and Richmond

All carefully grafted on selected English Manetti, $10.00 per 100. Ready about April 1st, in 2½-inch pots. All of our plants are well hardened off, ready for shifting into larger pots or planting direct in the benches.

The flowering quality of our plants is well known, as we select only flowering wood for scions—no blind wood used at all.

New Rose, Killarney Brilliant

THE MOST VALUABLE ROSE INTRODUCED IN MANY YEARS.

We consider this new rose—a sport from the original pink Killarney—the most valuable rose that has been introduced in many years. It is well named Killarney Brilliant, on account of its brilliant color.

It is a great improvement on the original pink Killarney; first, because of its much more brilliant color, it being almost crimson in bright weather, while in midwinter—in dull, cloudy and foggy weather,—when the original pink Killarney loses its brilliancy and becomes badly faded, Killarney Brilliant is as bright and deep a pink as the original variety at its best. In addition to its great superiority in color, the flower is almost twice as large, having from twenty-five to forty full-sized petals.

It has the same desirable color that Killarney Queen possesses, but has double the number of petals, making it a very double and a fuller flower; and it is also very much more productive, having the same habit of growth and the same freedom of bloom as its parent.

We have watched Killarney Brilliant growing during the past winter, planted in the same house with the original and the double pink Killarney, and when those varieties faded so as to be almost unmarketable, Killarney Brilliant was superb. We are thoroughly convinced that it will immediately supplant the original Killarney as the standard market variety, and that every up-to-date grower will be compelled to plant it, on account of its great superiority. A prominent rose grower, who has seen it growing, says it is the only rose he has ever seen that needs no advertising; it sells itself.

JOY!

You must have heard about it. We know it sounds good. It sounds so good because it happens to be true.

This is a Carnation that did not get a reputation over night. We have been handling it for a little over two years and ought to know something about it.

IT'S A REAL RED

Perhaps we should call it Scarlet, because it is a live, glowing Red.

Better still, it is the kind of Carnation that proves the florist's friend. Shipped over a distance, it will look as good on arrival as when sent. This feature appeals to us because we know what it means to the man who is depending on us.

JOY has been described by Mr. E. H. Blameuser, of Niles Center, Ill.—the man who raised it—as "a strong grower, early, very free and continuous bloomer, with strong calyx and good stem." That should be good enough for anybody.

Don't wait for the other fellow to tell you about it. Send your order in now.

BRAMPTON, ONT.

The short month of February goes out leaving an excellent record of business done. Bulbous stock has been far superior to that of former years, and many daffodil orders have had to be cut down, as there was not enough stock to go around. Carnations have also turned out particularly well this season, and 11,000 to 15,000 per day are cuts of frequent occurrence. They meet a ready market at $4, $3 and $2 per hundred. Roses have been scarce, but are coming in more freely. One of the Beauty sections at the Dale Estate has been cut back and mulched, instead of the contents of the houses being thrown out, as was originally intended. Several new carnation plants are being tried there this season, Philadelphia being the most prominent variety among them.

Some of the valley this season is finer than has been seen here before, the stems reaching seventeen inches in length. Easter lilies are well on the way and give promise of better stock for the holiday trade than has yet been known. Fewer plants are being grown this year than last. The weather has been extremely cold for the last fortnight and the temperature continues close to zero every night. W. G. P.

PHILADELPHIA PINK CARNATION

we are absolutely sincere in giving you our advice. And here are our reasons:

1st. The Philadelphia Pink is an extremely productive variety.

2d. It has a remarkably vigorous constitution and will be sure to thrive in whatever section of the country you may be located.

3d. Its color is in a class by itself, being of that exquisite, clear shade of pink which is most attractive. The blooms sell at sight.

4th. The Philadelphia Pink has an ideal calyx—no splits—long, stiff stem, and 5th. It will bring you more money than any carnation on your place today, barring none.

This, you will say, is a broad statement—to which we reply, "Real facts may be stated broadly." But seeing is believing. We earnestly invite you to come to Detroit and see the Philadelphia Pink Carnation for yourself before you invest in it. We invite close and careful investigation. We shall be proud to show you at any time 30,000 perfect plants. ### INDIANAPOLIS.

Various Notes.

The committee in charge of the fall flower show met at the Hotel Severin last week. Those present were W. W. Coles, E. G. Hill, Harry White, W. J. Vesey, Jr., John Hartje, Irwin Bertermann, A. F. J. Baur, Oliver Steinkamp and Homer Wiegand. W. J. Vesey, Jr., was named to head the finance committee and Adolph Baur was appointed show manager, with Oliver Steinkamp as secretary. John Hartje was named as chairman of the exhibition committee. Other committees will be appointed later.

Mr. Knickman, with McHutchison & Co., of New York, called on the trade last week.

The Pahud Floral Co. opened a downtown branch, near Ohio and Illinois streets, last week. Mr. Asberger, of this firm, will have charge of the store.

Albert Pittet is going to put the seed of his new sweet pea, Rose Queen, on the market this year. Mr. Pittet has had a number of offers for the entire crop of seed, but thinks he can profit by putting it on the market himself. This is undoubtedly the best sweet pea ever sold in this market and it is quite popular with all of the retailers. Mr. Pittet has sold the cut blooms to the dealers for several years and has done a big business in this line.

S. T. Hitz & Son have been cutting some good daffodils and freesias.

Adolph Baur, secretary of the American Carnation Society, who has been working on the annual report of that society, says that last year was an extremely successful one for the society, which is enjoying a steady growth.

The E. G. Hill Floral Co. reports business good at the store.

Bertermann Bros. Co. had a busy week with decorations for the automobile show.

George Wiegand is contemplating the purchase of a Cadillac roadster in the near future.
H. L. W.

New Haven, Ind.—Henry Herman has sold his interest in the New Haven Floral Co. to August Freese, of this city. H. J. C. Leitz, who has been secretary and treasurer of the concern, has been advanced to the position of vice-president and general manager.

CINCINNATI.

The Market.

The snow storm and blizzard of Sunday and Monday, February 22 and 23, played havoc generally with shipping, both to and from this city. All the trains from the north and west were delayed or had not been heard from at all by the close of the day's business on Monday. Some of the growers, too, have not been packing their flowers carefully or they have been unnecessarily exposed to the weather while in transit, for some of the shipments came in frozen and could not be used, though in many cases badly needed.

The general market conditions have not varied greatly since the last writing. The rose supply is still limited. At the close of last week there was a strong call for Sunburst and other yellow roses for corsages and decorative purposes for Washington's birthday affairs. The carnation supply is good and holds its own. All stock of even fairly good quality has sold readily. The supply of bulbous stock has increased somewhat. Tulips, jonquils and hyacinths sell well when good. Narcissi meet with only an ordinary call. Freesias are among the slow sellers. Giganteum lilies are in fair supply and sell nicely. Among sweet peas there are many excellent offerings, as well as some fine novelties. The good blooms have been selling rapidly at fair prices. The market for both double and single violets is rather slow. Neither orchids, lilies of the valley nor baby primroses

The World's Best Cannas

Get them at Dreer's

We try out all new introductions for at least two years before endorsing or rejecting same, and if they are not improvements over existing sorts, or decided novelties, we do not offer them to you.

The following varieties of recent introduction stand out prominently as the best of their respective types and colors, and you will make no mistake in accepting our endorsement of the ten varieties here offered.

SPECIAL.—Note the reduction in price of the three leaders—Hungaria, the ideal pink, Gustav Gumpfer, yellow, and Mrs. Alfred Conard, popular salmon pink.

Gustav Gumpfer. Another season's trial strengthens us in again recommending this as the ideal rich yellow bedding Canna; the flowers of good size are held well above the foliage, the fine trusses always clean looking; in habit of growth very uniform; color a rich golden-yellow, a shade that has been missing heretofore and which can be seen as far as the eye will carry; 3½ to 4 feet. 20 cts. each; $1.25 per doz.; $7.00 per 100; $65.00 per 1,000.

Hungaria. The ideal pink bedding Canna; flowers large, in good sized trusses, produced early, freely and continuously, in color not unlike that of the Paul Neyron Rose. Compared to all other pink varieties, it possesses a softness and refinement not found in any other sort; 3 to 3½ feet. 20 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $10.00 per 100; $90.00 per 1,000.

Louis Reverchon. This was one of the best dark-leaved red-flowering varieties in our trials during the past three years. A block of about 2,000 plants attracted great attention. The flowers are very large, of a cochineal-red color, very freely produced on vigorous plants with light bronze foliage; 4½ to 5 feet. 10 cts. each; $1.00 per doz.; $8.00 per 100; $75.00 per 1,000.

Meteor. There are two varieties of Cannas being sold under the name of Meteor, one a German introduction which can be bought very cheap. We offer the American variety and it is the Canna you want, as it is the best red flowering Canna in commerce. 30 cts. each; $3.00 per doz.; $20.00 per 100.

Mrs. Alfred F. Conard. A most remarkable variety, with exquisite salmon-pink flowers of largest size in erect and abundantly furnished heads, so freely produced as to keep a superb showing of bloom for months above the rich green foliage; 4 feet. 20 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $12.00 per 100; $100.00 per 1,000.

Rosea Gigantea. Extra large flowers, borne in such abundance that the mass of color on each plant is truly amazing; individual petals are 2½ inches across; a deep, rich rose, almost a coral-carmine. 10 cts. each; 75 cts. per doz.; $5.00 per 100; $40.00 per 1,000.

Maros. The best white bedder, in color about the same as Mont Blanc Improved, but produces not only three or four times as many flowers, and, as the old flowers shed themselves, it always presents a clean and tidy appearance. Maros in our fields attracted great attention, forming great broad clean bands of white. Its habit is perfect, filling every requirement of a tip-top bedder. 15 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $10.00 per 100; $90.00 per 1,000.

Uhlberg. Entirely distinct and one of the freest-flowering varieties we have ever grown. The flowers expand very full and are of a soft rosy-carmine; the throat of the flower is of a creamy-yellow and the edges of the petals, which are slightly crimped, are also pale yellow. This variety attracted much attention at our trials; 3 feet. 35 cts. each; $3.50 per doz.; $25.00 per 100.

Undine. Unquestionably the best of its type, and we heartily recommend it either for massing or as single specimens in the border. Its growth is dwarf and graceful, with green foliage, and its flowers, which are produced very freely, are of a bright orange-scarlet broadly edged with golden yellow; a most satisfactory variety in every way; 3½ feet. 25 cts. each; $2.50 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

William Bates. A splendid free-flowering pure yellow Canna that has attracted much attention. The size of its flowers, of its trusses, its habit of growth are all that can be desired; a variety that will become a great favorite; 5 feet. 25 cts. each; $2.50 per doz.; $20.00 per 100.

The varieties Meteor and Uhlberg will be supplied in growing plants, all others in roots.

Twenty-five at hundred rates; 250 or more at thousand rates.

We will supply 1 each of the set of 10 varieties for $2.00.

We will supply 6 each of the set of 10 varieties for $8.00.

We also have an immense stock of the standard varieties of Cannas and we shall be pleased to quote special prices on your requirements.

The Market.

St. Valentine's day business proved remarkably good this year, and the florists are generally well satisfied with the results of their advertising and special efforts to make this holiday a big one. Newspaper advertising was used in some instances, but some florists preferred individual mailing folders, which are believed to be an effective method of advertising. Naturally a large volume of business resulted and the forces were kept working early and late, executing orders for valentines of flowers and putting in decorations for valentine dinners, parties, dances, etc. The demand seemed to center chiefly on spring flowers, both cut and in pots. It was noticeable this year that although tasteful novelties in baskets, etc., sold well, the demand was not nearly so great for corsages as in former years. Violets were in good supply, but no oversupply was evident, and the violet, while still in great favor, shared its popularity to a large extent with the variety of attractive spring flowers which appeared upon the market for the holiday in good quality and quantity. Roses sold well; in fact, all varieties in red were extremely scarce, owing to the big call for this color and its valentine significance. Some exceedingly pretty and attractive combinations in valentine baskets appeared in the florists' shops, in which were used freesias, alliums, narcissi, pansies, tulips, hyacinths and sweet peas. The potted plants of yellow tulips and jonquils made effective settings for valentine windows and contrasted pleasingly with the lavender and white lilac. Some fine Formosa lilies are in now.

The severe cold wave that has settled in this vicinity has affected the market the last week, although the days have had a great deal of sunshine. Snow storms have necessitated tremendously heavy firing.

Various Notes.

The Flick Floral Co. sent out some exceptionally pretty valentine folders, and the response was strong. They had a number of valentine novelties aside from the big stock of cut flowers and potted plants. The force was busy with several decorations for the holiday.

H. Zur Muhlen had a splendid call for both cut flowers and blooming plants for the holiday and was well pleased with the business transacted.

The Bradley Flower Shop had some pretty valentine specials in the form of dainty baskets and valentine boxes. They had a good business.

The Doswell Floral Co. had a splendid showing of cut flowers, violets, etc., and was well sold out at the end of the day.

DENVER, COLO.

The injunction suit of the Park Floral Co., restraining the state land board from raising the rent, has at last been dismissed by the company. The land board evidently decided that they were likely to lose the suit, as the whole matter was settled by the Park Floral Co. paying at the rate of $1,000 per year, which is what they have offered all along, while the land board has been contending for $3,500 per year. The matter has been in dispute for nearly three years and the result is a decided victory for the Park Floral Co.

PREPARE FOR EASTER

It is time to get busy, for Easter is near.
The birds are singing, to bring us good cheer:
And this is the message that sweetens their song—
That Aschmann has plants for which buyers long;
Azaleas, covered with blossoms; Bulbs, radiant and sweet:
Araucarias, perfect; Palms, stately and neat:
Ferns, sturdy and green; Lilies, gleaming and bright:
The stock is complete, the prices are right.
There's no time to be lost, wise florists all hurry
To buy up the best, and save money and worry.

CYCLAMEN.

200,000 GIANT FLOWERING CYCLAMEN SEEDLINGS AND BLOOMING PLANTS.

For the last 16 years we have selected three-fourths of our seed-bearing cyclamen stock before Xmas, to assure early blooming plants, and claim the finest commercial strain in this country; no fizzle of many so-called English varieties. Our aim is strong growers that don't have to be potted to be grown into a choice salable plant—a well built, five-petaled flower (many of them at one time), with well marked foliage; every plant an ideal, a prize winner. Received first prize at the Cleveland show and first and second at Toledo, early November, when blooming cyclamen were scarce.

STRONG AUGUST SOWN SEEDLINGS, once transplanted, $3.50 per 100; $30.00 per 1000.

BLOOMING PLANTS, 5, 6 and 8-in., 50c, 75c, $1.00 to $1.50 each. Cash with order. Cultural directions with all orders.
C. Winterich, Cyclamen Specialist, Defiance, O.

CYCLAMEN SEEDLINGS.

CULTURE OF RUELLIAS.

Will you tell us how to grow ruellias and how to make them bloom? One of our customers gave us one to doctor two months ago, but we can see no improvement in its condition; in fact, it looks worse. A. F. C.

Probably your plant is Ruellia macrantha, which forms a compact shrub, sometimes six feet in height. It is a native of Brazil. The plants can be much improved by planting them outdoors in May in any good garden soil, and potting them about the end of August. Cuttings taken in August and September will make nice little flowering plants by January and February, when this variety blooms. The flowers are large, bell shaped, purplish rose in color, and purple veined. The plants succeed well in any warm, light greenhouse. C. W.

USE THE PEERLESS BLOWERDESTROY MILDEW

Distributes Sulphur, Lime, Slug Shot, Grape Dust, Tobacco Dust, Paris Green or any other powdery substance. Does the work evenly, so every leaf receives its due proportion, without any being wasted. By using the Peerless, a 200-ft. greenhouse can be perfectly powdered in less than five minutes. Florists say:

"It's a great improvement over the bellows."

Ask your jobber for the Peerless or order direct from us. Price, $4.00 F. O. B. Chicago.

DO YOU KNOW VERMINE?

John Lewis Childs, Flowerfield, N. Y., writes: "I suppose you will be glad to know that VERMINE is giving excellent satisfaction. Our greenhouse foreman says that it is the only thing that he has ever used that will kill white ants in the benches."

Valentin Burgevin's Sons, Kingston, N. Y., write: "We wish to say that we find VERMINE an excellent thing. We used it on a bench planted with Smilax to kill root lice or maggots, which ate the roots, and after two applications our Smilax is taking on new life and has started off to grow."

The Gardner Nursery Company, Osage, Iowa, writes: "We will use VERMINE on our out-of-door fields of strawberry plants, if the inside test continues as satisfactory as it now seems."

W. N. Craig, Brookline, Mass., writes: "I have used VERMINE and found it effective against root maggots, cut worms, earth worms, ants and other ground pests."

VERMINE is applied one part to four hundred parts of water by thoroughly soaking the soil. It will protect your crops from the ravages of vermin underground without the slightest injury to vegetation.

Greenhouse Heating.

SUBSCRIBERS are invited to write the Editor of this Department with regard to any details of greenhouse heating that are not understood. But please do not ask The Review to make a choice of apparatus for you. The greenhouse heating equipment advertised in this paper is, we believe, the best for the trade to buy, and each article the best in the special field of its adaptation.

USING MOSTLY TWO-INCH PIPES.

I expect to build two connected greenhouses, each 23x110, and five feet high to the gutters. The houses will run east and west and there will be two feet of glass in the south wall. The roofs will be three-quarter-span. I have a lot of sashbars on hand, ten and one-half feet long, for one side; what length of bars will be needed for the other side? Also state the size of pipes and the number needed to heat the houses to 55 degrees in this Ohio climate. As I have a lot of 2-inch pipes, I should like to make use of them. Would it be satisfactory to have the returns on the sides, under the gutters of the houses? A. T.

For a three-quarter-span house, twenty-three feet wide, with sashbars ten and one-half feet long for the north side, it would be well to use bars sixteen feet long for the south side.

To heat a house 23x110 feet to 55 degrees in zero weather, use four 2-inch flows and eight 2-inch returns. The flows can be placed on the walls near the plates and the returns can be carried underneath, with the coils so arranged that each flow will supply two returns. If the houses are much exposed, it would be well to use one 2½-inch flow pipe in the south house, which has two feet of glass in the outer wall, and run one extra return, making one 2½-inch flow, three 2-inch flows and nine 2-inch returns in this house.

STEAM HEAT FOR ONE HOUSE.

I should like to know what is the best and cheapest way to pipe my house for steam. What size of pipe will give the greatest percentage of heat? Many

Morehead Back to Boiler SYSTEM

The Morehead "Back to Boiler" System of Steam Traps has drained hundreds of formerly dissipated dollars out of hundreds of lines in greenhouses and turned them right back to the boiler for re-investment.

That's one reason why there are more Moreheads in greenhouses than all others combined. The Keller Floral Co. says: "The Trap is a wonder. We do not know how we have done without it for so long."

Save the heat—turn the condensation back to the boiler as feed water—use considerably less fuel and water—

Install Morehead Traps!

The ideal temperature conditions following the installation of the Morehead System promote the growth of live, substantial flowers—full of life and sparkle.

tell me that 1-inch pipe gives the best service. The house will run east and west and will be 32x100, four feet high to the eaves and sixteen feet to the ridge. There will be two feet of glass in the south wall and glass in the west end. The east end will be connected with the boiler room. There is a 3 1/2-inch outlet in my boiler; is that large enough? There is a 3-inch opening for the returns. Please state how many runs of pipe will be required to heat this house to 50 degrees. The outside temperature in this part of Illinois is seldom lower than from zero to 10 degrees below. The walls are concrete and are ten inches thick.

How much glass will my thirty-five horse-power boiler heat? The boiler contains thirty  $3\frac{1}{2}$ -inch flues and is fourteen feet long, with a 42-inch shell.

J. H.

To heat a house 32x100, with two feet of glass in one side, using steam, a  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch flow pipe should be run about three feet below the ridge and five  $1\frac{1}{4}$ -inch returns should be brought back on each wall. Although I prefer to use  $1\frac{1}{4}$ -inch returns, 1-inch returns can be used to good advantage in houses of this length, but three additional returns will be required. The extra pipe should be put in on the south side of the house. The boiler would appear to be slightly above the rating given it, and would be able to heat to 55 degrees five or six houses of the size planned.

A SMALL ONTARIO HOUSE.

Will you kindly have your heating expert inform me as to the best way of heating a small greenhouse with hot water? Let me know about the distribution of the pipes, etc. I am located in the extreme south of Ontario, Can., not far from the latitude of Detroit, Mich., and I wish to maintain a temperature of about 60 degrees. What is the smallest size of pipe that could be used satisfactorily? Would it be advisable to use a boiler which is rated as being able to heat twice the glass area that I have? I am enclosing a diagram which, I hope, will give all necessary facts concerning the house.

R. A. V.

The sketch shows a house 12x25 feet, with walls five feet two inches high, containing two and one-half feet of glass. To heat this house to 60 degrees, I would suggest the use of three  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch flows, locating one on each plate and the other two feet under the ridge. With the middle flow pipe supply three 2-inch returns under the middle bench and connect each of the other flow pipes with two 2-inch returns under each of the side benches. If there is any particular reason why small pipe must be used, install three  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch flow pipes and twelve  $1\frac{1}{4}$ -inch returns, or three 2-inch flows and nine  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch returns.

There is a great variation in the rating of boilers, but it is always well to have a good margin of power and the boiler mentioned is likely to prove none too large.

SCOTCH SOOT

Where there is a house that is just full of buds almost ready to show color, nothing will turn better color into the flowers than a little soot, that can be scattered over the benches before watering. The amount applied should not be excessive, as the soot is very strong and may damage some of the foliage somewhat. Apply just enough to blacken the surface of the soil in the benches and let it go at that. Better a little oftener than too much all at once.

We offer the genuine in original cwt. sacks, at

The Market.

The report for the last two weeks shows some improvement in trade. Although not brisk, the sale of cut flowers and potted plants is on the increase. Florists are doing a good corsage business. Sweet peas and violets lead in the popular demand for these bouquets. Spring flowers continue in the lead for decorations, and palms and ferns are in demand. Patriotic and military functions listed on the social calendar for the season are creating a demand for red and white tulips, as well as for red and white carnations.

Our florists are showing attractive windows; they are making them more and more suggestive, which surely helps the trade. Primroses, cyclamens, cinerarias, etc., are moving only at cut prices. The funeral work for last week is reported better than that of the two weeks previous.

Various Notes.

Although plans are being completed for the flower show and trade exhibit, to be held during charity week, beginning March 16, there is some hesitancy among the florists in taking part in it. Committees in charge of the entire affair met Saturday evening, February 21. It is to be hoped that the florists will all take part, yet at this stage they are not all willing.

Wm. G. McCarthy is considering plans for the erection of a new store at 724 West Eighth street. He is planning to have it ready for the Easter trade.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

The Market.

February 14 this city was visited by one of the worst snow storms in years, which almost completely tied up traffic, only the main lines on the street railway being kept open. St. Valentine's day to all appearances was going to be the best ever, but, on account of the storm, fell way below last year. The florists in most cases stopped taking orders at noon, as delivery was almost impossible.

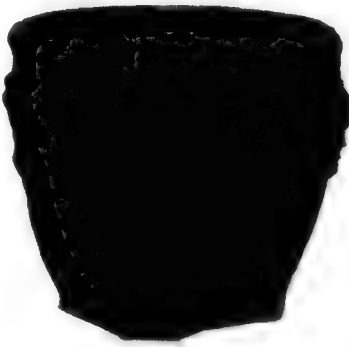

Business the last week has been rather poor, and the deep snow has made delivery hard. Flowers are scarce and prices keep up. Potted plants do not sell well at present.

The Market.

Local florists are congratulating themselves on being still alive and kicking, after pulling through the weather of last week. February 15 and 16 we had blizzard weather, with the temperature around zero. February 17 was warmer and February 18 the temperature was 50 degrees, and we had rain. Though the weather was of the worst, little damage was done to greenhouses beyond a few broken panes. The latter half of the week brought fine, bright weather, and business was on the boom. February 21 was an unusually busy day, Washington's birthday being celebrated with numerous parties and dances. All kinds of cut flowers were much in demand. Louisville had no official Mardi Gras celebration, but private festivities were numerous and elaborate. February 24 being the last day before Lent, quite a number of weddings are reported.

Various Notes.

Fred Haupt had the decorations for the L. & N. Traffic Club banquet at the Seelbach February 21. Palms and ferns were used.

There is a good supply of tulips, hyacinths and jonquils, with the demand equal to the supply.

John Skrobanek is sending in some fine jonquils, bicolor Victoria. Mr. Skrobanek has partly recuperated from his recent disastrous fire and hopes to have his stock in first-class shape by Easter. Miss Clara Stussey reports a net profit of $105 out of the proceeds of the benefit given by the Kentucky Society of Florists for Mr. Skrobanek. This amount has been turned over to him. The next meeting of the society will be at the store of August Baumer, Wednesday evening, March 4, at 8 p. m.

The new Nanz & Neuner Co. had a neat window display featuring Washington's birthday, flags and a portrait of Washington being used.

Mrs. C. B. Thompson is spending several weeks in the south. She will be in New Orleans for the Mardi Gras festivities, after which she will visit several Florida resorts, including Palm Beach. She will also spend several days at Atlanta, Ga.

Beutel & Frederick say things are a little quiet in their locality.

Henry Fuchs is settled in his new store on Fourth avenue, near Broadway, and says he likes it better than his old stand. Mr. Fuchs was forced to move from 552 Fourth avenue, as his neighbor, the Peter Zaami Co., bought his lease and has added his space to its own. R. J. S.

Lynn, Mass.—Kimball Bros. have gone out of business, as C. S. Kimball has retired from the florists' business since the death of his brother.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW what a good eave the METROPOLITAN PATENTED is, you would use no other. It is made of cast iron and will not rust. That part of your greenhouse which in other constructions is the weakest becomes the strongest. Not this alone, it is ice-clearing and carries all the water of condensation from the inside, and it is so constructed that almost the entire end of the bar is exposed to the air, thereby preventing decay. Only one screw, about two inches from the end, is all that is necessary to secure the bars. For side stationary glass, wood headers are absolutely unnecessary, thereby causing no shade. Zinc glass stops are not necessary—the eave is made with a lug to prevent the glass from slipping. Let your next house be built with a Metropolitan Patented Iron Wall Construction. You will never regret it. Our price and service are right.

The Market.

There is general complaint that flowers are scarce, and there is little prospect of a change in this condition. With the weather continuing cold, the supply of all varieties has shortened materially. The market has held firm all the week, and the retail stores have cleaned up nicely. American Beauty roses of local growth are scarce, and but few good ones are to be had. The stock moves rapidly at $9 per dozen, the top price of the season. There has been no change in the quotation on roses in the last three weeks. Carnations are slightly cheaper than they have been. The supply of gardenias about meets all demands.

There is a great abundance of bulbous stock, especially narcissus, and by reason of the low prices prevailing and the lack of call for this flower, the far-seeing growers are cutting it off their lists. One large grower has placed no orders for bulbs this year, and is not likely to do so. Freesias are much more plentiful than they have been. Tulips are arriving in larger quantities, but as yet the demand for these is not heavy. Lilac is increasing in supply, and some of the locally grown stock is far superior to that imported, besides being produced at smaller cost. On Saturday, February 21, F street was filled with flower venders offering violets at 25 cents per bunch, practically as cheap as the retailer could buy them in the market, but aside from this fact the stores did a good business on the home-grown stock. Sweet peas have increased in price and have decreased in supply. There is a fair demand for valley at $4.

Various Notes.

The Florists' Club of Washington will hold its annual election March 3. There will be no contest except, perhaps, for the office of vice-president, for which Messrs. Oehmler and Jenkins are the candidates.

Adolph Bowdler met with a sad loss in the death of his little daughter, Janet, last week. Her age was 9 months.

Record was made last week of the conveyance of the holdings of William F. and Adolphus Gude to Gude Bros., Inc. The holdings embrace in all about thirty-seven acres of property, and are located in two sections, one in Anacostia, known as the Linger, Osgood and Beasseau tracts, and the other at the junction of Bladensburg and Mount Olivet roads, formerly the property of the American Rose Co. The properties are improved by about 350,000 square feet of glass, outbuildings, dwellings, etc. The consideration is not recorded, but the corporation gave the brothers a mortgage for $120,000 as part payment for the property.

GLEN COVE, N. Y.

The eighth annual dinner of the Nassau County Horticultural Society was held February 19, at the Oriental hotel, and, as usual, proved a thoroughly enjoyable affair. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, seventy members and friends attended. In the absence of the president, the chair was ably filled by J. W. Everitt, who presented ex-President E. J. Brown with a handsome gold and diamond stickpin as a mark of appreciation of the manner in which he filled his term of office. Mr. Brown, in a few words, thanked the members for their loyal support. The chairman then presented the toastmaster of the evening, Frank Bowne, who called on speaker after speaker until there was hardly a topic under the sun which had not been alluded to, from the first gardener and his assistant, Adam and Eve, up to the present age of state horticultural colleges. The list of speakers included J. A. Shaw, Rev. J. W. Gammaek, A. Herrington, L. E. Ortiz, A. Wilson, J. H. Sperry, H. A. Bunyard, W. A. Sperling, T. McGart, Supervisor Bocks, W. R. Kinnear, W. Partridge, J. W. Everitt, Dr. Connelly, J. Davis, J. F. Johnson, Chas. T. McCarthy, E. M. Underhill, James Duthie, Mr. Stewart and B. Angus. Songs were rendered by T. Twigg, Chas. Plum and A. Wilson. J. W. Everitt was presented with the Wells-Totty gold medal, won at the fall show, and the silver medal was presented by proxy to Alex. McKenzie.

The regular monthly meeting was held at Pembroke hall, February 11. President Henry Gaut occupied the chair. F. Honeyman was elected to membership. The judges of the exhibits were J. W. Everitt, Chas. H. Totty and Geo. Barton. The awards were as follows: Primula malacoides, F. Honeyman, first; six gardenias, V. Cleres, first; twenty-five freesias, H. Jones, first.

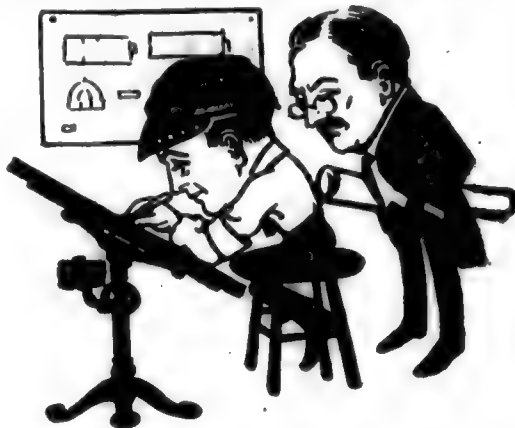

Mr. Wilkinson, of the New York State Department of Agriculture, will lecture on "Home Gardens" at the April meeting. It was moved and seconded that the society withdraw from the New York State Federation of Floral Clubs. Charles H. Totty spoke on the spring show to be held in New York and offered the Wells-Totty gold, silver and bronze medals for competition at the Glen Cove fall show for two blooms of the new pink chrysanthemum, Meudon. A. Wilson offered a special prize of $25 for the fall show.

The exhibits for March 11 will be twelve spikes of antirrhinum, twelve spikes of gladiolus and fifty single violets. H. J.

RETAIL STORE MANAGEMENT

WHAT THE LEADERS IN THE TRADE ARE DOING

BLOOMS FOR BUSINESS BLOCKS.

A movement for the beautification of office buildings and business blocks by means of window boxes and the like, which has been started in several cities in this country of late, is under way in Kansas City and has an earnest advocate in A. F. Barbe, who finds time, aside from the management of his florists' business, to assist in the management of the city, and sits in the city council. Such a plan, if carried out by the landlords and tenants of the skyscrapers, would add not a little to the florists' profits, besides cultivating a desire for greenhouse products that would subsequently add to the trade's income. Alderman Barbe believes it may be done as well here as in European cities and in this connection says:

"Two summers ago I was on a trip abroad and landed at Bremen, Germany, and as I walked along the business streets I was struck by the profusion of flowers that were everywhere I looked. Blossoming plants and trailing vines were on all sides. Window ledges and balconies of business houses and residences were bedecked with masses of bloom, while vines trailed down the walls, half covering the brick and stone work. No one can imagine the odd and lasting impression the masses of color in the midst of the commercial traffic of a congested city made on unaccustomed eyes.

"Later I saw the same thing in Berlin and other German cities, and in Belgium, France and Switzerland. In Berlin the custom was particularly noticeable, for the reason that there is practically no open ground space there, as compared with the wide lawns in many American cities, yet flowers are everywhere one goes."

CALMING KICKING CUSTOMERS.

When a customer kicks, keep cool.

Every customer thinks the right to kick is part of what he or she pays for—it's the same as trading stamps with the goods. And what the customer thinks, goes; or the customer goes.

It is a losing game to try to convince them that they're wrong. So play it safe, and don't argue.

Keep cool and keep your customers. Get even by selling them that much larger orders. The florist who is always civil, no matter what his customers may be, is the one whose trade is ever on the increase.

THE SPRAY OF ROSES.

There doubtless are stores in which the pillow still is the most frequently called for funeral design, but in most up-to-date establishments the wreath has supplanted the pillow as the popular thing. And the wreath is giving place to the spray. In the so-called high-class stores wire frames are used much less than they were a few years ago. Indeed, there are plenty of stores where wreath frames are about the only ones carried in stock and where more sprays are made than all other funeral designs combined.

The accompanying illustration shows a popular form of spray. This one was made with a base of leucothoe leaves and contained approximately sixty roses, with a little Sprenger, and some adiantum and asparagus with the tie. The use of chiffon is becoming nearly universal; it adds immeasurably to the appearance of the design.

CONCERNING PROFIT MARGINS.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger for February 20 contained an item, apparently inspired by "big business," that has set the local florists by the ears. It reads in part as follows:

"The census found that a ton of bituminous on the car at a mine was worth $1.07. It also found that it cost exactly $1 to put it there. Result: Profit of 7 cents on each ton, which must pay for depletion of mine and also interest on the money invested. In the state of Pennsylvania that was a shade over three per cent.

"Seven cents a ton looks like a tiny margin to work with. A big Philadelphia florist tells me that when he sells the retail man $1 worth of flowers the latter charges an average of $3 to his customers for them.

A Spray of Sixty White Roses on a Background of Leucothoe.

"Thus we often complain at the supposed profits on necessities which are controlled by big business and submit with a smile to the thirty times larger profit levied upon our luxuries by little business."

Of course that's an unfair comparison. Coal doesn't wither over night; its mining calls for neither service nor art. Also, the coal may cost $1 and sell for $1.07, but by the time it gets into the writer's coalbin it costs all the way from $3 to $6 per ton! Probably it is not to be wondered at that a man who would compare coal mining with retailing cut flowers would ignore the fact that the average mine operator appears to grow rich on that 7-cent long ago a man came into our store and purchased a $15 design, to be delivered to an undertaking establishment. In payment for the design he gave us a $175 check. The man was heavily intoxicated and was going home to sober up and stated that he would call for the balance in a day or so. We thought his story quite plausible, but phoned to the bank to ascertain the value of the check before delivering the floral design. The bank informed us that the check, if properly signed, was perfectly good, but later found that it was a case of forgery and we were $15 "in the hole." Further evidence pointed to the fact that this was simply a repetition of a rascally offense elsewhere.

against him by his wife. By this case being filed with the club, the members who failed to receive notices would be guarded against this customer.

One more mention I should like to make is of a person who came into the store and asked to open an account with us, stating that she had accounts with two other florists, but was much impressed with work of ours she had seen and wished to do business with us. Now, it may be that she was perfectly O. K., but had we a credit system, properly conducted, we could have easily called upon our club members to enlighten us in regard to her standing with the florists with whom she claimed to have accounts.

Fraudulent persons are continually trying to take unlawful advantage of merchants in large cities, and it is only right that the different business associations should guard themselves against such trickery. Just such cases as I have cited should be filed with the club and used by the members for reference when opening credit accounts with strangers. Such people as I have mentioned, when they fail to cheat one florist, will go to another. By the credit system these suspicious persons will become known among the flower dealers. It would also be well to keep a list of delinquent debtors on file for the use of the club members. No one wants to open an account with those who will not meet their bills promptly. I believe the florist will readily see the advantages and benefits that would be derived from a credit system, which would save time, money and expense.

PROGRESSIVE TEXAS FLORIST.

About two years ago Wm. S. Herzog moved to San Antonio, Tex., from Morris Plains, N. J., where he had been in business for some time. Seeing in the Texas town a good opening for a florist, he purchased a tract of land comprising nine building lots, and built one greenhouse, 33x100 feet. The following year he incorporated the business as the San Antonio Floral & Nursery Co., with a capitalization of $10,000. There are now at the range on Fairplay avenue five greenhouses of approximately this

CREDIT SYSTEM FOR FLORISTS.

[An address by Glen K. Parker, of the Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co., president of the Kansas City Florists' Club, reported by Samuel Seligman.]

We should establish a credit system in our club for the benefit of each firm or member concerned therein. Each individual should furnish a rating or reference, to be put on file for the use of the members. The club would then be prepared to give satisfactory information in regard to the financial standing of the different florists and their promptness in meeting bills.

For example, in the last month two firms who are members of the club have given the Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co. for reference as to their promptness in remitting. We knew these firms in a personal way and through their dealings with us, but could give no further information, whereas if a credit system had been established, we could have easily referred to their rating with the club.

This credit system, properly kept, would also furnish the club members with evidence as to the character and capability of each other. It would be of great benefit to employers, as well as employees in securing a position.

Again, such a system would be of great benefit to florists in keeping their books clear of impostors, as well as delinquent debtors. For instance, not

On another occasion a woman came into our store and asked to open an account with us. She gave us satisfactory references relative to her husband's financial standing, which were accepted. The first of the month, when the husband received the bill, he was indignant at the thought of his wife's charging goods to his credit, when the two were separated, and flatly refused to recognize her bills. He afterward sent out notices to some of the leading florists to the effect that he was no longer responsible for debts made size, making a total glass area of 20,000 square feet. The two stores, a downtown branch at 102 West Houston street and the main store at 508 Main avenue, which is shown in one of the illustrations, require at present more stock than the greenhouses can supply and an enlargement of the plant is being planned. For the month of December the sales amounted to $2,000, a good showing for a new concern in a town of this size.

Mr. Herzog, who is manager of the concern, may be seen in the illustration showing his house of chrysanthemums. The height of the mums may be estimated if one knows that Mr. Herzog is tall and that the plants are in ground-beds. First-class carnations, not commonly grown in this part of the country, are one of the specialties of these greenhouses. Here also are grown about 40,000 bulbous flowers and a strong line of other flowers and plants.

Mr. Herzog has a tract of 178 acres near Columbus, Tex., on which he expects to start a nursery. Besides nursery stock he will grow bulbs and cut flowers here, as the soil and climate are more suitable for the successful growing of outdoor stock.

BUSINESS EMBARRASMENTS.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Samuel W. Church was appointed receiver for A. T. Lorch & Co. after a bill in equity alleging the insolvency of the partnership was filed by J. H. Johnston, a creditor.

NEW YORK'S SPRING SHOW.

The perfecting of arrangements for the big flower show in New York, March 21 to 28, in the new Grand Central Palace proceeds apace, and the prospect is that the show will be, like its predecessor, an immense success. At the last meeting of the committee in charge contributions of several special prizes were reported. Silver cups valued at $75 each have been offered by the following hotels in New York: Ritz-Carlton, McAlpin, Biltmore, Vanderbilt, Plaza, Waldorf-Astoria, St. Regis and Sherry's. Mrs. H. Clay Frick and Mrs. C. F. Seuff have contributed cups valued at $100 each. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and Mrs. C. F. Hoffman have offered cups valued at $50 each. The latter four cups were donated through the solicitation of Mrs. Hoffman and the International Garden Club. Samuel Thorne offers a cup valued at $50 and W. T. Carrington a cup valued at $75. An anonymous member of the Horticultural Society of New York offers a cup valued at $25 and H. H. Charles offers a cup valued at $50.

Joseph A. Manda, of West Orange, N. J., has been appointed manager of the show. George V. Nash, C. H. Totty and W. A. Manda have been appointed a committee on lectures. Among the important features of the show will be an orange grove in fruit and a complete Japanese garden, both staged by retailers. The ladies' orchestra, which

TO his friends, "the noblest Roman of them all," R. J. Irwin has decorated his office in New York with the trophies of the chase, including the head of a big bull moose shot in 1913. Mr. Irwin's first business connection was with Pitcher & Manda, in 1891, at the age of 15. In 1893 he entered the service of J. M. #### DUTCH BULBS COME BLIND.

In the issue of The Review for February 19, there appeared an inquiry, signed J. G. S., about Narcissus Golden Spur coming blind. I was much interested in this inquiry, for we have had and are having the same unfortunate experience with our Dutch bulbs, not only with Golden Spurs, of which ninety-five per cent were blind, but also with our early tulips. Of La Reine, seventy-five per cent; of Yellow Prince, ninety per cent, and of Keizerskroon, fifty per cent were blind.

The wrong treatment which C. W.

mentioned in his reply to this inquiry would undoubtedly destroy the buds of Golden Spur. But we found that our bulbous stock, as mentioned above, came blind in spite of our bringing them out of the cool root cellar in January and even in February, as usual, and placing them in the greenhouse, some in a temperature of 70 to 80 degrees, some in 60 degrees and some in 50 degrees. Our late varieties of tulips and daffodils are not affected. In the early varieties we find the bud cooked inside the bulbs. We assume that the bulbs must have been overheated while they were on board ship.

Wm. Van Langendonk.

Elkhart, Ind.—Mrs. E. M. Bullock suffered a loss of between $3,000 and $4,000 February 24 as the result of the breaking of a flue plate on one of the boilers. Although every effort was made to save the plants after the break was discovered, early in the afternoon, the extreme cold outside and the uneven heat inside worked havoc with the stock.

Of course that's an unfair comparison. Coal doesn't wither overnight; its mining calls for neither service nor art. Also, the coal may cost $1 and sell for $1.07, but by the time it gets into the writer's coalbin it costs all the way from $3 to $6 per ton! Probably it is not to be wondered at that a man who would compare coal mining with retailing cut flowers would ignore the fact that the average mine operator appears to grow rich on that 7-cent long ago a man came into our store and purchased a $15 design, to be delivered to an undertaking establishment. In payment for the design he gave us a $175 check. The man was heavily intoxicated and was going home to sober up and stated that he would call for the balance in a day or so. We thought his story quite plausible, but phoned to the bank to ascertain the value of the check before delivering the floral design. The bank informed us that the check, if properly signed, was perfectly good, but later found that it was a case of forgery and we were $15 "in the hole." Further evidence pointed to the fact that this was simply a repetition of a rascally offense elsewhere.

against him by his wife. By this case being filed with the club, the members who failed to receive notices would be guarded against this customer.

One more mention I should like to make is of a person who came into the store and asked to open an account with us, stating that she had accounts with two other florists, but was much impressed with work of ours she had seen and wished to do business with us. Now, it may be that she was perfectly O. K., but had we a credit system, properly conducted, we could have easily called upon our club members to enlighten us in regard to her standing with the florists with whom she claimed to have accounts.

Fraudulent persons are continually trying to take unlawful advantage of merchants in large cities, and it is only right that the different business associations should guard themselves against such trickery. Just such cases as I have cited should be filed with the club and used by the members for reference when opening credit accounts with strangers. Such people as I have mentioned, when they fail to cheat one florist, will go to another. By the credit system these suspicious persons will become known among the flower dealers. It would also be well to keep a list of delinquent debtors on file for the use of the club members. No one wants to open an account with those who will not meet their bills promptly. I believe the florist will readily see the advantages and benefits that would be derived from a credit system, which would save time, money and expense.

PROGRESSIVE TEXAS FLORIST.

About two years ago Wm. S. Herzog moved to San Antonio, Tex., from Morris Plains, N. J., where he had been in business for some time. Seeing in the Texas town a good opening for a florist, he purchased a tract of land comprising nine building lots, and built one greenhouse, 33x100 feet. The following year he incorporated the business as the San Antonio Floral & Nursery Co., with a capitalization of $10,000. There are now at the range on Fairplay avenue five greenhouses of approximately this margin while the average retail florist, whatever his margin may be, seems to find it increasingly difficult to keep his head above water. But that doesn't help the Philadelphia florists, who feel that such statements in newspapers not only are unfair but are a detriment to the flower business.

CREDIT SYSTEM FOR FLORISTS.

[An address by Glen K. Parker, of the Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co., president of the Kansas City Florists' Club, reported by Samuel Seligman.]

We should establish a credit system in our club for the benefit of each firm or member concerned therein. Each individual should furnish a rating or reference, to be put on file for the use of the members. The club would then be prepared to give satisfactory information in regard to the financial standing of the different florists and their promptness in meeting bills.

For example, in the last month two firms who are members of the club have given the Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co. for reference as to their promptness in remitting. We knew these firms in a personal way and through their dealings with us, but could give no further information, whereas if a credit system had been established, we could have easily referred to their rating with the club.

This credit system, properly kept, would also furnish the club members with evidence as to the character and capability of each other. It would be of great benefit to employers, as well as employees in securing a position.

Again, such a system would be of great benefit to florists in keeping their books clear of impostors, as well as delinquent debtors. For instance, not

On another occasion a woman came into our store and asked to open an account with us. She gave us satisfactory references relative to her husband's financial standing, which were accepted. The first of the month, when the husband received the bill, he was indignant at the thought of his wife's charging goods to his credit, when the two were separated, and flatly refused to recognize her bills. He afterward sent out notices to some of the leading florists to the effect that he was no longer responsible for debts made size, making a total glass area of 20,000 square feet. The two stores, a downtown branch at 102 West Houston street and the main store at 508 Main avenue, which is shown in one of the illustrations, require at present more stock than the greenhouses can supply and an enlargement of the plant is being planned. For the month of December the sales amounted to $2,000, a good showing for a new concern in a town of this size.

Mr. Herzog, who is manager of the concern, may be seen in the illustration showing his house of chrysanthemums. The height of the mums may be estimated if one knows that Mr. Herzog is tall and that the plants are in ground-beds. First-class carnations, not commonly grown in this part of the country, are one of the specialties of these greenhouses. Here also are grown about 40,000 bulbous flowers and a strong line of other flowers and plants.

Mr. Herzog has a tract of 178 acres near Columbus, Tex., on which he expects to start a nursery. Besides nursery stock he will grow bulbs and cut flowers here, as the soil and climate are more suitable for the successful growing of outdoor stock.

EARLY FLOWERING SPENCERS.

As Compared with Grandifloras.

Now that the indoor flowering season of sweet peas is with us, a few observations may be of interest to those who are growing, as well as to those who intend to grow, these new and advanced varieties.

Most growers must have felt disappointed with the grandifloras that they have been obliged to grow up to the present. It cannot be an encouraging experience, after giving the plants good culture, to find only one or two blooms on a stem, often poor, miserable, deformed things at that. Some may say, "Yes, but look at the beautiful long stems, eighteen to twenty inches long." To me these poor, lonely, isolated little blooms are only shown to greater disadvantage by the length of stem. Of course, the raisers of these new Spencers will have improved stocks of the grandifloras, besides greater variety in color, and the seed of these may be offered at a lower price, as they seed far more freely than the Spencers will ever do. The waviness of the latter prevents the pollen from being held up to the pistil, thus causing a good many flowers to fail to set their seed.

Superiority of the Spencers.

But if you try to compare the grandifloras with the Spencers as florists' flowers, you must soon come to the conclusion that, as the saying goes, "there is no comparison," since the Spencers produce much larger blooms and three or four of them on the stem, instead of one or two. You will also see that the Spencers possess what may be called an art quality that cannot be found in other types. Grown under glass, they are then seen at their best. The colors are clear and in great variety. On fine days the standard goes right back, showing the beautiful crinkled waviness of the flower in all its glory.

The flowers of the Unwin type are slightly smaller and a little less waved than the Spencers. Gladys Unwin, the first of the kind put on the market, is a typical example of what the Unwin sorts should be. Some varieties sent out as possessing this character fail to show any of the real Unwin traits. Still, the same raisers, without doubt, are offering some gems.

The Price of Spencer Seeds.

As to the price of seeds of the new sorts, if $8 an ounce seems a big price to give, let me just mention this as a comforter: I counted the seeds in one of these 8-dollar packets and found the number to be 400; that makes the price 2 cents a seed. The oldest pioneer in sweet pea culture in the old country, and one of the largest growers, is offering seeds at 12 cents each, which is about equivalent to $48 an ounce. Two cents a seed has been the average price, I should think, for most of the new Spencers as they have appeared each year.

To keep in the competing line, growers must handle the best varieties. I was acquainted with a grower in the old country who would not grow the Spencers because of the high cost of seed. He changed his mind, however, when he had lost his best customer, who had been in the habit of buying sixty dozen bunches twice a week. He said to me then, "Well, I am going to grow Spencers." I said, "Good! Where are you going to get your seed?" "Well," he said, "from So and So, a 2-cent seed firm." When I saw his peas the following year he was still growing grandifloras—with Spencer names on the labels.

Time and all other expenditures are badly wasted if poor varieties are grown where good ones should be.

A. A. Elliott.

WEHRMAN'S WINTER SPENCERS.

At Maywood, Ill., Henry Wehrman has two houses, each 28x375 feet, planted to sweet peas, using seed from A. C. Zvolanek, Lompoc, Cal. The varieties are Mr. Zvolanek's winter-blooming seedlings of the Spencer type and there are on trial a number of colors that Mr. Zvolanek has not yet been able to offer in quantity that would permit of wide distribution. Mr. Wehrman had excellent success in former years growing Zvolanek's Christmas Pink and later sorts of that type and his this season's crop has been watched with much interest. The accompanying illustrations show how his houses looked February 26. Because of the long spell of sunless weather the early pick was not so heavy as had been expected, but the day after the photographs were made the pick was 14,500. The quality is excellent; the peas are what the trade has been accustomed to in late spring, when Countess Spencer and others of that family come in. The stock is sold on the Chicago market by the E. C. Amling Co., which reported being able to realize $3 per hundred for the winter Spencers up to the time that the pick became so large that the stores with wealthy trade could not consume them all. It is figured that, aside from the first cost of the seed, the cost of growing the Spencers is no greater than the old grandiflora type with one or two small flowers to the stem, and that the price obtained, both at wholesale and retail, will always be better.

SWEET PEAS FOR OUTDOORS.

The finest outdoor sweet peas are to be had from plants set out from pots, allowing eight to twelve inches of space between the plants in the rows. The benches in which they are to be planted should be prepared late in the fall, for the best results, but if this has not been done, the work ought to be undertaken just as soon as the weather breaks. Seeds should be sown one or two in 3-inch pots, in light soil. The first ten days in March for the northern states, and ten to fourteen days earlier farther south, is a suitable time to start them. The pots can either be put in a cool greenhouse, kept at a temperature of about 50 degrees at night, or a gentle hotbed can be made with horse manure and leaves, firmly tramped, laying a coating of fine coal ashes on these, protecting well with mats and shutters on severe nights and ventilating freely when growths have appeared. The sashes can later be removed on warm days, and by degrees can be left off altogether. Supports consisting of such brush as birch or wild cherry are preferable, or, where these are unprocureable, wire or string supports can be placed in position before the peas are planted out. The rows should run five to six feet apart. Free cultivation should be given until the plants start to bloom; then a good mulch of partially spent manure will be found of great advantage.

In the way of newer varieties, these are all of great excellence: Money-maker and King White, pure white; Dorothy, rosy lilac; Illuminator, salmon orange; Scarlet Emperor, rich scarlet; Earl Spencer, salmon orange; Orchid, lavender, and Dobbie's Cream, primrose.

Meadville, Pa.—T. R. Snyder has retired from the florists' business and moved to Saegertown, Pa.

Syracuse, N. Y.—The copartnership of the Syracuse Pottery Co. has been dissolved by mutual consent. Conrad Breitschwerth has bought the interest of his partner, James C. Butler, and will continue the business under the name of the Syracuse Pottery.

Show Pelargoniums.

No more pinching need be given show pelargoniums after this date. All should now be in their blooming pots, and, as growth from this time on is quite rapid, they will need spreading out from time to time. On clear days give the plants a spraying overhead, and, to keep them clean, a light fumigation must be given once a week. They do better if grown cool; a temperature of 40 to 45 degrees at night is ample. If kept warmer, the growth will be more spindling and aphids will trouble the plants more.

Gladioli.

For a Memorial day crop, plant a good batch of such gladioli as Augusta, Shakespeare, America, Chicago White, Mrs. Francis King and Brenchleyensis now. The pink and scarlet colors sell specially well for Memorial day. The small-flowered gladioli, such as Peach Blossom, Blushing Bride, etc., can be brought along in batches. The earliest lot, housed a month ago, should flower for Easter. Later lots can easily be held until Memorial day, or even later.

Marguerites.

Well flowered marguerites make excellent Easter plants. The yellow varieties, while good for cutting, do not make shapely pot plants. Therefore we have to depend upon the white ones, and the older forms of these, carrying small flowers, are vastly superior to the new, improved and large-bloomed sorts. Plants wanted in flower for Easter should now have flower buds showing, and if given a light, sunny house, with a temperature of 48 to 50 degrees at night, they will be in good condition early in April. Marguerites need abundant water supplies and will stand lots of feeding. Do not, however, stand them in saucers of water. This may be all right for spiræas, but if water is allowed to stand in the saucers under marguerites it will soon cause a loss of foliage. Mrs. Sander is sometimes seen in nice condition, but it cannot be depended upon to make a shapely plant like the old varieties and, furthermore, is decidedly softer, although for cutting it is excellent.

Lilacs.

Nice, bushy lilacs, which have not been forced but allowed to come along in a fairly cool house, make acceptable Easter plants. Start them now in a temperature of 50 degrees at night; they should flower in six weeks in such a temperature. Spray freely until the plants are well started, and give a light, sunny location, where the growth made will be stocky. You can get lilacs open in four weeks by giving them a brisk heat, but such plants will be soft and will wilt easily if exposed to any air currents. If you grow the plants cool, they can safely be stood outside when the temperature is above freezing.

Rambler Roses.

If the shoots of the rambler roses are now six to ten inches long and the buds are just beginning to show, your plants are all right, and if allowed a night temperature of 55 degrees they will be in good season. Never mind if they are a few days early, as it is an easy matter to hold them back in a cool house. Do not give the plants a strong, forcing heat; it makes the shoots delicate and a little lack of care in ventilation will speedily give such plants a bad dose of mildew, and if anything makes roses utterly unsalable it is mildew. You will notice that Tausendschon opens earlier than the other ramblers. Let the flowers open cool, so that they may retain as much as possible of their pink color.

Miscellaneous Deciduous Shrubs.

It is a mistake to start such deciduous shrubs as forsythias, prunus and malus too soon. It does not take long for them to open their flowers in a warm house. It is also a mistake to have the plants in full bloom at Easter. Customers naturally prefer them just opening, as they will then give them a longer season of flowers. Deutzia gracilis, however, must be started at once; also wistarias, as they require a somewhat longer season to open their flowers.

Lily of the Valley.

While a month is ample time to allow lily of the valley for Easter, when grown in the dark and in heat, there is always a splendid call for pots or pans of it at Easter, and such stock should be kept only a short time in the dark. In fact, if it is kept in the light all the time it will be stockier and will carry the best foliage. Suitable sizes of pots in which to grow the valley are 6-inch and 7-inch. Do not cut off any of the fibrous roots. See that fine soil is shaken well about all the roots and is well firmed. Do not use anything but the new season's pips when you want good valley, and let the plants be gradually hardened in a cool house. Start the valley now at 55 degrees at night and it will be in flower in good season for you.

NARCISSI ARE SHORT-STEMMED.

I have a small greenhouse in which I am forcing daffodils, Princeps and poeticus. I do not seem to be able to get long stems. I am located in the state of Washington, near Puget Sound. I planted the bulbs in good, rich soil in flats, October 1, and covered them with leaves. I took them in January 1 and started forcing January 15, keeping a night temperature of 50 to 55 degrees. The bulbs are, from stock imported from England. Many of the stems are not more than six inches long. Kindly tell me what to do in order to get longer stems. P. W.

There are several possible causes of the shortness of the narcissus stems. In the first place, are you sure your bulbs had an adequate water supply? It is not sufficient, as many still suppose, to soak them at planting time and expect that this will suffice to carry the bulbs until forcing time. The tops should be started two to three inches when housed. Early in the season, to insure stems of good length, it is necessary to keep the flats dark for a few days to draw up the stems. This is unnecessary after the middle of February. You will find that coal ashes or loam will make a better covering than leaves for daffodils. Princeps forces early, but N. poeticus is naturally late. Try N. poeticus ornatus another season, as it comes much earlier. C. W.

NARCISSI FAILING TO FLOWER.

Enclosed you will find some would-be flowers of Golden Spur and daffodils. About one-third of our bulbs are turning out this way. What is the trouble with them? We potted and boxed them as soon as we received them, put them in a coldframe and covered them with leaves. Later we brought them in and put them under the greenhouse benches, bringing them into the light as we wanted to use them. We bought these bulbs from a firm in Holland. Do you think it is probably the Hollanders' fault? Those that produce flowers are first-class. F. & F.

As two-thirds of your bulbs flower first-class, it is evident that your culture has been all right. There are many complaints this season of bulbs acting in this way, and, while too early forcing sometimes is partly accountable for it, I should say that if this trouble has continued after February 1, the most probable cause is immature bulbs. The Hollanders not infrequently are guilty of sending bulbs that are not properly ripened. C. W.

SEEDS FAIL TO GERMINATE.

In the last three years I have had serious trouble in getting my seeds to germinate, and especially this season. Thunbergias, snapdragons, maurandias, ageratums, lobelias and sweet alyssum, all have proved almost absolute failures. The soil in which the seeds were sown is such as I have grown my carnations in during the winter. I have planted at various depths and covered some with the same soil, others with fine sand, but all methods have failed. The boxes have been covered with glass and aired in the morning and evening, and a good bottom heat has been maintained. The night temperature has been about 60 degrees. Can you tell me the cause of failure and, if possible, suggest a remedy? J. G. B.

With poor seeds, of course, you cannot expect much success. Perhaps, however, your seeds are all right and the trouble is altogether in improper soil and too deep covering. Carnation soil is not at all suitable for seed sowing; it contains loam and considerable manure. Seeds require a light compost; one which contains more leaf-mold than loam is to be preferred, and to this is added sand. The finer the seeds the lighter the covering needed. In the case of fine seeds, such as lobelia, begonia and gloxinia, prepare your flats and pans, and water through a fine rose before sowing the seeds. Merely sprinkle a little fine sand over these. All the other seeds you name must be covered lightly or they will germinate poorly. It is an advantage to have the surface rather sandy; there is then less likelihood of slime forming, although I like to sterilize soil for seed sowing. This destroys all weed seeds, fungi and soil pests. Your treatment after sowing seems to have been all right. C. W.

PELARGONIUM LEAVES SPOTTED.

Under separate cover I am sending you some pelargonium leaves with small, reddish brown spots on them. The older leaves thus affected turn almost red, later brown and finally fall off. Some time ago these plants had a good many white flies on them, but I got rid of them by using cyanide gas. I thought it possible that the flies feeding on the leaves had caused the spots. Please tell me what the trouble is and how to remedy it. J. N. S.

The spots are due to the attacks of the white fly, which you have not yet fully mastered, as one of the leaves forwarded was almost covered with them. Another dose of gas will be necessary to clean them out. Even this may not exterminate them, and so I would advise giving another dose three or four days later for any fresh arrivals from unhatched eggs. Your foliage is strong. Feed the plants with a good fertilizer, or a mixture of soot and bone, and they will soon overcome the loss of foliage. C. W.

SCALE ON ALTERNANTHERA.

I am enclosing a branch of alternanthera, which you can see is covered with scale. We have several thousands of these plants, and all are more or less affected by it. Can you suggest a remedy which will destroy this scale without harming the plants? Any advice will be much appreciated. T. E. N.

Scale on greenhouse plants is not easy to get rid of, as doses which are sufficiently strong to kill the scale will usually disfigure the plants at the same time. I have found Aphine a first-class remedy for scale, and if you will secure some and apply it according to directions printed on each can, you will kill and loosen the scales, although they will not fall off, as will some other pests. ### SHIFTING THE YOUNG STOCK.

Shifting to Pots.

The early propagated stock, which was potted in January and early February, will need to be shifted to keep it in a nice growing condition. Unless you are willing to keep the plants growing along steadily from the time they are rooted until they are set in the field, it is worse than useless to propagate early. Better propagate later, so that the first potting will carry the plants until planting-out time. Ideas of the best way to handle the young stock vary a great deal, and it cannot be said that any one method is the only and correct one. On one place one method may be the right one, while on another it may not be the best. At our place many ways of handling the young plants have been tried and we have found that, with our soil and the conditions in general here, we get along best with the pot culture. We pot into the small pots early and shift into 2½-inch pots during March, removing as much soil as practicable in order to give as much new soil as the shift will permit. After late February everything is potted right into the 2½-inch pots and no shift is required.

Shifting to Flats.

Many growers pot into the small pots early and, when the plants have become established, plant them either into shallow boxes or onto the bench in about three inches of soil. Under this method the plants will make a large growth and be stronger looking than the pot-grown stock, but they are apt to be soft and will suffer much more than the pot-grown plants in the transfer to the field. In our trials we have found that a month after being planted in the field the pot-grown stock would be more advanced than the stronger looking bench-grown stock. However, if you handle the stock carefully, if your soil is in good condition and if you have favorable weather, either method should give excellent results. It is in case of unfavorable weather after planting that the pot-grown, harder stock will stand up better. You cannot always figure on getting a rain every few days during the planting season, and for that reason we consider pot culture the best.

From Pots to Bench.

If you intend to plant some of your benches from pots this spring, now is the time to make your preparations. If you can plant the benches as soon as you have finished planting in the field, which would be the better plan, I would suggest that you shift enough plants into 3-inch pots to fill these beds. They will necessarily stand a few weeks longer in the pots than those you planted in the field, and the 3-inch pots will carry them in better condition. If you cannot plant the beds until June or later, then you would better shift into 4-inch pots and plunge them in frames just before you begin planting in the field.

Topping.

Of course, you will go over the young stock frequently, topping those plants that need it. Do not be in too great a hurry about taking the top out, but wait until you can be sure that you get all the top, instead of only the leaves around the heart. In the latter case your work has been a detriment to the plant, instead of a benefit. No harm is done if you can see the stem between the joints where you take the top off. In fact, I think it is well to allow them to reach that stage before topping, providing you do not allow them to go until the buds show. Top according to the habit of the variety. Such varieties as the Enchantress family will break from four or five eyes, and you need not hesitate to leave six eyes above the ground, but such varieties as Gloriosa, White Perfection and Victory will break from only two or three eyes and should be topped low, so that the stem will not be too long, allowing the plants to lie over in case of hard rains while in the field.

ENGELMANN ON CONTINENT.

Many American carnation growers will recall with pleasure having met C. Engelmann, of Saffron Walden, England, when that gentleman visited this country during the Boston National Flower Show. Mr. Engelmann is one of the largest and most successful carnation growers in Great Britain, using mostly American varieties. From the British horticultural press it appears that he now is starting a continental establishment, near Nice, for carnation growing. The house he has erected, 90x600 feet, is said to be the largest on the continent.

SEASONABLE NOTES.

Cattleyas.

We have now reached a season where the sun has attained considerable power. This is less perceptible outdoors than under glass, but early in March on clear days the rays are strong and some orchids will need a light shade. It is unwise to shade cattleyas too early, for, although the sun may cause the foliage to become paler, it is always noticeable that such plants flower far better than such as are of a dark green color and have been kept continuously shaded. Let the shading be quite light yet, as we may still expect some long spells of dark, cold weather. A mixture of kerosene and white lead makes an excellent shade. If wooden or cloth shades were less expensive, all orchid growers should use them; they form the ideal shade. There are many days when we wish we could remove the shade from the glass and let the plants have all possible light.

C. Trianae will soon be over for the season. All necessary repotting or re-basketting should be completed soon after flowering. Any plants with roots hanging over the sides of the pots should be repotted. Plants with long hanging roots may win applause from the uninitiated, but such plants will always produce poor flowers compared with such as have their roots confined in their receptacles. Nothing beats rather coarse fern fiber for cattleyas; some of the roughest should go over the drainage. Some commercial growers use coarse fiber in lieu of potsherds for drainage. Always pot the plants firmly and stake some of the leading growths, drawing other bulbs up toward them with green raffia or silkline. Water sparingly until the plants are making roots freely. With the passing of C. Trianae we get C. Schroederae. The flowers of this variety, while pretty, are less popular in the market than Trianae, and lack character. They come, however, at a time when cattleya flowers are somewhat scarce. C. Mossiae will soon have its buds up through the sheaths, although some plants will last until June. The same holds good of C. Mendellii. The small flowered but charmingly colored C. Skinneri has buds showing prominently and will prove useful when in bloom. Several of the brasso-cattleyas have buds coming up in the sheaths, one or two, in fact, being already open. Give these the warm end of the cattleya house.

Take advantage of spells of stormy weather to get the plants cleaned. There will be little time to do it a month hence, with the rush of other work. When sponging add some fir tree oil or Aphine to the water. Now is the time to keep a sharp lookout for the dreaded cattleya fly. Look sharply after any swollen young growths; usually when cut open they will be found to contain either mature flies or larvae. Be sure to destroy every one which is found, as, once allowed to spread, they will work untold destruction. Fumigation will destroy some, but cutting out affected growths as soon as noted is the surest, though most radical remedy. Do not keep the cattleya house too warm; 55 to 58 degrees at night is sufficient. Except during severe weather, some ventilation may remain on all night, for cattleyas, above all orchids, love fresh air.

Dendrobiums.

At this season dendrobiums make a splendid show, which in variety far surpasses the cattleyas. D. nobile and its many forms, Wardianum, Ainsworthii, Cybele, chrysodiscus, splendissimum grandiflorum, eusmum, Juno, and many other charming hybrids are now at their best. Practically all these dendrobies are of easy culture and no commercial florist need be afraid of them. In repotting be careful not to use too large receptacles; small pots, pans or baskets grow the best plants. Use some sphagnum moss in the fern fiber. Any growths which have started from nodes on the old pseudo-bulbs should be cut off and placed six or eight together in 5-inch or 6-inch pans. They will make splendid plants in a couple of seasons. D. nobile and many hybrids can be propagated by cutting up the bulbs, which have flowered, into pieces, laying them on shallow flats of moss and spraying occasionally. After roots and young growths are nicely started they can be put several together in small pots or pans, and be kept in a warm, moist atmosphere, such as all this family of dendrobies revel in during the growing season.

SNAPDRAGON TURNING YELLOW.

Enclosed you will find a snapdragon plant with the edges of the leaves turned yellow. A number of my plants are affected this way and I am at a loss to know what the trouble is. If you can tell me the cause and remedy for it, the advice will be much appreciated.

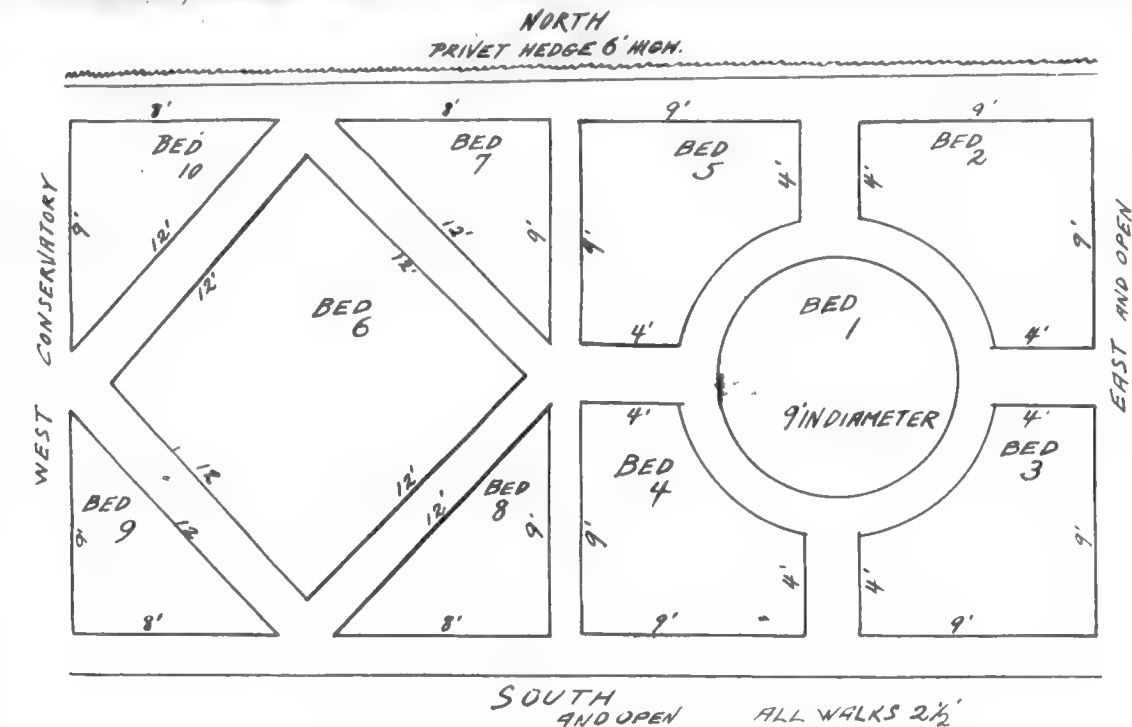

E. L.

The foliage has a scorched appearance. Snapdragons will not stand any heavy fumigation. Hydrocyanic acid gas, tobacco stems, or almost any of the tobacco extracts will scorch the foliage in this way. You must fumigate moderately where they are. Sometimes defective glass will focus the sun's rays and cause spots on the foliage. If the edges of the leaves were really yellow, and not brown, denoting an absence of chlorophyl in them, you should give the plants an application of some fertilizer such as soot, or Bon Arbor, either as a surface dressing or in liquid form. This will quickly improve the foliage.

FOOD FOR CINERARIAS.

I have a good sized batch of cinerarias, most of which are in bud, and a good many are showing color. After they have reached this stage, is there anything with which I can feed them to cause the flowers to develop fully and open more quickly? Of course; it is understood that I do not wish to harm the plants in any way. It seems to me the flowers develop slowly, and quite often by the time they are fully in bloom the lower foliage is no longer as pretty as it should be. My plants are looking fine now, and, if I could give them something to bring them into bloom more quickly, there would be no trouble in selling them. I shall be grateful for any advice through The Review.

J. B.

The proper time to feed cinerarias, and, in fact, any flowering plants, is before the flowers open. Feeding after the blooms are expanding has a tendency to make them softer and more flabby, in addition to taking away some of the rich coloring. A weak dose of cow or sheep manure water, with some soft coal soot added, can be given once in four or five days for a short time, but cease feeding as soon as some of the flowers are fully open. Feeding will not make the flowers open more quickly. To have cinerarias of good quality, they must be grown cool all the time; 40 to 45 degrees at night is sufficient. Also, keep your plants shaded from direct sunshine.

C. W.

A PLANTING PLAN.

Will you kindly advise me as to the most attractive way of planting the combination of ten flower beds shown in the diagram which I am enclosing? In giving your instructions, please write in the diagram the names of the plants to be used, or refer to the different beds by number. I shall have at planting time a general stock of good bedding plants, including the following geraniums: Paul Crampel, S. A. Nutt, Beaute Poitevine, E. G. Hill, A. Ricard, La Favorite, Mme. Landry, etc. I should like to use some good, short, hardy plants, that are good for cutting also.

B. J. P.

In selecting plants for your beds, I have given the chief consideration to two points, the necessity of using plants which are continuous bloomers and the necessity, also, of choosing colors which will not clash badly. Of course, if the whole planting were confined to two colors, such as pink and white, or red and white, or these colors with the addition of yellow, a better harmony could be had than if both red and pink were used. For these reasons I have kept the high colored geraniums at the ends. By short, hardy flowers for cutting, I am uncertain whether you intend merely hardy annuals or the inclusion of perennials; I have assumed, however, that you meant the former. In referring to the grounds to be planted, I shall designate the beds by the numbers on your diagram, which is here reproduced. I would suggest the following plants as suitable for your purpose:

Bed No. 1—Canna King Humbert or William Saunders; border of Coleus Golden Bedder. The bed would thus be scarlet, with a yellow border.

No. 2—Geranium S. A. Nutt; border of Geranium Mme. Salleroy, making the bed dark red, with a variegated border.

No. 3—Same as No. 2.

No. 4—Geranium La Favorite, white.

No. 5—Heliotrope, light variety preferred; border of sweet alyssum. A pale blue bed, with a white border.

No. 6—Center, Canna Florence Vaughan or some other good yellow variety; double row or band of Salvia Bonfire, scarlet; border of Coleus Golden Bedder, yellow.

No. 7—Petunias, single white or pink and white; all white would be best. Dot plants of same color of ten weeks' stocks.

No. 8—Verbenas, pink. Dot plants of pink ten weeks' stocks.

No. 9—Ageratum, light variety, such as Princess Victoria Louise; border of Alyssum Little Gem, making a pale blue bed, with a white border.

No. 10—Geranium Beaute Poitevine, pink; border of Alyssum Little Gem, white.

If you wish, you can leave out the borderings from all but the two central beds, as beds of one solid color are in excellent taste. The bordering of alyssum is liked by many; so, also, is the bordering of Mme. Salleroy. You could have more variety of plants in the beds, but you will find that you get a far better effect by blocking the colors more. In planting bed No. 6, be sure to keep the plants in straight lines. If the beds numbered from 6 to 10, inclusive, had corresponded with the other five, I should have liked them better, but as they are probably already in place, this cannot well be changed.

By dotting plants I mean to place them rather thinly over the bed. In a bed of pink or red, use white or yellow, and vice versa. Asters, gladioli, annual larkspurs and other plants can be used in this way.

DANVILLE FLORISTS ACTIVE.

The florists of Danville are enthusiastic over the coming state convention and are all taking a more or less active part in its preparation. The club was organized two months ago for the special purpose of making arrangements for this meeting. The officers elected at that time were: President, H. E. Smith; vice-president, Peter Britz; treasurer, Chas. C. Walker, and secretary, Joseph J. Smith. The other members of the club are: W. J. Anker, Chas. Britz, R. L. Burgoyne, Chas. Bottorff, H. D. Caldwell, Harry Dubuis, John Evans, Edgar Osborn, Wm. C. Wheelchel, C. A. Wright and Bruce R. Yount.

While there has been plenty of money placed at our disposal, we prefer to do the job of decorating and arranging at the exhibition hall ourselves, thereby bringing all together on a common ground, allowing us to become better acquainted and providing a sort of outing and diversion from the regular grind of business. We are expecting to find a great deal of enjoyment, and, at the same time, to stimulate the flower business, while engaged in this, our labor of love.

As for the convention, we feel assured that this will surpass any state or bi-state convention ever held, and there will be benefits of such a character that no up-to-date florist can afford to miss.

The trip to the experimental station at Urbana will afford an opportunity for the florists to see and discuss for themselves the advancement that is being made in the scientific production of cut flowers and plants, and the progress in the overcoming of the many diseases of vegetation, more especially those affecting plants grown under glass. Our club believes that as the state has gone to the expense of establishing and maintaining this institution for the benefit of the florists, they should show more interest and desire to assist in the improvement of the quality and production of our wares, as well as the elevation of the cultivation of flowers as an art.

Danville is centrally located and easy of access to all florists in both Illinois and Indiana. We have a number of first-class hotels, with room for everyone, and we can see no reason why there should not be a large attendance.

The success of the exhibition is assured, as we have sold all the space we had arranged for the display of florists' supplies, etc., and there have been enough reports received from growers of cut flowers and plants to make a large showing of the new and standard varieties of carnations, roses, sweet peas, etc. We have provided a meeting room within the exhibition hall, so that we will be able to keep together and get the most out of the meeting.

Such a convention as we shall have, March 10 and 11, cannot result otherwise than in much benefit to the trade in general, from the smallest storekeeper to the largest grower or wholesale dealer in attendance. There will be discussed at this convention the most vital topics affecting florists, and more especially the grower of cut flowers, who, while he may be satisfied and prosperous under his present method, will learn that with increased knowledge and more advanced methods he may surpass even his own expectations.

Let us get together and make this, the first bi-state florists' convention, the largest and the most beneficial, for it is truly said, by Edmund Burke, that he who wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill. Our antagonist is our helper.

Joseph J. Smith,
Sec'y Danville Florists' Club.

HOTELS AT DANVILLE, ILL.

The state florists' societies of Illinois and Indiana will hold a joint meeting at Danville, Ill., almost on the line between the two states, March 10, and March 11 will proceed by trolley to Champaign, Ill., to inspect the experiments in floriculture that are being carried on there.

A. C. Kohlbrand, vice-president for the Illinois organization, has phoned the following list of hotels of Danville:

Hotel	Plan	Rate	Cafe
Plaza	Euro.	$1.00 to $2.50	Yes
Savoy	Euro.	1.00 to 2.50	Yes
Aetna	Am.	2.50 to 3.50	No
Saratoga	Euro.	.75 to 1.50	Yes
Grand	Euro.	1.00	Yes

The Plaza is to be the scene of the trade's banquet on the evening of March 10.

Vice-president Kohlbrand expects a large party to leave Chicago at 11:10 a. m. March 10, on the C. & E. I. railroad. The train is due at Danville at 2:25 p. m., but does not run regularly on time. Those who make exhibits will go the night before, or at 7:43 a. m., due in Danville at noon.

KANSAS CITY.*The Market.

The market was well stocked last week with everything except roses, which are still scarce. There is a slight increase, however, in the supply of roses, with the exception of red varieties and the better grades of pink. There are plenty of good carnations and the split ones are declining fast in price. Bulbous stock was overabundant last week, especially Paper Whites, which everybody seems to be growing. Easter lilies are more plentiful and are good. Sweet peas and snapdragons are selling at good prices and are always wanted. The report of local growers is that bulbous stock will be better from now on.

Club News.

A meeting will be held Friday evening, March 6, at Mrs. T. A. Moseley's place, 710 Minnesota avenue, Kansas City, Kan. A prize worth $10 will be given by Wertheimer Bros. It is also announced that Samuel Seligman will give two prizes for the bringing in of new club members—one prize each to the man and woman who make the best records in securing members by September 1, 1914. The club has increased its membership at every meeting since it was organized and there is room for more. It is hoped that a membership of 400 will be secured by this time next year.

Various Notes.

On Sunday, February 22, the Kansas City Star contained a good article on "Mixing Flowers with Business," by A. F. Barbe, florist and city councilman. He gave a brief account of the use of window boxes as he had seen them abroad two summers ago in the business sections of cities in Germany, Belgium, France and Switzerland, as well as in the residence districts. There were window boxes everywhere, and Mr. Barbe believes that a campaign in favor of these ought to be started in every large city in America, as civic improvement during the summer months, with the effect of giving the city a dress of gay blossoms and trailing vines, to relieve the ugliness of bare masonry and monotonous architecture that we see through the winter months. If the florists' clubs of every city would appoint a publicity committee and have such articles as this printed where the public can see them, it would help to increase business for everybody. There are other ideas, also, that ought to be placed before the public, and the publication of such ideas should be one of the objects of every florists' club.

Samuel Seligman, representing Wertheimer Bros., is well pleased with trade in this vicinity.

T. J. Noll & Co. report that business is greater than what they had planned for. Though great preparations were made for handling increased consignments from local growers, the trade is taking all the stock that the firm can get hold of.

W. J. Barnes had a heavy run on funeral work last week. For the month of February business was better than a year ago.

Jacob Tobler, of the Bunker Hill Greenhouses, has his place in good shape and is expecting to do a big spring business.

W. J. B.

OBITUARY.*Fred Vetter.

The demise of Fred Vetter, at Portland, Ore., occurred February 22. He had been ill for some time with gastritis, but his death was unexpected. Mr. Vetter was well known in trade circles in Boston and Rochester, but of late had been in charge of the Echenberger range at Portland. The remains were sent to Rochester for burial.

Arthur C. Canfield.

Arthur C. Canfield, of Springfield, Ill., aged 49 years, died suddenly at his home at 1330 South State street, February 20, after a week's illness, of heart trouble. His death came unexpectedly during a convulsion.

Mr. Canfield was proprietor of greenhouses at South Grand avenue and State street and at Fourth street and Capitol avenue, and had a wide acquaintance among the business men of the city.

He is survived by two children, Marian and Russell, at present in California; two brothers, Fred B. Canfield, of Piermont, N. J., and Harry Canfield, residing at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Higby, of Pennsylvania, and Miss Ruth Canfield, of Springfield.

Le Roy, Ill.—At the greenhouses of L. L. Fry a double calla recently appeared. Double-spated callas are of frequent occurrence, but this was the first one ever seen in Le Roy and it attracted no little attention.

Brockton, Mass.—Fire starting from an overheated boiler caused $15,000 damage in the Copeland Street Greenhouses, owned by W. J. Marshall, February 25. What stock escaped the fire was destroyed by the cold, as practically every pane in the house was broken.

...NEWS NOTES...

Columbus, Ind.—Charles S. Barnaby has opened a flower store at 428 Fifth street, in the Irwin block.

Southington, Conn.—Philip J. Lunden, of the firm of Olson & Lunden, the bankruptcy proceedings of which were reported in The Review about six weeks ago, will engage in business again in Bridgeport.

Salem, Mass.—McGee, Geary & Co. experienced a severe loss in the death of the genial Dennis Hallahan. Ready of wit and a whole-souled fellow, he left a host of friends to mourn his demise.

Palmer, Mass.—Ernest L. Johnson, who has been in charge of the greenhouse at the Monson state hospital for some years, is building a greenhouse at his residence and will engage in business for himself.

Larned, Kan.—Joel Smith, proprietor of the Larned Greenhouses, says he has had a good trade this winter. There was not much cold weather here, and little snow. Prospects are for a good season this coming spring.

Southampton, N. Y.—Clarence W. Moore, formerly a restaurant owner here, and his brother, Bryant Moore, formerly of Patchogue, will carry on a florists' business in partnership, occupying the old Elwood place on Hill street.

Danielson, Conn.—Franklin & Crosby escaped the recent freeze and have been able to assist their less fortunate neighbors. Some time ago they originated a new wax bean and the seed branch of the business has been much benefited by the publicity given it.

Hastings, Neb.—Charles W. Winkler has been quite sick for over a year, sinking so low at times that there was little hope of his recovery. He is better now, however, although still extremely weak. Business has been exceptionally good lately. Some extra fine White Enchantress and Rose-pink Enchantress are being cut.

Blair, Neb.—Rodgers & Pieper, proprietors of the Blair Floral Co., have more than doubled their plant since they purchased the range of J. M. Reid a little over a year ago. To the 3,500 feet of glass thus acquired, they added the houses of the Crowell Memorial Home, all of which they moved to the northeast part of town, where they have now 8,000 square feet of glass. The large field which Rodgers & Pieper have opened up fully justified the extensions and improvements made in the plant.

Clyde, O.—In the middle of the cold spell the supply of gas from the local concern gave out entirely February 24, with the temperature 10 degrees below zero. As a result, the boiler room of the Clyde Carnationary was a favorite retreat of the neighbors, who tried to cook their coffee and potatoes on the hot coals. E. E. Hall, of this firm, whose sole means of locomotion since he was confined to the house in November, 1911, has been an invalid's chair, was forced to make the trip to the boiler room, also, to avoid freezing in his residence.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE"

[Readers are invited to contribute to this column. No story is so old that it isn't new to someone, but the fresher the better. No bar against originality. If clippings are sent, add name of the paper.]

A man may guy,
And a man may lie,
And a man may puff and blow,
But he can't get trade,
Sitting in the shade,
Waiting for business to grow!

If it takes a cutworm thirty minutes to eat out a carnation bud, asks R. W. H., how long will it take a sowbug to kick a petunia full of holes?

A Bumper Crop.

For a bet a young seedsman of Leeds Rashly swallowed six packets of seeds;
In a month—silly ass!
He was covered with grass,
And he couldn't sit down for the weeds.
—A British Exchange.

Beat Him to It.

A veterinary advised a florist who had a sick horse to put the medicine in an iron tube, put the tube in the horse's mouth and blow the medicine down his throat.

The next day he called to see the florist and found him quite sick.

"What happened?" inquired the horse doctor.

She Hadn't Been a Sailor.

An Irish laborer of Pennsylvania had the good fortune to own an acre of oil land. He became extremely wealthy and moved to New York, where in due time he furnished the corpse for a fashionable funeral. Floral designs of all kinds were in evidence, all of which, save one, were proudly exhibited at the wake. This one was an anchor, which the old lady put away out of sight. After the funeral she showed it to her son and, taking it to be a reminder of the time when Pat was a poor laborer, said, "Jerry, who the dickens d'ye s'pose sint that pick?"

Advice From the Nursery.

An anxious mother determined to telephone the day nursery to ask for some advice in regard to her child. The following conversation ensued:
"Hello! Is this the nursery?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"I am so worried about my little Rose!"
"Wat seems to be der madder?"
"Oh, not so much, perhaps; just a general listlessness and lack of life."
"Ain't growing right, eh?"
"No, sir."
"Well, I vill tell you vat to do. You dake der scissors und cut off about two inches from der limbs und—"
"Wh-a-at?"
"I say, dake der scissors und cut off about two inches from der limbs, und den turn der garten hose on it for about four hours in der morning—"
"Wh-a-at?" The receiver vibrated at her tone.
"Turn der garten hose on it for about four hours in der morning, und den pile a lot of black dirt all around und springle mit insect powder all ofer der top—"
"Sir-r-r!"
"Springle mit insect powder all ofer der top. You know usually it is noddings but pugs dot—"
"How dare you, sir? What do you mean by such language to me?"
"Noddings but pugs usually causes der troubles, and den you vant to vash der rose mit a liquid preparation I haf for sale here—"
"Who in the world are you, anyway?"
"Gottfried Bluber, der florist."
"Oo-o-oh!" rather weakly. "It's the wrong number. Good-by."

...NEWS NOTES...

Blue Mound, Kan.—Mrs. Arthur Foster reports a fair trade in cut flowers, mostly funeral work, with a large number of orders for plants on file for spring delivery.

West Haven, Conn.—Thos. Pattison reports excellent business. He is fortunate in having a good crop of bulbous stock, particularly single narcissi. Double Von Sions are not so popular.

Hutchinson, Kan.—C. A. Anderson has resigned from his position as superintendent of the Underwood Greenhouses and expects to move next spring to Canon City, Colo., where he will engage in business for himself.

Muncie, Ind.—Joseph E. McKinley, proprietor of the Southside Floral Co., says that he is more than pleased with the progress made by this comparatively new concern. Business has increased rapidly and he considers that a permanent success is assured.

Olean, N. Y.—January and February have been record-breakers in temperature, the thermometer having registered as low as 38 degrees below zero. Elmer Rawlings found it necessary to add a new fifty horse-power steam boiler to his heating plant and it was installed just in time to ward off the extreme cold.

Jasper, Mo.—Although trade has not been at its best this winter, W. H. Hager looks for a large sale of both flower and vegetable plants in the spring. He has built a house, 14x30 feet, for begonias and geraniums, of which he has a good collection. This summer he will build a house of the same size for carnations.

Black Hall, Conn.—Thomas L. Brown, who has an extensive vegetable business here, has left for Winston-Salem, N. C., to manage a 700-acre plantation. Before he came to Black Hall he was superintendent at the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, N. C. Last autumn he was superintendent of products of the Connecticut Fair Association of Hartford.

Birmingham, Ala.—An organization of florists and members of other horticultural trades has been effected and the following officers chosen: President, W. H. Kessler; vice-president, Hugh Seales; treasurer, Walter Puckett, and secretary, D. P. Durban. On the executive committee are John L. Parker, George McVay, Jr., and George H. Luffman. The club intends to boom business in connection with the "city beautiful" movement now under way.

Holyoke, Mass.—At the February meeting of the Florists' and Gardeners' Club, at the greenhouses of Gallivan Bros., it was voted to hold the second annual fall show at Northampton, in the fall, and the annual banquet at Boyden's Inn, Northampton, March 1. The arrangements for the big dinner were made by a committee composed of R. S. Carey, of South Hadley Falls; Ned Hennessey, of Northampton, and James Whiting, of Amherst. The committee in charge of the preliminary arrangements for the show includes James Whiting, R. S. Carey, George H. Sinclair and George Strugnell, of Holyoke, and Frank Barnard, of Northampton.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

Incorporated by Act of Congress, March 4, 1901.
Officers for 1914: President, Theodore Wirth, Minneapolis; vice-president, Patrick Welch, Boston; Secretary, John Young, 53 W. 28th St., New York City; treasurer, W. F. Kasting, Buffalo.
Thirtieth annual convention, Boston, Mass., August 18 to 21, 1914.

Results bring advertising.
The Review brings results.

For a curtain-raiser, March did the lion act over a large part of the United States. The arrival of the lamb will be awaited with pleasant anticipations.

Not a few subscribers save themselves the bother of annual renewal by sending The Review $2, $3, or sometimes $5, instead of the dollar-bill that insures fifty-two visits of the paper.

CHARLES W. JOHNSON, secretary of the Chrysanthemum Society of America, has compiled a table showing in full and detail the work of the society's examining committees for the season of 1913, as printed in The Review from week to week last October and November.

THE trouble with giving a man more credit than he is entitled to is that the seller deludes himself into believing he is the only one to whom an excessive sum is owing. Later it develops that the man of insecure credit owes everyone who will trust him and none of the sellers would have extended credit had they been aware of the aggregate amount of the debts.

NOT unlike the appearance of the first hand-organ as a harbinger of spring is the increase in the classified ads in The Review. The increase in these busy little liners is almost two pages this week and, incidentally, it sets a new record for this date. These inexpensive little ads are wonderful result bringers and practically everyone who has surplus plants is using them.

THE best index to the character of its circulation is the class of advertising a publication carries. If you note a publication carries regularly advertising that makes it appeal to the private planter, or the private gardener, you may be sure that publication's circulation largely is of the classes indicated, otherwise the advertisers would not be spending their money there. On the other hand, if a publication carries only strictly trade advertising, you may be sure it has strictly trade circulation.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

Meeting of Board of Directors.

President Theodore Wirth directs me to call a meeting of the board of directors of the S. A. F. at the Parker House, Boston, March 17. The first session will be called to order promptly at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 17.

President Wirth also directs me to request all state vice-presidents and secretaries of the different florists' clubs to communicate with this office at once, stating any business that they would like to have acted upon at the meeting of the board of directors. President Wirth is especially desirous that all florists' clubs make a report to me at once as to what their respective organizations are doing in regard to affiliation.

John Young, Sec'y.

THEY SET THE PACE.

Ordinarily a man keeps hustling to get business; sometimes, however, business keeps a man hustling to catch up with it. The times when the latter is the case usually occur when the man, if he is a florist, has put a Classified Ad in The Review. These little wonder-workers keep a man on the jump. See what happened to this florist:

Please discontinue my fuchsia ad for a while, so I can catch up. Impossible to fill all orders. One took 1,000, and I filled an order today for 1,500. No end to small orders.—B. B. Pohlmann, Rockford, Ill., February 2, 1914.

CHICAGO.

The Great Central Market.

The overdue relaxation in market conditions arrived with Lent. The change had been expected for a fortnight or more, so that no one was surprised when supply, demand and prices all eased at the same time. The weather was as much responsible as the arrival of Lent. The erstwhile period of sackcloth and cinders has not been much of a market factor the last few years, but its effect is plainly evident for the first few days following Ash Wednesday. This year Lent brought the break in the weather; that was all the growers needed to start the heavy cuts. Rose crops that were going off at Christmas did not get into full swing again until the last three days of February. They no doubt would have come along quite a little sooner except that both January and February were abnormally dark and February also was unusually cold. The two or three springlike days at the end of the month were enough to start the crops. March came in like the proverbial lion, which served to check the cuts a little, and demand is sure to increase about the time this issue of The Review gets into the hands of the trade, but there is little chance of any scarcity of any kind of flowers from this time on.

If there is anything that is not in abundant supply it is first-class Beauties. There have been as many Beauties as have been called for lately, but the quality is not all that could be desired. There is no shortage of roses; no buyer need hesitate. One old hand at the business estimates that the average value fell fifty per cent last week, but the growers, nevertheless, received larger checks, for the cuts more than doubled. Of course a few of the best roses still are being sold at the former

SPENCER PEAS

THE FINEST STOCK EVER OFFERED IN WINTER

WE ARE headquarters for the fancy winter-blooming Sweet Peas of the Spencer type, the famous stock grown by H. Wehrman, of Maywood, Ill., G. Swenson, of Elmhurst, Ill., as well as several others. We introduced this splendid new type of winter sweet pea in this market last season—but we could not anywhere near meet the demand. This year we have them by thousands—light pink, Blanche Ferry pink, dark pink and lavender. They are wonderful sellers. Now in their prime. Prices reasonable. Try them.

FANCY ROSES

You can get all the roses you need if you send your order to us. Not many short roses—ours are mostly medium length stems, stock that is second to none. If you want the best, order our SPECIALS. A full line

MILADY	KILLARNEY	RICHMOND
WARD	SUNBURST	BULGARIE
WHITE KILLARNEY	KILLARNEY QUEEN

VIOLETS

A large supply, home-grown singles, home-grown doubles and Hudson River doubles.

BULB STOCK

CARNATIONS

For years it has been recognized that we have the highest average quality of any large supply of carnations—almost all of our stock will meet the needs of the most exacting buyer. It not only is good stock when it leaves us, but it is good stock when it reaches the out-of-town retailer—and it pleases HIS customers.

VALLEY

You always can get fine Valley here. We handle the Chicago Market brand exclusively.

FREESIA

We have a novelty in fancy pink and yellow Freesia, as well as white.

FANCY CATTLEYA ORCHIDS

Our Cattleyas are home-grown and will give better satisfaction than the lower priced stock that is reconsigned by Eastern commission houses.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES

Try us on short and medium Beauties. We have a large cut that is of good quality for this season of the year, and no doubt you can use them at a good profit to yourself while pleasing your customers.

EASTER LILIES

prices, but it is not possible to clean up at regular rates and it has been the inducement offered the buyer who could use a big lot of yesterday's roses that has pulled down the average. There are plenty of short roses, something that has not been the case in the preceding two months. The quality of all roses is good for the price.

Next to the increase in the supply of roses the most important factor has been the increase in the sweet pea picks. The sweet pea growers have been delayed even more than the rose growers in getting into crop, but they got going last week. There are plenty of peas; so many, in fact, that daily clearances are difficult and prices therefore somewhat unstable. The peas are of splendid quality and they sell as well as anything on the list. There is good, long-stemmed stock of the old varieties that once were thought fine for winter, but these former favorites are quite outclassed by the newer winter-flowering Spencer type. The color of some of these new peas is not just what the retailers want, but the big, wavy flowers, usually three and frequently four on a stem, with all the stem anyone possibly could use, makes them sell well in every store that does anything more than funeral work. The Spencer peas are coming to market from a number of growers, and from some of them in considerable quantity. It is common report that a Maywood grower who is supplying four wholesalers invested $2,800 in seed of these peas, incredible as that may sound.

The carnation growers still are shy on quality. The cut is abundant, but there are not too many really good carnations. The price of even the best has been affected by the abundance of other stock, while the increase in the supply of short roses has made it even more difficult than before to clear the large supply of carnations that are fit only for funeral work. Both local single and eastern double violets have been a glut. The singles have had the best sale. Clean-up sales of the doubles were made last week, according to the Hellenic merchants, at as little as 5 cents a bunch. Bulbous stock of all kinds is plentiful and, except for a few fancy tulips, the

Kidwell Buys Muir's Oldest Stand.

J. F. Kidwell set two more of the younger generation up in business February 28, when he closed a deal for the purchase of the Muir establishment at 3530 Michigan avenue, taking possession March 2. The purchase includes store and greenhouses—everything at that address except the real estate, which is held under lease. This Muir stand is one of the oldest in the city, having been for many years the headquarters of S. Muir, who started in the florists' business in 1865 and opened the Thirty-fifth street store, as it is known, in 1883. Since the death of S. Muir the business has been continued by his estate under the management of his son, John T. Muir, who opened a branch at 4647 Grand boulevard in 1906 and ment of John F. Kidwell, Jr., and his cousin, Clarence Ellsworth. Mr. Kidwell, Sr., will continue to make his headquarters at the old stand of J. F. Kidwell & Bro., at 3806 Wentworth avenue, where he will be assisted by James Kidwell, son of William Kidwell, whose headquarters are at the store at 929 East Forty-third street. Some years ago Wellworth Farm at Downers Grove, Ill., was placed in charge of J. F. Kidwell's oldest son, Frank N. Kidwell, and his nephew, Rudolph C. Ellsworth, so that the Kidwell family now has four establishments.

Pruner Causes Dickinson's Arrest.

As an aftermath of the failure of E. H. Hunt, Inc., about a year ago, Charles M. Dickinson, who was manager of the defunct concern, was arrested March 3 at Stony Butte, Mont., and detectives from the City hall have been sent to bring him back to Chicago.

The warrant on which Mr. Dickinson was arrested was sworn out by C. E. Pruner, who was a minority stockholder in the Hunt corporation. The charge is the embezzlement of $2,500. E. C. Mapledoram, attorney for Mr. Dickinson, states that the warrant was procured in April, 1913, and that his client was in Chicago at the time. He also states that the charge is based on a transaction that is entered on the Hunt books as a loan to Mr. Dickinson, made at a time when Mrs. E. H. Hunt, his mother, was in a position legally to make such disposition of the corporate funds. Charles Erne, receiver for the Hunt corporation, is not a party to the present action and declines to make any statement except that the creditors' interests will be looked after. Mr. Pruner is reported as being in Kansas City March 4.

Retailers Meet.

The monthly meeting of the Retail Florists' Association was held Monday evening, March 2, at 170 West Jackson boulevard. The attendance was ninety, according to the count of one of the members, and a spirit of mutual interest was displayed. There were exhibits by several firms, which attracted attention. Poehlmann Bros. Co. displayed a line of baskets and demonstrated the Bulldog paper clip. Zech & Mann staged five fine vases of Butterfly sweet peas. Wertheimer Bros. showed the newest creations in Easter ribbons, and another showcase was presented by Sam Seligman, on behalf of that firm, to be given as a prize to be awarded at the next meeting. Business talks were made by S. Freund, of the A. A. Arnold Paper Box Co.; by Robert Karlstrom, representing W. A. Manda, Inc.; by Sam Seligman, of Wertheimer Bros.; by A. Zech, of Zech & Mann; by T. Those not holding membership cards were invited to depart when the real association meeting was called to order.

Various Notes.

The 5-story and basement building 48x162 at 127 to 131 North Wabash avenue has been leased to Colby & Sons, furniture dealers, for a term of twenty-five years at an average net annual rental of $17,000. Bassett & Washburn occupy the front half of the second floor and happen to hold the longest lease of any of the tenants. They can hold possession until May 1, 1916. The building is to be remodeled for Colby & Sons and an offer has been made for the florists' lease, but Mr. Washburn will not consider it until he sees another store to his liking.

Having decided to go in a little stronger than at first planned, Meyer & Dramm, the new firm at Elmhurst, the debut of which was announced in last week's issue of The Review, has doubled its order with the John C. Moninger Co. and will put up two detached houses, each 42x400. Mr. Meyer stated March 3 that an order has been given A. N. Pierson, Inc., for 10,000 Killarney Brilliant, 5,000 White Killarney and 2,000 Hadley rose plants. Arrangements have been made with the E. C. Amling Co. for marketing the cut.

The Chicago Florists' Club meets March 5 at the Hotel La Salle and the secretary announces a novelty night, the understanding being that growers of new roses are especially invited to make exhibits. The question of affiliating with the S. A. F. will be the special order of business, but a number of other subjects are down for discussion.

When Pyfer & Olsem acquired the Star Floral Co., at Wilmette, they found themselves with a prosperous retail department and John Flint, manager for the former proprietor, has been retained to keep the retail branch growing.

March 2 Wieter Bros. received 3,000 grafted plants of Killarney Brilliant rose from A. N. Pierson, Cromwell, Conn.

Having spent a week in the office, without a breath of fresh air, Fred Klingel walked from Niles Center to Morton Grove in the snow storm Sunday afternoon, March 1. He stopped on his way to visit his uncle, Emil Nelson, who has a fine range of seven houses about half way between the two railroad stations. Mr. Nelson is one of the oldest rose growers in this section, having been at it over twenty years. He has his houses planted with Killarney, White Killarney and a few Maryland and Hilda. He ships half his cut to Erne & Klingel and half to John Kruchten.

cess may not lead the Field store, with its unequaled facilities, to start a fully equipped flower department. With the competent manager, Field's could do the flower business of the town.

If early inquiries are any indication, St. Patrick's day will see an unprecedented demand for white carnations. A. L. Vaughan reports inquiries for quotations on thousand lots as early as February 28.

The order for the material for Bassett & Washburn's new range of five houses, each 34x600, has been placed with the King Construction Co., North Tonawanda, N. Y., and the first car of material has been received.

The 2-year-old son of William Lohrman, with the A. L. Randall Co., fell from a third story window February 27, alighting in a snowbank and escaping absolutely without injury.

The average florist will say that February was an unusually dark and unfavorable month for cut flower growing, but the weather man, who keeps a daily record, has figured out that in February Chicago had fifty-nine per cent of the possible number of hours of sun. The average for February over a series of years is only fifty-one per cent. The temperature, however, averaged 5 degrees below normal.

Because it worked well last year, the Fleischman Floral Co. arranged a big special sale to begin the first Monday in Lent and announced it with a full page advertisement in the leading morning daily, costing nearly $600. It set tongues wagging, for the prices looked extremely low by comparison with the wholesale values of flowers a fortnight before. Wholesalers in general offered to put retailers in position to compete with the Fleischman prices if they were willing to buy in thousand lots, and just to show that it could be done, John Mangel used the same paper the following day with a list quoting roses at two-thirds the Fleischman prices.

The first Spanish iris of the season was cut by Poehlmann Bros. Co. March 2. Last season this was an excellent seller.

The counter trade that had been awakened by the few warm days at the end of February was put to sleep again by the wintry start of March, according to A. C. Shaffer, of Winter-son's Seed Store.

Three days of last week were spent by E. E. Pieser in entertaining his nephew, at whose ranch in Canada he spent two months last summer.

On account of alterations, John H. McNeilly is carrying on business under some difficulty at the present time. When completed his store at 1155 East Sixty-third street will be one of the finest in the city.

Al. Schmidt, gardener for J. J. Mitchell, of Lake Geneva, Wis., has left for a two months' trip to the Pacific coast. He will visit Los Angeles, San Francisco and other points of interest.

A business stay that was intended to be only for a few days, but which has been extended almost three weeks on account of many orders, has been the experience of R. Karlstrom, who represents W. A. Manda, Inc., South Orange, N. J. Mr. Karlstrom expects to go east this week.

A. A. Arnold, of the box company bearing his name, is in Florida for the winter.

The employees of Bassett & Washburn arranged an elaborate joke decoration on the desk of C. L. Washburn February 26, the occasion of that gentleman's fifty-sixth birthday anniversary, and the following evening a number of the leading business men of Hinsdale tendered him a testimonial dinner.

A deal which had promised to bring the store of the Chicago Flower Growers' Association closer to the center of wholesale cut flower activities fell through last week when Sharp & Smith closed a lease for another building on Michigan avenue. This firm of surgical appliance dealers had for some time been looking for a location on the avenue north of Randolph street and made a good offer for the florists' unexpired lease, subject to the landlord's willingness to extend the lease and remodel the building. He delayed his decision until Sharp & Smith decided to close a deal they liked less well. Had the sale gone through it doubtless would have brought the association to Wabash avenue, where there are several good spaces now available.

A new sample and sales room has been installed by the A. L. Randall Co., occupying one side of the third floor. The novelty baskets are well shown in electrically lighted display cases.

Record has been made of the purchase by Albert Fuchs, ex-florist, of and carnations are especially plentiful. Carnations could be bought last week as low as $2 per hundred for good stock. Valley is abundant, with few buyers. Lilies are moving fairly well. Sweet peas have been sold at 20 cents per hundred and violets as low as 10 cents per hundred. Bulbous stock of all kinds is to be had in good quality at a low figure and is moving slowly. Greens of all kinds are falling short of the demand. Smilax and Asparagus plumosus are especially scarce. In a general summing up cut flowers of every description are plentiful, demand fair, and prices low.

Various Notes.

Lexington market presented a beautiful sight to the public view February 28. The street for half a square was literally in bloom, for every florist was there, with stalls full of both cut flowers and plants of all descriptions. Carnations were most in evidence in the cut flower line, although hyacinths, tulips and jonquils were to be had in any quantity, with prices extremely low. Azaleas and potted hyacinths had the lead in pot plants, although some good cinerarias and primulas were seen. Cyclamens seem to be played out; only a few small plants were to be had. On every street corner in the shopping district the street vendors were in evidence, with boxes of cut flowers, offering them at prices so low that one was almost tempted to believe flowers were to be found growing wild and were to be had for the mere picking.

C. E. Akehurst, of White Marsh, is shipping some fine blooms of the new carnation, Mrs. C. E. Akehurst, to the Pennock-Meehan Co.

While going home from market February 24 the wagon of James Glass was struck by a street car. The top was demolished and the wagon upset and the flowers strewn over the street. Mrs. Glass was in the wagon with the driver, but both escaped injury beyond being shaken up.

The writer recently visited the greenhouses of B. G. Merritt & Co., at Grange, in Baltimore county, and saw some good roses. Radiance and Double White Killarney showed up the best. This firm has a house of American Beauties which look promising for a later cutting, being off crop at present. Richmond, Milady and Double Pink Killarney are also grown. They have a house of red carnations, divided between Beacon, The Herald and Commodore, which was in good crop. This firm has recently purchased a White gasoline automobile, which is to be fitted with a convertible body for hauling or for pleasure. The Pennock-Meehan Co., of Washington, is receiving all the products of this establishment.

The Eastern Market.

Lion's day brought a storm of such fierceness that its effect on the cut flower market overshadows everything else. Snow began falling quietly late in the morning. By noon it increased in violence. The wind rose in the afternoon, the snow continued all day and by night a terrific blizzard was raging, which kept up until the following morning. The temperature fell steadily from 38 degrees to 14 degrees. The force of the wind caused huge drifts that greatly hampered the railroads and express companies. Communication with the south and west was fairly good, but with the north and northwest it was cut off for some time. Important sources of supply, such as North Wales and Roelofs, could not be reached either by rail or telephone, while New York, with its wonderful service, was buried out of sight and had to be counted out so far as business was concerned. The effects of the storm will not be known at once, but it can be safely said that it will take the market a long time to recover. While the city was in fairly good shape, thanks to the great efforts to keep the trolleys going, many of the suburbs were buried in snow. Shopping in the center of the city was practically at a standstill, the flowers left over from Saturday and a few arriving Monday proving ample for requirements. This statement must be slightly qualified by adding that there were varieties and grades of flowers that could not be had as in ordinary times.

The market has been weakening since the arrival of Lent. The additional slap given by the storm completely demoralized it. Roses and carnations suffered. Violets, sweet peas and many other flowers went completely to smash. Prices are weak and irregular; average prices to the growers must necessarily be far below what they have been, because the outlet for much stock has been cut off.

There are one or two other points in the market that should be brought out. A couple of warm, bright days last week brought in an immense quantity of stock, just when the demand was slackening. This was noticed particu-

Various Notes.

Martin Reukauf has returned from the west.

Fred Cowperthwait has accepted the position of store superintendent with the Henry F. Michell Co. He commenced work February 28.

Stokes Bros. Co. reports having just unloaded the finest cargo of cypress boards ever received. The improvement in cypress, coming at a time when hemlock is getting out of reach, is a boon to the growers.

Robert Shoch has returned from down east.

Leo Niessen will be a judge at the New York flower show.

William H. Smith assists Herbert W.

Johnson, Jr., as floor manager of the Johnson Seed Co.

Eugene Bernheimer is one of the most popular florists in town; many expressions of sympathy and good feeling for him are heard on all sides.

Henry A. Dreer, Inc., has its new store in good running order. The two stores now appear as one.

Robert Scott & Son were able to get their flowers into town on time March 2, despite the storm.

Joseph G. Neidinger is making a hit with his new vase basket.

R. A. Vincent, son of Richard Vincent, Jr., White Marsh, Md., is an authority on geraniums.

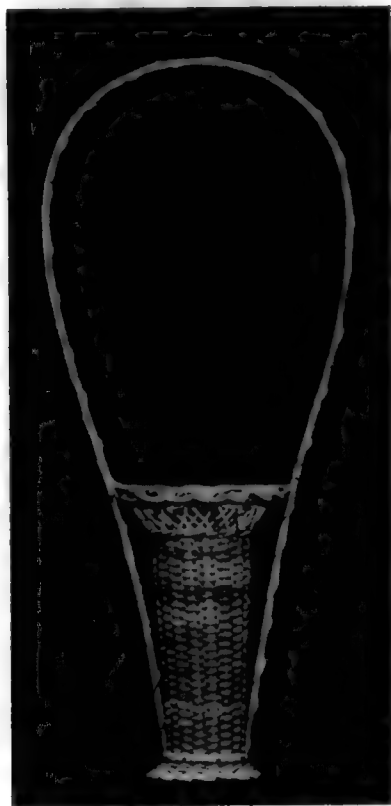

The Henry F. Michell Co. is issuing its first catalogue on hardy perennials.

lary in carnations, which, from being quite scarce, became surprisingly plentiful. So, also, with sweet peas; the Spencer type fell from $2 per hundred to $1.50 and $1. This means that $1.50 was asked for the Spencers and $1 accepted where the buyer could use a quantity and was not particular about selection. It further means that the fine winter-flowering varieties of sweet peas that ought to bring $1 per hundred at this season were well sold at 60 cents per hundred and went begging, oftentimes, at that price. Tulips were terribly hard to sell. In many cases they were not sold at all, and the rest of the bulbous stock was nearly as bad. Greens continued scarce, but in the general mess this was scarcely noticed.

The Market.

The February hoodoo is dead. Far more depressing than Lent has been the abominable weather. Last week, until near its close, was no exception to the rule, and the whole month has been just one snow storm and cold wave after another. The clean-up Saturday was at great concessions from listed prices and in large quantities the buyer was supreme. Street merchants made violets their merchandise, and the warmer weather made safe the exposure of any kind of flowers.

Lent seems to be more effective this year than usual in decreasing the retail cut flower trade, and the big plantsmen say there is a complete cessation of demand from this department of the business for blooming plants.

All roses, from American Beauties through the long list of new and old varieties, are sharing in the general depression, and at the same time daily receipts are increasing. The scarcity of the short-stemmed grades is no longer complained of. Prices hold firm on the selected stock of a few of the popular rose novelties, of which the supply is still limited. Carnations broke early in the week and reached low-water mark Saturday. Only the novelties hold steady at quoted rates. Of the older varieties there are already more than the market can digest profitably to the grower.

Gardenias are maintaining the prices of last month. Valley and lilies are not overabundant and prices hold fairly well. Violets have found an outlet at last through the street merchants. Sweet peas are coming in larger volume, with the Spencer varieties commanding excellent prices. Single violets have slumped badly in price, but not in qual-

Various Notes.

An important meeting of the New York Florists' Club will take place next Monday, March 9, less than two weeks before the opening of the spring flower show at the Grand Central Palace under the auspices of the club and the Horticultural Society of New York. Final arrangements for the exhibition will be announced and an opportunity provided for the display of Easter novelties in flowers and supplies.

Everything indicates that the flower show will be a success. The participation of the National Association of Gardeners and the leading retailers of New York and Brooklyn is assured, while space for the exhibitors has been sold in excess of the allotments of the national flower show of last year. A great many special prizes are announced in the schedule. The gardeners will have a field day, March 24 or 25, and the banquet for all takes place March 26 at the Hotel Astor. A large attendance from all parts of the country is anticipated.

Night work has begun in several of the seed stores. The demand for flower seeds is considered phenomenal. The outlook is for a splendid season.

The Market.

Cold, crisp weather has continued during the last week, with a great deal of sunshine, which has brought on great quantities of bulbous stock. There is an abundance of all kinds of flowers. For the beginning of Lent, trade has been good, though there is the lack of elaborate social functions which is always noticeable during the Lenten season. Carnations are good, except that the stems in many cases are weak and brittle. Roses are only fair. Beauties are scarce and they are high in price. Valley is excellent and the price is as usual. Sweet peas are much improved in quality and the supply is increasing; last week their quality was the best that it has been since Christmas.

S. A. Anderson. He is planning a western trip, with stops at Cleveland, Chicago, and finally at San Francisco, Cal.

An invitation was extended to the Rochester Bowling Club for a match game with the home club this week. A banquet at Messenger's was part of the program. The Lord & Burnham Co. trophy, which our boys brought back from Rochester, was on exhibition in the windows of S. A. Anderson, W. J. Palmer & Son and Stroh's Flower Shop.

Robert A. Scott, who was in the hospital, is out again and is getting around with the aid of a walking stick. It is expected that the operation on his feet will remedy his foot trouble, which has been of long standing.

Charles Sandiford is producing some extra fine orchids.

S. A. Anderson did the table decorations for the banquet given by the foremost residents of Buffalo to Frederick

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Market.

The rising temperature late last week caused an overproduction in many lines and carnations, which have heretofore held up well at $4 and $5 per hundred, dropped to $2. From freezing to spring-like weather caused the streets to be filled again with venders, who offered sweet peas, violets and other flowers at low figures. The wholesale price on sweet peas dropped almost out of sight and violets were forced down in a similar manner. While roses as a whole are somewhat cheaper than they have been, the higher grades continue to bring good prices, as of these there are not enough to go around. American Beauty roses are more plentiful and while at the present time Richmonds are not good, promise is made that within the next two weeks they will be seen in excellent condition.

Various Notes.

Adolph Farenwald, ex-president of the American Rose Society, was a guest of the Gude brothers last week. While here he conferred with William F. Gude regarding the affiliation of the local club with the S. A. F. and this matter will be brought before the club by Mr. Gude at the March meeting.

A number of the members of the ladies' auxiliary of the Florists' Club were recently the guests of the ladies' auxiliary of the Baltimore club. The Washington ladies, including Mrs. Geo. H. Cooke, Mrs. Elmer C. Mayberry, Mrs. Stauff, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. George Shaffer and Mrs. Niedomanski, were met at the Baltimore terminal of the electric line by Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Kline, Mrs. William McKissick and Mrs. Quick and were escorted to Baum's cafe, where preparations had been made for luncheon. In the afternoon the entire party visited Poli's theater and following the performance they returned to the cafe, where a turkey dinner was enjoyed. In the evening they were joined by a number of the gentlemen at a bowling alley, where a tournament was held, several of the ladies giving an excellent demonstration. The return trip was made to Washington over the trolley line late in the evening. The Baltimore ladies will be guests of the local auxiliary about the middle of April.

Francis Pemberton, at one time employed by Thomas F. Galvin and Penn Bros., of Boston, Mass., has entered the employ of Z. D. Blackistone.

Among the visitors last week were D. T. Connor, with Lord & Burnham Co.; Joseph Goudy, with H. A. Dreer, and H. F. Michell, all of Philadelphia; also R. T. Beers, representing A. N. Pierson, Inc., of Cromwell, Conn., who displayed that concern's new rose, Hadley.

George Earl Eckendorf, who has been with Gude Bros. Co. for the last few years, has accepted a position as draftsman under the district government.

C. L. L.

Framingham, Mass.—Returning home from Cleveland, President S. J. Goddard sent to Professor White, at Cornell, a handsome box of carnations, Pink Delight, Gorgeous, Rosette, White Perfection, Beacon, Benora and Yellow Prince, every one of which does splendidly with him, although he rather favors Yellowstone, of the two yellows, for freedom and form of flower. The award for the best preserved blooms at the Cleveland show has been duly framed. Of the 700 blooms taken not one was broken or went to sleep in transit.

TEN PAGES OF RETAILERS' CARDS

This department for the cards of Leading Retail Florists — those florists who have the facilities for filling the orders sent them by other florists — has made possible the recent rapid development of this branch of the business, a branch of the trade now established for all time and so helpful that its volume will keep on increasing for many years.

Are you sending and receiving your share of these orders? You can send your share (and make 20 per cent profit without effort) if you let your customers know you can perform this service for them. To receive your share—well, The Review's department for Retailers' cards remains the one way of getting prompt action on the order in hand.

To be represented costs only 70 cents per week on a yearly order. This is for one-inch space. Other spaces in proportion.

Why not send your order today—now—before you forget it?

The Market.

The market at present is fair, with a medium supply of stock. Some of it is not all that could be desired, but allowance must be made for weather conditions. Carnations show the effect as much as anything; they are particularly poor shaped and there is an overabundance of white varieties. On the whole, stock moves quite freely and there is but a small quantity going to waste. Some good American Beauties have been on the market, but the demand has not been heavy. Other varieties have moved well and the stock is good, arriving in a nice, fresh condition.

Pussy willows, azaleas, rhododendrons and lilacs give the stores the appearance of Easter. Particularly good bulbous stock is seen. It is increasing in supply and finds a ready sale. Deutzias are making their appearance. Violets sell well, but prices are low. There is a good supply of Easter lilies and callas. Valley is plentiful. Other stock is arriving daily and we are kept well supplied. Fern leaves are scarce and there have been none in the market all the week. Fortunately there was a good supply of leucothoe on hand.

Various Notes.

C. Zantbergen, of Zantbergen Bros., wholesale bulb growers, of Valkenburg, Holland; was a visitor last week.

George T. Boucher has been doing a good business the last two or three weeks in spite of the cold, rough weather.

Saturday was an unusually heavy day for funeral work with most of the florists, helping them to clear away any stock that had accumulated. Funeral work has been quite steady during the last two or three weeks and has kept most of the florists busy.

J. B. Keller Sons have had some good window displays of late. Last week's was of jonquils and a large crescent was the main feature.

George B. Hart is now located in his new wholesale store, which is at the corner of Stone and Ely streets. It is fitted up with the most modern improvements, including an up-to-date refrigerating system. The store is well ventilated and roomy. The good wishes of the trade are with Mr. Hart for unlimited success in his new building.

of all kinds was plentiful, the demand slow and stock of all classes on the downward grade. The big buyers downtown are taking stock in thousand lots at low prices. After the daily market was over the wholesalers had plenty of stock left. The shortage that existed in roses is at an end and the markets show a full supply in all varieties. Some splendid stock in Killarney and Richmond was seen during the week. Beauties are not in oversupply. Carnations are coming in great numbers from both local and outside consignors, with prices on extra good stock at $2 per hundred. Ward, Beacon and Enchantress are in best demand. The great glut in violets has arrived and they are sold as low as $1 per thousand in big lots, with extra fancies at $3. These promise to continue this week, as the weather is just right for them. Sweet peas, too, suffered greatly in prices, as the supply exceeded the demand. The extra fancy long-stemmed stock held up in price. Dutch hyacinths, jonquils, tulips and other bulbous stock had a slow sale all week, with a large supply. Lilies, callas and valley were equal to the demand. The retailers say that the first few days of Lent are always dull and this, no doubt, caused the stagnation.

Greens of all kinds are plentiful.

Various Notes.

Visitors last week included S. S. Skidelsky, of Philadelphia; E. C. Pruner, representing Poehlmann Bros. Co., Chicago; M. Le Vine, representing Lion & Co., New York, and Victor Morgan, of Lord & Burnham Co., New York.

Jaenicke will lecture on city gardens.
Special notices are being prepared by the secretary, urging all members to attend.

W. J. Pilcher, of Kirkwood, says he purchased two large Kroeschell boilers from Fred Lautenschlager, who was here recently. These will be installed at the new houses he will build this spring.

Adolph G. Fehr, of Belleville, Ill., was a visitor in the city last week buying supplies. He reports that he has built a new boiler house and will, this spring, build two new houses, one 140 feet and the other 100 feet. The large one will be used for roses. Mr. Fehr is president of the Business Men's Association of Belleville.

George B. Windler, the well known south side florist, recently had a break in his boiler which caused him a great deal of trouble. The coal oil stoves used by Beyer Bros. came in handy. A new boiler has been ordered, which will be installed on its arrival this week.

the florists report quite a busy day.

Dwight Davis, park commissioner, has returned from his eastern trip, on which he combined business and pleasure. He says that work at the different parks has been hampered by the bad weather and that if the proposed bond issue for park purposes is passed, his depart-history. Confidence is rife among them, as industrial and commercial conditions in this city are auspicious for a prosperous year. The florists hope to profit their share from the wave of prosperity that has hit this city.

Good weather has resulted in increased supplies of flowers, except carnations, which are scarcer than they have been in years, and of inferior quality. One flower that has helped out considerably this season has been the daffodil; it has been in great and unusual demand. Roses are off in quantity and quality. Sweet peas are coming better. All bulbous stock is toning up.

Various Notes.

One of the newer flower shops is that conducted by Metz & Bateman, in the Ohio building. This firm was established last summer and is composed of Earl Metz and Mrs. Bateman, who were formerly employed by Mrs. Freeman. Both are live florists, experts in their line, and popular. Their business, according to Mr. Metz, has been surprisingly lively for a new concern. One of the features which has been of great aid in the progress of this flower shop has been the attractive window displays arranged and designed by Mr. Metz. Of late they have been advertising a dollar box as an exceptional value.

Mrs. E. Suder has had the Overland delivery car entirely overhauled and repainted.

One of the shrewd members of the Toledo Florists' Club, who manufactures flower pots, has devised a scheme to thwart the taxing sleuths who make their visit about March 1. He has arranged his deliveries so that all his orders for pots are delivered before the tax commissioners come around to value his personal property. This wise gentleman, Mr. Ritter, reports business fine.

The February meeting of the Florists' Club was not so well attended as usual, due to the cold weather, but those bold spirits who braved the storm to be present were rewarded, as it was a good meeting. In the absence of Mr. Schramm, Mr. Kuhnke presided. Mr. Kneisel gave a short report of what had been accomplished by the publicity committee. The committee on the blue book reported, and lists of slow customers were interchanged for the mutual benefit of the members. This is an undoubted advantage for every florist and should be encouraged. The trade of people who neglect to pay their debts is not worth having.

Notwithstanding the cold weather, Schramm Bros. have been digging. They have just completed a new cellar under their workroom, which will provide much needed storage space. The work was completed by the help about the place, and considering their inexperience as concrete mixers the job looks pretty efficient. A. C. K.

Seed Trade News.

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.

President, C. C. Massie, Minneapolis; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O.
Thirty-second annual convention, Washington, D. C., June 23 to 25, 1914.

THE lily bulb business in this country today belongs to the man who can get it; nobody has the buyers sewed up in a bag.

THE Darwin tulips, although they have a big sale in England, appear to have forged ahead faster in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

THE situation with regard to gladiolus bulbs affords ample evidence that an import duty of 50 cents per thousand is inadequate to protect American labor.

ARTHUR G. LEE, Fort Smith, Ark., has purchased a lot 100x150 feet, adjoining the Frisco tracks, on which he intends to erect a three-story warehouse equipped with modern seed cleaning machinery.

THIS is the month during which the average old-established seed house has difficulty in making any important increase in mail-order sales. Everybody has all he can do each year in March.

THE name of J. J. Budlong, the Chicago onion set man, is being used conspicuously in the advertising of the Lake View Trust and Savings Bank, of which he is president. The institution has resources of over two and a half millions.

The southern and southeastern tier of states February 25 experienced snow and wintry weather that broke records of from eight to twenty years' standing. The effect was felt for several days by all mail-order seed houses doing business in those sections.

THE month of February was a good one with practically every catalogue seed house. As usual, weather conditions made the business spotty, but the older houses did about the usual February business, with the younger western and southwestern houses showing excellent gains.

It is interesting to note that after the Holland growers cut the price of Brechleyensis to the point where nobody could make any money on it, the supply decreased and this year the bulbs cleaned up nicely and the stock now on hand is held at double the prices asked a few years ago.

CASS LANNING established a seed business in a small way at Nowata, Okla., eight years ago, adding plants and nursery stock as the demand developed. He now occupies several buildings for warehouse purposes and says the spring of 1914 will break all records for the seed business in his section.

SENATE ACTS ON PARCEL POST.

When that deliberate body, the United States Senate, makes up its mind it acts swiftly. Having decided that there is a popular demand that seeds, bulbs and plants be placed in the parcel post, the Senate did not wait to pass a separate bill on the subject, but tacked a rider onto the postoffice appropriation bill. What is known as the Pomerene amendment was adopted March 2, without debate. It simply places these trade commodities in the fourth class. If the House concurs, as there is little doubt it will, it will leave the Postmaster General free to establish whatever rates and rules he pleases, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. As the department already has approved the idea of having the rates on catalogues, seeds and plants the same, no doubt this plan will carry.

E. H. P.

THE POSTOFFICE CONCURS.

In The Review for February 5 it was suggested that, inasmuch as the general demand that seeds and plants be included in the parcel post appears certain to result in legislation to that effect, it would be desirable for the seed trade to write in asking that the rates be made the same on seeds and catalogues, new rates for the latter having just been fixed. The trade at large has endorsed the suggestion and several bills have been introduced in Congress, some of them fixing the rate on seeds, bulbs, plants, etc., at 1 cent for each two ounces up to eight ounces, parcels over eight ounces to take the zone rates the same as other merchandise. The Postoffice Department has concurred in this, and W. F. Therkindson, chairman of the committee on postal laws of the American Seed Trade Association, wrote to The Review, February 25:

"Gentlemen: I am just in receipt of a night letter from President Massie, and he advises me that the Postoffice Department has recommended to the Senate postoffice committee that the rates on seeds, plants, etc., remain as heretofore up to eight ounces, all packages weighing over eight ounces being included at the parcel post zone rates.

"The Senate postoffice committee has agreed to this proposition, and I suggest that you make note of it in your publication, requesting all members to write their senators and representatives supporting this, as there is no question that one or the other of the bills now before Congress will be made a law, and this seems to be the best of the lot."

SMILE WHEN SKIES WEEP IN CAL.

Last year it was drought that hit the California seed growers probably the hardest blow of their lives. This season rains that were torrential have done more or less local damage through the southern half of the state. Seed growers have sustained some losses, but they are disposed to concur with Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Southern Pacific's board of directors, who, commenting on the February flood, said:

The Truth About Paper Whites

Paper Whites are now being used a good deal as bait for Dutch bulb orders. The article is demoralized to a large extent as a consequence. But since all florists have not been offered the same bait, it is only right that they should be. And so to convince you that it is not necessary to go to Holland to buy bulbs grown in France, we are going to show you that you can do about as well by buying from good responsible American Houses.

Paper Whites are raised for the value of their flowers—not for the bulbs. The flowers are marketed all over Europe—the bulbs almost entirely in this country. Now Romans must be lifted every year or they will rot, but Paper Whites are left in the ground like grass—and the longer they are left there, the better they become. This being the case you can readily see that when the price of the bulb is less than the price of the flowers, they will not be lifted.

The low basis of Paper Whites is about 18 francs, net cash, in the fields. A good flowering bulb 13-ctm. and over is not lifted for less as a rule. This equals about one-third of a cent per bulb. There are over 1000 growers of Paper Whites, so the exporter must employ a buyer who gets a commission for his services. This is the best—other methods have been tried, you may be sure. By the time the bulbs are bought and hauled to the packing sheds—sometimes miles—the cost is about 19 francs net cash.

The exporter deals with the buyers all over the world. He employs hundreds of cleaners, counters, packers and workers, hires wagons to transport them to the railroads, assumes the credit risks, etc. He does this for about 10%. This brings the cost to 21 francs, or about $4.20 per 1000. Now French bulb cases are made from wood imported from Norway or Africa, and cost about 2 francs or 40 cents each. This brings the cost to about $4.50 per 1000 delivered at the railroad station at Ollioules.

The freight from Ollioules, France, to Brooklyn, where the steamers arrive, is about 60 cents; the U. S. Duty is $1.00; the cartage to New York railroad docks is about 15 cents; Sea Insurance, Loss from Shortages (uncollectable from the S. S. Co.), Consular Invoice, Custom House expense and other incidentals necessary, say about 10 cents per 1000—making a net cost delivered at R. R. Station at New York, duty paid, $6.35 per 1000. Now comes the Importer's profit—for his selling expenses, and for assuming other risks, etc., suppose we allow him 10% profit—or 65 cents per 1000—so that the final price is $7.00 per 1000, f. o. b. New York, for Paper White Grandiflora, 13-ctm. and up.

But right here comes the hitch. No Importer can afford to fill an order for a gross profit of 65 cents. So when you buy, say less than 8 cases, you must pay more—a dollar more is not unreasonable. Such being the case, you may buy these bulbs from us at the following prices:

PAPER WHITE GRANDIFLORA, 13-ctm. and over at $	8.00 per	1,000 bulbs
	or 70.00 per	10,000 bulbs
	or 330.00 per	50,000 bulbs
	or 640.00 per	100,000 bulbs

These prices are net cash upon arrival at New York. If you wish credit and are entitled to it, you may have it at 6% per annum.

For Deliveries, F. O. B. Chicago, Add 25 cents per 1000 Bulbs

Now the above prices are absolutely rock bottom for honest goods. If you get lower prices, the nigger in the wood-pile is probably a mixture in the size, by using 50% of 12-ctm. or younger bulbs, worth about 4 francs or 80 cents less per 1000. This reduces the cost 40 cents per 1000. You must also consider the above prices are free on board cars—no "advance charges," no Custom Broker's charges—nothing but fair and square business all the way through.

All Things Being Equal—Wouldn't You Rather Buy from an American House?

If you would—send us your order. If you don't like us, buy from some other reliable American firm—plenty of them to buy from. If you want prices on other French bulbs, write us.

Not How Cheap,
but How Good.

rain falls, as he realizes that beneficial results are in store for him."

SALE OF ADULTERATED SEEDS.

Inspection by the Buyer.

Before beginning the study of the present subject, the sale of adulterated seeds, it may be well for the reader to turn again to a previous article of this series, in The Review of January 1, and there read the paragraphs under the subhead of "Visible and Latent Defects," on page 54 of that issue. What is there said as to the effect of an inspection of seeds by a customer in buying them, on the question of the character of seeds, is equally applicable here, as to the question of adulteration. Thus, as a general rule, if a customer can readily ascertain that the particular seed which is offered him contains foreign seeds or foreign substances, he will be presumed to have accepted delivery subject to that condition, except in cases falling within the pure seed laws mentioned farther on in this article. On the other hand, if the sale is made by sample, or if the buyer has no opportunity for inspection, the law implies a warranty on the seller's part that the seeds sold are as free from weed seed and foreign substances as may be reasonably expected in the circumstances.

The Seedsman Held Responsible.

In a New York case, a seedsman sold seed oats under a representation that they were in "good condition, choice stock, and well cleaned." The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court held that although this did not constitute an express warranty that the oats were free from mustard or other foreign seed, there was an implied warranty to that effect. (Bell vs. Mills, 80 New York Supplement 34.) It was further decided that there was not necessarily any waiver of this warranty on the buyer's part through the fact that he accepted the seed, after inspecting the same, and sowed it, since he had not discovered the presence of the mustard seed until nearly all the seed was sown.

In another case which arose in the same state, Landreth vs. Wycoff, 73 New York Supplement 388, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court held that one who sold cabbage and beet seed impliedly warranted the purity of the seed, as against impurity arising from cross fertilization.

Degree of Impurity.

That there was no breach of warranty under a sale of "genuine Saskatchewan Fife wheat," if there was only a small admixture of other seeds or of other wheat, so small as not to render the seed unfit for the purpose contemplated in its purchase, was decided by the Minnesota Supreme Court in the case of Shatto vs. Abernethy, 29 Northwestern Reporter 325.

The foregoing observations, however, must be taken subject to the effect of the pure seed laws now in force in several states. Although these laws differ somewhat in the details of their provisions, their effect is well illustrated by the Iowa law. This act requires every package of agricultural seeds containing one pound or more, offered for sale in the state for use in the state, to have affixed to it a

THE SENSATIONAL NEW YELLOW CACTUS DAHLIA GOLDEN GATE

ONE of Burbank's creations obtained eight years ago from a seed in a packet of Burbank's collection of Dahlia seeds. Received certificate of merit at Nassau County Horticultural Society's Dahlia Show, 1909, and at the exhibition of the American Institute, 1912. The best all-around Dahlia in existence, a sure, free, medium-early bloomer, large double flowers, never shows open center; a true Cactus type, color yellow, shading to old gold; sturdy, upright growth, not to be compared with the sprawling-growing yellow Cactus now in cultivation. As a garden variety it is not surpassed by any other Dahlia, as the plants become one mass of golden blooms which can be seen a great distance, surpassing in color effect all other Dahlias. This Dahlia caused a sensation at the exhibition of the American Institute. We included three blooms of Golden Gate in a collection of 25 varieties of Dahlias at the annual fair, 1911, of the Queens and Nassau County Agricultural Society, winning first prize for collection, competing against one of the largest bulb growers of the country. The Dahlia blooms at this fair were exposed to a strong draft, which spoiled all the other blooms in a few days, but the Golden Gate blooms remained in good condition all the week, on this account receiving much attention and admiration from thousands of visitors the closing days of the fair. As a cut flower it ranks supreme, selling even though the market is glutted with Golden Glow 'Mums. When disbudded the blooms grow to a gigantic size, with stems any desired length; a splendid keeper, remaining in good condition for 15 days. We have grown and shipped cut blooms of same to New York market for five years, receiving higher prices per 100 blooms of Golden Gate than for any other kind; in fact, we could not fill all orders.

These Dahlias have been propagated eight years from tubers, consequently they are of a strong and vigorous constitution. Unlike any other Cactus Dahlia, the necks are very strong, never breaking in handling. This Dahlia is insect and blight proof.

Now is the time to start bulbs of the Golden Gate Dahlia for cuttings to work up stock for the coming season. Bulbs started now are a big advantage over plants bought in spring. Don't fail to take advantage of this opportunity to procure tubers of this grand Dahlia at half that other disseminators charge for plants delivered in May. A little money invested now will bring you big returns in fall. You can name your own price to your customers for the bulbs or blooms of this grand Dahlia, and by placing your order at once you can have them in quantity in season.

Price to the trade for field-grown tubers, $1.00 each; $10.00 per doz.; $75.00 per 100. 25 at 100 rate. Packed frost-proof. No tubers sent out that do not show sprouts.

Write for general wholesale list of other varieties. Order early.

the locality where the seed was grown, if known.

Only Agricultural Seeds.

What constitute "agricultural seeds" are defined in this Iowa act, leaving garden, flower and other seeds beyond the scope of the law. Sale of seed containing specified noxious weed seeds is made unlawful. Another section states what kinds of other weed seed shall be deemed impurities, and a still further provision defines "impurities" as including foreign substances, broken seeds, etc. Another clause provides when seed shall be deemed to be adulterated or misbranded.

The act expressly exempts from its terms, however, sales for food purposes; sales to dealers for cleaning and grading before resale, excepting seeds sale of which is prohibited when they contain noxious weed seed; sales of seeds marked "Not Absolutely Clean," and held for exportation from the state; sales by farmers on their own premises for use by the buyer; and sales for lawn and pasture purposes. Another section contains a table fixing the standard of purity and viability of agricultural seeds. It is further to be noted that these laws apply only to intrastate business, having no application to sales made in one state for use in another.

Sterling Emery Wheel Mfg. Co., Tiffin, O.—A well illustrated, clearly printed, 32-page catalogue of lawn vases, bouquet holders, chairs and settees, all of cast-iron construction.

New England Nurseries Co., Bedford, Mass.—Two carefully compiled nursery catalogues, wholesale and general. The wholesale list is a handy 32-page book, with no illustrations and no unnecessary descriptive matter. The general catalogue contains eighty-eight pages, with illustrations and helpful suggestions in regard to the selection of stock for specific purposes, such as seashore planting, and the planting of groups, rock gardens, small grounds or the spaces under shrubbery.

D. M. Andrews, Boulder, Colo.—Colorado wild flowers, shrubs, evergreens, cacti, ferns and other native plants, with illustrations and cultural directions; twenty-four pages.

Ross Bros. Co., Worcester, Mass.—"Catalogue of New England's Greatest Agricultural Department Store," a 120-page book, illustrated. The first sixty-seven pages are devoted to seeds, bulbs and plants; the rest of the book is occupied by unusually comprehensive lists of fertilizers, agricultural implements, garden tools, poultry supplies, etc.

Palisades Nurseries, Inc., Sparkill, N. Y.—Two catalogues, general and wholesale, each well adapted to its purpose. Both are excellently printed on large pages. The wholesale list contains twelve pages, with no ornamentation except that of clear and accurate typography. The general catalogue contains fifty-two pages, finely illustrated. Both catalogues give special prominence to hardy perennial plants, but also include miscellaneous nursery stock, such as vines, roses, shrubs, fruits and trees; the general catalogue also comprises a list of seeds of hardy perennials, with cultural directions.

M. Crawford Co., Cuyahoga Falls, O.—A 12-page catalogue of strawberry plants and gladiolus bulbs. Several of the gladioli listed were originated by Mr. Crawford himself.

Vegetable Forcing

PROPAGATING SWEET POTATOES.

On reading an article in The Review of February 12, page 62, with reference to the starting of slips or sprouts on sweet potatoes, it occurred to me that many readers might be interested in a southern method of propagating the tubers, as practiced on my place. No doubt the process described in The Review, of starting the growths on a bench or in a hotbed, is the best process for many parts of the country, but the plan I learned here seems also to work well, at least under southern conditions.

When I started business here, in northeastern Florida, I was new to this climate and inexperienced in the growing of sweet potato plants. My foreman was an old Virginian negro, who had been a slave. He spread my sweet potatoes in a shallow pile, in winter, on the tables in the packing shed. Instead of windows in this shed, there were openings which could be closed or partly closed by doors. The doors were hung from the top by strap hinges, attached to the outside, so that the doors could swing outward at the lower end and could be held open by a strip of wood set on end. One end of this strip or support was fastened to the lower edge of the door by a screw eye. Thus the doors could be held open at the right slant, so that light and air could be admitted, but no direct sunshine could strike the potatoes. My foreman ripped up old fertilizer sacks and spread three thicknesses of them over the pile, and we had the finest sweet potato plants I ever saw. He never sprinkled the tubers and there was no soil on any of them. He used the largest and best potatoes. My objection to those sprouted in the ground is that they have such long roots. The shorter and fatter the roots are on the sprouts, the better and more quickly the potatoes set.

I believe that some such plan as I have described would work in any climate, in a room that is only moderately warm. The potatoes could be piled under a bench in a light house, with bags thrown over them, or could be placed on a bench in a shaded house and covered with bags, without any soil, and strong, healthy plants would be produced. A. M. Gardner.

BEST EARLY OUTDOOR TOMATO.

In The Review of February 19, page 62, do you mean that Sparks' Earliana tomato is not good in the garden or the greenhouse? I make a specialty of early outdoor tomatoes, and I want the best variety there is. I have used Earliana for four years, getting into the Campaign market two weeks ahead of the university gardens. What do you consider the best fertilizer to hasten the ripening of the tomato? I used sulphate of potash last year and sold nearly $700 worth of fruit from one acre, and I want to beat that. H. M. M.

Neither for forcing nor for outdoor culture do I consider Sparks' Earliana tomato nearly equal to Chalk's Early Jewel. If you can get a really good strain of the latter, you will find it ripens just as early as Earliana and that it has the additional advantage of being much smoother. Sulphate of potash or some other potash fertilizer, applied after the first two bunches of fruit are set, will assist the development of the fruits and make them ripen earlier than when strong nitrogenous manures are used ostensibly for the same purpose. C. W.

DISEASED CUCUMBER VINES.

Under separate cover you will find several specimens of my cucumber vines, with which I am having serious trouble in the greenhouse. The vines grow well until they are of bearing age and the trouble starts about two feet from the soil. Can you tell me why the vines do not have better roots? I am also troubled by wilting of the vines and in some parts of the house they are covered with mildew. I keep the temperature at 65 degrees in the daytime and 62 degrees at night. J. J. S.

Cucumbers for a winter crop must have careful attention as to temperature and ventilation. Fluctuations in temperature and cold draughts will speedily give mildew a foothold. Use sulphur on the pipes as a remedy, but you cannot keep a dry atmosphere, as it would quickly breed red spider, which is harder to combat than the mildew.

The other diseased condition of your vines is known as canker and it is difficult to determine the cause of this without knowing something about your soil and other conditions. Have you used compost in which cucumbers were similarly affected previously? Did you sterilize the soil? Sterilization is the surest preventive of this and other such troubles, and it will pay you to adopt it. If you cannot do this, endeavor to give your plants new soil from sod land. For cankered plants there is no cure; pull them up and burn them. It is also difficult to get much of a crop from plants which have had an attack of mildew. C. W.

LOS ANGELES.

The Market.

Business has been good at times during the last seven days, but there have also been dull times. During the tie-up caused by the flooding of the streets it seemed that everybody wanted flowers delivered. A cause suggested was that, as people could not get out and use their autos, they gave indoor entertainments more freely. At the time of writing there is a decided slump and flowers are going to the dump, both in the retail and wholesale stores. Funeral work is the only outlet of any consequence.

Stock is in fine shape, possibly better than at any time during the winter. Prices rule low and many retailers have been wise enough to see the possibilities in the situation and give their patrons the benefit in dollar boxes and in good value. Plants, owing to the high prices asked, are selling slowly. This is the more regrettable because growers are taking more interest in plants than formerly and producing better stock. But the time is coming, more rapidly than many people imagine, when good plants will take a much higher place than they do now and be a more staple commodity.

Damage by Flood.

Last week's Los Angeles news-letter was kept from the readers by a storm, unequaled in the history of the city, which burst over the locality February 18, flooding everything and turning the streets into swirling rivers. Between 12 o'clock noon and 1 p. m. two inches of rain fell, more than half an inch being recorded in ten minutes. By midnight 4.24 inches had fallen, bringing the total for the season to 19.28 inches.

The damage done cannot as yet be calculated, but the total will be a big one. Street cars were stalled between washouts, making it impossible to move outward or back to the city, and people had to wade knee-deep to their homes. Stevenson avenue was entirely blocked by a store that was swept across the street, the water running like a mill race around it. Not only have the flower growers and truck farmers suffered, but thousands of acres of fall and spring sown grains have been either washed out or covered with a foot of silt. The deepest precipitation for the storm was registered at Claremont, 6.60 inches, though Pomona was a good second with 5.94. Pasadena was absolutely flooded.

Various Notes.

Morris Goldenson had the misfortune to twist his ankle on stepping from the sidewalk recently. He has not been able to walk for a day or two. In the store business keeps up well, funeral work being especially brisk. The artistic window displays made here by Manager John Gordon, and the fact that he is always right on the job, have doubtless a lot to do with the success of this fine store.

Walter Armacost & Co. are sending in excellent plants of Schizanthus Wise- tonensis, finely grown and in a good variety of colors. This comparatively old plant has not been much grown on the Pacific coast up to the present, but it is apparently coming to its own.

The Freeman-Lewis Co. reports good business and keeps up a splendid window display. A pretty combination recently noted was Sir Watkin daffodils and peach branches.

The trial grounds of the Germain Seed & Plant Co., on the Whittier road, suffered practically no loss during the recent floods, which spread all around them, covering the adjacent land with thousands of tons of silt in some places and washing out others. This is due partly to a slight elevation and also to the foresight of P. J. Gonner, the superintendent, who had large relief ditches dug. Nearly 50,000 pansies of the famous giant prize strain are now in full bloom there, besides countless thousands of younger seedlings. These are being shipped all over the coast, from Washington to Mexico.

John Morley, park superintendent at San Diego, was in town last week on a business trip. He says things are shaping up well for the big show next year. We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Morley was far from well, a severe cold contracted some time ago keeping her in the house.

I was sorry to hear, on calling at the Los Angeles Flower Market, that C. E. Morton was again on the sick list. F. Sperry was in charge and looked as though he also had been having a hard time of it. Business has been brisk and the stock is in fine shape. A new delivery car has been put on the road.

E. H. Rust, of South Pasadena, is to open a salesyard at the corner of La Salle and West Washington streets.

At Staiger & Mundwiler's the stock is in fine condition and a promising looking lot of Easter lilies, ferns and other plants are coming on. Arthur Simpson is no longer connected with the business.

The H. & F. Quality Select Aster Seed is the safest to plant, because it reduces the element of chance to your crop, and it is the most economical, because it produces more salable flowers.

Mr. John Gerard, New Britain, Conn., in his letter to us, dated January 18th, said, "During 1912 I have had reports that many first prizes have been won from the products of your seeds, and I feel confident that your climate, soil and skill will add annual improvements."

The members of the Los Angeles Horticultural Society were all invited to a social by the Pasadena Horticultural Society February 20, but, owing to washouts and interruption to traffic, they were unable to get to the Crown City, much to their disappointment.

Howard & Smith are showing extra fine hyacinths and other bulbous stock in the store. Great piles of express, besides the many tons of freight, leave this establishment daily, the roses for which it is justly famed being in the lead.

At Wright's Flower Shop I noted some splendid Phalaenopsis Schilleriana and amabilis, grown at their Gardena range.

Calling recently on the California Rose Co., at Pomona, I found all busy packing and propagating. Hundreds of thousands of fine bushes have yet to be sent out, while the quantity of young stock in small shipping pots is amazing. Half a million of small roses and a million and a half of small stock is the record for this season. The roses are dug and then put through a slight sweating process to settle the foliage before being packed. It surely is fine, heavy stock and well rooted.

No budded plants are grown; they are all on their own roots.

Besides the 300 acres of nursery outside of town, the Armstrong Nurseries, at Ontario, make a good showing inside the city limits. The new office building, which commemorates the twenty-fifth anniversary of the firm, is a splendid, up-to-date structure, with every convenience for handling the large amount of business done here. The stock shown in the nursery is exceedingly well grown, and altogether the place bears the stamp of an up-to-the-minute establishment, of which Mr. Armstrong is justly proud.

O. C. Saakes had a most attractive valentine window, with lay figures and many different styles of bouquets.

H. R. Richards.

TACOMA, WASH.

The Market.

Business for this locality has shown a slight improvement the last few weeks. Bright weather has improved the substance of all cut stock, also materially increasing the quantity. Many of the growers are considering throwing out carnations, to make room for cucumbers, tomatoes, etc., and it looks as though there will not be the usual glut, with the attending low prices, seen in former years. Bulbous stock still is plentiful and is selling at a price far below where either the grower or retailer can secure a fair profit. There is far too much of this stock, and we think that the next few years will see a great decrease in the forcing of this kind of material. Valley is fair in quantity and quality and meets with ready sale. Violets are plentiful; some home-grown doubles of fine quality are being shown. Although the bright days are having their effect on the southern stock, these will soon be displaced by sweet peas, a fair number of which are now on the market.

Various Notes.

Mr. Hoffmeister, of the Washington Floral Co., Seattle, was in the city during the week. He reports things prosperous in the Queen City.

Conrad Klam, of Olympia, was over at the social session of the Florists' Club February 12.

J. L. S.

PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

Business for last week was about the same as previously reported. Since the Lenten season commenced there has been little entertaining going on, but other lines are holding up nicely. Flowers are coming in more plentifully, spring flowers predominating. Indoor-grown lilac moves readily. Roses are not overplentiful, and it will require a few more weeks of sunshine to bring better results. Carnations clean up daily at good prices. Callas and Easter lilies are about equal to the demand.

Green goods are rather scarce. Maidenhair fern is almost out of the market. Cecile Brunner roses are popular for corsage work. The supply is mostly shipped from California.

Various Notes.

NEWS OF THE NURSERY TRADE

O. PIPER, of Clinton, Ky., did a good business at Paducah during the meeting of the McCracken County Growers' Association.

G. W. VAN GELDEREN, of Boskoop, Holland, is suing the Kentucky Nursery Co., of Louisville, Ky., for $477.40, alleged due on two notes executed May 8, 1913.

B. W. STONE, of B. W. Stone & Co., Thomasville, Ga., was elected vice-president of the Georgia Horticultural Society at its annual meeting at Athens, Ga.

S. IMURA, of the Alvin Japanese Nursery Co., Alvin, Tex., will give a demonstration of budding and grafting at the next meeting of the Mobile Floral and Horticultural Society.

THE Howell Nursery Co., at Knoxville, Tenn., reports a rushing business in ornamental shrubbery. Among the recent orders was one for a large shipment to British Columbia.

At the annual meeting of the Western Washington Horticultural Association, S. J. Harmeling, of Vashon, was elected president, and C. A. Tonneson, of Tacoma, second vice-president.

JOSEPH A. MORGAN, of Scottsville, N. Y., was presented with the Barry medal at the annual meeting of the Western New York Horticultural Society for his origination of the new strawberry, Monroe.

J. A. YAGER, manager of the Yager Nursery Co., at Fremont, Neb., was elected president of the Nebraska State Horticultural Society at its annual meeting at Lincoln. Mr. Yager has been an active worker in the society for a number of years and this year was superintendent of the society's fruit exhibit.

At its semiannual meeting at Dallas, February 19, the Texas Nurserymen's Association appointed a committee to investigate the express rates on nursery stock. The members of the committee are: J. B. Baker, of Fort Worth; W. B. Munson, of Denison; J. M. Ramsey, of Austin; L. J. Tackett, of Fort Worth, and H. I. Martin, of Port Arthur.

THE transactions and proceedings of the third annual meeting of the California Association of Nurserymen, held at Fresno, October 16 to 18, 1913, have been edited and compiled by Secretary Henry W. Kruckeberg, and issued in a neat appearing volume of 120 pages and cover, not including several pages of advertising and a frontispiece showing those in attendance at the meeting.

WORD comes from Glastonbury, Conn., that the recent snowstorms and extremely cold weather have accomplished what the January cold snap failed to do in the case of Connecticut peach orchards and, on the authority of J. Howard Hale, fully ninety per cent of the buds on peach trees in this state have been killed. The warm weather of early February brought them to a point where frost could get in its work. Last year's crop was large and only an average crop was expected in Connecticut this year.

We have always found The Review a top notcher as to results received from wholesale advertising of nursery stock.—Atlantic Nursery Co., per D. W. Babcock, Mgr., Berlin, Md., January 16, 1914.

CUSTOMS collectors have been instructed to notify representatives of the Department of Agriculture when imported nursery stock is unclaimed. If it is imported in compliance with the plant quarantine act, it will be sold at public auction, like other unclaimed merchandise. If imported against the act, it is to be destroyed.

NEW ENGLAND NURSERYMEN.

The second annual convention of the New England Nurserymen's Association was held at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, Conn., February 24 and 25. In the absence of President Harlan P. Kelsey, of Salem, Mass., the meeting was called to order by Secretary Charles Adams, of Springfield, and W. W. Wyman, of North Abington, Mass., was chosen temporary chairman. President Kelsey arrived later and took the chair.

The committee on nominations was composed of W. W. Hunt, of Hartford, Conn.; C. H. Groaton, of Providence, R. I., and E. W. Breed, of Clinton, Mass. The auditing committee comprised Julius Heurlin, of North Braintree, Mass., and Stephen Hoyt, of New Canaan.

The officers elected were as follows: President, John R. Barnes, of Yalesville, Conn.; vice-president, C. H. Groaton, of Providence, R. I.; secretary, Charles Adams, of Springfield, Mass.; treasurer, V. A. Vanicek, of Newport, R. I.

"The Bug Question" was the all-important topic of discussion at the first day's session and aroused much inter-

"ON TO ALBANY."

The capital of New York state will be visited shortly by not a few nurserymen of the state, particularly those who are shippers of fruit trees, to protest against a bill recently introduced in the state legislature by Assemblyman Gillett, of Yates county. By this bill the agricultural law is amended so as to compel nurserymen to label shipments of fruit trees, stand liable for damages for any error in labeling, and bear the burden of proof to limit or exempt his liability. In short, when a nurseryman sends out a shipment of fruit trees under this law, he will run every chance of losing money and have only the possibility of getting his purchase price for the stock. Careless handling in transit or by the receiver, or the possibility of mistake in labeling, is not taken into account; plainly the nurseryman is the "goat."

The bill provides for the insertion in the agricultural law of three new sections, requiring shippers of fruit-bearing trees to have attached to each car, box, bale or package a copy of a certificate of inspection issued by the department of agriculture. Such certificate is valid until the first day of September after its issue. With the certificate must be attached a label specifying the name or variety of trees. If trees in the same bundle are of different varieties, each tree must be separately labeled. Provision is made for recovery of damages for false labeling. When fruit trees are sold in lots of twenty-five or more, the seller must leave with the purchaser a copy of the contract, on the face of which must be indorsed a statement that in case of false labeling the burden of proof is on the seller to show that any provision of the contract exempting him from liability, or limiting his liability, was fully understood and agreed to by the purchaser. ### CROWN GALL ON NURSERY STOCK.

In the third of its series of newsletters the federal horticultural board publishes its instructions governing the handling of imported nursery stock found infected with crown gall, which read in part as follows:

"Crown gall is a communicable plant disease caused by the bacterial parasite Bacterium tumefaciens. This disease occurs naturally upon many kinds of fruit, ornamental and other plants, of which the following may be named: Apple; pear; quince; peach; apricot; almond; prune; plum; cherry; rose; Vitis vinifera, V. Linsecomii, V. aestivalis, V. Labrusca, and crosses between these species; Japanese honeysuckle; Arbutus Unedo; Juglans regia, J. Californica, J. nigra; raspberry; blackberry; loganberry; pecan; chestnut; poplar; alfalfa; hop; beet; salsify; turnip; parsnip; lettuce; red clover; peony; cotton; Chrysanthemum frutescens; clematis and willow.

"It has been conclusively shown that the disease readily transfers from one host to another within wide limits. Hairy root is apparently a related trouble due to the same organism. Crown gall is injurious to the trees or plants attacked. Some of them may thrive fairly well and make a partial success; others may struggle along and live for years as half failures, while still others will decline rapidly and soon die. All diseased plants will serve as infection centers for other plants.

"In view of these facts it is recommended, and in case of imported nursery stock inspected under the authority of the federal horticultural board, it is ordered that all plants clearly infected with crown gall shall be destroyed. Questionable or doubtful cases in a shipment containing a large pro-

LIABLE FOR DAMAGES.

According to a decision recently handed down by the Supreme court of the state of Washington in the Yakima county case of W. D. Ingalls vs. H. E. Angell, nurserymen can be sued by a purchaser if the trees purchased do not prove to be true to the name they are sold under. The case which brought about this decision was brought into the Supreme court on an appeal from the Superior court of Yakima county. The details of the case are as follows:

W. D. Ingalls, a nurseryman, bought 500 peach trees from H. E. Angell with the understanding, he states, that they were of the Carman variety. Mr. Ingalls sold the trees to Bert Fletcher, a large grower of the state. The latter found the trees were not Carmans. He therefore brought suit against Mr. Ingalls and got judgment. The expense of Mr. Ingalls in defending the suit, employing attorneys, etc., amounted to $2,306.45. For this sum he brought suit against Mr. Angell. The Superior court of Yakima county threw out the case because it had not been brought within three years from the time the sale was made. Upon appeal, however, the Supreme reversed the decision of the Superior court, with instructions to overrule the demurrer.

NEW ENGLAND DEPARTMENT

BROCKTON, MASS.

A fire, resulting from soot being placed in a wooden box, started a blaze Wednesday evening, February 25, at the Copeland Greenhouses, Campello, operated by William J. Marshall. Six firemen had a narrow escape from death when a floor on which they were standing collapsed. Owing to the deep snow, only motor-driven vehicles reached the scene of the fire, but these did good work and the fire was largely confined to the boiler room. More damage was done to the plants in the greenhouses by smoke and cold than by fire. Mr. Marshall estimates his loss at about $5,000. He will probably rebuild.

William W. Hathaway has had an active business at his Main street store all the season, and expects the coming Easter to be the best on record. His carnations from Littlefield & Wyman are extra fine. He handles all the up-to-date roses, such as Hadley, Taft, Russell and Sunburst.

BOSTON.

The Market.

Last week gave us almost continuously clear skies, with temperatures steadily rising to the end of the week. The advent of March sees the ground deeply buried in snow, but the increasing rays of the sun are steadily melting it, and spring does not now seem far away. Lent has, as usual, caused a cessation of social activity and trade rules quiet all around. Carnations seem to be in somewhat light crop and prices are holding up remarkably well. Roses are becoming quite plentiful and prices show a sagging tendency. Beauties continue scarce, but all the Killarneys are abundant. Yellow varieties, such as Hillingdon, Ward and Sunburst, all show a weakening tendency. Richmond is good, and Mrs. Taft retains its popularity.

There is a veritable glut of violets and prices are low and quite unprofitable. Dutch bulbous flowers are in heavy supply; first grade quality cleans up well, but there is a decided surplus of the poorer grades. Freesia continues to come in of good quality. Sweet peas are seen in great numbers; the grandiflora varieties, even with long stems, are hard to sell in competition with the new winter-flowering Spencers. Splendid spikes of Christmas Pink, worth $2 per hundred a year ago, are now hard to move at 75 cents.

There is an abundant orchid supply, with somewhat low prices. Valley is abundant and good. The clear weather has increased the supply of gardenias. In lilies the Formosas are now more in evidence than the giganteums. English primroses, yellow marguerites and double bachelor's buttons all sell well. Other miscellaneous flowers move slowly.

Club Banquet.

There was an attendance of over 250 at the annual banquet of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club at Horticultural hall, February 24. It was a pleasure to see an excellent showing of retailers in the gathering. The tables were, as usual, beautifully decorated, the flowers being donated by a number of leading commercial firms and private estates. Darwin tulip Pride of Haarlem, from W. C. Rust, of Brookline, was noteworthy. W. W. Edgar Co. and A. M. Davenport furnished many flowering plants and palms. A. M. Davenport furnished a miniature plant with saucer to match, of Asplenium Nidus-Avis, as a souvenir for all. The menu has never been surpassed at a club banquet.

W. J. Kennedy acted in the double capacity of president and toastmaster. Speeches were made by J. K. M. L. Farquhar, for the Massachusetts Horticultural Society; Patrick Welch, for the florists and S. A. F.; W. N. Craig, for the private gardeners, and S. J. Goddard, for the American Carnation Society. Solos by Miss Margaret Alexander and James Singer afforded much pleasure. "Huntingtower," a famous Scotch duet, rendered by them simply brought down the house. Hutchins' orchestra furnished excellent dance music until midnight. W. J. Collins was floor director, W. J. Patterson first assistant, and George Butterworth, H. L. Pree, J. L. Miller, Joshua Lawson, James Methuen and John Reid, aids.

Various Notes.

The Boston Retail Florists' Club had a well attended meeting preceded by a banquet at the City club March 3. President Thomas F. Galvin, Jr., presided.

W. B. Southworth, of Stoughton, has a superb lot of Burpee's reselected Earliest of All sweet peas on long stems. His double violets also are good.

Peirce Bros., of Waltham, have a dozen strong plants of real climbing Killarney rose. The plants make growths up to fifteen feet long, and flower practically the whole length of the stems. The flowers are large and full. They have a scarlet seedling carnation, a little darker than Beacon, which looks good. They are cutting quantities of Formosa lilies and have 25,000 giganteums looking fine for Easter.

At the next meeting of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club R. C. Pierce, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will lecture on the chestnut tree blight. The last session of the landscape gardening class will be held March 9. William Downs will strong cuttings from selected spikes are possible.

A Voice from "Across the Seas"

"THE COMING FLOWER"

"A month ago, while talking to one of our leading nurserymen, I asked him what he considered was the coming flower. He answered without hesitation, 'The Antirrhinum,' and cited the improvements wrought on it in recent years which have brought it to the forefront. I was reminded of my friend's remark when I was at the show of the Royal Horticultural Society last week and saw the striking exhibit put up by Messrs. Wm. Wells & Co. This firm staged blooms of a winter-flowering Antirrhinum named Nelrose, the first of a new race from America. The flowers were of a charming shade of pink, and in every way as good as those grown in summer, while the foliage of deep green was suggestive of the wallflower. Other colors (from the American originator) are expected in the near future."—Editorial in Garden Life (London), Jan. 24, 1914.

European growers can procure plants from Wm. Wells & Co., Merstham, Surrey, England, who have a stock of Nelrose for dissemination. Write them for prices.

deliver an address. The attendance this season has been splendid throughout.

Included among the specialties grown this season by Mann Bros. are Tulip Fred Moore, a better seller than Thomas Moore; Prosperity and Cramoisie Brilliant. They also have a nice lot of cinerarias and azaleas in bloom.

The new home of the Boston Coöperative Flower Market, at 260 Devonshire street, is practically completed. Stalls were apportioned February 28 and, judging from appearances on that day, the market will be ready to transact business March 7, if not earlier. Frank J. Dolansky is among the new additions to this market.

The Montgomery Co., of Hadley, is sending in a fine grade of Killarney and White Killarney and Richmond roses. Its new rose, Hadley, will be heavily planted another season, as will Killarney Brilliant.

A series of practical demonstrations of spraying, pruning, planting, etc., and a course of lectures on various phases of fruit culture, several talks being given daily, attracted good audiences to Horticultural hall from February 24 to 28. It is hoped another season that the committee on lectures will broaden their scope a little, and arrange for some lectures of a really practical nature which will be of interest to gardeners and florists. There are ten times as many people in and around Boston interested in flower and vegetable culture, as in fruits, and it would be well to make some provision for them another season.

Peter Fisher anticipates great things from his new carnation, Alice, which will probably be introduced in 1915. He says it is a most wonderful bloomer, giving a heavy crop early in the fall, when Pink Delight has not begun to produce.

Harry Quint, at 164 Tremont street, is doing a fine business and he manages to keep his large show window attractive. His special sales of violets and narcissi attract lots of customers.

Pink Delight, Benora, Enchantress Supreme, Beacon, Rosette, White Wonder and Mrs. C. W. Ward carnations are giving cuts for the Halifax Garden Co. Ward, Sunburst and Taft roses also are good.

The William W. Edgar Co. has some fine large specimens of Tausendschon roses in bloom, also a nice lot of baby ramblers. They have 14,000 giganteum lilies for Easter.

The spring show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society opens March 12 and promises to be an unusually good one. A year ago it was affected by the New York S. A. F. show, and there were many local exhibitors there. This year, however, the Boston show will be supported by practically all local growers.

Mrs. W. H. Ward, of Montvale, has a fine lot of Benora, Beacon, Winsor, White Wonder, Rosette and Pink Delight carnations, in addition to excellent freesias and forget-me-nots.

F. W. Fletcher, of Auburndale, expects next season to plant 250,000 of his carefully selected Purity freesia on land he owns thirty miles from Palm Beach, Fla. He reports large orders for Nelrose antirrhinum.

Darwin tulips are not looked upon as adaptable for early forcing, but W. C. Rust has been cutting Pride of Haarlem since the middle of January on 18-inch to 24-inch stems. Here is some-have reached the highest percentage of purity and germination.

In England, where the art of gardening is most highly developed, Carter's Seeds rank first. Ask any gardener with experience in Great Britain—he will know Carter.

In America, Carter's Seeds have achieved a tremendous success both on large estates and in smaller gardens. We import these seeds direct from Raynes Park and carry a complete stock at our Boston warehouses. We issue an American Catalogue, with all prices in American money. It includes selected varieties of Flower and Vegetable Seeds, with valuable directions for planting and cultivation.

PROVIDENCE.

The Market.

This has certainly been a daffodil season, and never before in the history of the trade in this city has there been such a general and generous demand for them. For a number of social functions these flowers have constituted the entire decoration. Business as a whole was somewhat dull last week. Weather conditions were largely responsible, although the Lenten period contributed to the falling off. A number of unusually large funerals counteracted other influences and the result was a tolerably good week.

Various Notes.

Alonzo Vose, on Main street, Woonsocket, is contemplating removal to larger quarters in the near future.

Joseph Koppelman was distributing cigars last week on the advent of a lusty son a few days ago.

James Burke, manager of the Warwick Greenhouses, has a fine house of cinerarias. He suffered a loss recently of about half of one of his rose houses by frost.

F. J. Cartwright is handling the stock of F. Macrae & Sons at the Boston Flower Exchange.

James Smith, of Fall River, was a visitor in this city last week and reports serious loss in his range by the bursting of a boiler.

The local trade received a business call last week from a representative of M. Rice Co., Philadelphia.

Louis J. Reuter, of Westerly, was a business visitor in New York last week.

A fire early in the evening of February 24 caused slight damage at the greenhouses of Charles H. Hunt, on Mystic street.

Wilbur A. Fiske, of the W. E. Barrett Co., is seriously ill at his apartments in the Minden.

William Crompton, of East Greenwich, reports the present winter as the most severe in his forty years of conducting greenhouses. He says he lost several hundred bedding plants in the zero spell in January.

J. A. Staple, of Woonsocket, had forty designs for a funeral in that city last week.

John Patterson, of Ashton, reports an exceptionally busy week on funeral work.

Wm. E. Chappell had the table and hall decorations for the annual dinner of Masons at the Masonic Temple.

NEW PINK ROSES

Mrs. George Shawyer One of the best Roses that has been introduced in years. It is a very rapid, strong grower and with us produces more flowers per plant than Killarney. It is exceptionally well adapted to the grower that retails his stock.

Grafted Plants only, $12.00 per 100. Ready by March 15th, in 2½-inch pots.

CECILE BRUNNER, the Baby Pink Rose This is a beautiful little Rose coming in sprays of three to five buds and has been a great success with the retail florists of this city, as it combines in beautiful effect with so many other flowers in all kinds of work. Every grower should try some of these—not only in the greenhouse but in his garden. It is a very prolific bloomer and if carefully protected in the winter, should be a money-maker both outdoors and under glass.

Grafted Plants, $12.00 per 100. Own Root, $8.00 per 100; $35.00 per 500; $60.00 per 1000.

Both of the above varieties are not novelties but have been thoroughly tried out.

Rhea Reid, Killarney, White Killarney, Bulgarie and Richmond

All carefully grafted on selected English Manetti, $10.00 per 100. Ready about April 1st, in 2½-inch pots. All of our plants are well hardened off, ready for shifting into larger pots or planting direct in the benches.

The flowering quality of our plants is well known, as we select only flowering wood for scions—no blind wood used at all.

New Rose, Killarney Brilliant

THE MOST VALUABLE ROSE INTRODUCED IN MANY YEARS.

We consider this new rose—a sport from the original pink Killarney—the most valuable rose that has been introduced in many years. It is well named Killarney Brilliant, on account of its brilliant color.

It is a great improvement on the original pink Killarney; first, because of its much more brilliant color, it being almost crimson in bright weather, while in midwinter—in dull, cloudy and foggy weather,—when the original pink Killarney loses its brilliancy and becomes badly faded, Killarney Brilliant is as bright and deep a pink as the original variety at its best. In addition to its great superiority in color, the flower is almost twice as large, having from twenty-five to forty full-sized petals.

It has the same desirable color that Killarney Queen possesses, but has double the number of petals, making it a very double and a fuller flower; and it is also very much more productive, having the same habit of growth and the same freedom of bloom as its parent.

We have watched Killarney Brilliant growing during the past winter, planted in the same house with the original and the double pink Killarney, and when those varieties faded so as to be almost unmarketable, Killarney Brilliant was superb. We are thoroughly convinced that it will immediately supplant the original Killarney as the standard market variety, and that every up-to-date grower will be compelled to plant it, on account of its great superiority. A prominent rose grower, who has seen it growing, says it is the only rose he has ever seen that needs no advertising; it sells itself.

CINCINNATI.

The Gateway to the South.

Last week, after Ash Wednesday, the market eased considerably, and by Saturday there were adequate receipts in almost every line. After the blizzard of the early part of the week the sun came out bright each day. The demand, however, is only ordinary, and unless it strengthens greatly to take up the increased supply, there will be a crowded market before long.

Killarney and White Killarney, Richmond and Taft have increased greatly in supply on new crops that are coming in and the stock is good. American Beauties are still more or less conspicuous by their absence.

Sweet pea receipts have increased greatly. Pink ones are the best sellers. In the other colors only the best find a ready market. Prices have dropped. The prices on carnations, too, are dropping. The offerings are about the same as those of the last few weeks, but since the influx of the larger cuts of other flowers some of the demand has turned away from them.

Giganteum lilies sell well. The same is true of callas and rubrums. None of the three, however, are in large supply. Bulbous stock is arriving in larger quantities than before, but outside of the call for the best, it is enjoying no particular demand. Other offerings include violets, both double and single, valley, orchids, primroses and snapdragons. Outdoor grown daffodils are about due to arrive from southern Illinois.

Various Notes.

The Florists' Club will hold its regular meeting Monday, March 9.

E. G. Gillett reports a satisfactory business for the month of February. His business ran ahead of that of the same month last year.

C. E. Critchell reports that lilies are moving nicely.

The fine Killarney and White Killarney from L. Frank & Sons are again coming in strong at L. H. Kyrk's store.

The Cincinnati Cut Flower Exchange has been receiving an excellent line of valley.

Champion
Yellow Prince      Yellowstone

When deciding what to plant for scarlet, keep in mind our variety "Champion." All during its try-out it has never failed to come early and has always produced a heavy cut for Christmas.

CHAMPION is right on time with an enormous crop for the Holidays and is in the scarlet class what White Wonder is in the white.

Bright scarlet in color, 3 to 3½-inch flower, long, stiff stems, good calyx, and its excellent keeping qualities combined with a strong habit and great productiveness will place it at the head of all scarlet carnations for commercial growing. Grow Champion—it is good early, all through the season and even into the hot summer months.

We have an immense stock that is producing fine plump cuttings—Give us your order now—do not wait.

JOY!

You must have heard about it. We know it sounds good. It sounds so good because it happens to be true.

This is a Carnation that did not get a reputation over night. We have been handling it for a little over two years and ought to know something about it.

IT'S A REAL RED

Perhaps we should call it Scarlet, because it is a live, glowing Red.

Better still, it is the kind of Carnation that proves the florist's friend. Shipped over a distance, it will look as good on arrival as when sent. This feature appeals to us because we know what it means to the man who is depending on us.

JOY has been described by Mr. E. H. Blameuser, of Niles Center, Ill.—the man who raised it—as "a strong grower, early, very free and continuous bloomer, with strong calyx and good stem." That should be good enough for anybody.

Don't wait for the other fellow to tell you about it. Send your order in now.

NEW ORLEANS.

The Market.

This year's carnival business was as good as usual. The city was filled with strangers from all parts of the country and abroad. Little money is spent at the florists' establishments by the visitors; the bulk of the patronage comes from our own people. The flower stores were gorgeously decorated with the choicest cut flowers and pot plants, which attracted a great deal of attention and admiration. The decorations at the various carnival balls and receptions were artistic, and the bouquets presented to the various queens and their maids of honor were as beautiful as any ever used for these occasions. The weather, although a little cold and cloudy, was otherwise favorable until the evening of Carnival day, when a heavy rain, which continued all night, somewhat marred the last hours of frolic. On the morning of February 25 we had the first snowfall since 1899, with a temperature of 36 degrees. The novel sight lasted about forty-five minutes, but, on account of the wet ground, was a thing of the past by noon. No harm was done to outside vegetation.

Club Meeting.

The New Orleans Horticultural Society held its monthly meeting February 26 at the Chamber of Commerce building. P. A. Chopin presided, with C. R. Panter, secretary, at his desk, and a fair attendance. The meeting was interesting and was enjoyed by all present. The committees on by-laws and on the flower show reported progress and will bring in substantial reports at the next meeting.

Ed. Baker, superintendent of the local parking commission, gave an interesting and instructive talk on the progress made during the winter. He stated that about 1,200 trees of various kinds have been planted during the last two months and that by the end of the planting season about 2,500 trees will be disposed of in different sections of the city.

J. A. Newsham exhibited beautiful plants of Dendrobium nobile album, Cattleya speciosissima and Oncidium splendendum.

Richard Eichling, foreman of U. J. Virgin's nursery, brought a large pan

Various Notes.

E. A. Farley, the enterprising manager of the Gentilly Terrace Nursery, has his place in fine shape. He makes a specialty of fancy-leaved caladiums, cannas, gardenias and outdoor palms.

U. J. Virgin had the order for the bouquets carried by the queen and her maids of honor at the Rex ball.

OTTAWA, KAN.

B. Romstedt is hoping that one Charles Brace, to whom he gave temporary work a short time ago, will remember to return the watch he borrowed of Mr. Romstedt's young son. Investigation has shown that Brace was an inmate of the Boys' Industrial School at Topeka for about six years preceding the last two, having been given his discharge by virtue of his having reached the age of 21 years. He now is 23 years of age, about five feet four inches high, with dark hair and eyes. When he left Mr. Romstedt he wore a black suit and overcoat, with a blue serge cap and grayish blue shirt. H. W. Charles, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, in a letter dated February 17, said the boy is thoroughly degenerate; while not feeble minded, still mentally unbalanced and in a great measure irresponsible. Brace claimed to Mr. Romstedt that he had worked for a number of well-known florists.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

The Market.

Stock in general remains about the same as it has been for the last few weeks. Roses are still scarce. Carnations are shortening up to some extent, but the cut is still large enough to supply the demand. Bulbous stock is arriving in quantity now and the quality is fine. Violets and sweet peas are exceptionally good for this time of year.

Lent is now with us, but we are pleased to be able to say that there has been little falling off in trade on that account. Business in general is good and nobody is complaining hard.

Various Notes.

Ernest Rober, of Wilmette, Ill., visited Milwaukee Wednesday, February 25. H. J. S.

Ponca City, Okla.—O. F. Keck has completed a greenhouse on North Sixth street, in which he will grow both flowers and vegetables.

The World's Best Cannas

Get them at Dreer's

We try out all new introductions for at least two years before endorsing or rejecting same, and if they are not improvements over existing sorts, or decided novelties, we do not offer them to you.

The following varieties of recent introduction stand out prominently as the best of their respective types and colors, and you will make no mistake in accepting our endorsement of the ten varieties here offered.

SPECIAL.—Note the reduction in price of the three leaders—Hungaria, the ideal pink, Gustav Gumpfer, yellow, and Mrs. Alfred Conard, popular salmon pink.

Gustav Gumpfer. Another season's trial strengthens us in again recommending this as the ideal rich yellow bedding Canna; the flowers of good size are held well above the foliage, the fine trusses always clean looking; in habit of growth very uniform; color a rich golden-yellow, a shade that has been missing heretofore and which can be seen as far as the eye will carry, 3½ to 4 feet. 20 cts. each; $1.25 per doz.; $7.00 per 100; $65.00 per 1,000.

Hungaria. The ideal pink bedding Canna; flowers large, in good sized trusses, produced early, freely and continuously, in color not unlike that of the Paul Neyron Rose. Compared to all other pink varieties, it possesses a softness and refinement not found in any other sort; 3 to 3½ feet. 20 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $10.00 per 100; $90.00 per 1,000.

Louis Reverchon. This was one of the best dark-leaved red-flowering varieties in our trials during the past three years. A block of about 2,000 plants attracted great attention. The flowers are very large, of a cochineal-red color, very freely produced on vigorous plants with light bronze foliage; 4½ to 5 feet. 10 cts. each; $1.00 per doz.; $8.00 per 100; $75.00 per 1,000.

Meteor. There are two varieties of Cannas being sold under the name of Meteor, one a German introduction which can be bought very cheap. We offer the American variety and it is the Canna you want, as it is the best red flowering Canna in commerce. 30 cts. each; $3.00 per doz.; $20.00 per 100.

Mrs. Alfred F. Conard. A most remarkable variety, with exquisite salmon-pink flowers of largest size in erect and abundantly furnished heads, so freely produced as to keep a superb showing of bloom for months above the rich green foliage; 4 feet. 20 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $12.00 per 100; $100.00 per 1,000.

Rosea Gigantea. Extra large flowers, borne in such abundance that the mass of color on each plant is truly amazing; individual petals are 2½ inches across; a deep, rich rose, almost a coral-carmine. 10 cts. each; 75 cts. per doz.; $5.00 per 100; $40.00 per 1,000.

Maros. The best white bedder, in color about the same as Mont Blanc Improved, but produces not only three or four times as many flowers, and, as the old flowers shed themselves, it always presents a clean and tidy appearance. Maros in our fields attracted great attention, forming great broad clean bands of white. Its habit is perfect, filling every requirement of a tip-top bedder. 15 cts. each; $1.50 per doz.; $10.00 per 100; $90.00 per 1,000.

Uhlberg. Entirely distinct and one of the freest-flowering varieties we have ever grown. The flowers expand very full and are of a soft rosy-carmine; the throat of the flower is of a creamy-yellow and the edges of the petals, which are slightly crimped, are also pale yellow. This variety attracted much attention at our trials; 3 feet. 35 cts. each; $3.50 per doz.; $25.00 per 100.

Undine. Unquestionably the best of its type, and we heartily recommend it either for massing or as single specimens in the border. Its growth is dwarf and graceful, with green foliage, and its flowers, which are produced very freely, are of a bright orange-scarlet broadly edged with golden yellow; a most satisfactory variety in every way; 3½ feet. 25 cts. each; $2.50 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

William Bates. A splendid free-flowering pure yellow Canna that has attracted much attention. The size of its flowers, of its trusses, its habit of growth are all that can be desired; a variety that will become a great favorite; 5 feet. 25 cts. each; $2.50 per doz.; $20.00 per 100.

The varieties Meteor and Uhlberg will be supplied in growing plants, all others in roots.

Twenty-five at hundred rates; 250 or more at thousand rates.

We will supply 1 each of the set of 10 varieties for $2.00.

We will supply 6 each of the set of 10 varieties for $8.00.

We also have an immense stock of the standard varieties of Cannas and we shall be pleased to quote special prices on your requirements.

HARTFORD, CONN.

The Market.

With zero weather and snowdrifts several feet deep, business has been slow all through February. Stock has been scarce and not of standard quality. Last week we were favored with five days of sun, which has improved both plants and flowers. No serious damage has been reported from the heavy snow.

Various Notes.

J. Pope, gardener for Mrs. B. B. Tuttle, of Naugatuck, Conn., gave an illustrated lecture on orchids before the Connecticut Horticultural Society March 4, in the Center Church house.

The Connecticut Horticultural Society held carnation night February 27. There was a good attendance. Not so many exhibited as in former years, owing to the scarcity of carnations. Peter Fisher, of Ellis, Mass., sent a vase of Gorgeous, which was much admired. It was awarded a first-class certificate. Patten & Co., of Tewksbury, Mass., sent a vase of Princess Dagmar, also awarded a first-class certificate. Theodore Stout, of Rockville, made an exhibit and was awarded a cultural certificate. A. N. Pierson, Inc., exhibited Rosette, White Wonder and Enchantress Supreme, which were awarded a cultural certificate. This concern also exhibited a vase of the new rose, Hadley, which received a first-class certificate; it made a decidedly favorable impression. Howard Pinney gave a short talk on carnations. During the coming summer Mr. Pinney will experiment in growing carnations under cloth, using a system similar to that used by the tobacco growers of this section, Mr. Pinney's theory being that the strong rays of the sun will be broken by the cloth, which will also aid in retaining moisture. The experiment will be watched with interest. March 19 Theodore Wirth, president of the S. A. F., will deliver an illustrated lecture on the park system of Minneapolis in Jewell hall. A large audience will undoubtedly greet Mr. Wirth. R. C. S.

AMHERST, MASS.

The short course in floriculture at the Massachusetts Agricultural College has been in progress since the first week in January. Twenty-three students are enrolled; this is the largest registration since the establishment of the course. Other states as well as Massachusetts are represented, two of the students coming from Vermont and one from Ohio. Several members of the class have had considerable experience in greenhouse work, while others are beginners. Clark L. Thayer, a graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and assistant in the department of floriculture, is in charge of the work. Particular attention is given to the chief florists' crops, such as roses, carnations, violets and chrysanthemums. Other subjects which are taken up are greenhouse construction, heating and glazing, and, as far as possible, practical work is given along with the lectures, including propagation by cuttings, rose grafting, etc. Trips to commercial greenhouse establishments, of which there are so many in the vicinity of Amherst, form one of the features of the course. A few of the ranges which have been visited are those of A. N. Pierson, Inc., Cromwell, Conn.; Butler & Ullman, Northampton, Mass., and the Montgomery Co., Hadley, Mass. An annual trip is also taken to Boston to visit markets, stores, commercial ranges and private estates in that vicinity.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.

The annual banquet of the New Bedford Horticultural Society was held at the Parker House Thursday, February 19, and proved to be a marked success, with the largest attendance in the history of the society. The hall was tastefully decorated with palms, and flowering plants adorned the tables and mantels, while vases of carnations, lilies and narcissi added to the effect. After an address of welcome by President Roy and an interesting musical program, a few words from the former president, F. C. Barrows, closed the evening. Wm. F. Turner.

NEWPORT, R. I.

Thomas McHugh was married to Miss Annie Reilly on Tuesday evening, February 24, in the rectory of St. Augustine church. Immediately after the ceremony the couple were driven to the steamer, escorted by the wedding party. Upon their return from New York they will be at home on Hammond street.

John T. Allan was elected president of the Lime Kiln Klub at the annual meeting, held February 26. M.

PREPARE FOR EASTER

It is time to get busy, for Easter is near.

The birds are singing, to bring us good cheer;

And this is the message that sweetens their song—

That Aschmann has plants for which buyers long;

Azaleas, covered with blossoms; Bulbs, radiant and sweet;

Araucarias, perfect; Palms, stately and neat;

Ferns, sturdy and green; Lilies, gleaming and bright;

The stock is complete, the prices are right.

There's no time to be lost, wise florists all hurry

To buy up the best, and save money and worry.

PTERIS Wilsoni. In 6-in. pans, 25c.

CYCLAMEN. 5½-in., 6-in., 35c, 40c, 50c. In bud.

EASTER LILIES OUR SPECIALTY. We have the genuine EASTER LILY, Lilium multiflorum. We have the genuine stock, true to name, raised from selected bulbs, furnished by our grower in Japan; 9 to 12-in. bulbs; now in fine condition for Easter sale; 5½ to 6-in. pots, having from 5 to 10 buds to a plant; 10c per bud; plants having less than 5 buds, 12c per bud. Order Now. Buds now showing; plants of medium height.

HYACINTHS are scarce this Easter, but we put in last fall an immense stock of our own importation, which will make large spikes and cannot be compared with the cheap stuff that is now floating on the market. Gertrude, best pink; La Grandesse, best white; King of the Blues, best dark blue; Grand Maitre, best lavender blue. 4-in pots, staked up, $12.00 for 100 pots.

TOURNESOL TULIPS, best double red and yellow variegated; Murillo, double rose; Imperator Rubrum, bright red double; Couronne d' Or, double yellow, new, three bulbs planted in a 4-in. pot, $15.00 per 100 pots, $8.00 a doz., in bloom one week before Easter.

DAFFODILS, Von Sion. Best double yellow NARCISSUS in existence, three double-nosed bulbs, planted in 5½ to 6-in. pot, $3.00 per doz. pots, out of cold frame, will bloom one to two weeks before Easter.

While we pay the highest price for our Bulbs of Hyacinths, Tulips, etc., from Holland growers, you must bear in mind that we can sell them no cheaper than we do, and we assure you that there is no profit in it for us for the fine stock we sell you.

ASPARAGUS SPRENGERI, 4-in., 10c; 2½-in., 4c.

ASPARAGUS PLUMOSUS NANUS, 3-in., 7c; 4-in., 10c; 2½-in., 4c; 5½-in., 25c to 35c.

Our specialty, the world wide known pure white MOONVINE, Ipomoea Noctiflora, is now ready, 2½-in. pots, $5.00 per 100.

ARAUCARIA Excelsa. 6-in. pots, 4, 5, 6, 7 tiers, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

RHODODENDRONS. 12-in. tubs, full of buds, $1.25 to $1.50.

SPIRAEA GLADSTONE in 6 and 7-in. pots, in bud, 30c, 40c, 50c and 75c.

HYDRANGEA OTAKSA, full of foliage, all have buds, just right for Easter sales, 5½, 6 and 7-in pots, 25c, 30c, 40c, 50c and 75c; FRENCH HYDRANGEAS, Mme. Mouillere, best white and Gen. de Vibraye, bright rose, 30c, 40c and 50c.

BEGONIA GRACILIS LUMINOSA, deep red, in bloom and bud, 5½-in. pots, $3.00 per doz.

HEADQUARTERS FOR AZALEAS FOR EASTER BLOOMING.

Order now. 5 houses full, 10,000 of the choicest plants on hand, ready for immediate shipment. We are the only importers of AZALEAS, of which we have made a specialty for the last 25 years. We have the well-known, best double pink Mme. Van der Cruyssen, 5½-in., 6-in., 7-in., 8-in. pots, 60c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 to $2.00.

Vervaeana. Best double rose variegated, large flowering, 5½-in., 6-in., 7-in. pots, 60c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 to $2.00. Niobe and Deutsche Perle, best double white; Princess of India, double variegated; De Schryveriana, double variegated; Apollo, best red; and other well-known varieties, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 to $2.00. ## SCOTCH SOOT

Where there is a house that is just full of buds almost ready to show color, nothing will turn better color into the flowers than a little soot, that can be scattered over the benches before watering. The amount applied should not be excessive, as the soot is very strong and may damage some of the foliage somewhat. Apply just enough to blacken the surface of the soil in the benches and let it go at that. Better a little oftener than too much all at once.

We offer the genuine in original cwt. sacks, at $2.75 per 112 lbs.; $12.50 per 560 lbs.

NORTHERN GROWN ASTER SEED.

In this day and age of sharp and wideawake competition to claim "the best" in any line, requires a colossal nerve. We keep a mighty watchful eye on the doings and stocks of our competitors, and to the best of our knowledge, the quality of the stocks offered below is equal to and just a little beyond the head of the procession. If better can be found, the finder will indeed come into possession of a prime strain of aster seed. Trials free to large growers. Prices on larger quantities on application.

500,000 CARNATIONS.

We are devoting our whole plant to the production of rooted carnation cuttings. Our stock plants are grown cool and for cuttings only. Experience proves that cuttings grown from this kind of stock are stronger and far superior to cuttings taken from flowering plants. You can be sure that orders placed with us will be filled with the very best stock.

ROOTED CUTTINGS.

My cuttings are taken from stock plants that are allowed to bloom very little. The full strength of the plant goes to produce strong, vigorous cuttings. Those wishing stock potted and held for planting out time, or earlier delivery, may secure same by a deposit. The balance will be payable with order to ship. 5% discount allowed on all orders accompanied by cash. Your order will receive my personal and careful attention. Cash or references.

CYCLAMEN.

200,000 GIANT FLOWERING CYCLAMEN SEEDLINGS AND BLOOMING PLANTS.

For the last 16 years we have selected three-fourths of our seed-bearing cyclamen stock before Xmas, to assure early blooming plants, and claim the finest commercial strain in this country; no fizzle of many so-called English varieties.

Our aim is strong growers that don't have to be petted to be grown into a choice salable plant—a well built, five-petaled flower (many of them at one time), with well marked foliage; every plant an ideal, a prize winner. Received first prize at the Cleveland show and first and second at Toledo, early November, when blooming cyclamens were scarce.

STRONG AUGUST SOWN SEEDLINGS, once transplanted, $3.50 per 100; $30.00 per 1000.

BLOOMING PLANTS, 5, 6 and 8-in., 50c, 75c, $1.00 to $1.50 each. Cash with order. Cultural directions with all orders.

C. Winterich, Cyclamen Specialist, Defiance, O.

CYCLAMEN SEEDLINGS.

SNAPDRAGONS.

Silver Pink snapdragons in 2-in. pots by 2-in. pots; we do not mean a rooted cutting stuck in a 2-in. pot a few days before you get your order, but a 2-in. plant cut back and branching and pot well filled with roots, ready to be benched now or put into larger pots; the kind of plants we have shipped as far east as New Jersey and as far west as California, and have given entire satisfaction. We now have 10,000 pots ready and more stock coming on. A true bargain at $2.00 hundred. Cash with order.

GREEN SCUM ON SOIL.

Can you give us any information about a green scum that forms on the top of the soil among our geranium plants? We used the soil from the beds in which some of our Christmas stock was grown. To this soil we added bone flour. Do you think that the commercial fertilizer in the soil would cause this green moss or mold to form? Our 4-inch geraniums have this mold already forming on the soil. It is not thick, but it spreads over the whole surface. Do you think weak lime water would help to check it?

D. F. C.

If you had added a little lime to help sweeten your soil the scum would not have bothered you so much. Weak lime water will assist in getting rid of it. The cause is acidity in the soil, and perhaps you aggravated the trouble by using the compost when it was somewhat damp. Of course, fresh soil is to be preferred for all plants; when this cannot be procured, let the sun dry your compost fairly well, and, if it is at all acid, use some air-slaked lime to counteract the acidity. Go over your pots now with a sharp-pointed stick and remove the scum; then give a sprinkling of dry lime or a watering of weak lime water.

FORCING LILACS SECOND TIME.

Can pot-grown lilac, Marie Legraye, which has been forced into bloom this year, be forced again next year for Easter? If so, will you please give me directions for this? C. E. R.

The lilacs are of no value whatever to force the next season, but if you prune them back fairly well after flowering, plant outdoors in April and leave until the fall of 1915, the plants can be lifted, potted and forced again with success. C. W.

SUBSTITUTE FOR WOOD ASHES.

Can you tell me whether there is any substitute for wood ashes? It is hard to get the ashes in this locality, except in large quantities. H. C. J. W.

I do not know of any fertilizer which is a real substitute for wood ashes. They contain both phosphoric acid and potash. The average Canadian hard-wood ashes contain 1.25 to 1.50 pounds of phosphoric acid per 100 pounds, and three to five pounds, occasionally more, of potash per 100 pounds. To get this equivalent in other fertilizers, you could purchase kainite, which averages thirteen to fifteen pounds of potash per 100 pounds, and basic slag, which averages sixteen to seventeen pounds of phosphoric acid per 100 pounds. These are about the same price as wood ashes, and, as they are at the same time relatively as valuable, an application of the two in the proportions, approximately, of one-tenth as much of phosphoric acid as potash, would give you practically an equivalent of wood ashes. The retail cash cost of kainite at market centers is $12 to $14 per ton, and of basic slag, practically the same. Dealers, however, usually charge a little over these prices. If you use 200 pounds of basic slag and 1,800 pounds of kainite, you will get a fairly good substitute for wood ashes. C. W.

SOOT FROM SOFT COAL.

Does the burnt, pink soot which comes out of the combustion chamber of a boiler contain any ingredients which would be of value in growing cut flowers? Is such soot as good as the genuine black soot, taking for granted that it all comes from soft coal or even half-hard coal? E. O.

Neither form of soot contains much that is of value as a fertilizer. The black soot contains a large amount of unburned carbon, which has practically all been removed from the pink soot. The latter contains a much larger amount of mineral matter, which is largely composed of alumina, iron, lime and magnesia, with small quantities of potash and phosphoric acid, but of course it contains no nitrogen. Its actual fertilizer value is not more than one-tenth that of hard-wood ashes. The value of the black soot, owing to the fact that it contains a much larger amount of carbon, is proportionately less.

Although soot from soft coal would appear to have little fertilizing value, it certainly aids in securing firm, dark green foliage, and seems to heighten the color and improve the texture of the flowers. This may be due in part to the large amount of iron found in soot.

A large acreage of land near this location has been planted to tomatoes for the local canning factory and vegetables for the market. An irrigation system has been installed.

DO YOU KNOW VERMINE?

John Lewis Childs, Flowerfield, N. Y., writes: "I suppose you will be glad to know that VERMINE is giving excellent satisfaction. Our greenhouse foreman says that it is the only thing that he has ever used that will kill white ants in the benches."

Valentin Burgevin's Sons, Kingston, N. Y., write: "We wish to say that we find VERMINE an excellent thing. We use it on a bench planted with Smilax to kill root lice or maggots, which ate the roots, and after two applications our Smilax is taking on new life and has started off to grow."

The Gardner Nursery Company, Osage, Iowa, writes: "We will use VERMINE on our out-of-door fields of strawberry plants, if the inside test continues as satisfactory as it now seems."

W. N. Craig, Brookline, Mass., writes: "I have used VERMINE and found it effective against root maggots, cut worms, earth worms, ants and other ground pests."

VERMINE is applied one part to four hundred parts of water by thoroughly soaking the soil. It will protect your crops from the ravages of vermin underground without the slightest injury to vegetation.

Greenhouse Heating.

SUBSCRIBERS are invited to write the Editor of this Department with regard to any details of greenhouse heating that are not understood. But please do not ask The Review to make a choice of apparatus for you. The greenhouse heating equipment advertised in this paper is, we believe, the best for the trade to buy, and each article the best in the special field of its adaptation.

CAPACITY OF BOILER.

When asking for information in a former letter to you, I said my boiler was 3x14 feet. I should have said 4x14 feet. Would such a boiler heat an additional twenty-five feet of my carnation house, making the house 22x115 instead of 22x90? E. W. O.

The number and size of the tubes in the boiler are not stated, but it will be underrated if its capacity is estimated at the rate of one horse-power for each tube, provided the tubes are 3-inch, and proportionately for larger or smaller tubes, and at a low estimate each horse-power will furnish heat for 300 square feet of glass in small houses and twice that amount in large ones. From this it is evident that the boiler would heat several houses of the size described.

TWO WYOMING HOUSES.

I have a lettuce house 20x115, three-quarter-span, with the long sashbars on the south side. The house is nine feet high to the ridge, eight feet high at the back and four and one-half feet high at the south side. There is glass in the ends, but none in the sides. There are two 8-foot beds against the walls. I am now using coils for heating, but they are not satisfactory. In repiping the house I wish to use the pipes I have, which include two runs of 2½-inch and eight runs of 2-inch pipes.

I am also building another house, east of and in line with my lettuce house. The new house is 22x90, fourteen and one-half feet high to the ridge, five feet high at the low side and eight feet high at the back. The sashbars on the south side are eighteen feet long; on the north side, nine feet long. There is glass in the ends and twenty-eight inches of glass in the south wall. In this house there is a 3-foot bench at each side, with two 5-foot benches between. These benches are all raised.

The outside temperature dropped to 28 degrees below zero here one night this winter. My houses have some natural protection, being located on a south hillside. The boiler will be two feet below the level of the ground and will be placed between the two houses, which are twenty-two feet apart. It is a return tubular boiler, 3x14 feet, and contains thirty-two 3-inch flues. The fire-box is four feet by four feet two inches. There are two openings at the top of the boiler, one of them 5-inch, the other 2½-inch. The return opening is 3-inch. We do not have city water pressure.

Please tell me how to use headers. Should I butt the glass in my new house? Should I run the main flow directly up from the boiler and into the houses, or could I run the flow underground until it is inside the houses and

Morehead Back to Boiler SYSTEM

The Morehead "Back to Boiler" System of Steam Traps has drained hundreds of formerly dissipated dollars out of hundreds of lines in greenhouses and turned them right back to the boiler for re-investment.

That's one reason why there are more Moreheads in greenhouses than all others combined. The Keller Floral Co. says: "The Trap is a wonder. We do not know how we have done without it for so long."

Save the heat—turn the condensation back to the boiler as feed water—use considerably less fuel and water—

Install Morehead Traps!

The ideal temperature conditions following the installation of the Morehead System promote the growth of live, substantial flowers—full of life and sparkle.

two feet under the ridge and one on each wall plate. Connect the middle flow with two 2-inch returns, to be placed along the inner edges of the beds, and the other flows with three returns, to be placed upon the walls. Or two flows and nine returns might be used. For the house 22x90, with twenty-eight inches of glass in one wall, use three 2½-inch flow pipes and nine 2-inch returns. Or use two flows and eleven returns. A 5-inch main, with 4-inch pipes leading to each house, would answer for the flows. If possible, another 3-inch opening should be made for the main return from one of the houses.

When headers are used for making coils, either the coils are carried two or three feet around the corner and the pipes are connected by means of right and left ells, or long threads and lock-

There will be less trouble in making good joints if the glass is lapped, and there will also be less drip.

It will answer if the pipes are carried to the houses before the rise is made. An air valve will answer on one or even on both of the flow pipes, if it is not convenient to locate the expansion tank at those points. The expansion tank can be connected at any convenient part of the system, either on the flows or returns. Do not connect the returns at the same point. There should be considerable reserve power in the boiler, and it would probably heat as much more radiation.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

The Market.

After an unusually mild winter, Kentucky and the south for the last three weeks has been in the grasp of the severest kind of weather; snow and sleet have fallen as far south as New Orleans. Lent and the weather had little or no effect on business for the week ending February 28. Everybody reports business good, with funeral work of all kinds heavy. There is a good supply of stock, but the demand uses up all that is brought in. Local florists have been putting in some fine windows, featuring pot plants. Some fine specimens of Cineraria hybrida and azaleas are being shown.

Various Notes.

H. Walker, of F. Walker & Co., had a nice display of azaleas and cinerarias and reported good business in them.

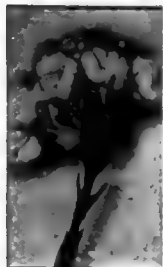

Anders Rasmussen, of New Albany, Ind., is building five new houses, two 30x300 for roses, and three 31x300 for carnations. He also expects to install a new 175 horse-power boiler when these houses are completed. With these houses Mr. Rasmussen's plant will total 300,000 feet of glass, the largest in this vicinity.

Robert Miller, of the Kunzman Floral Co., is reported better and able to be about. Mr. Miller has been confined since Christmas with an attack of nephritis, and for a while his condition was considered extremely serious.

John Ruysenaas, foreman for F. Walker & Co., who has been on the sick list for the last week, is improving.

August Baumer, the genial Chestnut street magnate, was so busy when we saw him that we beat a hasty retreat before he had a chance to put us to work.

A visitor last week was S. S. Skidelsky, of Philadelphia. R. J. S.

277% MORE BLOSSOMS

on plants raised in Square Paper Pots than on plants raised in clay pots of same size.

There were 466 stems of blossoms on 40 plants raised in 4-inch Square Paper Pots and 105 stems of blossoms on 40 plants raised in 4-inch clay pots.

NUMBER OF STEMS IN BLOSSOM

	June 9	June 20	June 27
On 40 plants from clay pots.....	45	47	121
On 40 plants from paper pots.....	105	229	466

When set in the field May 15th, the root systems of the plants from the 4-inch square paper pots were 4-inch cubes (64 cubic inches of soil and roots) and from the 4-inch clay pots the root systems contained 31 cubic inches of soil and roots (the amount that a 4-inch clay pot holds).

The third count of blossoms was made June 27th, 42 days after the plants had been set in the field.

The plants from the square paper pots were then more than twice as large and vigorous as those raised in clay pots.

All plants raised in square paper pots are larger and more vigorous than those raised in clay pots, because they have about double root room for the same size pots.

Measure the two pots and you will find that the 4-inch square paper pot holds as much soil as two 4-inch clay pots.

It is the same with square dirt bands, which are square paper pots without bottoms (the bottoms being furnished by old newspapers spread on the bench).

The theory that it is only necessary to have a big top to the plant has been proved misleading.

There must be a big root system to push the top or the plant will grow slow and small.

Try some square paper pots or dirt bands with your clay pots and see if you can afford to use any clay pots.

Some of the florists around Philadelphia are using large numbers of square dirt bands and paper pots.

We have shipped to Mr. P. B. Dilks, Bridesburg, Phila., Pa., 150,000 2-inch square dirt bands and 20,000 3-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. Geo. W. Dilks, Frankford, Pa., 10,000 2-inch square dirt bands and 10,000 3-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. H. B. Weaver, Bird-in-hand, Pa., 45,000 2-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. M. H. Hostetter, Manheim, Pa., 20,000 2½-inch dirt bands and 6,000 5-inch dirt bands.

FLOWER POTS

We are trying to save you money through this advertisement. Our plan is to furnish you the best of ware at a very low price. It costs money to call on you personally. Let's get together on the mail order proposition and you save the difference. There are other reasons why you will want our pots. We are very fortunate in the quality of our clay, and you will be delighted with the ware. Our large output and advantages of cheap fuel, with our clay at our back door and the railroads at our front door, with little cost for selling, enables us to quote you very low prices. A sample order will convince you. Samples and prices on application. Whether you use car lots or smaller quantities, it is to your advantage to write us.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

The Market.

In making a report of business for the week just past, one might hesitate to call it good, even with a large quantity of stock sold. For sale in various flower shops and department stores were found carnations, daffodils and tulips at 25 to 35 cents per dozen, and violets and sweet peas at 50 cents per hundred. There were large quantities of stock disposed of.

Various Notes.

Thomas Christian, formerly with the W. E. Day Co., has associated with him two prominent young men of this city and is about to open an up-to-date flower store in the Eckel Theater building. As this is a popular theater and many people pass the location daily, good use of the windows for display and advertising can be made. Mr. Christian was in New York last week securing fittings and stock for the opening, which will take place in a few weeks.

The automobile show, while having a successful week, did not result in any extra work for the florists. A few ferns and palms were used for decoration.

The W. E. Day Co. had an attractive window in the store in the Onondaga Hotel building, using the popular baskets filled with sweet peas, freesias and roses. The stock of roses is large and exceptionally fine.

M. S. Henkle has moved into his new and larger store in the same block on South Salina street, where he has a much better window for display. He now has an opportunity of showing plants and flowers and consequently is handling more business than before the change.

Chester Harris has been busy with funeral work, and among the pieces made was a broken column five feet in height and mounted on a base of lilies, which reflected great credit on Mr. Harris' ability in this line.

The H. D. Mann Co. reports business good, having disposed of all the stock of roses, carnations and lilies and a good proportion of the bulbous stock consigned to them.

At P. R. Quinlan's store, Hugh McCarthy, the manager, reports that business has been good, notwithstanding the exceedingly inclement weather Syracuse has experienced during the last fortnight. They have been busy with funeral work and decorations.

The Baker Floral Co. is supplying the flower stores with carnations, sweet peas, single violets, lilies and bulbous stock. The company's stock of potted plants for Easter is in good shape and well timed for that date. They report having made a contract with the Lord & Burnham Co. for the material and erection of an iron-frame house, 40x200

CLEVELAND.

The Market.

Stock of all grades is plentiful at this writing, but with a blizzard and the funeral of Otto Leisy, Cleveland's leading brewer, whose death occurred suddenly March 1, stock should become considerably scarcer.

Various Notes.

A visit to C. Merkel & Son, Mentor, O., is always interesting, and doubly so at this season of the year. Their immense stock of pot roses, hydrangeas, azaleas, lilacs, lilies, etc., is coming along nicely and promises well for Easter. They have never had a more perfect lot of Dorothy Perkins roses and hybrids, and have every reason to feel proud of their stock. Their three new houses, built last summer, are full of stock.

Mr. Hagenburger, of the Carl Hagenburger Co., across lots from Merkel & Son, is busy at the propagating bench, getting together a large stock of daisies, snapdragons and chrysanthemums. Mr. Hagenburger's single violets are fine, as also are his carnations. He has several new snapdragons which he will offer to the trade within the year.

F. C. Bartels has just returned from a short trip to Richmond and Fort Wayne, Ind., buying carnation cuttings.

W. J. Vesey, Jr., of Fort Wayne, Ind., was a recent visitor. F. A. F.

PITTSBURGH.

The Market.

Pittsburgh is now in the midst of a wind storm or blizzard. Last week was the worst of the winter, with the mercury hugging the zero mark most of the time. Although the weather conditions are so unfavorable, trade has not been bad. There are plenty of all kinds of flowers. But for the prevailing weather, a glut would have been inevitable. We have cut lilies out of our repertoire for about two weeks, when the new crop should be in.

Various Notes.

De Forest Ludwig still is in the Mercy hospital, but is slightly improved.

The market is full of bulb, seed and supply salesmen. Some of them are wondering how they are going to get away, as many of the train trips have been annulled on account of the storm. Clarke.

Sunlight Double Glass Sash

The time to get ready is now.

These sash are in use by hundreds in every state in the Union, and are, paying for themselves every season in extra profits. They are a model of efficiency. The extra layer of glass, with the air space between, conserves the warmth in the bed and does away with the need to buy or use mats or shutters. Here is a saving of 50% in labor and worry. The plants are earlier and stronger—here is a gain of 50% in money returns.

A New Sun-heated Greenhouse

The Sunlight idea has been carried into an inexpensive greenhouse, 11 x 12, 11 x 24, 11 x 36, or 11 x 48 feet in size. It is made of Sunlight Double Glass Sash, which are instantly adjustable for top ventilation and instantly removable for use on hot-beds or cold-frames. Thus they serve a double purpose. For this reason, and also because no expensive system of artificial heating is required, this greenhouse is the cheapest you can buy.

The Market.

We have had more real winter the last few days than all the year before. It has had a good effect on trade, too. The half summer ever since the holidays has been hard on business. The supply of flowers is considerably better than it was a week ago. Roses, especially, are more in evidence, while peas are plentiful for the first time this winter. There is little change in the situation so far as other flowers are concerned. The one seasonable flower that is conspicuous by its almost entire absence is the tulip.

Pot plants are rather more plentiful than they were and the hyacinths, especially, are much improved in quality. We see more and better rhododendrons than we have noticed at this time of the year in the past. A year ago we had plenty of hydrangeas the first part of March, but this season we have seen none at all. Perhaps the later Easter has had its influence on the growers.

Various Notes.

The Hillcrest School Farm reports that its entire block of narcissi, consisting of 30,000 or more, is beginning to show bloom in spite of the cold weather. There are some fifteen or twenty varieties in the planting. If this season's bulbs are a commercial success the management plans to grow narcissus bulbs in quantity for the trade.

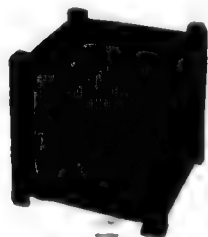

Mr. Wayne, who makes the florists' business a side line, will have a fine line of plants to offer this spring.

Geny Bros. report a good out-of-town trade last week. They put up a good decoration at the Hermitage hotel, all of Golden Spur daffodils.

The Joy Floral Co. reports a quiet week except for funeral work, which has been pretty good. Easter stock never looked better.

McIntyre Bros. have a good cut of Silver Pink snapdragons that are selling well. F. B.

IF YOU ONLY KNEW what a good eave the METROPOLITAN PATENTED is, you would use no other. It is made of cast iron and will not rust. That part of your greenhouse which in other constructions is the weakest becomes the strongest. Not this alone, it is ice-clearing and carries all the water of condensation from the inside, and it is so constructed that almost the entire end of the bar is exposed to the air, thereby preventing decay. Only one screw, about two inches from the end, is all that is necessary to secure the bars. For side stationary glass, wood headers are absolutely unnecessary, thereby causing no shade. Zinc glass stops are not necessary—the eave is made with a lug to prevent the glass from slipping. Let your next house be built with a Metropolitan Patented Iron Wall Construction. ## COLUMBUS, O.

The Market.

Trade is quite heavy, with some stock scarce, while other flowers are quite plentiful. Roses are coming in a little more plentifully and some good stock is on the market, while there also is some rather poor stock. Short roses are scarce, as nearly all the cut is of medium and long grade. Killarney as a rule is rather pale in color, but otherwise good. Beauties have been a little scarce and the demand rather light.

Carnations are not blooming heavily at present and a great many splits are reported from some growers. The cuts are away below what they should be at this date, but with clear weather they should pick up at a rapid pace. Bulbous stock is quite plentiful and most of it moves about as fast as it comes in. Lilies have been a little scarce. Sweet peas are more plentiful than for some time and are moving well. Violets are quite plentiful, with the demand good. Valley is more abundant.

The sale of potted plants has been heavy and a quantity of stock has been moved in the last week or so. Delivery has been difficult, as we have had real winter here for the last ten days or more.

The President Explains About Our Engineering Department

CONSTRUCTION engineering is a man sized job—a job so big that it's all any one man can do justice and really fill it.

That's why we have a distinct engineering construction department. These men have all such things as snow strains and wind pressures at their finger ends.

There is no guess work with our work. This department costs us a lot of money—sometimes I think too much, but when you consider that never, to our knowledge, have we had a house collapse, either by snow weight or wind pressure, it looks as if that department was worth all it costs—and more.

It's a pretty comfortable thing, to feel perfectly comfortable about your house, no matter what the weather conditions.

Our specifications tell the story. Let us make up a set for your next house.

ILLINOIS AND INDIANA FLORISTS JOIN HANDS

Two Progressive Trade Organizations in Adjoining States Hold Successful Joint Meeting at Danville on the Boundary Line

HE officers elected by the Illinois State Florists' Association at its ninth annual meeting at Danville, March 10 and 11, are as follows:

President—Herbert E. Smith, of Danville.

Vice-President—C. W. Johnson, of Morgan Park.

Secretary—J. F. Ammann, of Edwardsville.

Joint Meeting a Success.

The ninth annual meeting of the Illinois State Florists' Association, March 10 and 11, was swelled to far more than ordinary size by the presence of a large number of members of the Indiana State Florists' Association, which was invited by the Illinois association to join in the Danville meeting. The success of this first bi-state meeting and the size of the exhibition and attendance will no doubt lead to similar meetings in the future.

The extensive preparations made by the Danville florists were not a whit too elaborate for the importance of the meeting. The eleven local florists put forth their best efforts and the results, in accommodations and entertainment, were all that could be desired. The decoration of the Armory hall, where the exhibition was held, evoked praise from the visitors and comment in the judge's report. The ceiling was screened with southern smilax and dotted with Japanese lanterns, while an arbor at the entrance made the first impression a pleasant one.

The Business Meeting.

After the opening ceremonies at the business meeting Tuesday afternoon, President Loveridge read a brief address, followed by still briefer reports from Secretary Ammann and Treasurer

Washburn. A letter from the American Rose Society, which was read by the secretary, expressed the society's high esteem of the work of the experiment station at Urbana and recommended that test gardens for roses be established. This H. B. Dorner, of Urbana, said he hoped to see brought about in a short time.

A letter from the Chicago Florists' Club in regard to the sale of fertilizers in the state of Illinois led to the adoption of a motion that the society go on record as supporting a reasonable fertilizer law. The discussion of express rates, which was also opened as the result of action by the Chicago Florists' Club, led to the discovery that the recent so-called cut in express rates had in reality resulted in an increase in the rates on short hauls, especially on larger sized packages. The increase, it appears, amounts to as much as forty per cent in some cases. J. F. Ammann reported that he found it now costs more to send packages by express from Edwardsville, Ill., to St. Louis than to Chicago. Members of the society are requested to send instances of such increases in express rates to Secretary Ammann, who will take up the matter with the commerce commission.

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous choice of Herbert E. Smith, president of the Danville Florists' Club, for president of the association, in recognition of his hard work for the success of the show. The rest of the officers were unanimously re-elected.

The Banquet.

The banquet Tuesday evening at the Plaza hotel was an unusually fine one, as regards the dinner, the attendance and the speeches. The last of these three were cut short when, shortly before midnight, Philip J. Foley suggested that the banqueters would probably prefer to retire than listen to funny stories at that hour. The guests had already enjoyed A. C. Kohlbrand's skill as toastmaster and listened to speeches by Professor Blair, J. F. Ammann, W. W. Coles and Danville's grand old man, "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

Trip to Urbana.

Wednesday morning the visitors boarded special cars for Urbana, to inspect the work of the experiment station there. A range of 28,000 feet of glass is at present the seat of most activity in this branch. Work is progressing well and H. B. Dorner promises some printed reports soon, which are expected to be of appreciable benefit to commercial growers. Lunch was provided for the visitors by the experiment station workers.

The Exhibits.

The exhibition was not only large, but showed stock of high class. The display of carnations was exceptionally strong, but scarcely outdid that of Easter blooming and foliage plants. It was only careful planning of the arrangement to start with that avoided overcrowding when the arrivals continued to come late in the afternoon. At that there were still some in the predicament of C. E. Gullett, of Lincoln, Ill., who said his firm had planned to send stock, but the rush of business last week had cleaned it all out. In order that the Danville florists might be as fully repaid as possible for their expense in preparing the show, the exhibition was held open free to the public Tuesday evening and all day Wednesday and Thursday. The vases in which the cut flowers were exhibited were loaned for the occasion by Poehlmann Bros. Co., of Morton Grove, Ill.

E. C. Amling Co. displayed several excellent novelties produced by its growers, the most notable of which were the fine colored freesias grown by Alois P. Frey, of Crown Point, Ind. Zvolanek's winter-flowering Spencer Enchantress carnations and Ivory and Sunburst roses.

A. A. Arnold Paper Box Co., of Chicago, showed samples of its boxes used by florists all over the country. Easter boxes, with a lily reproduced on the cover, were an attractive and timely feature.

Henry Baer, of Peoria, Ill., had five vases of extremely good carnations of different varieties.

Bassett & Washburn, of Chicago, had a strong exhibit of roses and seedling carnations. Cecile Brunner, Rhea Reid, Mrs. Geo. Shawyer and Sunburst were the roses shown. Belle Washburn, their seedling carnation, attracted much attention. Helen Washburn, a deep pink seedling; Hinsdale, a flesh pink seedling, and unnamed rose-colored and white seedlings were also objects of deserved admiration. This exhibit included, as well, eight varieties of Zvolanek's orchid-flowering sweet peas, all worthy of note, and samples of a half-dozen or so varieties of rose plants.

Baur & Steinkamp, of Indianapolis, Ind., had some fine vases of Shasta, Radiance and St. Nicholas carnations.

H. N. Bruns, of Chicago, sent several bunches of extremely fine valley of his particular brand.

A fine large group of palms and other foliage plants in the center of the hall was from H. D. Caldwell, superintendent of the greenhouses of the National Soldiers' Home, at Danville.

The collection of splendid carnations from the Chicago Carnation Co. included White Wonder, Gloriosa, Benora, Peerless Pink, Aviator, Herald and pink seedling No. 88.

The Carnation Support Co., of Connersville, Ind., had a bench on which was shown the way in which its carnation stakes are used, and the visitors who stopped here were many.

The Danville Floral Co. had some extremely good Easter stock, chief among which were azaleas.

All sizes and kinds of the excellent red pots made by the company were shown in the booth of the Detroit Flower Pot Co., of Detroit, Mich.

F. Dorner & Sons Co., of La Fayette, Ind., drew much attention by its display of Pink Sensation, Champion, Yellow Prince, Good Cheer, pink seedling No. 271 and other seedlings. All the vases were notable.

A. G. Fehr, of Belleville, Ill., showed some exceedingly good White Perfection carnations.

Hartje & Elder, of Indianapolis, displayed excellent White Enchantress and Washington carnations, the latter of especially large size and good color.

A splendid vase of Ophelia came from the E. G. Hill Co., Richmond, Ind.

The Inland Supply Co., of Danville, demonstrated a pump and displayed a line of heating and pump supplies.

Kroeschell Bros. Co., of Chicago, occupied a booth and showed photographs illustrating the action of the company's boilers, which attracted prospective boiler purchasers.

Charles Loveridge, of Peoria, showed Scarlet Glow, White Wonder, Washington, Enchantress and White Enchantress carnations; Killarney, White Killarney and Richmond roses in particularly good condition and some nice single violets.

A splendid vase of Rosette was displayed by the Mount Greenwood Cemetery Association, of Morgan Park, Ill.

Edgar Osborne, of Danville, had a good sized display of fine miscellaneous blooming plants.

Andrew Peterson, of Hoopeston, Ill., brought some extremely fine Enchantress, White Enchantress and Washington carnations.

The new rose, Hadley, arrived in fine shape from A. N. Pierson, Inc., of Cromwell, Conn., and deserved the admiration it received after its long trip.

I. L. Pillsbury, of Galesburg, Ill., showed two excellent vases of carnations.

Albert J. Pittet, of Indianapolis, Ind., had on display Heliotrope, Lavender Queen and Rose Queen sweet peas, as well as a pink variety of his own, and all drew much favorable comment.

Pyfer & Olsem, of Wilmette, Ill., had some good ferns.

Poehlmann Bros. Co. had the largest exhibit in the hall, of supplies, plants and cut flowers. The plants, comprising exceedingly good foliage and blooming plants for Easter, lost in effect by being separated. Baskets and boxes for tiny sweet peas grown by H. Wehrman, of Maywood, Ill., and forget-me-nots grown by Chas. Arnold, of Des Plaines, Ill., were others shown and were both extra fine.

W. J. Anker, of Danville, had an excellent exhibit of bulbous stock.

J. F. Ammann Co., of Edwardsville, Ill., showed some well grown White

Peter Britz, of Danville, had a booth devoted to the display of baskets and vases of carnations and other cut flowers, which showed excellent and tasteful work.

A. C. Brown, of Springfield, Ill., had particularly good vases of Beacon, Mrs. C. W. Ward, White Enchantress and Sangamo carnations.

Banquet of the Illinois State Florists' Association and the Indiana Visitors at Danville, March 10, 1914.

pots of shamrocks constituted the main features in the supplies booth. White Killarney, Killarney, Milady, Killarney Queen and Mrs. Aaron Ward were chief among the roses shown and all were excellent.

The large exhibit of the A. L. Randall Co., of Chicago, consisted of growers' and retailers' supplies, including baskets, ribbons, sprayers, etc., arranged quite attractively.

Some splendid Lilium giganteum on approximately 5-foot stems were exhibited by George Reinberg, of Chicago.

M. Rice Co., of Philadelphia, showed samples which, though they had been on the road since January 1, seemed fresh as when they first came from stock. Easter plant baskets, especially in the attractive "Duo-Tone" finish, was the prime feature. Tumbler baskets, crepe pot covers, corsage novelties, ribbons and chiffons were all of this house's high grade.

A vase of Mrs. Alice Coombs carnation, in splendid condition, came from A. Roper, of Tewksbury, Mass.

An extremely good vase of Philadelphia from the Michigan Cut Flower Exchange, of Detroit, was the exhibit of S. S. Skidelsky & Co., of Philadelphia.

Smiths, the Florists, of Danville, won much praise both for their blooming plants, which included some splendid pansies, cyclamens, azaleas, cinerarias and lilacs, and for their table decoration.

Gus Swenson, of Elmhurst, Ill., had some fine winter-blooming sweet peas.

Chas. C. Walker, of Danville, had several vases of good carnations.

Vaughan's Seed Store, of Chicago, had an exhibit, mainly of bulbs, but including also stove plants and the Cecile Brunner rose.

Rhea Reid, Gloriosa and White Wonder, all exceedingly well grown, were sent by W. J. & M. S. Vesey, of Fort Wayne, Ind.

A. Washburn & Son, of Bloomington, Ill., showed vases of quite good violets and sweet peas.

Wendland & Keimel, of Elmhurst, Ill., had some extremely fine roses, Killarney, Sunburst, Milady, Ward and Bulgare.

Wertheimer Bros., of New York, demonstrated the use of their ribbons and chiffons, of which there was an exceedingly good selection. A novelty of this concern, which promises to be popular, is the Werbro celluloid shield, by means of which the corsage bouquet may be worn on the arm to allow bearers to tango to the full extent.

W. C. Wheelchel, of the Pleasantview Greenhouses, of Danville, showed some extremely good cabbage and lettuce plants, as well as leaf lettuce of large size and excellent condition.

Judges' Report.

The committee of judges, W. J. Keimel, H. F. Drury and A. F. Longren, recommended certificates of merit for A. N. Pierson's rose, Hadley, and Bassett & Washburn's carnation seedling, Belle Washburn. The displays of the following were highly commended: E. C. Amling Co., H. D. Caldwell, Inland Supply Co., Wendland & Keimel, Mount Greenwood Cemetery Association, A. L. Randall Co., Smiths, the Florists, and Wertheimer Bros.

Credit to Danville Florists.

The Danville florists put forth their best efforts for the entertainment of the two state societies. The Danville Florists' Club, which was especially organized to prepare for this occasion, is entitled to much credit for its members' work. The exhibition committee was composed of W. J. Anker, H. D. Caldwell and Chas. Bottorff. On the reception committee were Edgar Osborne, Peter Britz and R. L. Burgoyne. The members of the entertainment committee were Bruce Yount, Chas. Walker and Chas. H. Britz. The officers of the club are:

President, Herbert E. Smith; vice-president, Peter Britz; secretary, Joseph Smith; treasurer, Charles Walker.

The attendance was large, but as there was no register and the arrivals were scattered, early and late, no complete record of those present can be given. The Danville florists were continuously on the job. Those from out of town whose presence was noted were:

FLORISTS' TRADE PROSPEROUS.

[The following is the address of C. Loveridge, president of the Illinois State Florists' Association, at the Danville convention, March 10, 1914.]

We are gathered here for our annual meeting, and I trust it will be a profitable one to all. In view of the fact that so many of our brother florists from Indiana are with us, I have no doubt that this will be the most important and largest attended meeting that the Illinois association has ever held. As president of the Illinois State Florists' Association, I wish to extend a hearty welcome to the visiting members of our sister state and trust we shall have the pleasure of many more such gatherings in the future. I hope the visitors will all take part in our deliberations and freely express their views on whatever subject may be brought up for discussion, so we will all feel well repaid for the effort made to attend this meeting.

I am glad to say that our association has had a substantial growth in the last year, both in life and annual members; in fact, it has been one of the most prosperous years we have had, and a great deal of credit is due to our efficient secretary, who is always ready to do whatever he can for the good of the association. But still I feel we ought to have a larger membership, as we have only a small proportion of the florists of Illinois as members. I ask every member present to appoint himself a committee of one on membership, and to make up his mind to get at least one new member for the coming year. Then we will have a society that is second to none.

Speaking of the prosperity of the association for the last year reminds me of the fact that florists in general have every cause for congratulations on the condition of our business at present, when we consider the business uneasiness that has prevailed for the last year in other lines. From the reports in our trade papers, at the holidays and at other special times for the use of flowers, we certainly are holding our own with the other great industries.

On our program for today there is set aside some time for general discussions. Under that heading we ask anyone who wants any special subject discussed not to be bashful, but to bring the matter up. There are a few things in my mind that I think could be discussed in this meeting to the benefit of all present. One is publicity. There has been a great deal said on this subject in the last year, and no one can view the beautiful display in this hall and say we are not doing some good along that line, for of all the means of bringing our business to the attention of the public and making the people talk about it, there are few methods that are better than a good flower show. But as that cannot be done in every city, we must resort to other methods. Our trade papers are doing a great work along that line among the craft. They are always looking for something new and at once publish the facts to the trade. But what are we doing as retailers? Are we doing our share to bring the merits of these new things to the attention of our customers and thereby create a demand for them?

Another thing I would like to hear discussed, especially if there is anyone here who has had experience with them, is the relative value of the wide truss houses and the ordinary style of houses we see in general use.

I find I have taken up more of your valuable time than I should have done, as there are so many here anxiously waiting to have their say. I thank you for your kind attention and hope you will one and all benefit by our gathering here today.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

[The following is the report of F. L. Washburn, treasurer of the Illinois State Florists' Association, presented at the Danville convention, March 10, 1914.]

Your treasurer begs to submit the following statement of receipts and disbursements for the year ending March 4, 1914:

RECEIPTS.

Balance March 1, 1913.....	$198.00
Received from secretary.....	162.00
Received from interest.....	16.36
Total.....	$376.42

DISBURSEMENTS.

J. F. Ammann, secretary.....	$ 67.62
St. Louis Button Co.....	11.50
Intelligencer Printing Co.....	5.50
Chas. Loveridge.....	9.00
Intelligencer Printing Co.....	5.00
St. Louis Button Co.....	30.00
Geo. D. Simonds Co.....	3.50
Balance, March 1, 1914.....	244.30

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

[The following is the report of J. F. Ammann, Secretary of the Illinois State Florists' Association, presented at the Danville convention, March 10, 1914.]

Your secretary reports an increase of twenty in the annual membership and of ten life members during the last year. This is a liberal increase, considering the fact that no special efforts were made to secure new members.

I am sorry to report one loss in our ranks during the last year, in the death of our beloved fellow member, David Wirth, of Springfield. We sincerely sympathize with the bereaved family.

The life membership buttons have been received and distributed. Of this first lot there are only a few more left, and it is the hope of your secretary that all members will apply for these readily by securing life memberships.

The total amount collected for dues during the last year is as follows:

From annual members.....	$ 62.00
From life members.....	100.00
Total .....	$162.00

Exhibit of Bassett & Washburn, of Chicago, at Danville, Ill., March 10, 1914.

This amount has been turned over to the treasurer.

THE INDIANAPOLIS MUM SHOW.

Just before the meeting of the state associations at Danville, Ill., Tuesday afternoon, March 10, the show committee of the State Florists' Association of Indiana met and selected men for various committees to arrange for the chrysanthemum show at the German House, Indianapolis, November 6 to 8. A. F. J. Baur is chairman of the committee and manager of the show. John Hartje is superintendent of the exhibition and O. E. Steinkamp is secretary. The men appointed on committees at this meeting were: Decoration—H. L. Wiegand; non-competitive display—I. Bertermann; flower booth—I. Bertermann and Theodore Dorner; special premiums—E. G. Hill and W. J. Vesey, Jr.; rules and regulations—J. Hartje and A. F. J. Baur; novelties—W. W. Coles. Harry White was chosen assistant superintendent.

PLAN FOR INDIANAPOLIS SHOW.

The State Florists' Association of Indiana is at work on the arrangements for the chrysanthemum show to be held at Indianapolis November 6 to 8. The association expects it to be the big fall exhibition of the year, as the Chrysanthemum Society of America will make its annual fall exhibit at the show. To make it even bigger and more successful the association plans it to be a free show, and expects, as a result, an attendance of at least 75,000. To meet the expense of the exhibition, subscriptions are being made by florists of the state. For each dollar subscribed, forty tickets will be given in return, to be distributed by the florist among his customers and friends. Thus the undesirables will be kept out of the building and the attendance confined to those whom it is of most value to the trade to reach through such an exhibition.

The florists of Indiana expect to reap large benefits from this show. As an advertisement for the trade, it should prove productive of results, as 100,000 tickets or more will be issued and a large attendance thus insured. In addition to the cash premium list provided by Indiana florists, special prizes will be offered by prominent concerns in the trade. Although this is a new way of conducting a trade exhibition, W. J. Vesey, Jr., who is chairman of the finance committee, has no doubts of its success, either as an exhibition or a financial undertaking.

A WORD FOR THE BIG HOUSE.

Like all new enterprises, the large greenhouses of the Florex Gardens, at North Wales, Pa., were subjected to much criticism from both small and large growers of flowers, and from many others who think they know all about a greenhouse, greenhouse construction and the production of flowers.

Would you condemn the Titanic because it was foundered by an iceberg, or the big Wanamaker building if it should be destroyed by fire? Then why condemn a big greenhouse when it is caught in a 75-mile gale? Yes, it is only too true that the pride of the Florex Gardens, and, I might say, of its officers, D. Fuerstenberg, president; R. Mayhew, vice-president; H. C. Geiger, treasurer, and Eugene Bernheimer, secretary, that the largest greenhouse met with partial disaster in the storms of February 14 and March 1, 1914. But they have not lost faith in the big house. It was never deserted for a minute. Every officer stood by and did his duty and now that the storm is over I am glad to say that the big house will be rebuilt. The King Construction Co., of North Tonawanda, N. Y., already has a large force of men at work and in a short time expects to get the house in good condition, stronger and better than ever, to sail forth once more like a ship on the waves of the future, sunshine or storm.

Eugene Bernheimer.

CHICAGO CLUB MEETING.

Novelty Night and a Good Show.

There was an attendance of more than fifty at the meeting of the Chicago Florists' Club March 5, attracted by the flower show. The exhibit that attracted the most attention was the vase of Hadley, the new bright crimson rose from A. N. Pierson, Inc., Cromwell, Conn. It was excellent in every respect. Also, the George Wittbold Co. had a notable display of Killarney from its Edgebrook plant, Robert Hand grower. Not only were the stems unusually long, but the flowers were exceptionally large and fine. The same exhibitor showed Irish Fire Flame, a rose seldom seen in this market. H. Wehrman, of Maywood, sent a vase of Zvolanek's winter-blooming Spencer sweet peas that were good. S. S. Skidelsky & Co., Philadelphia, were represented by a vase of the new pink carnation named after their city, which showed up in the best shape any of those present ever had seen it in. Wendland & Keimel Co., of Elmhurst, staged Milady, Bulgarie, Sunburst and Killarney roses, selected from the regular cut. Peter Reinberg was represented by excellent vases of Sunburst, Ward and Richmond roses. Bassett & Washburn showed Jonkheer J. L. Mock, Mrs. Shawyer and Cecile Brunner roses, also two new carnations of excellent promise, the red labeled Belle Washburn and a fine pink labeled Helen Washburn. Poehlmann Bros. Co. was represented by a splendid lot of Cattleya Trianae, four plants in flower and seventy-five cut blooms staged in bottles. A. K. Anderson, the grower, was present and received many compliments on his display. The Albert T. Hey Floral Co., Maywood, also had thirty-six fine cut blooms of Cattleya Trianae and C. Schroederiana.

President French appointed Emil Buettner, Andrew Benson and Emil Reichling as judges. Certificates of merit were awarded to Hadley rose and Philadelphia carnation, with honorable mention to the others and special mention for the orchids.

There was a general discussion of the proposition of affiliation with the S. A. F., ending in the adoption of a resolution favoring the step on some plan that would limit the cost to $1 per capita. The Lake Shore was designated as the official route to the Boston convention and the transportation committee instructed to arrange for a special train. The state fertilizer laws were discussed, W. S. McGee and Howard Votaw, the latter of Darling & Co., contributing to the fund of information. The matter was referred to the Illinois State Florists' Association with the recommendation that steps be taken to get a law providing for state inspection and analysis in Illinois. There was a discussion of the new express rates, which in some cases have turned out not so favorable as the old, and a committee consisting of W. J. Keimel, George Asmus and A. F. Poehlmann was appointed to bring this up at the state convention.

Clarence Smith, of Morton Grove, was elected to membership and applications were received from J. J. Grullemans, Jr., Lisse, Holland; J. E. Jones, Richmond, Ind.; A. M. Sanders and Peter Schousboe.

Among those present from out of town were P. W. Peterson, of the Thompson Carnation Co., and A. C. Rott, of Joliet; Robert Karlstrom, with W. A. Manda, South Orange, N. J.; J. J. Grullemans, Jr., of J. J. Grullemans & Sons, Lisse, Holland; Sam Seligman, with Wertheimer Bros., New York, and G. L. Freeman, Fall River, Mass. The latter gave an interesting talk on orchids, stating, among other things, that florists who grow a number of crops tell him that orchids are among the most profitable of cut flowers.

RETAIL STORE MANAGEMENT

BASKETS AND FLOWERS.

One of the new ways of retailing cut flowers is to sell baskets and blooms together, usually with a window display and some newspaper advertising to let the public know about it.

There has been a wonderful increase of late in the use of baskets, both for plants and cut flowers, and it has been found possible to sell large numbers of small, inexpensive arrangements such as are made by putting from twelve to eighteen Killarneys in a small willow basket stained any appropriate color. Some retailers have found it possible to sell such baskets of roses by the hundred within the limits of a special sale. Of course, it is not enough to procure the baskets and the roses—some push must be put into the selling end. If the baskets are shown in the store some of those who enter will buy them, but it will be only those who came to procure flowers and will mean no extra business. If the window is decorated with the baskets the sale will attract some of those who pass by, but to get the full benefit of such an undertaking one must advertise. There are various ways for a florist to advertise a special sale, whether it be baskets of flowers or anything else, but the way that gets the quickest action is to use the newspaper—the one read by the right kind of people, and the most of them. Some retailers, favorably located to handle the business, have begun with small, inexpensive but carefully planned ads of special sales and have been able to build them up to the point where, after years of development, it now pays them to run an occasional sale that is big enough to stand some full page ads.

When a retailer caters to a neighborhood trade a good way of running a sale of baskets of cut flowers—one day roses, another day sweet peas, etc.—is to send out a neatly printed mailing card; or such an announcement can be enclosed in the monthly bills. Whatever is done, the window and store should be used to display the advertised stock and in every case the stock sold should keep faith with the people. It does not pay to make a special offer that does not give satisfaction, but it does pay to run specials that are good enough to bring the buyers back. Those who are using the plan most successfully today say that at first they met with no great success, but that each special offer was excellent value and that, as time went on, it was found that the same people bought time after time, the sales growing until important proportions were reached.

F. T. D. AFTER THE PUBLIC.

Plans are being made by the McNeff-Swenson Co., of Chicago, to furnish one million posterettes, to be used by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery in advertising that organization. The membership is growing rapidly and every effort is being made to place the opportunity offered before the public in general. The design of the small poster has been closely copied from the large poster and is pronounced by all who have seen it as an excellent feature for the Florists' Telegraph Delivery.

IF THE FLORISTS SPOKE.

There has recently been some discussion in your columns on the merits of American horticulture as compared with European horticulture, in which I endeavored to uphold our developing superiority in that direction as compared with it abroad. There is, however, an existing condition in this country to which I want to direct attention, that I will not defend, nor is it upheld by anyone possessing the slightest appreciation of living flowers and plants.

I refer to what has become a fashion among a class of "well dressers," who indulge in the substitution of the artificial for the real. Imitation jewelry is rightly regarded as suited only for the vulgar and so, may I ask, should a person adorn himself with artificial flowers be regarded as any more genteel than those who parade with cheap "jewels"? Artificial flowers or plants may serve their purpose as decorations for gaudy displays, but they should never be found on the person or in the home, or elsewhere, where people of refined sensibility congregate.

In one of the leading churches of New York city the ushers wear artificial flowers; this habit in all probability may be found to be the case in other churches. Flowers were among the first of God's creations and through the ages they have served to cheer the heart and lessen the sorrow of mankind, but today, where we should seek to find sham eliminated and the real manifested, we find the finest of all of the Creator's handiwork imitated.

Thoughtlessness is undoubtedly in many instances the chief cause of the adoption of what may be termed this false custom, although economy is the plea of many of the offenders. Manufacturers have not missed their opportunity to exploit the "advantages" of artificial flowers and their "everlasting" qualities, etc., and they have been successful in creating a fad for them. But where are our florists? If they spoke directly and forcefully they could soon put to ridicule the practice of substituting artificial, or imitation, for the real flowers.—New York Times.

FLORISTS' STATIONERY.

Besides being a skillful florist, J. F. Sked, of Westerville, O., also is something of an artist with the pen, and has an outfit of stationery, tags, address labels, card envelopes, etc., all carrying a nameplate of his own designing, fully as good as the average professional job.

"I think I am well repaid for the expense," said Mr. Sked. "There is nothing that adds to a business as does a distinct tag, letterhead or a typewritten letter that can be READ. Some of the orders I receive are hard to decipher. I shall use this design as my trade-mark on all packages. I have a larger card, too, to put on heavy shipments, which is printed with instructions to express agents in case of non-delivery. The express companies now require the name of the shipper on all packages. Another thing that adds to one's business is proper packing and getting the order out as soon as possible. I always send a postal in answer to an order and tell the exact date the shipment will go forward. It pays. I now have two orders out with which I sent the cash over

HOLIDAY WINDOW BOXES.

The country florist who is handy with his saw and hammer and has some ingenuity can add to his profits at Easter by selling window boxes of his own make, filled with seasonable blooming plants. A. O. Nysewander, of New Carlisle, O., has been making up these boxes, for Christmas and Easter especially, and half a dozen samples of his handiwork may be seen in the accompanying illustration, which shows a corner of his greenhouses where the boxes are being prepared for holiday buyers. In his town he finds them quite popular, as they are good looking, yet not overexpensive.

The boxes are of the right length for the average window and are eight inches wide at the bottom and ten inches wide at the top. The sides are made of  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch lap siding and the bottoms of 1-inch oak. The ends should be of strong 1-inch lumber. Across the ends should be nailed pieces of 1-inch stuff to serve as handles. If desired, a rack may be placed along the back of the box.

BISULPHIDE AND WHITE FLY.

It may be of interest to some of your readers to know of an experience I had with primulas infested with white fly. I made an air-tight box, into which I put the primulas and a piece of cotton saturated with carbon bisulphide. I left the first batch of plants in the box for two hours. When I took them out the flies were apparently dead, but after a time came to and seemed as healthy as ever. Then I tried leaving in another batch for three hours and found it a complete success. Even the eggs were killed. I also found that five or six hours in the box would not harm the plants in any way. Clair G. Norris.

CALLA FLOWERS NOT OPENING.

I am sending you under separate cover a sample bud from our callas. The sample shows about the average condition of the buds, which have been drying up. Some of the buds shrivel up before they get as far along, while others are almost open before they do so, but we have been unable to get a single good blossom from about 200 plants. The plants themselves seem to be in good, thrifty condition. We first thought tobacco smoke caused the trouble, but we have not used any tobacco smoke in the house for several months and our callas still act in the same way. D. V.

This is not by any means an unusual occurrence. Light fumigations would not cause the buds to blight in this way. Either your bulbs are diseased, or, what is more probable, your treatment of them has been wrong. As you do not give any details of culture, it is not easy to locate the source of the trouble. Callas, of course, should have a rest in summer, and when in active growth they need abundant supplies of water. They flower more satisfactorily in pots than when planted out in shallow benches. The plants are often stood much too close together; this weakens the growths and hinders the plants from flowering. While they stand a lot of feeding, injudicious doses of strong stimulants would help to cause blighted flowers. The plants like feeding on the surface of the soil with fine bone. A temperature of 50 to 55 degrees at night will give you much finer flowers than a higher one. Do not allow any cold air currents to strike the plants, and be sure they do not suffer from draughts at any time. C. W.

CALLAS NOT FLOWERING.

When should Godfrey callas bloom? Over a year ago we bought some out of  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch pots and they have never bloomed. We have given them good care. They were shifted to 4-inch and later to 5-inch pots. Were they shifted too much. E. & S.

Your Godfrey callas are yet too small to flower. You can get nothing from those  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch plants the first season. Rest your plants outdoors after the end of May, laying the pots on their sides. If you are growing for cut flowers only, place three bulbs in a 7-inch pot and you will find that they will outbloom the old calla at least two to one. C. W.

CALLA FOLIAGE DYING.

I shall appreciate it if you will tell me what causes the leaves of my callas to dry up on the edges, even before the leaves are of normal size, or matured. They act just as if they were affected by thrips. I give them a weekly spraying with nicotine, and water them either daily or at least three times a week. They have a night temperature of from 55 to 60 degrees, and 75 degrees on bright days, with ventilation. W. V. L.

Thrips will sometimes cause leaves to act in this way, but, if you are spraying regularly, I am inclined to think that you may be using your nicotine somewhat too strong. All the tobacco extracts will cause the edges of the leaves of many plants to turn pale or brown. Try it on a marguerite plant and note the effect. Three times weekly is a totally insufficient water supply for callas in active growth. They will need at least one soaking a day, and on clear days two waterings will be required. Feed regularly in addition. A top-dressing of fine bone is good, and liquid manure twice a week will be found beneficial. C. W.

PLANTING GLADIOLUS BULBLETS.

Last year I planted some gladiolus bulblets outdoors in coldframes, but they never grew. Please inform me how to get them started. I have about 2,000 on hand, many as big as a pea or bigger. I am in the latitude of central Minnesota. H. A. M.

Keep the bulblets in paper bags or boxes, in an atmosphere that is not too drying, until planting time outdoors arrives. The ground should have received a coating of any good general commercial fertilizer, at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre, and should be thoroughly pulverized. Do not use fresh barnyard manure. Draw drills four to five inches deep, sow the bulblets at the rate of twelve to sixteen per foot run of row, and keep well cultivated and weeded all summer. These will make flowering bulbs in some cases the first year, and the balance will flower the second year. Plant out in your latitude late in April or early in May. C. W.

CURRENT WORMS.

Please let me know the best way to get rid of the worm that gets inside the fruit of the currant. My last year's crop was made useless by it. H. K.

The worm that attacks currant foliage is well known and easily cared for; one spraying with arsenate of lead on its first appearance suffices. The worm that attacks the fruit I do not know. If, however, you will write to your state agricultural college, you should be able to get help there. Address the department of entomology. C. W.

CARNATIONS

FEEDING THE BLOOMING STOCK.

Caution in Cloudy Weather.

The weather conditions during the last three months in this part of the country have been such that any considerable amount of feeding could have resulted only disastrously. During such continuously cloudy weather as has prevailed here during almost the entire winter, the plants are not able to take up any extra food besides what is provided in any good soil at planting time. Extra feeding could only result in soft growth and flowers that would lack in keeping quality. During the last two weeks, however, there has been a decided change in the weather, and the plants are rapidly assuming a condition in which a little feeding will be beneficial. The spring crop will be shooting up and a little stimulant at regular intervals will improve the quality.

If you have some wood ashes, a light sprinkling over the beds will sweeten the soil and tone up the appetite of the plants for the feed you will give them a little later. A week later, give them a liberal application of sheep manure, providing there is a moderate amount of sunshine.

The Spring Mulch.

About two weeks after the application of the sheep manure, your plants will be ready for the spring mulch which should be provided to prevent the severe drying out caused by the hot sun and the drafts when the ventilators are opened. Growers usually aim to get manure which is about half rotted for this purpose, but during the last two years we have used, for this spring mulch, manure that has recently come from the stables, and with excellent results. It is put on quite heavily, but is ridged up between the rows instead of being spread evenly over the beds. The watering will soon spread it around after it has been leached somewhat.

If the weather continues moderately sunny, a plentiful supply of water should be given. If the drainage is good, it is almost impossible to over-water from this time on, but one must be guided somewhat by the weather. Plenty of water, judicious feeding and a light shade on the glass later, when the sun gets hotter, will be the main factors in keeping up the quality of your cut. But do not wait until the quality is gone before you bestir yourself. You cannot restore the quality after the warm weather has set in; the thing to do is to preserve it now.

Stock for Benching Next Fall.

Has your winter's propagating been successful? Have you provided yourself with fifty per cent more good young plants than you expect to bench next fall? If you have not, you will likely be buying plants to finish out your benches next fall, unless providence is kind enough to send you plenty of rain next summer. We are now putting in our last batch of carnation cuttings for this season. These cuttings will still make splendid stock for benching during August or later. Conditions from this time on are not likely to be favorable for propagating and a fair strike can only be obtained with extreme care and attention. The stronger sunlight and the drafts resulting from the necessarily increased ventilating will cause wilting unless the spraying and shading are looked after closely. Bottom heat, too, will be less steady than formerly. On the other hand, the naturally increased vigor of the spring growth will cause these late cuttings to root quickly and to come along faster than those that were propagated earlier. A month in 2-inch pots will establish them well enough to be planted in the field and, with favorable weather, they will make splendid plants by late summer. We have seen stock of this kind make better plants than earlier propagated stock which had been allowed to get stunted in small pots.

A. F. J. Baur.

BENCH SOIL SPREAD ON FIELD.

When our carnation houses were emptied last fall the soil was hauled to the field and piled. When the ground was frozen this winter, the soil was hauled and spread about eight inches deep. After giving this a good application of rotted manure, would it be advisable it has been in clover two seasons, sow it down in bluegrass and after two years in bluegrass it will be ready for use in the greenhouses again. Handle it just as you would new sod.

A. F. J. B.

FRED DORNER MEMORIAL MEDAL.

At the Cleveland carnation show last January interest centered on the award of the Fred Dörner Memorial gold medal to the originator of an undisseminated seedling carnation. This was the first time the award was made, and the strictness of the conditions warranted the winner of high class. The winning variety must have been in cultivation not less than three years; a vase of fifty blooms must have scored not less than eighty points in a preliminary contest at the show the preceding year, and 100 blooms had to score eighty-five points at the show at which the award was made.

The medal awarded this year, which is shown in the accompanying illustrations, went to Matchless, exhibited and originated by the Cottage Gardens Co., Queens, N. Y. The medal is paid for each year with the interest from a fund raised by voluntary subscription among the members of the American Carnation Society. On one side is a good likeness of the late Fred Dörner and on the other a symbolic design. The designer of the medal is H. Ryden.

ANGLO-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Plants, both greenhouse grown and hardy, outdoor varieties; ornamental shrubs and trees, fruit trees, and supplies and materials for this line will be shown. The British seedsmen and growers are preparing large exhibits of special merit. W. A. Manda, of South Orange, N. An exhibit of American trees and shrubs will be made by John Jefferies & Sons, of Cirencester, England. Amos Perry will show his famous achilleas and Kelway & Son herbaceous borders and gladioli.

BALTIMORE CLUB BANQUET.

Monday evening, March 9, at 7 o'clock, the Baltimore Florists' Club was called to order by President Johnston. As this was the night of the annual election of officers, there was a large attendance of members. The routine business was quickly disposed of, and then followed the nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year. President Johnston was unanimously re-elected. James Hamilton, of Mount Washington, was elected vice-president with no opposition. N. F. Flitton, secretary; Geo. Talbot, financial secretary; F. G. Burger, treasurer, and C. M. Wagner, librarian, were all unanimously re-elected. The club then adjourned to the Hotel Emerson to satisfy the wants of the inner man.

A good banquet was served, followed by a number of good speeches. I. H. Moss was an efficient toastmaster and introduced each speaker in a fitting manner. First on the list of speakers was William F. Gude, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Gude in his speech paid a glowing tribute to the late Wm. R. Smith, and urged every member present to help form a fitting tribute to his memory.

President Johnston then addressed the club and asked for the hearty co-operation of all members to make the coming year a banner one in the history of this organization.

Prof. H. J. Patterson, of the Maryland Agricultural College, spoke on the benefits of agriculture in all its branches to mankind. George Weems Williams, of the Baltimore park board, spoke on the beautifying of public grounds and interspersed his remarks with humorous stories, which kept the club in an uproar of merriment. J. Otto Thilow, of Philadelphia, was called upon by the toastmaster and responded quite creditably. He was followed by Prof. T. B. Symons, of College Park. David Rust, of Philadelphia, made a short speech, which was quite well received. Otto Bauer, of Washington, D. C.; T. J. Meehan, of Philadelphia, and R. Vincent, Jr., of White Marsh, Md., also responded to calls from the toastmaster.

A silent toast was drunk to the memory of the late Wm. B. Sands, who passed to the silent majority during the last year, and whose smile and hand-clasp were missed by all. After a most enjoyable evening, the festivities were brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne. The committee in charge of the banquet, R. L. Graham, chairman; I. H. Moss and F. G. Burger, deserve great credit for the enjoyable evening. Treasurer F. G. Burger's absence on account of illness was much regretted.

TO CLEAN OUT WORMS.

I am troubled with worms in the soil, and am anxious to get rid of them. I cannot see that they have done any damage, but they are disagreeable to have around. Where anything stands on the soil there will always be a cluster of them. I have tried lime in excessive quantities, but it does not affect them. What can I do to get rid of them?
C. W. A.

Lime water should clean out the worms. Slack some stone lime and water with the clear liquid. There are various worm eradicators procurable which do their work well. Carbon bisulphide will clean out all pests from the soil. Bore holes fifteen to eighteen inches apart each way with a pointed stick; pour half a teaspoonful of carbon bisulphide into each hole and cover it at once. The resultant gas suffocates the worms. Do not use any naked lights near carbon bisulphide, as it is explosive. It costs 25 cents per pound can at retail at any drug store. C. W.

TO COLOR HYDRANGEA FOLIAGE.

Will you kindly tell me what to use to color up the foliage of hydrangeas? We bought plants of an American nursery last fall. The foliage is a light color. Last year plants of our own were the same.
C. E. R.

A weak dose of nitrate of soda, a teaspoonful to a 12-quart can of water, once a week, will improve the foliage. Or, if you have any good black soot from soft coal, place some in a bag and soak this in a barrel of water. Take some of the liquid two or three days later, dilute it and apply to your plants. If the pots are full of active roots, use some fresh cow manure in the bag with the soot.

Bouvardias.

Bouvardias which finished flowering some time ago and have been kept dry at the root can now be cut back and placed in heat. In the case of B. Humboldtii, soft cuttings will soon be produced in abundance and these root easily and make large plants the first season. Other varieties, however, are much better increased by root cuttings, and if these have not yet been put in, no time should be lost in starting them. Select the thickest roots, cut in short lengths, place in a cutting bench where they can get a brisk bottom heat, soak well with water and growths will appear in a few weeks.

Early Asters.

The first sowing of asters, advised some weeks ago, should now be ready for pricking off into flats, containing a little stronger soil than was used for the seed sowing. To prevent damping, be sure not to bury the stems of the little seedlings too much; also stand the flats on a shelf where they can get all possible light and sunshine. These asters, if of the best early sorts, such as Early Wonder and Queen of the Market, are the best to use for indoor culture. They need cultural conditions similar to those of chrysanthemums, and any soil which will grow good mums, carnations and violets is suitable for asters. They prefer a light to a heavy soil. March is sufficiently early to make a first sowing of asters for outdoor culture.

Genistas.

Do not subject genistas to any forcing at any time. They are not adaptable to the trying conditions of the average American steam-heated home, as are many other plants, and cannot be depended upon to last more than a few days at best, and then only when given an abundance of water. Plants for Easter can now be placed in a cool greenhouse, with a temperature of not over 50 degrees at night. They will show color within a month; earlier, if we get a warm spell, but they can be held some days easily in a cold house or shed. Have you remembered to put in genista cuttings for another

FEEDING THE BLOOMING STOCK.

Caution in Cloudy Weather.

The weather conditions during the last three months in this part of the country have been such that any considerable amount of feeding could have resulted only disastrously. During such continuously cloudy weather as has prevailed here during almost the entire winter, the plants are not able to take up any extra food besides what is provided in any good soil at planting time. Extra feeding could only result in soft growth and flowers that would lack in keeping quality. During the last two weeks, however, there has been a decided change in the weather, and the plants are rapidly assuming a condition in which a little feeding will be beneficial. The spring crop will be shooting up and a little stimulant at regular intervals will improve the quality.

If you have some wood ashes, a light sprinkling over the beds will sweeten the soil and tone up the appetite of the plants for the feed you will give them a little later. A week later, give them a liberal application of sheep manure, providing there is a moderate amount of sunshine.

The Spring Mulch.

About two weeks after the application of the sheep manure, your plants will be ready for the spring mulch which should be provided to prevent the severe drying out caused by the hot sun and the drafts when the ventilators are opened. Growers usually aim to get manure which is about half rotted for this purpose, but during the last two years we have used, for this spring mulch, manure that has recently come from the stables, and with excellent results. It is put on quite heavily, but is ridged up between the rows instead of being spread evenly over the beds. The watering will soon spread it around after it has been leached somewhat.

If the weather continues moderately sunny, a plentiful supply of water should be given. If the drainage is good, it is almost impossible to over-water from this time on, but one must be guided somewhat by the weather. Plenty of water, judicious feeding and a light shade on the glass later, when the sun gets hotter, will be the main factors in keeping up the quality of your cut. But do not wait until the quality is gone before you bestir yourself. You cannot restore the quality after the warm weather has set in; the thing to do is to preserve it now.

Stock for Benching Next Fall.

Has your winter's propagating been successful? Have you provided yourself with fifty per cent more good young plants than you expect to bench next fall? If you have not, you will likely be buying plants to finish out your benches next fall, unless providence is kind enough to send you plenty of rain next summer. We are now putting in our last batch of carnation cuttings for this season. These cuttings will still make splendid stock for benching during August or later. Conditions from this time on are not likely to be favorable for propagating and a fair strike can only be obtained with extreme care and attention. The stronger sunlight and the drafts resulting from the necessarily increased ventilating will cause wilting unless the spraying and shading are looked after closely. Bottom heat, too, will be less steady than formerly. On the other hand, the naturally increased vigor of the spring growth will cause these late cuttings to root quickly and to come along faster than those that were propagated earlier. A month in 2-inch pots will establish them well enough to be planted in the field and, with favorable weather, they will make splendid plants by late summer. We have seen stock of this kind make better plants than earlier propagated stock which had been allowed to get stunted in small pots.

A. F. J. Baur.

BENCH SOIL SPREAD ON FIELD.

When our carnation houses were emptied last fall the soil was hauled to the field and piled. When the ground was frozen this winter, the soil was hauled and spread about eight inches deep. After giving this a good application of rotted manure, would it be advisable to grow carnations on it this summer—that is, the young stock for benching in July and August? Would it be advisable to grow carnations on it each year, with a liberal application of decayed manure before plowing? Would this soil be suitable to be taken back into the houses again in, say, three years?

W. B.

If your carnations were free from disease last winter, the soil from the benches spread on the field can do no harm; in fact, it will be richer than the ordinary field soil, even without any covering of manure. If you wish to use it in the greenhouses again, I would suggest that you sow it in clover. After it has been in clover two seasons, sow it down in bluegrass and after two years in bluegrass it will be ready for use in the greenhouses again. Handle it just as you would new sod.

A. F. J. B.

FRED DORNER MEMORIAL MEDAL.

At the Cleveland carnation show last January interest centered on the award of the Fred Dorner Memorial gold medal to the originator of an undissected seedling carnation. This was the first time the award was made, and the strictness of the conditions warranted the winner of high class. The winning variety must have been in cultivation not less than three years; a vase of fifty blooms must have scored not less than eighty points in a preliminary contest at the show the preceding year, and 100 blooms had to score eighty-five points at the show at which the award was made.

The medal awarded this year, which is shown in the accompanying illustrations, went to Matchless, exhibited and originated by the Cottage Gardens Co., Queens, N. Y. The medal is paid for each year with the interest from a fund raised by voluntary subscription among the members of the American Carnation Society. On one side is a good likeness of the late Fred Dorner and on the other a symbolic design. The designer of the medal is H. Ryden.

THE COUNTRY LIFE SHOW.

The first flower show of the Country Life permanent exposition was held in its rooms in the Grand Central Terminal building, New York, March 2 to 7. F. J. Le Clair, who is with W. E. Marshall & Co., acted as secretary and assistant manager. The severe storms of the early part of the week interfered with the exhibits and the lecturer for the occasion, R. Vincent, Jr., of White Marsh, Md., was stalled by the storm at Philadelphia on his way to fulfill his engagement. As the week progressed the interest and exhibits increased and greater success in the future of these monthly shows is assured.

The list of prize winners follows:

Twelve white roses—B. Hathaway, gardener for Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Garrison, N. Y., first, with White Killarney.

Twelve red roses—B. Hathaway, first, with Richmond.

Twelve pink roses—Rudolf Heidkamp, gardener for Mrs. H. W. Boettger, Riverdale, N. Y., first, with Mrs. Geo. Shawyer; B. Hathaway, second, with Killarney.

Twelve any other color—B. Hathaway, first, with Sunburst.

Twelve white carnations—Thomas Morris, gardener for Daniel G. Reid, Irvington, N. Y., first, with Richmond Terrace; Frank C. Luckenbacher, gardener for Paul M. Warburg, Hartsdale, N. Y., second.

Twelve red carnations—Thomas Aitchison, gardener for A. L. Price, Mamaroneck, N. Y., first; Thomas Morris, second.

Twelve light pink carnations—Thomas Morris, first; Abraham Wynne, gardener for W. W. Heroy, Stamford, Conn., second.

Twelve dark pink carnations—Rudolph Heidkamp, first; Thomas Morris, second.

Twelve crimson carnations—Frank C. Luckenbacher, first; Abraham Wynne, second.

Table decorations—Thomas Aitchison, first; A. W. Golding, superintendent for Daniel G. Reid, second.

Bunch of fifty single violets—Henry Gaut, gardener for H. L. Pratt, Glen Cove, N. Y.

Bunch of 100 violets—Max Schneider, gardener for Peter Hauck, Jr., East Orange, N. J., first.

Collection of greenhouse grown vegetables—Henry Gaut, first.

Bouquet of flowers—Frank L. Luckenbacher, first; Rudolf Heidkamp, second.

J. A. Shaw.

NEW YORK SPRING SHOW.

So many special prizes were forthcoming that it was hard for the committee in charge of the schedule of premiums to close up the forms and send them to press. The complete and final list is, however, now out, and copies may be obtained upon application to Secretary John Young. Among the donors of additional special prizes are the following: Mrs. F. F. Thompson, J. P. Morgan, Mrs. Alfred M. Coates, McDougall Hawkes, Mrs. Delancey Kane, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Miss Georgine Iselin, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mrs. H. V. R. Kennedy, Chas. G. Thompson, Isaac N. Seligman, Mrs. Wm. Combe, F. W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Richard Gamble, John J. Riker, Mrs. Archibald Rogers. Silver cups are offered by the Hotel Woodstock, Hotel Astor and Manhattan hotel.

The general committee has decided that there shall be no formal lectures at this show. The acoustic properties of the temporary lecture hall available at the show last year were anything but good, and the outside attractions were so great that, save for those who sought rest, the lectures had little drawing power. This decision allows of the setting aside of some much needed space for the comfort of visitors. Plenty of seating room will be provided, and, in addition, there will be a rolling chair service.

The committee has made a creditable division in the schedule, the various exhibits called for on different days assuring practically a daily change in the arrangement of the show. The orchestra will be stationed in the balcony of the second floor. This will tend to relieve the congestion on the main floor, which was at times quite apparent last year. The excellent restaurant service, which was a feature of last year's arrangements, will be prominent again this year.

There are still a few good locations available for exhibits, and a letter addressed to Secretary John Young, 53 West Twenty-eighth street, New York, will insure the receipt of all information in this respect. There was never, in New York, a better opportunity to bring anything in horticultural lines to the attention of the flower loving public than that presented in the coming show.

J. H. Pepper,

Chairman Publicity Committee.

NEW YORK.

The Market.

The severe weather of the winter reached its limit last week, and March 7 a spring temperature prevailed. After such a disastrous month as February there must come encouraging reaction, and the early arrival of spring has never been more gratefully anticipated. The week opens with clear skies and rising temperature. Shipments of all varieties of cut flowers are increasing and there are the usual declines in values where large quantities are purchased. The department stores again are a potent factor, and the street merchants are busy and numerous.

Prices for American Beauties and for nearly all the novelties are lower. Hadley, Mock and the newer kinds of Killarney hold high favor among the novelties. Carnations are abundant and values fell rapidly, splendid stock going as low as $10 per thousand March 7. Only the best of the novelties touched a higher level than $2 per hundred. Heavy shipments this week are inevitable. Lilies, valley and gardenias are in large supply and prices have declined slightly during the week. Rubrum lilies are especially fine. Sweet peas are in large supply, the Spencers selling readily. Orchids are everywhere. The windows of some of the retailers feature them at wholesale quotations. Fashion seems to have decreed them as the society corsage. They are more widely worn than ever before.

In the general list are the overflow of daffodils and tulips, with unlimited supplies of daisies, stocks, narcissi, forget-me-nots, lilac and mignonette. Forsythia is widely utilized in window decoration. Southern daffodils will be here in big shipments this week. Double violets seem to be utterly neglected. Prices obtained hardly cover the cost of bunching. The singles are better appreciated. Hardy cut ferns are in limited supply.

Club Meeting.

Large attendance at the club meetings is now the rule and the session March 9 was no exception. Considerably over 100 members were present, with President Duckham in the chair.

For the dinner committee, Chairman Nugent reported complete arrangements made. M. C. Ebel, for the essay committee, announced the postponement of Dr. Hadlee's lecture until after Easter.

Frank N. Eskesen, of Madison, N. J.; Leo Niessen and Arthur Niessen, of Philadelphia; Joseph S. Beuerlein, of Elmhurst, L. I.; W. W. Doering, of Brooklyn; Martin Christiansen and Wm. Yaiser, of Alpine, N. J.; H. S. Mabie, of Maywood, N. J.; John Piorowsky, of White Plains; Fred P. Wolfinger, of Newark, and C. O. Giessler and J. E. Morichard were elected to membership. Messrs. Beuerlein, Giessler, Doering, Christiansen and Morichard gave brief addresses in response to their formal introduction. Mr. Beuerlein announced he had five more Beuerleins on the way to club membership.

The following gentlemen were proposed for membership: Charles H. Brown, A. Kotwiller, A. F. Duryea, H. C. Steinhoff, John R. Boumann, Thomas F. Hughes, John A. Kennedy, J. R. Kervan, Thomas F. Galvin, Joachheim Boehler, H. D. Darlington, S. H. Russin and Sol. Hanfling.

Flower Show at the Country Life Exposition, New York, March 2 to 7, 1914.

F. R. Pierson, chairman of the show committee, reported over $13,000 in premiums and over $3,000 in special prizes. The space sold for trade exhibits amounts to over $13,000. Secretary Young announced over $1,100 worth of tickets already sold. Purchasers in quantity were: Max Schling, 300; W. A. Manda, 100; W. H. Siebrecht, 100; A. T. Boddington, 100; P. J. Smith, 100; Bonnet & Blake, 100. After some discussion a welcoming committee, consisting of Messrs. Duckham, Young and Nugent, was appointed. The speakers were Messrs. Ebel, Traendly, F. R. Pierson, Marshall, Totty, O'Mara, Schling, Manda and Wallace Pierson.

Chairman Marshall reported for the outing committee and announced the date for the club's yearly reunion as July 1 and the place Glen Island.

J. H. Pepper gave an interesting address on club affiliation with the S. A. F., followed by discussion by Messrs. Bunyard, Milliott, W. A. Manda, Marshall and O'Mara. Mr. Pepper stated that of the club's 432 members 156 are now members of the S. A. F., over thirty-five per cent. The matter was laid on the table.

The exhibits were: Pots of Giant and Victoria narcissi and De Wet tulips, by M. Van Waveren Sons, awarded thanks of the club; vases of sweet peas and snapdragon, by Herman Mammitzsch, awarded thanks of the club; vase of seedling white carnations, by W. R. Seymour, of West End, N. J., scored eighty-five points and received a preliminary certificate.

Various Notes.

The spring show is only a few days distant. The committees were busy last week completing the schedule, Chairman Frank R. Pierson presiding.

As has been stated, the annual banquet of the New York Florists' Club will be held in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor, March 26, at 7:30 p. m. The committee's members are John B. Nugent, chairman, and Messrs. De Forest, Scott, Stumpp, Koehne and Fenrich. Seats may be reserved by addressing Joseph S. Fenrich, 51 West Twenty-eighth street, who already has sold many tickets.

William Kessler was visiting his plant growers last week and reports Easter stock coming along nicely.

The big snow and wind did considerable damage in New York and vicinity. The office force in W. Elliott & Sons' store narrowly escaped injury following the smashing of the glass skylight. Much sympathy is felt for John Wilson, who has the old Pitcher & Manda plant at Short Hills, N. J., which was completely destroyed, some 40,000 feet of glass being broken.

Saturday, March 14, the New York Horticultural Society will hold its monthly meeting at the Museum of Natural History, Bronx Park.

Woodrow & Marketos' new store on Twenty-eighth street is complete and stocked. The large space and the height of the ceiling give excellent facilities.

The sympathy of the trade is extended Percy Richters, of Philip Kessler's staff, in the loss of his mother.

John H. Andrews, of Mount Kisco, has been appointed superintendent of the Goodsell nurseries.

The Yokohama Nursery Co. moved March 11 to its new offices on the eighth floor of the Woolworth building.

Flower Show at the Country Life Exposition, New York, March 2 to 7, 1914.

C. W. Scott is back from a successful western trip.

A society event last week at the Hotel Astor, under the patronage of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, in which the Misses Wilson participated, was the occasion of a beautiful decoration by the Boston Florist Co. The stage, 30x45 feet, was made to represent a forest scene. Fifty bundles of Christmas trees were used, as well as ten cases of southern smilax and an abundance of rhododendrons, azaleas and forsythia in full bloom. The cost of the decoration touched four figures.

SOUTHERN EVERGREENS SCARCE.

According to some of the shippers of southern evergreens, especially ferns and galax, the supply for the rest of the season is certain to be short. The following is from a large shipper in North Carolina:

"We are not going to be able to meet our obligations with the buyers this season. The condition of the weather, and nothing more, is to blame for our failure to supply the trade with their full quota of galax, etc. There has hardly been a day since January 1 that the woods have not been deep in snow, and through the month of February it has been one continual snow storm, and it is continuing right up to the present moment.

"January and February are the two months in which we do the bulk of our business, especially in filling the cold storage stock orders, and, considering the weather conditions, it will be readily understood that we have been up against something over which we had no control whatever. Ourselves, as well as a number of others, will lack millions of galax, ferns, etc., of filling orders that were booked last fall, when we had no way of telling what the future would bring. But we, like all the others, have done all we could to meet our obligations."

SYRACUSE, N. Y.

The Market.

Carnations, daffodils and tulips at 25 to 35 cents per dozen were again featured the latter part of the week at the flower shops as well as in the department stores. The stock is quite inferior to that sold during the week at the usual prices for this season of the year. The regular supply of roses, carnations and bulbous stock is in good quantity and of first-class quality. Sweet peas and single violets, with Mignon roses, orchids and valley are the leading flowers for corsages and for filling formal baskets.

During the early part of the week, floral work of all kinds was at a standstill, owing partly to the condition of the weather.

Various Notes.

The most severe storm of the season lasted from Sunday afternoon, March 8, with high wind and continuous snow, until Monday morning. Trolley cars were snow-bound with passengers on board all night. With such a storm and the consequent high drifting, came the inevitable damage to glass at various greenhouses. At the plants of P. R. Quinlan and the Baker Floral Co. considerable damage to glass is reported, together with the loss of small amounts of stock. The snow drifted so high on the large house of the Baker Floral Co. as to cause the breaking of the iron brackets which supported the sash bars at the gutter. But the report of the greatest damage in this vicinity comes from Geo. Dobbs & Son, at Auburn, where the weight of the snow was so great as to crush in the middle portion of the large house, thereby allowing the cold to enter the entire range, ruining the stock of the entire plant. It is reported that the loss will reach about $8,000. Work has already been commenced to clear away the debris, so that they may rebuild at once. They have the sincerest sympathy of the trade.

The roses at P. R. Quinlan's are in full crop and of an extremely good grade. Daily shipments in large quantities are being made to his two stores.

Their window in the South Salina street store was quite attractive, with potted Von Sions and Boston ferns.

Permit has been granted to C. R. Brown for the erection of greenhouses in this city at an estimated cost of $5,000, to be used for vegetable growing.

Theodore Foederer, formerly a florist in this city, but more recently foreman for George Perkins, of Fulton, has opened a flower store on Main street, Fulton.

The local body of Elks unanimously elected Miles Henckle their exalted ruler at their annual election. He is especially fitted to fill this important position, as he has worked in all the preceding offices of the lodge. With these added responsibilities and his increasing business, he is not liable to find time heavy on his hands.

The first French hydnangeas, flowering almonds and genistas of the season were shown at the store of the W. E. Day Co. last week. Mr. Day was especially busy with decorations last week.

The Florist Shop, the new store of the Pierce-Christian Co., will not be opened as early as was expected, on account of the delay in getting the cooler installed. The work of fitting up the store is progressing rapidly and as soon as the cooler is received, it will be installed and the store opened for business.

The Baker Floral Co. has tried several of the newer varieties of carnations this season and they are particularly pleased with Pocahontas, the dark red. They exhibited a vase of blooms from their small stock, all measuring from three and one-half to four inches in diameter. Formosa lilies are being cut in quantity.

The week following March 23 is to be known as display week and the color scheme, as designated by the Chamber of Commerce, is yellow and white. All stores are making great preparations for elaborate displays, and there will be a big call for palms, ferns and yellow and white blooming plants and cut flowers. A committee has been formed, consisting of Hugh McCarthy, W. E. Day and Chester Harris, with two merchants in other lines, to arrange for and direct the floral decorations. As this is the first year this scheme has been tried here, it will be interesting to note the results obtained by the local florists. At a meeting held March 7 only tentative plans were talked of and definite action will be taken at the meeting held this week.

B. F. C.

Alexandria, Minn.—Mrs. Joseph Penar reports business for the last year particularly good, with a bright outlook for the spring trade.

PITTSBURGH.

The Market.

Pittsburgh, like the rest of the country, has certainly been having discouraging weather, but fortunately there have been no accidents and the growers all got through without damage. We are now in the season of Lent, but trade has continued fair. There has not been a glut of anything so far, which is really unusual, as the beginning of Lent is always the worst. The wholesale houses all seem busy. They are handling a great deal of stock, but in some things prices are not what they should be. So long as stock cleans up, however, all are satisfied.

The retail stores all have had plenty of funeral work, which has kept them from noticing the falling off in social affairs. Considering the weather, which kept down the transient business, they have nothing to complain of.

Club Meeting.

The Florists' Club met Tuesday evening, March 3, and there was a fair attendance, considering the weather. Those who missed this meeting missed one of the most interesting ever held by the club. On account of the storm the exhibits of roses expected from Richmond, Ind., and Baltimore, Md., failed to arrive, but a fine bunch of Killarney Brilliant came from S. S. Fennock-Meehan Co., of Philadelphia. The flowers were greatly admired and a certificate of merit was awarded. This is a rose that will certainly be in great favor with the private gardeners.

Carl Becherer, gardener at Dixmont hospital, the member who always brings something, had an exhibit of tulips and hyacinths. T. Tyler, gardener for Mr. Armstrong, had a handsome plant of Triana with fourteen fine blooms. H. Rapp, gardener for D. T. Watson, showed cinerarias of exceptionally good culture. A fine lot of Primula obconica was displayed by Mr. Thompson, of Sewickley.

Mrs. Elsie McFate, of Turtle Creek, was elected a member of the club. She is the second woman on the membership roll. The club welcomes her and wishes it might have more of the women who are interested in the trade among its members.

T. P. Langhans was asked to bring before the club a proposition for a new location for our meetings. He presented the matter reluctantly because it would be unwise to change so long as our host, the Fort Pitt hotel management, welcomes us and provides for our meetings the greatest comfort, permitting us to meet at no cost whatever, in the finest and most convenient places that we could wish for. The president, Neil McCallum, was directed to secure speakers and arrange for a supper to which we can invite our ladies, half of the cost to be borne by the club. It is expected the tickets for this evening will only cost the members 50 cents each. Announcement of this affair will be made in due time.

Arthur Coggeshall, who is Dr. Holland's assistant in the natural history department of the Carnegie Institute, then delivered his lecture on the dipterus, illustrated with lantern slides. This lecture was without doubt the best illustrated lecture presented at the club's meetings. Mr. Coggeshall's talk and pictures took up about sixty minutes, after which he answered questions concerning matters dating back perhaps 250,000 years.

Various Notes.

None of our local growers are cutting lilies just now, but Karl Koenig, the lily king of this district, says he will be all right in ten days, as he does not wish to put on too much heat and soften up the whole house. He will have about 50,000 lilies for Easter, and the Pittsburgh Cut Flower Co. will handle them all. His other bulbous stock is fine.

J. M. Hamm is opening a new flower store at 3810 Forbes street, Oakland, to accommodate the people midway between the downtown and east end districts.

Clarke.

DREER'S ENLARGED STORE.

As reported in the Philadelphia news-letter in last week's issue of The Review, Henry A. Dreer, Inc., has its enlarged store ready for the spring trade. It was December 29 that Wm. F. Dreer closed the deal by which his company secured the building adjoining the one it had occupied for years. Remodeling was begun at once and the formal opening took place last week, the double store as it then appeared being shown in the accompanying illustration. The two stores are connected through a large archway. The principal feature of the improvements is an entire duplication of the vegetable and farm seed departments, including lawn grass seeds, etc., thus giving double the counter space previously available. A special plant department is another feature of the rearrangement of the stores, where expert plantmen will give correct information and attend to the wants of customers in this line. Provision has also been made for giving exhibitions of flowers at seasonable times, beginning in May and continuing until late in the

A Gardener's Conception of the Cleveland Bowling Tournament

The Cleveland Florists' Club will start a head pin tournament at the bowling alleys Monday evening, March 16. The drawing is by Frank Gumpf, gardener to Leisy's, whose conception is that there will be hot competition for the large list of prizes. The club invites all florists to attend.

autumn. For this purpose a large room with glass cover has been provided.

OBITUARY.

James B. Wild.

James B. Wild, 67 years old, died March 4 at his home at Sarcoxie, Mo. Mr. Wild located at Sarcoxie in 1870. With two brothers, Henry and Frank Wild, he started a nursery. The place in recent years has been managed by James B. Wild and his son, Gilbert. They have what is considered one of the largest peony fields in the world and ship great quantities of cut blooms to city markets every spring.

He is survived by a wife, two sons and a daughter. The funeral services were held March 6 from the Wild residence.

John Hetherington.

John Hetherington, for over forty years identified with the trade in most of the large cities of the country, died at the age of 57, at his home at Montclair, N. J. Mr. Hetherington was well known for his work in connection with the Pan-American, St. Louis, and Lewis and Clark expositions. He was buried Saturday, February 28, at Pequannock, N. J., from the home of his brother, R. Hetherington.

James John Comont.

There are many in the seed trade who will learn with regret of the death of James J. Comont, who was for over half a century a representative of James Carter & Co., of High Holborn, London, and Raynes Park. Few men were more widely known, or more highly respected in certain seed growing circles, as the deceased gentleman always proved himself a straightforward and honorable business man. He was for many years an annual visitor to Canada and the United States, where his knowledge was eagerly sought by those in the trade. Those of his immediate associates who enjoyed the pleasure of his close acquaintance for a great number of years mourn the loss of an open-hearted and generous comrade. He died February 13, at Acton, London, after a long illness borne with great fortitude.

KANSAS CITY.

The Market.

With the Lenten season on, business is better than expected. Whether or not the public has ceased to observe Lent as in the past, business certainly is better than it used to be during the forty days preceding Easter. More pot plants and general cut flower work were called for last week than during all of Lent several years ago.

Cut flowers in general have become plentiful and prices have declined. Rose crops are at their best, and there are some exceptionally fine roses; the better grades still are up in prices, while the shorter grades are plentiful and the price they bring is all they are worth. Carnations are abundant, but those that have quality are being bought up quickly at good prices. Carnations and roses both are being affected by the abundance of bulbous stock which is pouring in. Lilies have been rather scarce. Some fine sweet peas have sold at a smaller price than the poorest peas did two weeks ago. Violets also took a slump, which was expected. Green stock is plentiful.

Club Meeting.

The Kansas City Florists' Club met at the store of Mrs. T. A. Moseley, Kansas City, Kan., March 6, with a large attendance of nurserymen, gardeners, seedsmen and florists. John Stuppy, of St. Joseph, was in attendance. Several points of interest were brought up for discussion. Fred Fromholt, of the Wm. L. Rock Flower Co., was appointed to look after an employment bureau, which the club agreed to start at once. The purpose of this bureau is for the benefit of both the employer and employee. By leaving their names and references, they can be aided by the club, either in securing a position or in employing help. To show that an employment bureau is needed among florists, two members present at the meeting made application for employees. The prize that was given by Wertheimer Bros., through their representative, Samuel Seligman, to the person present holding the lucky number was drawn by Mr. Bunyar, of the Mrs. E. Bunyar firm, Rosedale, Kan. There were two applications for membership.

The next meeting will be held at the store of the Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co., March 21.

After adjournment the hostess, Mrs. Moseley, served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Moseley made every effort to make the evening an enjoyable one and everyone present agreed that the meeting was a perfect success in a social as well as a business way.

Various Notes.

A. D. Mohr is cutting a fine lot of snapdragons. He also has a fine lot of pot plants for the Easter trade.

D. H. Drummond, on East Fifteenth street, is bringing in a nice lot of violets. He has a new variety with stems that are ten inches long. He reports business this year as all that he could expect.

Joseph Austin expects to have about 30,000 geraniums for the spring bedding trade.

Charles Laundry has his greenhouses in fine shape and well filled with spring bedding stock. W. J. B.

Barberton, O.—Arrangements have been made at Anna Dean Farm, the big commercial greenhouse establishment of O. C. Barber, of the Diamond Match Co., for going ahead with the addition to the glass that was under consideration a year ago, but which was postponed. An order has been placed at Chicago, with the J. C. Moninger Co., for the material for four new houses, one of them 50x150 and three about 34x800 feet. The erection will proceed as rapidly as possible.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

Incorporated by Act of Congress, March 4, 1901.
Officers for 1914: President, Theodore Wirth, Minneapolis; vice-president, Patrick Welch, Boston; secretary, John Young, 53 W. 28th St., New York City; treasurer, W. F. Kasting, Buffalo. Thirtieth annual convention, Boston, Mass., August 18 to 21, 1914.

RESULTS.

We give them. You get them.
We both have them.

JUDGING from the way new greenhouses are to go up this season, the trade still is riding on the crest of the wave of prosperity.

CHARLES H. TOTTY, Madison, N. J., has been appointed American agent for Hugh Dickson, Belfast, Ireland, for the dissemination of that grower's rose novelties.

Not a few subscribers save themselves the bother of annual renewal by sending The Review $2, $3, or sometimes $5, instead of the dollar-bill that insures fifty-two visits of the paper.

FROM the reports and activity of the concerns that manufacture greenhouse building material, 1914 will see the greatest addition to glass area the trade ever has known.

FLORISTS hereafter can ship cuttings and plants at the zone rates of the parcel post. A paragraph in the post-office appropriation bill, passed last week, provides that the trade's commodities shall go into the zone system instead of the old flat rate system.

FREQUENTLY a florist is seen to make an excellent success working only with his hands; occasionally one is seen to prosper working only with his head, but when you find a florist who works both with his head and his hands you have come across a man whose progress is worth watching.

PRINTED at Springfield, O., the center of the mail-order plant trade, the American Magazine, New York, is working a new subscription stunt. Anyone who will subscribe to the publication can have his choice of five collections of plants free, six roses, eight chrysanthemums, four ferns, eight carnations or eight gladioli, cultural directions with each. It's bad business; it cheapens both articles and leads to the supposition that neither is worth what ordinarily is asked for it.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

Rose Garden Committee.

President Theodore Wirth has reappointed W. F. Gude, Wallace R. Pierson and F. R. Pierson as the committee having in charge the matter of making the arrangements for an experimental rose garden in Washington, D. C.

Plan of Affiliation.

In order that all florists' clubs and other organizations may discuss the subject intelligently, President Theodore Wirth directs me to publish the recommendation made by the board of directors at the convention held in Minneapolis last August. Action on this recommendation will be taken at the convention to be held in Boston:

"That the fee for members of any regular florists' club who wish to join the S. A. F. as a body will be reduced to $3 for the first year, and the annual dues thereafter to be $2 per year for each member thereof. These dues must be paid to the S. A. F. by the treasurer of each club, and not by the members individually, and we further recommend that our constitution and by-laws be amended to comply with this recommendation."

John Young, Sec'y.

ADVERTISERS, ATTENTION!

When advertisers mail copy late, so that it will reach the publisher just at the hour of going to press, a special delivery stamp should be used on the package of cuts. The parcel post between Boston, New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore and Chicago is at least twenty-four hours slower than the letter mail. A letter mailed in any of these cities before noon on Monday will reach The Review in time for the issue printed the following Wednesday, but the cuts, unless speialed, usually do not arrive until Thursday.

SATISFACTION.

Probably there is no florist who does not feel a sense of satisfaction in the knowledge that he is giving first-class service to those whose pleasure it is to patronize him. It's the same way with The Review; the publisher likes to feel that he is doing his job well. Like this:

I will say for The Review that I am selling from my 5-line Classified ad, costing 50 cents per issue, an average of $140 per week. I think that is pretty good, don't you?—Andrew Peterson, Hoopeston, Ill., March 9, 1914.

CHICAGO.

The Great Central Market.

The business of the last week has been typical of the season; there has been scarcely an unusual feature. The supply of stock has been extremely large, as it always is when winter is on the wane. Also, the demand has been on the increase, as it always is after the first few days of Lent or after the word has gone out that good flowers are plentiful and cheap. There has been nowhere near enough business to consume the receipts at the winter rates and average prices have been the lowest of the year to date, but to move so large a quantity of stock at any price means a large retail business of one kind or another and aggregates a good sum for wholesalers as well as retailers. As demand increases a larger

FANCY ROSES

We have a full list of varieties

THE CROPS are less heavy than they were, but buyers need have no fear that WE shall be unable to fill their orders. We never have had finer roses than right now and the supply will continue large until the end of the season. We are not heavily supplied with short roses at this time of year—our specialty is a little better grade of roses than can be had elsewhere in quantity—and long stems and fine flowers go together. We offer a full line:

MILADY                      KILLARNEY                      RICHMOND
WARD                      SUNBURST                      BULGARIE
WHITE KILLARNEY                      KILLARNEY QUEEN

SPENCER SWEET PEAS

We are headquarters for the fancy winter-blooming Sweet Peas of the Spencer type. We introduced this splendid new type of winter sweet pea in this market last season—but we could not anywhere near meet the demand. This year we have them by thousands—light pink, Blanche Ferry pink, dark pink and lavender. They are wonderful sellers. Now in their prime. Prices reasonable. Try them.

CARNATIONS

For years it has been recognized that we have the highest average quality of any large supply of carnations—almost all of our stock will meet the needs of the most exacting buyer. It not only is good stock when it leaves us, but it is good stock when it reaches the out-of-town retailer—and it pleases HIS customers.

VIOLETS

A large supply, home-grown singles, home-grown doubles and Hudson River doubles.

VALLEY

You always can get fine Valley here. We handle the Chicago Market brand exclusively.

BULB STOCK

We have a full line—Jonquils, Daffodils, Tulips—the best grade procurable. A large supply.

FREESIA

We have a novelty in fancy pink and yellow Freesia, as well as white.

FANCY CATTLEYA ORCHIDS

Our Cattleyas are home-grown and will give better satisfaction than the lower priced stock that is reconsigned by Eastern commission houses.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES

Try us on short and medium Beauties. We have a large cut that is of good quality for this season of the year, and no doubt you can use them at a good profit to yourself while pleasing your customers.

EASTER LILIES

percentage of the stock should be moved through the regular trade channels and the average price should improve. Continued cool weather has been in favor of the trade; warm sun, when it comes, will probably bring a condition of demoralization that will last for several days.

The only flower that has been scarce since last report has been the American Beauty. There are not many long Beauties and most of them are so weak-stemmed that the retailers will not use them. The supply of short Beauties is larger, but the quality of the flowers is not all that could be desired. The supply of Sunburst and Ward is not unwieldy, for these are popular varieties and not grown in anything like the quantity that Killarney is. The call for Richmond, Milady and Reid has subsided to a marked degree since St. Valentine's day and as a result the price of red roses is as low as for more plentiful varieties. Killarney not only is in good crop with most growers but the quality is excellent. Buyers who have wanted only small lots of selected stock have been getting good value, while those who could use quantities not too closely selected have secured some fine bargains.

The growers of Enchantress have no reason to congratulate themselves on recent business. White carnations, even if split, have sold moderately well, but Enchantress has not been wanted; soft, sleepy, or split Enchantress has been practically unsalable. Pink Delight and Ward are the best sellers, if well grown. A big demand for white is assured for next week, St. Patrick's day. It had begun to affect the market as early as March 9, white carnations being less plentiful and white roses better property, in consequence.

Double violets have been extremely poor property, selling at such low rates that it is a wonder the growers keep on shipping. Singles, if good, do a little better. Sweet peas have hit the violets hard. Now that they are plentiful and moderate in price the Spencer peas are selling at least as well as anything else the market affords.

Bulbous stock of all kinds has been plentiful, but not offered in such large quantities as a few years ago. There is a lot of difference in the quality; some of the tulips, daffodils and jonquills are fine, but there is much stock that is poor and growers report many of the bulbs were blind. Considerable quantities of Formosa lilies are seen, and these are fine. Calendulas have been offered in larger quantities than usual this season, but of late the demand has fallen off. Cattleyas again are plentiful, but selling steadily at moderate prices. Valley is abundant and the demand not only light, but erratic.

Governor Backs Dickinson.

The governor of Montana has declined to sign the extradition papers necessary to secure the return of C. M. Dickinson to Illinois under the year-old warrant served on him at Stony Butte last week. The governor takes the stand that under the circumstances he will not sign the papers until an indictment has been returned against Mr. Dickinson by the grand jury in Cook county, Illinois.

Various Notes.

A window of baskets of Killarneys, arranged by Arthur Weatherwax, was an attraction at W. J. Smyth's last week. The baskets were of various styles and sizes, containing from a dozen to eighteen roses, but each to sell at $2.50. To brighten the window, each basket was decorated with an unusually large bow of pink chiffon.

The annual Lenten sale at Fleischman's last week was an excellent success. Not only did the public respond to the advertising, but the market was easy enough so that most items, even at the low prices, must have afforded a margin of profit that would be satisfactory to anyone doing a big volume of business. It generally is conceded that the Fleischman store is doing considerably the largest business in town.

It is the opinion of Erne & Klingel that the call for white carnations for St. Patrick's day will exceed the resources of the market.

According to present indications, those who hold stocks of ferns in cold storage will make some money on them this year. E. E. Pieser says the only question will be as to the quality of the stock when taken out of the freezer.

Determined to be in style, even at some personal discomfort, A. L. Vaughan is limping with "Chance's arch." It is the breaking down of the arch of the instep that put Frank Chance off first base, which in turn made famous a difficulty common to those who are much on their feet.

THIS IS THE AGE OF SPECIALISTS

THE TIME OF THE JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES IS PAST

The demand these days is for the best, and to produce the best means to concentrate upon that one particular thing.

Look around in the florists' trade and note those who are devoting all their energy to one thing. Are they successful? Yes, they are all making good, and what they produce is the best to be obtained in the particular line that they have chosen.

WE ARE SPECIALISTS IN OUR LINE

We do nothing but design, build and sell baskets. We excel in that one thing. As to whether we have chosen our proper vocation, we will leave it to you and point with pride to our record.

We are known as the foremost basket house in the United States. We are not selling baskets on our reputation, however, but upon their quality, style and comparatively low cost. All our energy is directed to one thing—making florists' baskets that are right.

The possibility that Field's may open a fully equipped florist section is attracting a great deal of comment. The general opinion is that, with a capable manager, the store could do the biggest and best flower business of the town, creating a lot of new business, but pulling a great deal away from those already in it.

The Eastern Market.

The cut flower market has rallied from last week's severe setback. Prices are low, lower than they have been at any time since Thanksgiving, but there is a fair demand for roses and carnations. Lilies are neglected, with the possible exception of the finest valley. Ordinary valley, Easter lilies and callas are not wanted, while the poorer grade of snapdragon also is in sad plight. Sweet peas are in heavy supply. The best are sold at low prices, while anything that is not just so is hard to sell. When the check given to business by last week's storm is considered, the market really is in surprisingly good shape, with prospects of further improvement; not in prices, but in activity, which means better average prices.

Daffodils are in rather shorter supply; the first Emperor has arrived. The finest varieties of tulips are now in bloom. Those that are well grown sell, but poor stock is passed by. The smaller flowers, such as daisies and pansies, are more plentiful. Beauties are in shorter supply than at any time this season, with prospects of the new crop coming on in a week or two at most.

Mr. Hill's Visit.

E. Gurney Hill, of Richmond, Ind., dropped in on his way from the icicle-laden greenhouses at Hadley last week. Mr. Hill arrived late one afternoon and, with celerity so great as to baffle the minor papers, made his appointments, kept them and departed. One paper, however, is able to state with confidence born of authority that Mr. Hill left Broad Street station at 6:20 a. m. bound southward; that he dropped off the train at a point about nine miles south of the city, where an important horticultural conference was held; that he returned to Broad Street station, breakfasted and met three leading lights of the profession; that the quartette boarded a train for Media and left it before that point was reached. Then two more important meetings were held, followed by a return to Broad Street station. Then Mr. Hill bade farewell to the trio of friends and kept other appointments in the center of the city before leaving.

You will want to know how many Ophelia are coming here and what Mr. Hill said about Robin Hood. But, really, it will not do to disclose these private matters in public print. I only wanted to show you what an energetic, hard-working man is E. Gurney Hill, of Richmond, Ind.

Various Notes.

Letters from the Isle of Pines bring news that Adam Graham and Mrs. Graham, of Cleveland, and John Walker and Mrs. Walker, of Youngstown, O., are there. Mrs. Robert Craig, in writing to her son, continues: "Your father is well and extremely busy cutting dracæna canes. He has set John Walker and Adam Graham to work cutting them, too."

DAYTON, O.

The Market.

Business has been exceptionally good in the last few weeks. Thus far the presence of Lent has not been felt a great deal, due to the fact that, while parties and weddings are fewer, the demand for funeral designs and flowers for the sick keeps up wonderfully. There is a good demand for pot plants as well as cut flowers. The weather in the last two weeks has been mild and bright, producing a good effect on stock and making things look promising for Easter, besides cutting down the fuel expenditure. White carnations will be at a premium for St. Patrick's day, as many large orders are already being booked. Stock of other kinds is in good supply and capable of meeting all demands.

Various Notes.

The Dayton Florists' Club held its monthly meeting March 5, at the establishment of J. F. Young, on East Fifth street. Many important subjects were discussed and it was decided to change the place of meeting to the Greater Dayton assembly rooms, where a lunch can be served at each meeting. The annual election of officers will take place at the April meeting and the lady florists will take charge of the luncheon.

The Heiss Co. gives an encouraging report on the general condition of business. The firm's greenhouse stock is in a flourishing condition, furnishing an ample supply to meet the retail store demands. Their violets are exceptionally fine.

Miss Olive Ritter states that business with her has been excellent.

M. Anderson spent a few days last week in Cincinnati, where he went to take care of some business deals.

D. Rusconi and his son spent the latter part of last week in this city.

Joseph I. Schaeffer says that his new cyclamen house is about ready for use. The bad storms in this section have greatly delayed the freights; consequently he has been unable to get his glass. The house will be used temporarily for his Easter bulbous stock. He reports a fine crop of sweet peas just coming into bloom.

Miss Katheryne Young states that thus far Lent has had no effect on business, which continues to be most satisfactory.

The Dayton Floral Co. has a big decoration booked for St. Patrick's day, in which several hundred green carnations are to be used, besides a great quantity of southern smilax and palms. They, too, report a good trade.

March 16 is to be spring opening day in Dayton, and all the florists, as well as other tradespeople, are to take part. Window displays are to be the chief feature and the florists are planning big things in the way of decorating their own places and those of other merchants.

The Easter stock at George Bartholomew's place looks promising. Business, he says, has been highly encouraging.

A few Dayton florists, together with other merchants, are said to have been badly taken in by a supposedly extremely wealthy foreigner, who goes by the name of Captain Jansen. During his stay in the city he lived in the height of fashion and elaborately entertained the elite. Then, it is said, he mysteriously disappeared, leaving his creditors to mourn his departure. It has since been reported that he has tried these stunts in different cities, always using the same name.

The Miami Floral Co. is trying the special sale stunt for the Lenten season. Their first attempt was a carnation sale for Saturday, March 7.

friends giving her an informal reception. She has been confined to her home for the last two years, but at present her health is somewhat improved.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

The Market.

Business was fairly good last week. Funeral work, however, has been the bulk of the trade, although there were several informal dinners, etc. Tulips, daffodils and jonquils are overabundant, but the retail price is normal. Carnations continue to come into the market in fine condition. Roses are more plentiful, but the price is still up. Hyacinths, azaleas and Japanese apple trees are finding ready sale. Cut ferns, asparagus and smilax are to be had in quantity.

The department stores, shoe stores and millinery shops have begun with their spring openings, thus making a market for all sorts of plants and flowers.

Bowling.

Twenty-eight of the Rochester florists were entertained at a banquet at Messenger's hotel, March 4, by the Buffalo Florists' Club. The Rochester boys were met by a reception committee, who took them in autos on a tour of inspection to Williamsville, J. J. Albright's conservatories, S. A. Anderson's greenhouses and other places of interest. Dinner was served at 7:30 and the table decorations were most unusual in arrangement and selection of flowers. Spray orchids used with cattleyas and Killarney roses arranged upon three large standards alternating with low plateaux made a fetching decoration.

S. A. Anderson made an excellent toastmaster. The address of welcome was made by Wallace Eiss, president of the Buffalo Florists' Club. The speakers were John Dunbar, William J. Palmer, George B. Hart, William F. Kasting, Richard Salter, Stephen J. Mahoney, Henry Bates and others. Vocal solos and instrumental music added a great deal of gaiety to the occasion. The menu was sumptuous and everybody had a good time.

At 9 o'clock all went up to the bowling alleys for the great match game. The Buffalo boys again were victorious in carrying away the Lord & Burnham trophy. During the course of the evening, however, the trophy disappeared, but turned up in the morning by express from Rochester with a note of explanation from George B. Hart. Everybody had a most glorious time at the match game. The score was:

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

The Market.

A slight falling off in trade has been noticed in all the stores, probably for no other reason than that the Lenten season is with us, but, comparing figures with those of a year ago, we find that we are somewhat ahead. The big storm at the opening of last week hurt some.

The market shows a full supply of roses of all varieties. Some are of exceptionally good quality, but, owing to the dull weather, the majority are not colored at all well. The extra fancy, long-stemmed stock holds up in price and sells freely. The short-stemmed roses are used either for cheap trade or funeral work and sell at low figures. American Beauties have not been selling well the last few days, but other red roses, such as Richmond, Milady and Cardinal, are always good sellers. Some excellent Ward, Shawyer, Sunburst and Killarney are on the market. Violets have sold well and have been offered in some stores for 25 cents

We claim that cards decorated with floral designs are cheapened when placed beside the rare blossoms of Nature, and so, after careful study, have produced cards graceful in size—straight little cards, simple in design, dignified. The quality of the material used is excellent, and delicate tints have been chosen to blend most artistically with the contents of the boxes. Those with the most æsthetic tastes could find no fault.

Because of the cards being tinted, the florists eliminate the envelopes. (See Florists' Review for Feb. 26.)

The Market.

Last week's business was interrupted by the severe storm, but the latter part of the week proved more pleasant, with the result that the streets were filled with vendors offering violets and sweet peas, little of which were of local production. Locally grown carnations brought from $2 to $4 per hundred and could not be handled in competition with the other stock, which sold at retail at 50 cents per dozen. Carnations costing 36 cents per dozen, exclusive of any additional foliage, wrapping, etc., and even delivery, cannot well be sold at an advance of 14 cents. Gardenias are holding up at $3 per dozen and large quantities are being sent to nearby markets. Azaleas, cyclamens and primroses are in good demand in the members to plan to attend the national convention to be held in Boston in August. He informed the members that he will attend a meeting of the board of directors to be held in Boston March 17, promising the members that he will make an interesting report upon his return.

It was reported that there is a movement on foot to have the Smith Memorial included in the proposed two million dollar George Washington Memorial building, in the form of a room or suite of rooms to be the national home of the S. A. F. It has also been proposed to erect an individual building for the same purposes.

This being the annual meeting of the club, the following officers were unanimously elected: President, George H. Cooke; vice-president, R. S. Jenkins; secretary, Elmer C. Mayberry; treasurer, William F. Gude; trustees, Adolphus Gude and Theodore Diedrich.

The following were admitted to membership: George W. Hess, superintendent of the National Botanic Gardens; Frank P. Gaul, manager of the Pennock-Meehan local store; C. H. Jenkins, Henry Witt and Imke Wessel Staalman, the latter of the A. J. Van Der Vies Co., of Oakton, Va.

Various Notes.

A 60-mile gale did considerable damage last week. In Anacostia breaking glass cut up considerable Easter stock. At Garrett park the breaking of glass and the leaking of a boiler caused the loss of an entire house of violets which David Bisset has been coaxing along for months. In the grounds of the Agricultural Department the large banana house was destroyed. In Alexandria, Va., the blow was not quite so bad, but it caused considerable uneasiness on the part of the growers there. At the store of F. H. Kramer an exceptionally large window was blown in and the stock ruined. Mr. Kramer also lost considerable glass at his houses and a dwelling on the grounds was unroofed.

Adolphus Gude was last week the recipient of three cherished gifts, the occasion being his retirement as grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the District of Columbia. The first of these gifts was a magnificent traveling trunk for use, as the donors stated, in the traveling of Mr. Gude and his family in the search of health. In response Mr. Gude stated he felt sorry that his fellow-members were thus endeavoring to get rid of him, and then the second surprise was sprung on him—a traveling bag to aid in his safe return. These were the gifts of the members of his home lodge in Anacostia. The members of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter presented him with a magnificent medallion containing the Scottish Rite emblem, set with diamonds.

REVIEW WANT ADS GET THERE.

The other day G. Gunby Jordan, president of the Eagle and Phenix Mills, Columbus, Ga., known as "America's greatest mills," spent $1.80 for an advertisement in the Wanted and For Sale department of The Review. Let him tell the result:

Replies to the advertisement came from California through to New Hampshire, and from Michigan south to Tampa, Fla. We have been overwhelmed with answers. The trade evidently reads The Review.—G. Gunby Jordan, Columbus, Ga., March 5, 1914.

North Crandon, Wis.—J. W. Cottingham, formerly the proprietor of the Lakeside Berry Farm, at Luck, Wis., has sold out his place there and bought a larger plant here. He will continue in the same lines as before, small fruits and flowers.

Foxboro, Mass.—F. H. Baldwin's greenhouses on Baker street were flooded by the storm March 1 and the destruction of nearly $1,000 worth of property was threatened. While the temperature was falling the water ran into the boiler room and extinguished the fires. An engine loaned by the fire department was all night pumping out water from the greenhouses.

TEN PAGES OF RETAILERS' CARDS

This department for the cards of Leading Retail Florists — those florists who have the facilities for filling the orders sent them by other florists — has made possible the recent rapid development of this branch of the business, a branch of the trade now established for all time and so helpful that its volume will keep on increasing for many years.

Are you sending and receiving your share of these orders? You can send your share (and make 20 per cent profit without effort) if you let your customers know you can perform this service for them. To receive your share—well, The Review's department for Retailers' cards remains the one way of getting prompt action on the order in hand.

To be represented costs only 70 cents per week on a yearly order. This is for one-inch space. Other spaces in proportion.

Why not send your order today—now—before you forget it?

The Market.

Conditions in the wholesale market were practically unchanged last week. Cut flowers of all kinds were over-plentiful. There was a fair demand, but the prices were lower than the previous quotations. Carnations, lilies and tulips were the slowest movers. Sweet peas were to be had at ridiculously low figures. Roses were in fair demand at a low price. Cut smilax and asparagus were in good demand, owing to the limited supply. On Saturday, March 7, carnations, roses and valley were sacrificed to the street boys for whatever was offered, to clean up stock which had accumulated during the week.

The retail stores in general report business fair, but not up to the mark. Lexington market was filled with the overflow of cut flowers. On Saturday the weather prophet served a brisk, sunshiny day and enormous quantities of stock were disposed of, both plants and cut flowers.

Damage by Storm.

Baltimore has been visited by a terrific wind and snow storm, which began on Sunday afternoon, March 1, and continued till the next day. The wind at times blew at the rate of 60 miles per hour and the damage to property was enormous. Florists all over the city suffered damage from fire, wind and frost.

At James Glass's place, on Erdman avenue, a brick chimney was blown over across the end of a 30-foot house, breaking glass and bars and crippling his heating plant. Mr. Glass and his son, James, Jr., had a narrow escape when the stack fell, as they had been putting in some glass about three minutes before in the exact spot where the chimney struck. The damage cannot be estimated at present, as the house was filled with azaleas for Easter.

J. W. Killian, on Furley avenue, Gardensville, lost his entire stock through the burning of his boiler house. As he was unable to keep up fire, his steam went down and all the stock was frozen. The shed was completely burned, but the greenhouses were only damaged at the ends next the shed. The loss is placed at $2,000.

At John Nuth's place, in Gardensville, a stack was blown across his greenhouses and one steam pipe was broken, but the damage was repaired in time to keep frost out, so that there was no loss aside from the chimney and the glass.

At G. Halloway's greenhouses, on Old York road, a lot of glass was blown out.

Stevenson Bros., of Govanstown, and Lehr Bros., of Brooklyn, also lost some glass.

At the establishment of Samuel Feast & Sons the end was blown out of a palm house and glass was blown from other parts of their range, but the damage was repaired in time to save the stock.

F. W. Heimbach, of Philadelphia road, lost his dwelling, his boiler house and all stock by fire, which originated in the residence and spread to the shed. As he was unable to get to the boiler, the stock in the greenhouses was frozen. The loss cannot be ascertained at present.

At Arthur Richmond's place, on Belair road, about twenty feet of one of the greenhouses was wrecked by the wind. The end was blown out first and carried the rest with it. The house was 200 feet long and was filled with carnations. It is feared they are a complete loss.

At J. P. Wilhelm's, on Belair road, the chimney was blown over, but no serious damage was done to the stock.

At T. Walter Gray's, on Edmonson avenue, Catonsville, the greenhouses were wrecked by wind, and before they could be repaired his stock suffered from cold. It is feared the loss will be heavy.

A brick chimney about fifty feet high, at Charles Cook's place, near Catonsville, was blown down, but, fortunately, it was blown away from the range of houses.

Various Notes.

J. L. Towner opened his new store, the Fremont Flower Shop, on Fremont avenue, opposite Edmonson avenue, February 28, and was greatly pleased with the first week's business.

Wm. J. Halliday had a beautiful display of potted lilacs in his window on Charles street recently.

Pierce & Co., 509 North Charles street, will take over the store and business now being conducted by G. V. Smith, on Madison avenue, near North avenue, about May 1. Mr. Smith is retiring from business. Pierce & Co. are also contemplating the opening of a branch store at White Sulphur Springs, Va.

Some fine orchid-flowering sweet peas were seen in the store of the Leo Nissen Co. last week.

Lohr & Fritze, on Frederick road, have a 150-foot house of Richmond roses which are in excellent condition, and from which some fine flowers are being cut. W. F. E.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

The Southwestern Market.

The local wholesale market had a large supply of stock last week. This was to the liking of the retailers, as they could buy heavily at low prices. The large sales at some of the markets hardly made an impression on the supply. The retailers say that thus far Lent has affected them more than in previous years. There were a number of large funerals during the week, which caused a call for white flowers. Spring openings also helped to keep some of us busy.

Roses again are classed among the plentiful flowers and all of the markets are receiving excellent consignments in all the leading varieties, with Killarneys leading. Carnations are in fine shape. Fancy stock still is being quoted at $4 per hundred. Violets and sweet peas crowded the market all last week and these were sold in thousand lots at low prices. Of bulbous stock the supply is much larger than the demand, although lilies and valley hold their prices. The demand for asparagus is large and the supply is short. Other green goods are equal to the demand.

Various Notes.

Visitors who called on the trade last week included Bert Chadwick, of New York; John Zech, of Zech & Mann, Chicago; F. J. Farney, representing M. Rice Co., Philadelphia, and Guy Reburn, of A. Henderson & Co., Chicago.

The meeting of the County Growers' Association, March 4, was not well attended. The only officer in attendance was Secretary Deutschmann, so the members selected A. S. Cerny to preside over the meeting, and he did it like a veteran.

H. J. Weber & Sons Nursery Co., at Nursery, Mo., has issued its new spring catalogue, called Weber's Guide. The plant now contains 200 acres in nurseries, 15,000 feet of glass in greenhouses, and a storage and packing house with a capacity of 150,000 cubic feet.

A visit to George Waldbart's, on Grand avenue, found the place in charge of Andy Hoffmann, who reports that the boss has been quite sick for the last ten days and confined to his room. The Schisler Grain Co. has changed

Thomas Carr, the Union market florist, was hard at work last week, putting his stands in shape for the opening of the plant season.

The local wholesalers did quite a business last week, with both local and outside orders for green carnation fluid.
From these sales the florists expect a lot of business in green carnations for St. Patrick's day.

Henry Ostertag, of Ostertag Bros., reports a busy week with decorations for the openings of the downtown department stores. The Nugent job was a heavy one.

The floral department at Vandevort's had quite a run on violets last week.
The nursery department opened March 1, under the management of W. S. Wells, and has had encouraging business.

The Engelmann Botanical Club has held no meetings this year and some of the members say that the club will disband. Mr. Wells, its secretary, says he hopes the members will continue.

Alex. Geranios, secretary of the Retail meeting place of the association has been changed to the Washington hotel,

Delmar and King's highway. The next meeting will take place March 16.

Papa Bentzen got down to the wholesale district last week and bought quite heavily for one of those busy days of the Bentzen Floral Co.

Henry Berning says that the local trade was quite slow last week, although a few good shipping orders cleaned up quite a lot of the surplus stock during the week.

Werner Bros. are cutting a fine lot of fancy roses and valley. They have a fine lot of pot-grown Easter lilies coming on, which will be just right for Easter.

The big fire, March 9, which destroyed the Missouri Athletic Club and Boatman's Bank, did great damage to the St. Louis Seed Co., who are next door, on Washington avenue. The damage can hardly be estimated thus early, but from looks their stock is a total loss, as the rear of the building is gutted and all floors soaked with water.

J. J. B.

INDIANAPOLIS.

The Market.

Trade has been only fair for the last two weeks, funeral work comprising most of the demand. Stock is more than plentiful enough to go around.
Bulbous stock is abundant, but is selling well. Jonquils and daffodils are finding a good call, bringing from $2.50 to $3 per hundred wholesale. Tulips of all colors and grades are offered, with little sale. Carnations are over-plentiful, the better grades bringing $2.50 and $3 per hundred, splits $1.

Some first-class roses are to be had, the best grades bringing $12.50 per hundred, shorts from $3 up. Violets, single or double, are plentiful. The fancy varieties of sweet peas are finding a good sale; the old varieties of peas are a thing of the past. Some few orchids are obtainable. Excellent cut lilac is to be had, retailing at 50 cents per bunch. Pot plants have been in good demand. Some first-class rhododendrons and lilacs are retailing at from $2 to $5 each. Primulas and bulbous stock find a good demand.

Cut ferns are becoming scarce and prices are soaring. Sprengeri and asparagus are finding good sale, owing to the high prices of the fern leaves.

Various Notes.

Albert Ruble has been on the sick list for the last week or so.

Fred Hukriede has been busy with funeral work this week.

John Rieman expects, in the near future, to add an auto to his delivery service.

Baur & Steinkamp have been cutting some first-class snapdragon of late.

P. J. Olinger, of New Castle, expects to add some more glass to his range this year.

son" occasioned much funeral work, I am glad to say that these gentlemen are much alive.

The Pahud Floral Co. has secured the store room, at present occupied by a cigar store, at the corner of Ohio and Illinois streets, and expects to occupy it in the near future. This should prove to be a good stand.

Wm. Gardner, of New Castle, and Fred Lembke, with the W. W. Barnard Co., Chicago, were recent visitors.

Bertermann Bros. Co. is showing a fine line of blooming plants.

S. T. Hitz & Son have been sending in some fine sweet peas of the orchid-flowering type.

NEWS OF THE NURSERY TRADE

THE death of James B. Wild, of Sarcoxie, Mo., is recorded in this week's obituary column.

SHIPMENTS of nursery stock from Japan have been keeping the horticultural inspectors of California from idleness the last month or two.

The H. J. Weber & Sons Nursery Co., of Nursery, Mo., has purchased a 1½-ton Federal motor truck, which will be used for the delivery of trees and shrubs in St. Louis.

THE Howell Nursery Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., has purchased the Rosecliff Nursery Co., of that city. Both concerns will be operated under the same management.

NURSERY stock now will take the parcel post zone rates and in all respects be subject to the parcel post law. A paragraph in the postoffice appropriation bill passed last week provides for it.

THE recent unusual frost nipped some of the roses and a few flowering shrubs at the nurseries of Griffing Bros. Co., at Port Arthur, Tex., but no harm was done to the fruit trees and larger ornamental stock.

THE Knoxville Nursery Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., has been incorporated with a capital of $50,000. The incorporators are A. J. Smith, M. L. Smith, E. E. Rutherford, J. L. Smith and J. H. Rudder.

M. FAULKNER, of Waco, represents the Texas Nurserymen's Association on the executive committee of the Texas Farmers' Congress, which is held at the state Agricultural and Mechanics College in the latter part of July.

THE position left vacant by Colonel Robert H. Williams, who left the Stark Bros. Nurseries & Orchards Co., of Louisiana, Mo., to take the postmastership of Louisiana, has been filled by S. J. Heaton, of Silex, Mo.

THE Atlantic Nursery Co., of Berlin, Md., had a good growing season last year and is looking forward to a large business next spring. The company has been doing an excellent business under Robert J. Showell, president, and Daniel W. Babcock, secretary and manager.

A NEW publication, got out by George C. Roeding, of the Fancher Creek Nurseries, Fresno, Cal., is entitled, "Roeding's Practical Horticulture," and is to be issued as occasion demands, for the dissemination of horticultural information among the patrons of the nurseries.

NEWS-LETTER No. 4 issued to horticultural inspectors by the federal horticultural board contains a report of pests collected by inspectors during the month of January, 1914. Attention is called to the fact that gipsy moth was detected on cedar from Japan, European tussock moth on Holland rose stock, oriental moth on plants from Japan, and European pear scale, a coccid recently become established in California, on pear seedlings from France.

We have always found The Review a top notcher as to results received from wholesale advertising of nursery stock.—Atlantic Nursery Co., per D. W. Babcock, Mgr., Berlin, Md., January 16, 1914.

EXHIBITS were shown by Griffing Bros. Co., of Miami, Fla., and J. J. Soar, of Little River, Fla., at the Dade county fair. Ornamentals, shrubs, foliage plants and ferns made up the displays.

COPIES of a letter from Frederick W. Kelsey, president of the F. W. Kelsey Nursery Co., New York, to Senator Francis G. Newlands, chairman of the Senate committee on interstate commerce, criticising bills for regulating corporations, now in the hands of the committee, have been printed and are being distributed to those interested.

NEW ENGLAND ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the New England Nurserymen's Association, February 24 and 25, which was reported in last week's issue of The Review, the date of the annual meeting was changed to the last Tuesday in January, and Providence, R. I., was selected as the meeting place for 1915.

The following were elected members of the executive committee: Harlan P. Kelsey, of Salem, Mass.; A. P. Horne, of Manchester, N. H., and E. W. Breed, of Clinton, Mass.

Ex-President Kelsey appointed W. H. Wyman, of North Abington, Mass.; John R. Barnes, of Yalesville, Conn., and V. A. Vanicek, of Newport, R. I., as the legislative committee.

President Barnes announced the following committees: Publicity—A. E. Robinson, of Lexington, Mass.; C. R. Burr, of East Manchester, Conn., and Theodore Borst, of Boston, Mass. Membership committee—Winthrop Thurlow, of West Newbury, Mass.; Paul Hubbard, of Bristol, Conn., and Daniel A. Clark, of Fiskeville, R. I.

Secretary Adams announced the following new members: Oscar Schultz, of Newport, R. I.; F. S. Baker, of Cheshire; John C. Clare, of Dury, N. H.;

A splendid, large, white variety with a well established reputation. An easy variety to force. We have to offer 3000 fine plants in 2½-inch pots, at $5.00 per hundred, $45.00 per thousand; fine, thrifty stock.

JACKSON & PERKINS CO., - Newark, New York

Charles Turner, of Hartford, and Richard Wyman, of North Abington, Mass. The following were made honorary members: Dr. W. E. Britton, of New Haven; Prof. W. C. O'Kane, of Durham, N. H.; Prof. D. M. Rogers, Prof. G. E. Clinton, J. W. Tourney, Dr. Stene, W. S. Reagan, W. D. Filley, Dr. H. T. Fernald, of Amherst, Mass.; State Forester Kane, of Boston, Mass., and Superintendent of Parks George A. Parker, of Hartford.

WARRANTY OF NURSERY STOCK.

Legal Decisions Affecting Sales.

The rules of law which have been recently mentioned in The Review as applying to warranties in the sale of seeds, and to seedsmen's liability for breach of such warranties, are largely applicable also to sales of nursery stock.

One of the late appellate court opinions on these points is that handed down by the Idaho Supreme Court in the case of Grisinger vs. Hubbard, 122 Pacific Reporter 853, wherein it was decided that a nurseryman who grows young fruit trees for sale to persons desiring to cultivate fruit orchards with a view to raising fruit for commercial purposes is presumed to warrant that the trees sold are adapted to those purposes. This warranty includes an implied representation that the trees are in such condition that they will grow after being transplanted, if ordinary care and attention are given them in their planting and cultivation.

When Stock Had Been Accepted.

It was argued on the part of the nurseryman in this case that, inasmuch as the customer received the trees on their delivery, he waived any implied warranty, but the court overruled this contention, saying that the weight of authority clearly holds that the acceptance of trees does not waive a warranty, and that where, as in this case, the trees upon their arrival at the place of delivery are found to be in bad condition and unfit for replanting, in whole or in part, the buyer has the option either to reject them or to receive them and rely upon the warranty, and, if there is no waiver of this right, the buyer may bring suit against the seller to recover damages for breach of the warranty, or set up a counterclaim for such damages in a suit brought by the seller to recover the purchase price of the trees. The court said: "It is clear that at the time the trees were received by the buyer he could not definitely determine whether the trees had reached that stage of decay which would prevent them from growing, and that he had the right to receive them, and ascertain whether or not their condition at the time he did receive them was such as to prevent their recovery from such condition by proper care thereafter."

The Measure of Damages.

But, in the case of nursery stock, the rule as to the measure of damages recoverable for breach of warranty is somewhat different from the rule that prevails in the case of a sale of seed. For instance, in the case of Sherer vs. Park Nursery Co., 37 Pacific Reporter 412, the California Supreme Court decided that the damages recoverable for a breach of warranty of the quality of peach trees was the excess of the value of the kind of trees they were represented to be over their actual value, and that this difference in value might be shown by the difference in the value of the land occupied by the two kinds of trees.

In a Michigan case (Heilman vs. Pruyn, 81 Northwestern Reporter 97), the Supreme Court adopted the view that where fruit trees proved to be practically worthless, after commencing to bear, the buyer's damages were measurable with reference to the value the land would have possessed with the trees contracted for, and not merely the amount paid for the trees, plus the cost of setting them out and caring for them, and plus the value of the use of the land lost.

Trees Become Part of the Realty.

Referring to the court decisions to the effect that the proper measure of damages for delivering seed inferior to that contracted for is the difference between the value of the crop produced and that which would have been produced from seed of the kind bargained for, the Michigan court said: "Where crops are raised from seeds and mature in a few months, and the value of the land is not affected thereby, no other rule of damages can obtain. It is different, however, where fruit trees are planted, which will not mature for years, which become a part of the realty, and materially add to its value. The destruction of a crop of cabbage, corn, wheat or other annuals, does not injure the land, and consequently there can be but one rule of damages. * * * It is a matter of common knowledge that lands are enhanced in value by orchards of fruit trees. They have a value capable of estimation for the reason that they usually yield fruit. The case is not one of speculative damages, but of enhanced value by addition to the realty. The rule of damages ought to be, and is, the same where worthless fruit trees are furnished, contrary to the warranty, as where good fruit trees are destroyed by the negligent acts of others. The purchaser has suffered the same damages in each case. Both parties must be held to have contracted with reference to the land in future years, as it would be enhanced by the existence of trees of the kind warranted."

ROSE NOVELTIES

Not alone in America, but all over the world. For this we have made a contract with Hugh Dickson, Ltd., of England. American growers his varieties at the same time and the stock is now growing in my establishment and the buds are ready to pay. The name "DICKSON" is one to conjure with of Rose seedlings in the world, as they were awarded a gold medal variety in the 1914 set which follows:

Mrs. Jas. Lynas

Splendid grower; color pearl-pink at base of petals, flushed with rosy-peach at the edges. One of the most valuable garden Roses of recent years.

Brilliant

Beautiful grower, handsome foliage which is entirely mildew-proof; most intense scarlet, brightest color yet achieved in Roses.

Countess Clanwilliam

Produces flowers in endless abundance; color delicate peach-pink at base of petals which are heavily edged with cherry-red. Beautiful contrast of color.

Mrs. A. Grey

Large handsome foliage; bud deep creamy yellow opening light canary. Will hold first place as an outdoor yellow.

William

Vigorous upright grower. Will be a splendid garden Rose.

Price: $2.50 each for 100 with very liberal discount.

Mrs. Anderson

The new Scotch Gold. I say this is an improved size, and in addition is a fine specimen to be gleaned of its merits. It will be the white forerunner we have.

President, C. C. Massie, Minneapolis; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O. Thirty-second annual convention, Washington, D. C., June 23 to 25, 1914.

THE indications are that there is an overproduction of bulbs of Gladiolus America. The report is quite general that sales of it are slow, and low.

THE Rahe Seed Co., Cincinnati, O., has leased the store at 119 East Court street for a term of three years at a rental of $2,340 for the term. Possession will be given April 1.

BOOKS, including catalogues, go into the parcel post next Sunday, March 15. Up to eight ounces the postage will be 1 cent for each two ounces for any distance. Over eight ounces the zone rates will apply.

THE Interstate Commerce Commission has directed the Southern Pacific railroad to refund $11.40 to C. C. Morse & Co., on account of unreasonable rates on twelve shipments of garden seed from San Francisco.

LAST season there was a shortage of 7 to 9 cold storage giganteum bulbs and it appears that orders now on file for 1914 deliveries from 1913 crops will be hard to fill. There still are a few unsold bulbs, but the owners are holding them for a rising market.

A FULL-PAGE reproduction of a letter from Northrup, King & Co., of Minneapolis, in the Minneapolis Journal of February 27, recommending that newspaper's stand for clean advertising, was as effective an advertisement for that firm as for the publisher.

THE Department of Agriculture has placed an embargo on the importation of Mexican and Central American alligator pear seeds because of the prevalence of an insect pest which has attacked the seed in those countries. The quarantine applies only to seeds, entry of plants and fruits being permitted under inspection.

THE seed trade will learn with regret of the death of James J. Comont, which is recorded in this week's obituary column. As the representative of the London house of James Carter & Co., Mr. Comont had made many trips to America and had established many personal friendships among the leading members of the trade here.

NEW MARYLAND SEED BILL.

Another seed bill was filed in the Maryland house March 4 (H. R. No. 611). It is drawn on the lines of the old type of seed bill discarded by recent legislation. It is conflicting in its provisions, ambiguous, in parts unconstitutional, and unreasonable. It provides that every bushel of seeds and cereals sold for seeding purposes in Maryland shall pay an inspection fee of 2 cents. This would create a great deal of trouble and supply too much money.

nursery stock. The provision in the bill as agreed on is as follows:

"That seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants shall be embraced in and carried as fourth class matter and for the same rates of postage."

As both branches of Congress have passed the bill, it now is up to the President for signature. Although the appropriation bill is to meet the needs of the postoffice department for the year beginning July 1, 1914, a number of its provisions are to take effect as soon as the President signs, and the paragraph relating to the rate of postage on seeds, bulbs and plants is one of these.

FIRE LOSS AT ST. LOUIS.

The fire which caused the loss of a number of lives in the clubhouse at St. Louis March 9 spread to the adjoining building, owned by the Central Real Estate Co., occupied by the St. Louis Seed Co. Insurance adjusts the day following the fire estimated the loss on the building as ten per cent, but they placed the loss on the fixtures of the St. Louis Seed Co. at twenty-five per cent, and the loss on the seed stock at seventy-five per cent, the loss being largely by water, although the rear of the building was badly gutted. The St. Louis Seed Co. had $29,500 insurance on the stock and $3,500 on the fixtures. The landlord had $30,000 insurance on the building and repairs already are under way.

FIRE LOSS AT NEW YORK.

The seeds and horticultural sundries store of William Elliott & Sons, New York, was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon, March 10. The firm occupies the entire building at 42 Vesey street. The fire started in the basement, either from spontaneous combustion or crossed electric wires and basements and store were gutted. The loss will be large, but is fairly well covered by insurance.

The establishment of William Elliott & Sons is one of the oldest in the seed trade, having been founded sixty-nine years ago. William Elliott died in 1897 and the business passed into the hands of his sons, William J. and Carroll S., who had been associated with the house since boyhood.

"JOHN BAER" TOMATO

Perfect Fruit in 30 Days.

"John Baer" Tomato is the Most Talked of Novelty in both America and Europe for 1914.

ITS WONDERFUL MERITS and intrinsic worth have attracted attention all over the World.

Originator's Seed Only.

The Earliest Tomato on Earth

Perfect Fruit in 30 Days

"John Baer" Tomato produces perfect, solid, high crown, beautiful, brilliant red Tomatoes in 30 days.

IT IS THE RESULT of fifteen generations of improvement and selection.

"JOHN BAER" TOMATO

- 1st—"John Baer" Tomato produces large, beautiful, solid shipping Tomatoes in 30 days from plants grown in Veneer or Paper bands, with roots undisturbed.
- 2nd—"John Baer" Tomato produces the most perfect High Crown Tomatoes ever grown.
- 3rd—"John Baer" Tomato produces an enormous crop of Tomatoes, 50 to 100 fruit to each plant.
- 4th—Every "John Baer" Tomato ripens evenly, right up to the stem.
- 5th—No cripples, no scalds, no blight, no cracked, no wrinkled, no one-sided, uneven, scarred fruit. When dead ripe "John Baer" Tomato will not burst.
- 6th—"John Baer" Tomato has a wonderful glistening bright red color.
- 7th—"John Baer" Tomato has a mild, deliciously sweet flavor.
- 8th—In shape and form exactly like its photograph.
- 9th—"John Baer" Tomato is almost seedless, a marvelous Stem Setter, often ten fruit in first cluster, solid and meaty.
- 10th—"John Baer" Tomato has just enough foliage—will stand plenty of manuring without going to vine. Set plants  $2\frac{1}{4}$  x 3 feet.
- 11th—"John Baer" Tomato is the most perfect shipping Tomato ever grown—24 fruit exactly fill a six carrier basket.
- 12th—Each beautiful "John Baer" Tomato weighs about  $6\frac{1}{4}$  ounces.
- 13th—"John Baer" Tomato Seed was saved only by John Baer, the originator, who personally selected and picked every Tomato from which he saved this seed, selecting only the most beautiful perfect fruit of the early Stem Set Clusters.
- 14th—"John Baer" Tomato is the offspring of two marvelous Tomatoes—One Great Specialist having devoted 10 years in selecting and improving one parent and Another Expert devoted five years in selecting and improving the other parent. The "John Baer" Tomato is therefore the result of Fifteen Generations of Improvement and Selection for earliness, quality, shape, fruit, color and shipping quality.

More About French Bulbs

There are 19,000,000 families in the United States. Besides, there are others not considered in the family class. The crop of Paper Whites is likewise 19,000,000 bulbs—equal to one bulb per family if so distributed. But most live florists use upward of 10,000, and wholesalers use much more—there's an order on our books now for one million of them from one grower. This goes to show how poorly distributed they are.

Paper Whites are of standard value and useful in many ways. In France they are easily grown; if they get rain in March and April, the crop is almost sure to be good. The danger is from sweating and sprouting. Practically there is no sale for the bulbs except in America, but the cut flowers are marketed all over Europe direct from the south of France.

There are three different varieties commonly known as Paper Whites. One is much superior; one is the true Grandiflora we use; and one is the inferior Totus Albus with its more pointed petals. We will refer to the true Grandiflora, as it is the best variety available in quantities. True Grandiflora grown in wet ground yield larger bulbs, flower later and are inferior. Those from dry ground yield smaller bulbs and superior flowers. Experienced bulb men can tell the different varieties by the bulbs.

With Roman Hyacinths the situation is entirely different. They can't be grown everywhere in the district and must be lifted about the second week in June every year. If not properly cared for they are liable to disease, which spreads very rapidly. Exportable sizes are usually three years old or more. Paper Whites two years. Romans unsold, or too small to sell, are planted again in October or November. The crop of Romans is estimated at from seven to ten million, according to conditions.

In some seasons when the weather is very unfavorable, a grower is apt to reap smaller Romans than he planted. Their growth in ordinary seasons is from two to three cm. per annum. Bulbs 6, 7, 8 and 9 cm. are planted the first year. To secure exportable sizes, bulbs of 11 cm. must be planted the second year. These will be from 12½ to 14 cm. when harvested. When Romans are dug in June, they must be dried for at least three weeks before being packed—otherwise they will rot. During this time the bulbs shrink considerable—a 12 cm. bulb fresh dug will be 11 cm. when ready to pack—larger sizes shrink more in proportion. This shrinkage causes exporters trouble at times, as unscrupulous growers dry them quickly in the sun, if they can—causing bad arrivals. Paper Whites may be dug and packed in three days, as they have a hard skin.

Favorable weather for Romans is hard to get—they need rain in October and November, frost in January and February; rain in March and April, hot weather in May (most important), and dry weather in June and July. Bad crops are due to too much autumn rain, no frost in January and February, frost in March and April, cold in May, and if it rains in June and July the bulbs will not dry, but become moist and will not keep well.

The new tariff on Romans is $2.00 per 1000 higher, which, added to the difficult crop conditions, necessitates high prices; so the best prices we can give on Romans are quoted below, and deliveries of large sizes are especially subject to crop conditions.

The first section, consisting of fifty-one pages, contains a list of new and rare plants, and classified lists of some of the principal lines of stock, such as irises, asters, peonies, delphiniums, phloxes, etc. The second section, beginning on page 52, contains a complete alphabetical list of the border and rock plants, with brief descriptions; this section also serves as an index to the first part of the book.

Vegetable Forcing*TOMATOES IN HOTBEDS.

How should I proceed to grow tomatoes in a hotbed? I want about 9,000 plants from seed, to plant out at the end of May. When should the seed be sown? Should it be sown in boxes or in the open bed? I thought of placing about six inches of good soil over the manure. How far should the seed rows be apart? Should I transplant the plants from the seed bed or boxes after they have made about three or four leaves, straight from the hotbed into a coldframe? The location is in Ontario between Hamilton and Buffalo, close to the lake shore. We usually have cold weather until the end of March, but not much zero weather after February. I should be glad to have full particulars.

S. J. C.

If you prepare a hotbed of horse manure, you can grow all the tomatoes you want. The best plan is to throw the manure into a heap outdoors and turn it over daily for a week to let the rank heat escape. Some leaves added will prevent overheating and will make the bed hold its warmth longer. Tramp the manure firmly in the frames, and, where at all dry, moisten a little. Six inches of soil will be ample; if it contains a little well rotted and pulverized manure, all the better. Draw drills six inches apart, but do not sow the seeds before the bed has become nicely warmed.

Sow the seed from March 25 to 30; earlier sowing will result in too leggy plants. When the plants are three or four inches long, transplant them into a frame where there is still a little bottom heat and light, moderately rich soil. If placed in a coldframe, the plants would get a serious check. Keep the sashes closed for a time after setting out the plants, gradually give more ventilation, and on warm days pull off the sashes entirely to make the plants as stocky as possible. C. W.

Hartford, Conn.—John Coombs expects to be located in his new store across the street from his present one about April 1. The new store, which is larger and more suitable for this use than the old one, is being refitted and redecorated.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

A Great Rose Contest.

In competition for the $1,000 trophy and for the gold and silver medals and certificates of merit, it is expected that the leading rose creators of the United States, as well as of South America and Europe, will enter their new and unnamed hybrids in a contest at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. No sports will be admitted. All will be inbred hybrids, achieved by cross pollination, and most of the new aspirants will be hybrid teas.

Among the European exhibitors will be the following: Hugh Dickson, of the Royal Nurseries, Belfast, Ireland, whose exposition display has been selected from about 100,000 seedling hybrids; Samuel McGredy, of the Royal Rose Gardens, Portadown, Ireland, who, in making his shipment, announced that he would name one of his finest new roses the Dennison, in honor of the exposition's chief of horticulture, George A. Dennison; Soupert & Notting, of Luxemburg, Germany, creators of many famous roses of the Soupert and Kaiserin types, and Pernet-Ducher, of Lyons, France. It is said that these four internationally famous growers alone will enter over 100 new, unnamed roses in the competition. These plants already have been shipped and are now on their way to San Francisco, where they will be set outdoors and acclimated in the exposition grounds.

The Best from All the World.

Practically all America, also, will compete for rose honors, the Pacific coast being particularly well represented. Of the eastern exhibitors, two of the best known are Chas. H. Totty, of Madison, N. J., who, it is announced, "will show the complete new stock of a famous English grower," and E. G. Hill, of Richmond, Ind., who also has been active in securing foreign offerings for the 1915 jubilee.

The aim of all these growers, of course, has been to extend the seasonal blooming period or periods, as well as to improve the color and form of the bloom. Most of the new creations are of the hybrid perpetual type, and many are said to bloom practically all the year around. The colors are described as ranging from a light chamois yellow, flushed with pearl pink, to a rose more nearly a perfect black than any of the old types. Blue roses, so called, of several types, also will be entered. Another novelty is referred to as "a hybrid perpetual bedder of a beautiful camellia form and in color a rich golden yellow with deep Indian yellow anthers, which remains in bloom an extraordinarily long time."

The General Horticultural Display.

At least ten acres will be given over to the various displays of the world's horticultural products, aside from over sixty-five acres of the exposition grounds devoted to the twenty-five principal landscape gardens. Many of these exhibits, from practically every country in the world, will be given up largely to the newer and perfected species and varieties of plants and fruits. Also in this department there will be many working displays of growing plants and fruit trees with gardeners and expert orchardists at work, the object being to make of the horticultural display an up-to-date school of methods and processes, open to all.

At the Panama-Pacific Exposition, it is said, the lover of flowers and of gardens and orchards will be able to stroll among the most wonderful winter-to-winter gardens ever displayed at an exposition. By means of three seasonal replantings, the gardens and courts will be kept in a state of unending bloom—a thing never before attempted at an exposition. Indeed, "the whole exposition," says an enthusiastic reporter, "will be set down on a Persian rug of harmonious and enduring tints." This will appeal to the lover of the beautiful on his aesthetic side, and on the practical side the new and improved species from the world over, there displayed, will be no less alluring and uplifting than the rest of the $50,000,000 show place.

LOS ANGELES.

The Market.

Low prices on almost all classes of stock prevail and business is not as good as usual for this time of year. Among the popular sellers now are the small boxes of orange blossoms which are sent from here by mail to friends in the east by tourists and residents. Outdoor roses are coming in again and nice flowers are being sent, but the price is too low to bring much profit to the grower. Outdoor freesias could be had by the wagon load if they were needed, but they are not; growers leave them on the plants. Flowers from canvas houses or under glass, of course, come purer in color and are selling well. They are exceptionally good this year. Indoor roses are improving with the increased light, the reds and pinks being the best. Carnations are plentiful, both from inside and outdoors. Orchids and valley are both plentiful and good. Tree and shrub flowers are getting past their best, though some fine boughs are still seen. There is always a good demand for stock for filling in funeral pieces and even at this time of the year, when it is most plentiful, it is often difficult to get enough. Funeral work has been good and the brighter weather makes transient trade more active. Ferns and all kinds of greens are plentiful.

The H. & F. Quality Select Aster Seed is the safest to plant, because it reduces the element of chance to your crop, and it is the most economical, because it produces more salable flowers.

Mr. John Gerard, New Britain, Conn., in his letter to us, dated January 18th, said, "During 1912 I have had reports that many first prizes have been won from the products of your seeds, and I feel confident that your climate, soil and skill will add annual improvements."

Various Notes.

For the wedding of Arthur Letts, Jr., son of the proprietor of one of the big department stores here, Frank Lichtenberg had the church decorations. The building was turned into a veritable spring garden, with almond and other fruit boughs, maidenhair ferns and white roses. The bride carried white orchids, and the matron of honor and maids carried big showers of valley.

The H. N. Gage Co. reports fine business for the fashion show, especially in greens. L. Gage, brother of H. N. Gage, now has charge of the Montebello ranch.

At the time of writing Charles E. Morton, of the Los Angeles Flower Market, who has been seriously ill at his home, was reported much better. His partner, Fred Sperry, has now had to give up business for a day or two, so the work falls on the able assistants. All hope that both Mr. Morton and Mr. Sperry will soon be around again.

Two at least of the "deadbeat" fraternity are working here under assumed names, and shippers of stock or others approached by these gentlemen should be careful. There are several good houses here, the proprietors of which are well known and upright business men, and I would advise anyone interested to get a line on strange firms purporting to do business here before opening any accounts. The number of these are likely to increase as 1915 draws near.

The Superior Nursery Co. is sending out fine vegetable and flower plants now, and the young stock of florists' plants is extremely promising.

The March meeting of the Los Angeles County Horticultural Society was not particularly well attended. The Chamber of Commerce recently turned down Fred Howard's scheme for beautifying certain parts of the mountain park here, and interest in this proposition has sagged a little, but there still remains the hope that a sufficient number of influential and public spirited citizens will remain back of the project and bring it to a successful issue.

Seedsmen and nurserymen are extremely busy now catching up with orders delayed by the washouts and taking care of the stream of orders coming in daily. The three big trucks of the Germain Seed & Plant Co. have to be daily augmented by others. Howard & Smith report a similar condition of things, and the smaller firms all have their hands full. Everything points to a record-breaking season along these lines.

H. R. Richards.

PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

Since the beginning of Lent business has been rather quiet. Stock is not overplentiful. While spring flowers predominate, there is a daily clean-up of stock in all lines. ing in quality. The wholesale prices on these vary from $3 to $4 per hundred. Valley has been plentiful, and in violets there is almost a surplus. The latter are blooming plentifully outdoors, but the best grades are grown in houses and coldframes. Apple and cherry blossoms are used effectively in the various window displays. Daffodils are blooming profusely and prices are holding up well for the better grades.

Various Notes.

Pupils of forty-three public schools of the city will cultivate flowers and vegetables on the grounds of the different schools. Each pupil will be allowed a space and prizes will be awarded. There will be about thirteen and one-half acres available for that purpose.

The Tonseth Floral Co. has the finest lot of azaleas in the city. The supply has been constant throughout the season. The window displays have been well arranged in conjunction with spring flowers. Tulips have been a special feature of the company.

Allie Bloom leaves soon to join the Great Falls, Mont., baseball club. During the winter months he runs a violet stand in this city.

Park Superintendent E. T. Mische will save the cuttings while pruning roses and will give them away this fall to anyone who will use them in street parkings.

C. S. Crego reports the sale of aster seeds as being beyond his expectations.

O. E. Panzer has a fine lot of cinerarias and forget-me-nots, for which he finds a ready sale.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

The Market.

Business for the last two weeks has been fairly good and, considering the time of the year, there is no cause for complaint. Stock is becoming more abundant, but still is commanding the same price. Bulbous flowers are quite plentiful and for the last few weeks sales have been held on daffodils, etc., at 35 cents per dozen. Azaleas and other potted plants go slowly and in some places mark-down sales are being held on them. On account of the deep snow and rough streets, difficulty is being found in delivering with automobiles. A couple of trucks have had their axles broken and gears stripped and the horses have been brought into use again.

Various Notes.

The proprietors of the Hickory Street Greenhouses are turning out some good snapdragon, stocks and sweet peas. They intend to put up a propagating house this summer and later will add another larger house to their establishment.

William Schlatter & Son had a fine showing of cinerarias in their window last week.

N. F. Higgins' carnations are in full crop. White Enchantress and Enchantress do especially well with him. He finds Winsor does best when planted in early June, giving better and larger flowers and longer stems and keeping continuously in crop. White Wonder is a good one, and he intends planting more of it next year. F. J. C.

BOSTON.

The Market.

Warmer weather, in spite of additional snowfalls, has brought in flowers in greater abundance. Business has remained quiet and prices on several staples show declines. Funeral business has been good and, in spite of the Lenten season, there has been more social activity than usual. American Beauties remain scarce, but they are little missed, as the number of calls is small. All other roses are more plentiful and prices show a decline. Richmonds are not quite up to the mark yet. Hadley, which is a sweet-scented variety, is preferred, and a year hence will cut quite a figure. White roses have been selling better than pink, for funeral work. Sunburst is proving popular and bids fair to be a serious competitor to Ward another year. Carnations are holding up quite well. For whites the demand has been good. More split flowers are seen than is usual at this season. Pink Delight and Gloriosa continue leaders in light pink shades. Violets continue low and are decidedly druggish.

Sweet peas are seen in immense numbers and of every quality. The best are superb. Dutch bulbous stock steadily increases in numbers. The more popular sorts are Murillo, Couronne d'Or, La Reine, Couleur Cardinal, Prosperity and Yellow Prince tulips; Golden Spur, W. T. Ware, Von Sion, Victoria and ornatus narcissi. Good freesia still comes in, some of the colored sorts being seen in small numbers. A few ixias, anemones and tritonias also are arriving. Good mignonette sells well, also pink snapdragon, bachelor's buttons and yellow marguerites. The latter still are far below the demand in numbers.

Valley is particularly good and in demand. Cattleyas still are plentiful, both Trianae and Schröderiana. A good variety of other orchids are coming in. Gardenias are gradually becoming more plentiful, but sales might be better. The call for hardy cut ferns and asparagus is only moderate. Pot plant trade is fairly good. Fine Tausendschon roses are now a feature; also lilies, cyclamens, acacias, metrosideros and cinerarias.

Various Notes.

William J. Patterson, of Wollaston, now has a fine cut of La Reine, Murillo, Couronne d'Or, Couleur Cardinal and Yellow Prince tulips; also Victoria, double Von Sion, ornatus and Golden Spur narcissi.

At the spring exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, opening March 12, the show of carnations, roses, sweet peas and other flowers promises to be particularly good. Retailers will be out in force for the table decorations. The plants will be better than for several years. The show will last four days.

The board of directors of the S. A. F. will meet in Boston March 17 and will attend the meeting of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club on evening, when Roy Pierce will lecture on the "Chestnut Tree Blight" and much business of importance will come up. No action has as yet been taken by the club relative to affiliation.

The writer received a long and interesting letter from James F. M. Farquhar, at Coamo, Porto Rico, March 7. Mr. Farquhar's many friends will be glad to learn he is much improved in health and is planning to sail for New York March 24. Mr. Farquhar likes the Porto Rican climate, but the food, even at the best hotel, he says, is somewhat inferior.

SEEDLING SILVER PINK

SNAPDRAGON PLANTS like the small ones, that will grow to be like the large one, now ready at only $4.00 per 100, $35.00 per 1000. They are ready for flowering without further topping. A plant that will carry 40 to 50 flower spikes at its base needs no figuring to show you the profit that it will bring. It "beats the Dutch" (and French, too) how it produces. It simply branches all over, and every shoot is a "live wire," developing into a stately, salable flower spike, giving more dollars to the square foot than any plant in existence.

Remember, we are talking about seedlings — my Original Silver Pink. We do NOT grow from cuttings. Order plants today and sow seed now for spring sales and summer blossoms. Price, $1.00 per packet; 3 for $2.50; 7 for $5.00. Cash.

McAlpine Bros., of Exeter, are planning to exhibit some of their choice roses at coming exhibitions. Beauties, Richmonds and Wards are particularly good now.

Peter Hylen, of Randolph, is a bulb specialist whose flowers of W. T. Ware, Golden Spur, Von Sion and Princeps narcissi, and La Reine and Murillo tulips are especially good just now.

Recent callers have included George E. Baldwin, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; John Scheepers, New York, and Dutch bulb men from over seas too numerous to mention.

In F. H. Houghton's window March 7 I noted well flowered baskets of Dendrobium nobile, square baskets charmingly arranged with bunches of double daisies, pansies and ferns, and numerous miniature pots of Scilla Sibirica.

The Gardeners' and Florists' Club's annual field day at the W. W. Edgar Co. is always looked forward to with pleasure and there will be the usual large attendance March 28. The establishments of Peirce Bros., Waltham, and A. M. Davenport, Watertown, will be visited also, if time permits, by many of the members.

Noted in H. R. Comley's window March 7 were vases of hybrid freesias in several colors, clivias, oncidiums,

At Penn's some beautiful specimen Tausendschon roses were noted March 7, also fine masses of amaryllis, lilacs and other plants. The new Hadley rose is proving popular here. Henry Penn says its delightful odor makes it a great seller.

W. R. Nicholson has, as usual, the grandest mignonette of any local grower. He is now getting a good cut of yellow marguerites. Carnations look well and are in heavy crop. Shamrocks here are well grown and are in active demand.

The new market of the Boston Co-operative Market was opened March 9. There was a full attendance of stallholders and buyers were numerous. Everyone seemed delighted with the commodious and up-to-date quarters. Considerable work remains to be done on spaces leased to a number of large growers, such as Messrs. Roland, Sim, McAlpine, Dolansky and Budlong, but everything will be completed and in apple-pie order before the exhibition, planned for the latter part of March, is held.

Henry M. Robinson & Co. have recently received a large shipment of dyed and artificial flowers from Germany. Their big warehouse is filled to overflowing and they could use a great deal more space. Cut flower trade is good. A dozen men are employed all the time making wire designs.

The landscape gardening classes of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club held their sixteenth and last session March 9. The classes have been splendidly supported this season and the enthusiasm of the students has never shown any diminution.

Patrick Welch is kept busy these days preparing for the coming executive meeting of the S. A. F. board of directors March 17. The heavy snow and cold weather have made work on the garden in the Back Bay fens an impossibility, but with a break in the present climatic conditions the ground will soon be got in shape.

The Boston Cut Flower Co. is enthusiastic over its new Autocar. Assorted boxes of roses, eighteen flowers for 50 cents, meet with a large sale here.

One of T. F. Galvin's large Tremont street windows last week was filled with Adiantum Farleyense. A huge vase of Phalenopsis Schilleriana and Dendrobium Wardianum made a charming centerpiece.

Mrs. J. P. Snow, of Sharon, is sending a fine lot of well grown cinerarias to the local markets.

NEW PINK ROSES

Mrs. George Shawyer One of the best Roses that has been introduced in years. It is a very rapid, strong grower and with us produces more flowers per plant than Killarney. It is exceptionally well adapted to the grower that retails his stock.

Grafted Plants only, $12.00 per 100. Ready by March 15th, in 2½-inch pots.

CECILE BRUNNER, the Baby Pink Rose This is a beautiful little Rose coming in sprays of three to five buds and has been a great success with the retail florists of this city, as it combines in beautiful effect with so many other flowers in all kinds of work. Every grower should try some of these—not only in the greenhouse but in his garden. It is a very prolific bloomer and if carefully protected in the winter, should be a money-maker both outdoors and under glass.

Grafted Plants, $12.00 per 100. Own Root, $8.00 per 100; $35.00 per 500; $60.00 per 1000.

Both of the above varieties are not novelties but have been thoroughly tried out.

Rhea Reid, Killarney, White Killarney, Bulgarie and Richmond

All carefully grafted on selected English Manetti, $10.00 per 100. Ready about April 1st, in 2½-inch pots. All of our plants are well hardened off, ready for shifting into larger pots or planting direct in the benches.

The flowering quality of our plants is well known, as we select only flowering wood for scions—no blind wood used at all.

New Rose, Killarney Brilliant

THE MOST VALUABLE ROSE INTRODUCED IN MANY YEARS.

We consider this new rose—a sport from the original pink Killarney—the most valuable rose that has been introduced in many years. It is well named Killarney Brilliant, on account of its brilliant color.

It is a great improvement on the original pink Killarney; first, because of its much more brilliant color, it being almost crimson in bright weather, while in midwinter—in dull, cloudy and foggy weather,—when the original pink Killarney loses its brilliancy and becomes badly faded, Killarney Brilliant is as bright and deep a pink as the original variety at its best. In addition to its great superiority in color, the flower is almost twice as large, having from twenty-five to forty full-sized petals.

It has the same desirable color that Killarney Queen possesses, but has double the number of petals, making it a very double and a fuller flower; and it is also very much more productive, having the same habit of growth and the same freedom of bloom as its parent.

We have watched Killarney Brilliant growing during the past winter, planted in the same house with the original and the double pink Killarney, and when those varieties faded so as to be almost unmarketable, Killarney Brilliant was superb. We are thoroughly convinced that it will immediately supplant the original Killarney as the standard market variety, and that every up-to-date grower will be compelled to plant it, on account of its great superiority. A prominent rose grower, who has seen it growing, says it is the only rose he has ever seen that needs no advertising; it sells itself.

Mrs. George Shawyer

We are growing this splendid rose this season with most gratifying results. As a free and vigorous grower and great producer it has no equal. It has not shown the slightest symptoms of mildew with us. It sets buds freely in the short days of winter and is now coming in with a fine midwinter crop. It does equally well on grafts or own root.

We intend planting Shawyer heavily this season, but still have a splendid stock of fine young plants in 3-inch pots, ready for immediate delivery—on own root.

We also offer a splendid lot of Sunburst, Ward, Richmond and Killarney, all own root stock. For prices and further particulars write

NEWPORT.

At the last monthly meeting of the Newport Horticultural Society, with President William McKay in the chair, an invitation from the Newport Garden Club to coöperate in holding an exhibition of plants and flowers on a large scale next August was accepted and a committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the Garden Club. The new quarters of the society, in Music Hall building, 250 Thames street, will be formally opened April 14, when the society will hold a ladies' night, with special features and an entertainment. The committee having this function in charge consists of Andrew S. Merkle, James Robertson and William F. Smith.

Henry J. Haas, who has been confined to his home on Almy street by an attack of the grip and complications, is able to be about again. W. H. M.

DORNER'S NOVELTIES

Champion

Yellow Prince

Yellowstone

When deciding what to plant for scarlet, keep in mind our variety "Champion." All during its try-out it has never failed to come early and has always produced a heavy cut for Christmas.

CHAMPION is right on time with an enormous crop for the Holidays and is in the scarlet class what White Wonder is in the white.

Bright scarlet in color, 3 to 3½-inch flower, long, stiff stems, good calyx, and its excellent keeping qualities combined with a strong habit and great productiveness will place it at the head of all scarlet carnations for commercial growing. Grow Champion—it is good early, all through the season and even into the hot summer months.

We have an immense stock that is producing fine plump cuttings—Give us your order now—do not wait.

Price, $12.00 per 100; $100.00 per 1000.
2500 for $237.50; 5000 for $450.00

YELLOW PRINCE and YELLOWSTONE are the leaders in the yellow class.

F. DORNER & SONS CO..

Good yellow carnations will sell. Have you ever tried any? Have you had the right varieties? Try Yellow Prince and Yellowstone, they will convince you as to the commercial value of a yellow carnation.

LEXINGTON, KY.

The Market.

Business has been exceedingly dull for the last two weeks and quite a lot of stock finds its way into the trash barrels. Weather conditions no doubt are to blame, as this vicinity has had unusual snows of late. Stock is of good quality, especially roses, carnations and sweet peas. Beauties are scarce, as are Richmonds. Bulbous stock is moving slowly. Well grown blooming plants always find a ready sale.

Various Notes.

John Fister has purchased a farm of 178 acres a few miles out. Four houses of lettuce and cauliflower are in fine shape at his home place.

Kelley & Current's place is in good shape. This firm has over 1,000 geraniums just shifted into 4-inch pots for spring trade.

Ollie Honaker, of the firm of Honaker the Florist, has moved his family into town, so as to be in closer touch with the store.

Three houses of hydrangeas, roses and lilies in pots certainly look good for Easter at the John A. Keller estate. Two large houses of roses have made a fine break for the Easter crop.

James P. Keller is all smiles. It's a boy this time, and he arrived March 4.

Miss Fannie White reports trade good. Stock at the greenhouses is coming on nicely for spring.

James P. Keller has purchased a fine tract of nine acres of land just outside the city limits. Mr. Keller intends adding a line of shrubbery and hardy perennials. Some glass may be put up eventually.

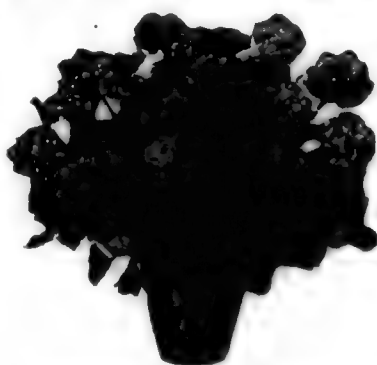

R. H. Tacke has his hands full this spring, with landscape work. He is busy just now with the new Duncan park, which will be completed this spring.

JOY!

This is a Carnation that did not get a reputation over night. We have been handling it for a little over two years and ought to know something about it.

IT'S A REAL RED

It is the kind of Carnation that proves the florist's friend. Shipped over a distance, it will look as good on arrival as when sent. This feature appeals to us because we know what it means to the man who is depending on us.

JOY has been described by Mr. E. H. Blameuser, of Niles Center, Ill.—the man who raised it—as “a strong grower, early, very free and continuous bloomer, with strong calyx and good stem.” That should be good enough for anybody.

PROPAGATION OF HARDY PHLOX.

I have some phlox plants which I wish to propagate by cuttings this spring or summer, without artificial heat. Can I do this successfully? If so, please tell me how, and state the best time to take the cuttings, in this Oregon climate. W. A. M.

If your phloxes are in a cold greenhouse, the cuttings can be taken any time now. If outdoors, take them when they are two or three inches long. Prepare some flats of sharp sand, which should have good drainage below it. Place the cuttings in these; a flat 12x24 will easily hold 150 to 200 cuttings. If the flats when filled are stood on a bed of coal ashes, shaded from the sun and watered well, the cuttings should all be well rooted within five or six weeks. They can then be transplanted to other flats in loam, potted, or planted out direct from the flats to a nursery row on a cool, moist and cloudy day. With you, cuttings should be ready outdoors early in April. Do not take such as are too long. Trim away the lower leaves before inserting the cuttings in the sand. C. W.

Craig Quality Easter Plants

Were never in better shape than now. The Roses, Hydrangeas, Lilies, Genistas, Valley, Daisies, Spiraeas, Rhododendrons and Azaleas have all been timed to the minute. They are being grown cool and will require no extra heat to bring them into flower in good time. This means that Craig quality plants will be durable with you and with your customers. We would like you to come and see them, but if that is impossible, we would like you to reserve a good sized space in your place for them.

Our catalogue is now ready; please send for it. Our price list will appear in a full page in next week's issue.

LANCASTER, PA.

During these Lenten days the retailers report business as exceedingly quiet, while the growers are overwhelmed with spring work.

A number of the growers are seriously contemplating additions to their glass. W. B. Girvin, of Leola, Pa., has placed his order with T. J. Nolan, of the King Construction Co., for a house 50x180 feet.

B. F. Barr is making extensive alterations at his store on North Queen street, which, when completed, will rank among the finest in the state.

Walter Mott, representing Benj. Hammond, Beacon, N. Y., and Stephen Irwin, representing Roman J. Irwin, New York city, were recent visitors.

H. D. Rohrer is cutting some fine marguerites.

The retailers are looking forward with a good deal of interest to the approaching fashion show, March 18 to 20. All the large stores will have their spring opening then. It is certain that flowers are going to be used extensively among the decorations. There are great possibilities along these lines, coming at a time when stock is plentiful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moore, of the Rosery, are receiving congratulations from their many friends on the recent addition to their family. It is a girl.

Our Florists' Club is arranging a visit to some of the Chester county growers March 12. H. K. R.

Mankato, Minn.—In starting his new plant here Neils Neilson is resolved to have thoroughly up-to-date houses and he has placed an order with the John C. Moninger Co., Chicago, for two iron-frame houses, each 34x240.

Hammond, Ind.—Ove Gnatt, Inc., is the name of a corporation formed to take over and continue the business established here a few years ago by Ove Gnatt. The capital is $10,000 and the directors are Ove Gnatt, Girda Gnatt and Wilson F. Brunt. The business of the corporation will be the perpetuation of natural foliage and dealing in natural and artificial leaves and plants.

GERANIUMS

We need not tell you how we stand on the Geranium question; our name has become synonymous with Geraniums, and to think of Geraniums is to think of Vincent, to think of Vincent is to think of Geraniums; it has become our middle name. We have over a million in 2-in. and 3-in. pots, ready for immediate shipment, in the best assortment of standard varieties in the country, representing the cream of thousands of varieties. Good standard varieties from two-inch pots, at $2.00 per 100; $18.50 per 1000; from three-inch pots, at $3.00 per 100; $25.00 per 1000. Good collection of Novelties listed in our catalogue at reasonable prices.

SPECIAL For $18.00 we will send 1000, 50 each of 20 varieties, our selection, either single or double. We have been sending out these collections for a number of years, and they have given general satisfaction. 6000 for $105.00; 10,000 for $175.00. These assortments are made up of all good kinds, and will make a collection that will be hard to beat.

CANNAS

We are not Dealers but Growers, and by handling our product, it being grown, cured and packed under our own personal supervision, we know just what our customers get and do not have to put the blame for poor stock, wrong varieties, etc., on some one else, but stake our own reputation on every package that leaves our place. The following sorts are all distinct useful varieties, select stock, two, three and more eyed divisions—250 at thousand rate; less than 250 of a kind at hundred rate.

EASTER PLANTS

AZALEAS. We are very strong on these popular Easter plants, 3 houses of them, of the well known varieties, as Mme. Vander Cruyssen, pink; Vervaeneana, variegated; Niobe, double white; Mme. De Schryveriana, double variegated, and Ernest Enckhaute, pink, in 6 and 7-inch pots, well budded, at 60c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 each.

HYDRANGAEA OTAKSA, one of our specialties, 3 to 10 blooms to a plant, 6 and 7-inch pots, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 each.

FRENCH HYDRANGEAS.

Bouquet Rose, pink; Countess de Vibrate, pink, and Mme. E. Moulliere, white, 6-inch pots, 75c and $1.00 each. We have 2,500 hydrangeas in all.

LILIUM GIGANTEUM AND MULTIFLORUM, grown from 9-10 bulbs, very fine, 5½-inch pots, 10c per bud; less than 4 buds to a plant, 12c per bud.

Our stock this year is finer than ever. We grow only those varieties, any sizes, that are most in demand.

SPIRAEA GLADSTONE, 6 and 7-inch pots, very heavy, $5.00, $6.00 and $9.00 per doz.

ROSES. American Beauties, Killarney and Richmond, 6-inch pots, 50c and 75c each.

HYACINTHS, 4-inch pots, $12.00 per 100.

TULIPS, 3 and 4-inch pots, $12.00 per 100.

DAFFODILS, Von Sion, three double crown bulbs in a 6-inch pot, 6 to 10 flowers to a plant, $2.50 per doz.

FICUS ELASTICA, 7-inch pots, very heavy, 75c each; 6-inch pots, 40c each.

NEPHROLEPIS SCOTTII, 8-inch azalea pots, $1.00 each.

EVANSVILLE, IND.

The Market.

Business continues brisk, with plenty of flowers of all kinds to go around. The weather is cool, with some sunshine, but more frequently it is cloudy, with snow flurries. The florists are stocking up with all necessary supplies for Easter. Unless the weather gets too warm, there will be plenty of lilies, bulbous stock and other cut flowers for this important festival.

Various Notes.

Mrs. M. L. Doerr reports a most satisfactory trade. She is getting in her orders for Easter stock.

The Easter lilies and other stock are in good condition at Miss Nellie Goodge's place.

C. L. Niednagel is having an excellent cut of Killarney and American Beauty. His young stock is getting a fine start.

Julius Niednagel & Sons are cutting lots of carnations of excellent quality.

DRACAENA CANES

Of proven quality. Orders booked for importations of Terminalis, Fragrans, Massangeana, Lindenl, Amabilis, Baptista, Shepherd, Youngi, Lord Wolseley, Marguerite Story, Guilfoylei, Gladstonei, Imperialis, Knerkii, Originalis, Stricta grandis, Regina, Titworthii, Gracilis, Braziliensis, Godseffiana, Superbum, Sanderiana.

COLIN CAMPBELL, 234 East 58th Street, New York City

The roses are producing well. Peter Hopman has severed his connection here and gone to New Galilee, Pa. He has made arrangements to lease about 35,000 feet of glass there, taking possession June 1. He will grow principally roses for the Pittsburgh market. Good luck to him.

A visit to the plant of the William Blackman Floral Co. found everything in fine shape. The roses are the best they ever had. The Killarneys are especially good, with long stems. The Beauties are setting buds on every stem, from the shortest to the longest. The carnations are in fine, healthy condition. All other stock, including that for Easter, is in excellent shape.

FERNS FOR DISHES

$3.50 per 100 $30.00 per 1000

Boston Ferns, extra strong 6-inch, 50c each.

Whitman Ferns, fine, stocky plants, 50c each

Obconica Primroses, fine colors, 4-inch, $2.00 per dozen.

Karl Zeidler, Jr., is having good business at his store on Second street.

J. C. Elspemann has his stock in fine condition and will have a large supply for Easter. E. L. F.

Rochester, Minn.—D. M. Wigle will open his new store shortly at 13 South Broadway.

Prepare for Easter

It is time to get busy, for Easter is near.
The birds are singing, to bring us good cheer;
And this is the message that sweetens their song—
That Aschmann has plants for which buyers long;
Azaleas, covered with blossoms; Bulbs, radiant and sweet;

Araucarias, perfect; Palms, stately and neat;
Ferns, sturdy and green; Lilies, gleaming and bright;
The stock is complete, the prices are right.
There's no time to be lost, wise florists all hurry

EASTER LILIES OUR SPECIALTY

We have the genuine EASTER LILY, Lilium multiflorum. We have the genuine stock, true to name, raised from selected bulbs, furnished by our grower in Japan; 9 to 12-in. bulbs; now in fine condition for Easter sale; 5½ to 6-in. pots, having from 5 to 10 buds to a plant; 10c per bud; plants having less than 5 buds, 12c per bud. Order Now. Buds now showing; plants of medium height, just right for Easter trade.

HYACINTHS are scarce this Easter, but we put in last fall an immense stock of our own importation, which will make large spikes and cannot be compared with the cheap stuff that is now floating on the market. Gertrude, best pink; La Grandesse, best white; King of the Blues, best dark blue; Grand Maitre, best lavender blue. 4-in pots, staked up, $12.00 for 100 pots. In bloom for Easter week.
TOURNESOL TULIPS, best double red and yellow variegated; Murillo, double rose; Imperator Rubrum, bright red double; Couronne d' Or, double yellow, new, three bulbs planted in a 4-in. pot, $15.00 per 100 pots, $8.00 a doz., in bloom one week before Easter.

DAFFODILS, Von Sion. Best double yellow NARCISSUS in existence, three double-nosed bulbs, planted in 5½ to 6-in. pot, $3.00 per doz. pots, out of cold frame, will bloom one to two weeks before Easter.

While we pay the highest price for our Bulbs of Hyacinths, Tulips, etc., from Holland growers, you must bear in mind that we can sell them no cheaper than we do, and we assure you that there is no profit in it for us for the fine stock we sell you.

ASPARAGUS SPRENGERI, 4-in., 10c; 2½-in., 4c.

ASPARAGUS PLUMOSUS NANUS, 3-in., 7c; 4-in., 10c; 2½-in., 4c; 5½-in., 25c to 35c.

Our specialty, the world wide known pure white MOONVINE, Ipomoea Noctiflora, is now ready, 2½-in. pots, $5.00 per 100.

ARAUCARIA Excelsa, 6-in. pots, 4, 5, 6, 7 tiers, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

RHODODENDRONS, 10-in. pans, full of buds, $1.25 to $1.50.

500,000 CARNATIONS.

We are devoting our whole plant to the production of rooted carnation cuttings. Our stock plants are grown cool and for cuttings only. Experience proves that cuttings grown from this kind of stock are stronger and far superior to cuttings taken from flowering plants. You can be sure that orders placed with us will be filled with the very best stock.

ROOTED CUTTINGS.

My cuttings are taken from stock plants that are allowed to bloom very little. The full strength of the plant goes to produce strong, vigorous cuttings. Those wishing stock potted and held for planting out time, or earlier delivery, may secure same by a deposit. The balance will be payable with order to ship. 5% discount allowed on all orders accompanied by cash. Your order will receive my personal and careful attention. Cash or references.

CYCLAMEN.

200,000 GIANT FLOWERING CYCLAMEN SEEDLINGS AND BLOOMING PLANTS.

For the last 16 years we have selected three-fourths of our seed-bearing cyclamen stock before Xmas, to assure early blooming plants, and claim the finest commercial strain in this country; no fizzle of many so-called English varieties.

Our aim is strong growers that don't have to be potted to be grown into a choice salable plant—a well built, five-petaled flower (many of them at one time), with well marked foliage; every plant an ideal, a prize winner. Received first prize at the Cleveland show and first and second at Toledo, early November, when blooming cyclamen were scarce.

STRONG AUGUST SOWN SEEDLINGS, once transplanted, $3.50 per 100; $30.00 per 1000.

Cash with order. Cultural directions with all orders.

C. Winterich, Cyclamen Specialist, Defiance, O.

Gary, Ind.—The Gary Floral Co. has filed articles of incorporation at Indianapolis. The capital is $5,000, and the directors are Arthur Owens, Myrtle Owens and M. E. Finan.

Belleville, Ill.—The William C. Smith Wholesale Floral Co., St. Louis, has filed a suit against Edwin M. Hay, of Belleville, for $500 damages. Mr. Hay formerly was a retail florist in St. Louis.

Tampa, Fla.—The Gasparilla festivities brought a big harvest to the florists here. The Knull Floral Co. had the best day in its three years' existence on the day of the coronation ball. The stock shipped from Philadelphia by the Leo Niessen Co. arrived in fine condition, and in addition to the large stock of roses, orchids and violets from this source, locally grown violets, gardenias, valley and miscellaneous stock were disposed of at good prices.

Syracuse, N. Y.—The Pierce-Christian Co. has been incorporated to do a general florists' business, with a capitalization of $10,000. The incorporators are Harold S. Pierce, Harold H. Will and Thomas J. Christian.

Medina, N. Y.—Lee O. Smith, a former employee of White Bros., of Gasport, is starting in business here on his own account, intending to grow cut flowers for the Buffalo market. He has placed an order with the Moninger Co., Chicago, for material for three houses, each 27x300 feet.

Hartford, Conn.—At the February meeting of the Connecticut Horticultural Society certificates were awarded Peter Fisher, of Ellis, Mass., for two vases of Gorgeous; Theodore Staudt, of Rockville, for new varieties of carnations; Patten & Co., of Tewksbury, Mass., for Princess Dagmar, and A. N. Pierson, Inc., of Cromwell, for carnations and roses.

Batavia, Ill.—John Geiss, who took over the greenhouses and other property of the late George H. Serviss at Walnut and Harrison streets, which were sold at auction some months ago, has leased the entire plant, including greenhouses, ground and buildings, for a long term to the officers of Mooseheart, a big lodge institution, which will make use of the establishment in connection with its school as well as for commercial purposes.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Having acquired the entire city block on part of which the store stands, the L. S. Donaldson Co. will expand by taking in the adjoining buildings. The store next door on Nicollet avenue will be given to William Desmond for the florists' department. This will not only afford greatly increased space for the display of stock and for selling, but it will permit the installation of an equipment in keeping with the high class flower business that is being done.

Cudahy, Wis.—The management of the new commercial greenhouse establishment to be started here by Patrick Cudahy, the Chicago packer, has been placed in the hands of G. W. Scott, who formerly was at O. C. Barber's Anna Dean Farm at Barberton, O. Mr. Cudahy will grow roses for the Milwaukee market, starting with four Moninger iron-frame houses, each 57x320. Arrangements have been made for Gust Rusch to handle the output, Milwaukee being but nine miles distant by motor.

Professor A. H. Nehrling, of the floricultural department of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, has made plans for a general enlargement of the work of his department. For some time past it has been found that because of the increased enrollment and the progress that has been made in consequence, the present equipment is entirely inadequate. When the addition to French Hall is completed it is expected that the original part of the building will be given up entirely to floriculture. A reading room devoted to floricultural subjects will be installed; a room for storage purposes and a workroom fitted up with modern equipment will also be provided. Professor Nehrling is also planning a complete reorganization of the courses, making them more specialized and professional, in order to fit the men for practical work. This is in accordance with the example set by the University of Illinois, which at its last commencement granted the first college degree in floriculture ever given in this country.

A seminar for the members of the senior class has been introduced for the discussion of special problems in advanced work. A number of men are intending to take up graduate work if the necessary facilities are provided. It is hoped that more greenhouses will be added in the near future to accommodate the increasing number of regular and short course students, as it is essential that the department should have more space for practical work for these students.

PIPING FOR HOTBEDS.

I am enclosing a diagram of some hotbeds and should like to know whether the system of piping there shown would be suitable for the growing of lettuce, beets and radishes, in this New York climate. Which would be the better place for the pipes—about five inches underground or above the surface, about one foot from the back and front? The piping will be connected to the boiler with shut-off valves, so as to maintain a temperature of 45 to 50 degrees. It is impossible to buy manure here for the making of hotbeds. F. M. V. N.

The sketch shows two hotbeds, each 6x60 feet, with a 2½-inch flow pipe running up one side and back on the other. This should be sufficient to maintain a temperature of 50 degrees in zero weather, if placed above ground.

By running the pipes underground, so that they would be covered with six inches of soil, bottom heat would be furnished, which would materially promote the growth of the crops mentioned, and especially of lettuce. The radiation in this case would be sufficient after the first part of March, but in extremely cold weather the frost might work in around the sides of the beds unless some form of covering is used.

TESTING BOILERS.

Manufacturers regularly test the different boilers and get accurate information as to just how much work each will do. The aim is to find out exactly the amount of heat the boiler will give, and determine how much greenhouse glass it will take care of. The general public has never been admitted to these tests. Manufacturers make the tests for their own information, and give out as much or as little of the results as seems fitting. The John C. Moninger Co., however, contemplates inviting the trade to some boiler tests to be made in Chicago.

Testing boilers is quite complicated, a technical proceeding. The boiler is set up in the same way one would set it up in a boiler room. To get a uniform fuel value, a selected grade of hard coal is used. Fuel is selected that shows a rating of a given number B. T. U. per pound. in at the front he can see the interior working of the boiler when it is fired. This feature is interesting to those who have never seen it. Proper instruments for measuring the heat of the fire, the temperature in the flues, the temperature in the smoke pipe, the temperature of the feed water, etc., are all connected, and these temperatures are recorded every fifteen minutes during the test.

Tanks set on tested scales are used for weighing all the water that is fed into the boiler. As the tanks are filled they are weighed and the water is let into the boiler to take the place of the water that is being constantly evaporated. The flows of the boiler are connected up and the mains are led out into the open air, so that the steam flows directly from the boiler into the air. Connected to these mains are large drums to measure all condensation that may form. This condensation is drawn off, from time to time, weighed and measured and allowances made for it. The boilers are fired with enough fuel to keep an intense heat on the boiler for at least eight hours. Some of the large sizes are fired with as much as 2,500 pounds of hard coal.

Boiler tests are important. If ratings are guessed at, or figured without

Morehead Back to Boiler SYSTEM

The Morehead "Back to Boiler" System of Steam Traps has drained hundreds of formerly dissipated dollars out of hundreds of lines in greenhouses and turned them right back to the boiler for re-investment.

That's one reason why there are more Moreheads in greenhouses than all others combined. The Keller Floral Co. says: "The Trap is a wonder. We do not know how we have done without it for so long."

tests, the boilers are apt to be rated for more than they can actually do. When one buys a boiler he actually buys the rating of the boiler. One boiler will be rated for 10,000 feet and another boiler rated at 11,000 feet. If both boilers are rated accurately on the proper test the boiler that has the 11,000 feet rating is worth more money than the other. It sometimes happens the boiler rated at 11,000 feet will actually only show a capacity of 9,000 feet and the buyer's reliance is in the integrity of the concern that stands back of the rating.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

The Market.

The recent weather has been rather peculiar; there has been a great deal of snow and rain, although it has not been extremely cold. Roses are still off crop. Carnations, however, are plentiful. All bulbous stock is plentiful and outdoor jonquils are coming into the market in large quantities.

Club Meeting.

The Knoxville Florists' Society met Tuesday evening, March 3, at Chas. L. Baum's store at 317 West Clinch street, with a large attendance. The state organization and the chrysanthemum show for next fall were both discussed. Professor C. A. Keffer, of the horticulture and forestry department of the University of Tennessee, and Professor G. M. Bentley, state entomologist and plant pathologist, were present and gave interesting talks. Applications for membership were received from both of these, and also from Dale Mayo and George Ketchin, both with D. R. Mayo, and F. W. Allen, superintendent of Old Gray cemetery.

Various Notes.

Chas. L. Baum reports business for the last two weeks of February the largest ever experienced outside of holiday trade, having had work for twenty-eight funerals in five days. Carnations are still the long suit here—2,500 a day are being cut. There has been a run on potted hyacinths and tulips, which were never better. Wholesale shipments to the south have been heavy of late. A notable design turned out last week was a wreath of cattleyas, roses, carnations, valley, hyacinths and sweet peas, on a base filled with 150 Easter lilies and showered with white, lavender and green ribbon. The piece was over seven feet high and was ordered by the Knoxville Bar Association for the funeral of Judge Joseph W. Sneed.

Addison J. McNutt reports that after the last two weeks of February, both extra good weeks in sales of cut flowers and funeral work, the first week in March seemed dull, but it was better by fifty per cent than the same week a year ago.

Mrs. Rosa Hall Ryno also finds trade slackening after a good two weeks the last of February.

A. H. Bailey has finished his first planting of sweet peas. Violets are coming in slowly for this time of the year.

D. R. Mayo looks for better trade as soon as the weather permits planting seeds. The business in cow peas and soy beans is brisk, as everyone is planting early on account of the scarcity of both of these.

TO THE MAN WHO NEEDS A BOILER

The customers' interest first—is the basis of the Kroeschell standard, and this principle makes the Kroeschell policy the most liberal of all in the greenhouse boiler business.

The great variety of boilers that we make places us in a commanding position. We make every type of boiler that is used, from the smallest house heater to the largest water tube steam boiler (600 horsepower). For the above reason we can furnish the most efficient boiler unit in every case.

It is the Kroeschell principle to supply only that type of boiler which is best suited to the conditions, and under no circumstances do we take any other stand.

WHEN YOU BUY—GET A KROESCHELL
"THE BOILER OF GENUINE EFFICIENCY"

The Kroeschell

is making the most wonderful greenhouse heating record in the world. Florists who have used other makes are constantly giving the Kroeschell the highest praise.

13,468,320 sq. ft. of glass was equipped with the Kroeschell Boiler during the past five years.

The Kroeschell

has replaced hundreds of cast iron boilers. In every case higher temperatures are secured with the Kroeschell with the same piping and with less fuel.

The Kroeschell is sold direct from factory to users. This eliminates the unnecessary middle-man's profit.

Every Boiler Made at Our Works is of the Highest Standard

MATERIAL—governed by Kroeschell specifications—the best that money and brains can produce. WORKMANSHIP—the kind that is an inspiration to all other boiler makers. BOILER EFFICIENCY—determined by actual tests under working conditions. BOILER RATINGS—honest and true blue—guaranteed actual working capacities.

Probably you have wondered why the Kroeschell Greenhouse Boiler is not sold by any of the greenhouse construction companies. In justice to all concerned we feel it is our duty to state that the Kroeschell Boiler is never sold by any one but—The KROESCHELL BROS. CO.—We have no agents, and as our prices are based on sales direct from factory to user, we do not quote anyone dealing in boilers special resale prices. Our stand in this matter has brought out a lot of competition; nevertheless, the great efficiency of the Kroeschell Greenhouse Boiler cannot be disputed, and in spite of the keen competition the Kroeschell Greenhouse Boiler is heating more glass than any other make.

Get the Kroeschell First

Several years ago Mr. Ponting corresponded with us in regard to the Kroeschell Hot Water Boiler, but was persuaded to install two sectional cast iron boilers which were claimed to be superior to the Kroeschell.

In the meantime we placed a number of Kroeschell Boilers in the immediate vicinity of Mr. Ponting, and he could not help but notice their great efficiency, and last year, while at the convention, he placed his order for his first Kroeschell. The following letter speaks for itself:

"We like the Kroeschell Boiler very much. It gives entire satisfaction, and it is so easy to fire. I will trade you the two cast iron sectional boilers for another like the Kroeschell I have."

July 16, 1913, Cleveland, Ohio.

Get the Kroeschell First

In 1911 I purchased a No. 1 Kroeschell boiler to heat our uptown plant and can truthfully say that this boiler has given entire satisfaction, as it does the work so easily.

At our other place we had a large cast iron sectional boiler; two years ago we cracked two (2) sections and but for the mild weather would have lost everything before we could make repairs. That experience was enough for me to show me that the cast iron boiler man has the best of it when I went to him for new sections, as they could only be gotten from him, and he made the price to suit himself. So this year (1913) I thought I would take no more chances, so we just installed a No. 5 Kroeschell. I can get better results with the Kroeschell than with any other boiler I have ever fired. I believe if the Kroeschell were better known amongst the growers generally they would use no other.

The Recognized Standard Insecticide

W. N. Craig writes in Florists' Review (March 5, 1914): "Scale on greenhouse plants is not easy to get rid of, as doses which are sufficiently strong to kill the scale will usually disfigure the plants at the same time. I have found APHINE a first-class remedy for scale, and if you will apply it according to directions you will kill and loosen the scales, although they will not fall off, as will some other pests."

FLOWER POTS

We are trying to save you money through this advertisement. Our plan is to furnish you the best of ware at a very low price. It costs money to call on you personally. Let's get together on the mail order proposition and you save the difference. There are other reasons why you will want our pots. We are very fortunate in the quality of our clay, and you will be delighted with the ware. Our large output and advantages of cheap fuel, with our clay at our back door and the railroads at our front door, with little cost for selling, enables us to quote you very low prices. A sample order will convince you. Samples and prices on application. Whether you use car lots or smaller quantities, it is to your advantage to write us.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

The Market.

Business for the week ending March 7 continued good. The funerals of Mrs. S. Davis, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Emily Zane, one of the oldest inhabitants of Louisville, brought orders for many fine designs.

Various Notes.

Fred Haupt had the making of the grave covers for both of the funerals mentioned above and he made them in his usual fine style. The cover for Mrs. Davis cost $125, and orchids, valley and pink roses were used. Mr. Haupt also had the decorations for the Knight Templar ball at the Galt House March 5.

George Schulz, with Jacob Schulz, made Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11, flower days in the Young Women's Christian Association campaign for a $300,000 building. On these days Mr. Schulz turned the profits on all goods sold into the fund.

One of the robbers in a $5,000 jewelry store robbery was an associate of a local Greek florist. As yet he has not been caught.

At the monthly meeting of the Kentucky Society of Florists Miss Clara Stussey was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee. The meeting was well attended and much business was taken care of.

Mrs. C. B. Thompson is back from her trip south and is hard at work again.

Emil Walther is sending in some fine Enchantress carnations. Mr. Walther is a new man in the field, but he is coming to the front.

R. J. S.

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY.

The fifteenth annual exhibition of the American Rose Society, to be held in the Grand Central Palace, at Forty-sixth street and Lexington avenue, New York city, begins March 21 and extends to March 28. The rule adopted to apply to all cut roses is that no rose shall be exhibited with more than two growths; that is, with one pinch only, except in a class calling for special displays. This rule it is desired to have generally known. Lists for entry, with full schedule of prizes, are being mailed.

Benjamin Hammond, Sec'y.

March 9, 1914.

Nashville, Tenn.—The Sunday Tennesseean of March 1 contained nearly a full page of illustrated write-up of the greenhouse establishment of the Joy Floral Co. Among other things it was stated that additional glass is to be put up this season and that the number of visitors to the greenhouses is so great that the street railway officials contemplate extending the track for a half mile to the greenhouses, believing that the increased traffic will pay good returns on the investment.

CINCINNATI.

The Gateway to the South.

Relatively speaking, the green goods market is much better than the flower market. Since the snows of a fortnight ago down south, a strong demand for greens has come from that section, as well as the normal demands from other points. The receipts of flowers are large, while the demand hardly averages more than the ordinary one. Prices are low, but still, with the quantity of stock coming in, the receipts run into nice money.

Roses are more plentiful than for some time, but they are having a good call. Carnation receipts are large, but they clean up fairly well, though sometimes at bargain figures. The street fakers are the principal buyers of violets. Neither lilies of the valley nor orchids sell well. The greater part of last week found the sweet pea market crowded, pink being the best seller of all. The lily supply is not large, but is adequate, there being no special demand. Other offerings include callas, bulbous stock of all kinds, rubrum lilies, baby primroses and snapdragons.

Club Meeting.

The club meeting was well attended. Chairman R. Witterstaetter, of the taxation committee, reported that the committee had been successful in the solicitation of funds and asked the society for an order to turn over the funds to the committee at Springfield. J. A. Peterson was asked by the society to officially call the attention of the national society to the tax question, now up in the courts of this state. A letter from President Wirth, of the S. A. F., relative to the proposed affiliation of the locals with the national society was tabled for want of definite knowledge and information on the subject among many of those present. S. S. Skidelsky, of Philadelphia, was among those present and gave a short talk.

Various Notes.

At P. J. Olinger's place all are mourning the disappearance of a pet and mascot, a black dog appropriately named Nigger.

William Murphy has rented larger quarters several doors above his present location on Main street. He is preparing to take possession at once.

George Foertsch, of the Hoffmeister Floral Co., is the proud daddy of a 10-pound boy.

Thomas Windram is cutting some fine baby primroses.

E. A. LIPPMAN

MANUFACTURER OF GREENHOUSE SHADING

No. 6 High Street, MORRISTOWN, N. J.

AFTER twenty-five years' experience in Greenhouse work, with Lord & Burnham Company, in the glazing and painting department, I am convinced that what is most needed in this line is a good shading, and I am pleased to advise you that I have the real thing, which I am sure you will find to be just what you are looking for.

This shading is beneficial to the painted wood, as it does not contain any gasoline or naphtha which would destroy the paint. In addition, it is beneficial to the glass also, for you will find that when the shading is removed the glass retains its former brilliancy.

As to its application, this is a very easy matter. It can be either sprayed on or put on with a soft brush. For real good work, however, I would recommend the use of a soft brush.

Another advantage of this shading is that when it is no longer needed it can be removed without any difficulty, leaving the glass, as before stated, with its original brilliancy.

I am making this up in gallon cans. In three shades—light green, light blue and pure white. When ordering, kindly mention the color desired.

I trust that you will kindly favor me with a trial order to prove its worth, after which I have no doubt whatever but that you will continue its use.

Ladies' Auxiliary.

The dancing party given recently by the wives and daughters of the Detroit florists was such a success that the ladies have now organized as the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Detroit Florists' Club. The first meeting was held February 26, when the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. E. A. Feters.

Vice-president, Mrs. Chas. H. Plumb.

Secretary, Mrs. Albert Stahelin.

Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Rahaley.

Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Fridays of each month. At a meeting held March 9 seventeen members were in attendance and plans were formulated for carrying on considerable charity work among Detroit's needy. For the present the sessions will be held in the beautiful rooms on the second floor of the store of the Bem Floral Co.

The Michigan Cut Flower Exchange is finally launched in the new quarters, which are without any doubt as commodious and complete in detail as those of any commission house in the country. The two mammoth coolers holding the cut flowers are on the ground floor, where there is a plentiful supply of daylight. A gallery running along one side and across the front of the ground floor holds the accounting department, also many display cases for supplies. The basement will serve as storage space for greens, etc. On the second floor will be carried a complete stock of supplies. The third floor is occupied by the Hielscher Wire Works.

B. Schroeter decorated the Palestine Lodge House for its open house week and for the dedication night, using many loads of palms, ferns and blooming plants, as well as considerable southern smilax.

C. H. Maynard states that he is organizing a stock company to conduct a wholesale flower and supply house in Detroit. He has lately severed his connections with the Detroit Supply House. He expects to open April 1, on Broadway.

HAMMONTON, N. J.

H. J. Rolfe suffered considerable damage in the recent storm. Ice formed on telephone wires over his range, and the high wind tore it loose in big chunks, hurling it through the glass below. Mr. Rolfe is marketing lettuce of fine quality and is propagating chrysanthemums heavily.

J. Murray Bassett has been laid up for several weeks with pleurisy.

O. F. Crowell, one of the recent additions to the wholesale cut flower growers here, suffered considerable damage to his dwelling in the recent blizzard.

New York state growers have purchased in Hammonton more than a million of the double-crop raspberry, Ravere.

Paper Pots and Dirt Bands

277% MORE BLOSSOMS

on plants raised in Square Paper Pots than on plants raised in clay pots of same size. There were 450 stems of blossoms on 40 plants raised in 4-inch Square Paper Pots and 105 stems of blossoms on 40 plants raised in 4-inch clay pots. The above was taken from the following report in the Market Growers' Journal January 1, 1914, page 6.

NUMBER OF STEMS IN BLOSSOM

	June 9	June 20	June 27
On 40 plants from clay pots.....	45	47	121
On 40 plants from paper pots.....	105	229	456

When set in the field May 15th, the root systems of the plants from the 4-inch square paper pots were 4-inch cubes (64 cubic inches of soil and roots) and from the 4-inch clay pots the root systems contained 81 cubic inches of soil and roots (the amount that a 4-inch clay pot holds).

The third count of blossoms was made June 27th, 42 days after the plants had been set in the field.

The plants from the square paper pots were then more than twice as large and vigorous as those raised in clay pots.

All plants raised in square paper pots are larger and more vigorous than those raised in clay pots, because they have about double root room for the same size pots.

Measure the two pots and you will find that the 4-inch square paper pot holds as much soil as two 4-inch clay pots.

It is the same with square dirt bands, which are square paper pots without bottoms (the bottoms being furnished by old newspapers spread on the bench).

The theory that it is only necessary to have a big top to the plant has been proved misleading.

There must be a big root system to push the top or the plant will grow slow and small.

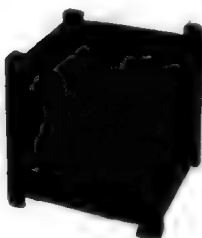

Try some square paper pots or dirt bands with your clay pots and see if you can afford to use any clay pots.

Some of the florists around Philadelphia are using large numbers of square dirt bands and paper pots.

We have shipped to Mr. P. B. Dilks, Bridesburg, Phila., Pa., 150,000 2-inch square dirt bands and 20,000 3-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. Geo. W. Dilks, Frankford, Pa., 10,000 2-inch square dirt bands and 10,000 3-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. H. B. Weaver, Bird-in-hand, Pa., 45,000 2-inch square dirt bands; to Mr. M. H. Hostetter, Mannheim, Pa., 20,000 2 1/2-inch dirt bands and 8,000 5-inch dirt bands.
